Introduction

The Matsya Purāṇa earns its title from the fish incarnation of Viṣṇu, the other nine being Kūrma, Varāha, Narasimha, Vāmana, Bhārgava Paraśurāma, Rāma, Kṛṣṇa, Buddha and Kalki. The Matsya Purāṇa is not all based totally on the life story of Matsya, but it deals with various other subjects, though in some of the chapters Matsya himself is the speaker. Before embarking on the subject of the incarnation of Viṣṇu, it would be quite pertinent to visualise the need for such an incarnation. In this connection, there is the well known passage from Bhagavadgītā in which the lord Kṛṣṇa declared that whenever the evil or adharma becomes predeomient, in the society and the virtues or dharma are on the decline, or are relegated to the background, the lord incarnates on earth in order to uphold the virtues and to destroy the evil forces, would be quite relevant :—

यदा यदा हि धर्मस्य ग्लानिर्भवति भारत।
अभ्युत्थानमधर्मस्य तदात्मानं सृजाम्यहम्॥७॥
परित्राणाय साधूनां विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम्।
धर्मसंस्थापनार्थाय संभवामि युगे युगे॥

Bhagavadgītā

The same spirit has been conveyed in the following verses of the Brahma Purāṇa:—

शृणुध्वं मुनिशार्दूलाः प्रवक्ष्यामि समासतः।
अवतारं हरेश्चात्र भारवतरणेच्छया॥
यदा यदा त्वधर्मस्य वृद्धिर्भवति भो द्विजः।
धर्मश्च ह्रासमभ्येति तदा देवो जनार्दनः॥
अवतारं कोन्यत्र द्विधा कृत्वाऽऽत्मनस्तनुम्।
साधूनां रक्षणार्थाय धर्मसंस्थापनाय च॥
दुष्टानां निग्राहार्थाय अन्येषां च सुरद्विषाम्।
प्रजानां रक्षणार्थाय जायतेऽसौ युगे-युगे॥ (181.1-4)

The number of incarnations

The incarnations of Viṣṇu have been variously described in the Purāṇas, since the Matsya Purāṇa relates to one of the incarnations of Viṣṇu, it would be of interest to analyse the position of the incarnations in the Purāṇas:—

1. Vayu Purāṇa

(a) Divine Incarnations

- (1) Varāha (II. 36.73) In the fourth yuga, when Suras were in distress, he was born within the ocean for killing Hiraṇyakaśipu.
- (ii) Narasimha (II. 36.73) The second incarnation was that of Narasimha.
- (iii) Vāmana (II. 36.74) The third incarnation, that of Vāmana, took place in the seventh Tretāyuga, when all the three worlds were overrun by the Daityas and were ruled by Bali.

(b) Human Incarnation

- (iv) Dattātreya (II 36.88) The fourth incarnation was Dattātreya, with Mārkaṇḍeya as his preceptor.
- (v) Māndhātṛ (II. 36.89) The fifth incarnation is Māndhātṛ
- (vi) Paraśurāma (II. 36.90) The sixth incarnation was that of Paraśurāma, son of Jamadagni.
- (vii) Rāma (II. 36.91) In the twenty-fourth Tretāyuga Viṣṇu incarnated as Rāma.
- (viii) Veda-vyāsa (II. 36.92) Viṣṇu took his eighth incarnation as Vedavyāsa born of Pārāśara.
- (ix) Kṛṣṇa (II. 36.93) Viṣṇu was born as Kṛṣṇa, son of Devakī and Vāsudeva as the ninth incarnation.
- (x) Kalki (II. 36.165-120) Viṣṇu in his future incarnation will be known as Kalki.

(2) Varāha Purāṇa

The Varāha Purāṇa counts the ten incarnations of Viṣṇu, in a chronological order as follows:—

मत्स्यकूर्मवराहश्च नरसिंहोऽथ वामनः।

रामोरामश्च कृष्णश्च बुद्धकल्की च ते दश॥ (4.2)

(Matsya, Kūrma, Varāha, Narasimha, Vāmana, Paraśurāma, Rāma, Kṛṣṇa, Buddha and Kalki are the ten incarnations of Viṣṇu)

(3) Brahmavaivarta Purāṇa

The Brahmavaivarta Purāṇa, mentions mainly at two places about the incarnations of Viṣṇu. Initially in the ninth Chapter of the Viṣṇu Khaṇḍa, there is a mention of seventeen incarnations of Viṣṇu as under:—

ब्रह्मेशशेषविघ्नेशः कूर्मधर्मोऽहमेव च।

नरश्च कार्तिकेयश्च श्रीकृष्णांशा वयं नव॥

सूकरो वामनः कल्किर्बौद्धः कपिलमीनकौ।

एते चांशाः कलाश्चान्ये सन्त्येव कथिता मुने॥

कूर्मो नृसिंहो रामश्च श्वेतद्वीप विराड्विभुः।
परिपूर्णतमः कृष्णो वैकुण्ठं गोकुले स्वयम्॥

(Brahmavaivarta Purāṇa, Kṛṣṇa Khaṇḍa, 9/10,12/13)

The above verses classify the incarnations of Viṣṇu as follows

- (i) Those which emerged Brahma, Īśa, Vighneśa (Gaṇeśa), Kūrma, Naraout of aṁśas of Kṛṣṇa Nārāyaṇa, Kārttikeya.
(or Viṣṇu)

Here Nara and Nārāyaṇa have been treated separately, but elsewhere in this Purāṇa, Nara-Nārāyaṇa have been treated as one incarnation (Kṛṣṇa Khaṇḍa 22/28)

- (ii) Aṁśavatāras of Viṣṇu Vāmana, Kalki, Buddha, Kapila and Matsya.
(iii) Pūraṇāvatāras Kūrma, Narasimha, Rāma and Kṛṣṇa.

Irrespective of the above list of seventeen incarnations, the second Sthala of Kṛṣṇa Khaṇḍa of this Purana (23/37; 41-49) mentions Vāmana, Varāha, Narasimha, Kūrma, Rāma, Paraśurāma, Kapila, Nara-Nārāyaṇa and Kṛṣṇa.

(4) Garuḍa Purāṇa

Chapter-14 of the Brahma Khaṇḍa of the Garuḍa Purāṇa deals with the incarnations of Viṣṇu. The lord is described here not only the author of everything but also as the destroyer and as enjoyer of the best in everything. In this connection a number of things which are excellent in each class are mentioned and the Lord is said to be its enjoyer.

Chapter-15 of the same texts provides the list of these incarnations which includes Viṣṇu-Vāsudeva, Saṁkarṣaṇa, Aniruddha, Sanandana and others. Besides the names of Varāha, Nārāyaṇa, Kapila, the expounder of Sāṅkhya philosophy, Dattātreya (the propounder of Anviksiki to Alarka) Svāyambhuva Manu, Kūrma, Dhanvantri, Mohinī, (Śrī), Narasimha, Vāmana, Paraśurāma, Vyāsa, Rāghava (Rāma), Kṛṣṇa, Buddha and Kalki are also mentioned. Some of the relevant verses are quoted hereunder :—

ततो हरिः प्रादुरभून्महात्मा धन्वंतरिर्नाम हरिन्मणिद्युतिः।
अपथ्यदोषान्परिहर्तुमेव हस्ते गृहीत्वा पूर्णकुम्भं सुधाभिः॥
ततो हरिर्जगृहे श्रीवपुश्च यन्मोहिनीति प्रवदन्ति लोके।
उद्वृत्तानां दिशिजानां महात्मा सम्यक्तेषां वंचयितुं हरिबलम्॥
ततो हरिं प्रादुरभून्महात्मा नृसिंहनामा भगवाननंतः।
दैत्या हिरण्यकशिपुश्च तथोरुदेशे संस्थापितः करजैर्दारितश्च॥
ततो हरि भगवान्त्वामनोभूददित्यां वै कश्यपाद्देवदेवः।
इन्द्रायेदं दातुकामः खगेन्द्र तदर्थं वै पावितुं सेवितुं च॥

ततो हरिर्जमदग्नेः सुतो भूल्लोके सर्वे पशुरामं वदन्ति।
 ब्रह्मद्विषां क्षत्रियाणां च वीन्द्र भूमिनिःक्षत्रां कर्तुकामो महेशः॥
 ततोभवद्व्यासरूपी स विष्णुश्चतुर्वारं राघवास्यापि पूर्णः।
 पराशरात्सत्यवत्यां बभूव पैलादिभिर्वेदभागांश्च कर्तुम्॥

(Garuḍa Purāṇa, Brahma Khaṇḍa, 15.17-22)

(5) Bhāgavata Purāṇa

The texts in its first Skanda describes the number of the incarnation of Viṣṇu as twenty-four as follows:—

“At the time of the beginning, with the desire to create the universe, the lord assumed the form of a man (puruṣa) consisting the sixteen parts created from the tattvas (primary substances) of which Mahat (the great or intellect) is the first.

Brahmā, the head of the progenitor of the universe, was born of the lotus of the deep-lake-like navel of the Lord, who was lying on the waters (of the post-deluge ocean), extending his yogic meditation slumber. Verily that form of the lord on the formation of whose limbs is based the extent of the universe, is very pure, excellent, and full of sattva (goodness) they (i.e. yogins) with their vision visualise this form which is wonderful (on account of its having thousands of feet, thighs, arms, mouths, thousands of heads, ears, eyes and noses, shining on account of thousands of crown, garments and ear-rings):—

पश्यन्त्यदोरूपमदभ्रचक्षुषा सहस्रपादोरुभुजाननाद्भुतम्।

सहस्रमूर्धश्रवणाक्षिनासिकं सहस्रमौल्यम्बरकुण्डलोल्लसत्॥ (1.3.4)

At first, that very God manifested himself as a youth and becoming a Brāhmaṇa, practised unbroken celibacy which is difficult to practice. Secondly also the lord of sacrifices (Nārāyaṇa) with the object of creation, assumed the body of a boar, for raising up the earth which has sunk down to the lower region called Rasātala. And thirdly, he having become the Divine sage Nārada in the Arṣa creation (pertaining to the sages) expounded the religion-mystical treatise pertaining to the satvatas (the devotees of Viṣṇu), namely Pañcarātrāgama by following which actions become void of their binding force. In the fourth incarnation, having been born of the wife of Dharma (namely Mūrti, daughter of Dakṣa-Prajāpati) as the twin sages Nara-Nārāyaṇa, He performed severe penance with fully pacified mind.

The fifth (incarnation) was the name of Kapila, the chief of the Siddhas, who explained to Āsurī, the Sāṃkhya doctrine which determined all the principles, which were lost formerly in the course of time. In the sixth (incarnation), he being requested by Anasūyā, became the child of Atri, taught Metaphysics to Alārka, Prahlāda and others. Then in the seventh incarnation, yajña was born of Huci and Akuti. He alongwith gods, of whom Yama was the first, protected the period assigned to Manu called Svayambhu. In the eighth incarnation, Lord Viṣṇu, was born of Nābhi and queen Meru Devī. He as Rṣabha showing to the strong minded ones, the path of Sanyāsa, the most respectable of all stages of life. Having been explored by sages, he assumed the ninth form known as Pṛthu. From this earth, he milked medicinal plants. Thereby he became most pleasant. At the time of oceanic deluge in the epoch called Cākṣuṣa, he assumed the form of a fish and protected Vaivasvata Manu, by making him board the earth boat. This was his tenth incarnation. In the eleventh incarnation, in the form of a tortoise, the Omnipresent lord supported the Mandra mountain on his back while gods and demons were churning the ocean. The twelfth incarnation is of Dhanvantri and the thirteenth, the female form of Mohinī, who after deluding others, enabled the gods of drink nectar. Assuming the fourteenth man-lion form, he tore up the chest of the powerful king Daityas with his claws like the weaver of mats tearing the grass. Proposing to beg three steps of land, but desirous of recovering heaven, he assumed the Pigmy (Vāmana) form and arrived at Bali's sacrifice. In the sixteenth incarnation, being angry at the hostility to Brāhmaṇas, he extricated the warrior class from the earth twenty one times as Paraśurāma. In the seventeenth descent on earth, he was born of Satyavatī and Pārāśara. Seeing the people of low intelligence, he divided the three in the form of Veda into several Branches. After this, in order to help gods or to kill Rāvaṇa, he assumed kingship and performed acts of valour such as the control of the sea by building a bridge over it. In the nineteenth and twentieth incarnations, having taken birth in the Vṛṣṇī family as Rāma (Balarāma) and Kṛṣṇa, he lessened burden of earth. Then on the full advent of the Kali Age, he will be born as Buddha and as soon of Ajana in the Kikata country. Then in the twilight of the Kali Age, when the kings will be as good as robbers, this protector of the world will be born of Viṣṇuyaśa under the name of Kalki.

(6) Agni Purāṇa

In the Chapter 48 of Agni Purāṇa stress is laid on the recitation of the Vaiṣṇava mantra (ॐ नमो भगवते वासुदेवाय) from the number of Sanskrit letters entering into its composition. Then there is an elaborate description of the twenty-four forms of Viṣṇu. The next Chapter (49) deals extensively with the iconography of Viṣṇu, and his ten incarnations, Chapters 44-47 highlight the essential points in the making of an image of Vāsudeva and any other deity; the essential points of the divine pedestal and its dimensions; the different kinds of Śālāgrāma stones and the process of worshipping Śālāgrāmas. Then chapters 202 and 203, contain highlight on the worship of Hari and the fruits acquired by a man for worshipping Hari. Chapter-305 recites the fifty names of Viṣṇu.

The ten incarnations of Viṣṇu are also found mentioned in the following Purāṇas, besides the Mahābhārata:—

(i) Varāha Purāṇa , 4.1-3; 48.16-23; 112.27.

(ii) Brahmāṇḍa Purāṇa 2.73, 70-126.

(iii) Matsya Purāṇa 47, 234-251.

(iv) Devī Bhāgavata, 105, 1-15.

But the subject of incarnations has been discussed variously in the Purāṇas as well as other religious literature as would be evident from the following facts.

(1) The Reasons

(a) Viṣṇu is the only god of the Brahmanical trinity, who is known in the texts to incarnate not only in animal, or composite forms, (half animal and half human) but also in purely human form and even is born of human parents. The theory of incarnation of Viṣṇu could also be traced in the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa, wherein the rescue of the Earth from the deep sea by Brahmā in the form of a Boar has been discussed:—

अथ वराहविहतम्। इयत्ययऽआसीदित्यती वान्नइय मये पृथिव्यास प्रादेशमात्री तामेमूष इति
वराह उज्जघान सोऽस्याः पतिः प्रजापतितैर्नैवेनमेतन्मिथुनेन प्रियेण धाम्नां समर्धयति कृस्त्रं
कोति मखस्य तेऽद्य शिरोराध्यांस देवयजने पृथिव्या मखाय वा नखस्य वा शीर्षऽइत्यसावेव बभूव॥

(Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa, 14.1.2.11)

(Then, the earth, torn up by a Boar, he takes only thus large was she in the beginning, for, indeed only so large was this earth in the beginning of the size of a span. A Boar called Emuṣā, raised her up and he was her lord Prajāpati, with that mate, her heart's delight, he thus supplies the complete him.....).

(b) The same version is repeated in the Vajasneyī Samhitā (38.5) and some other texts as well. However, the Matsya Purāṇa also declares that whenever there is a decay of righteousness, Viṣṇu takes birth in order to establish righteousness by destroying asuras :—

जज्ञे पुनः पुनर्विष्णुर्द्धर्मे प्रशिथिले प्रभुः।
कुर्वन् धर्मव्यवस्थानमसुराणां प्रणाशनम्॥ (Matsya Purāṇa 47.32)

(c) It also testifies that Viṣṇu's resorting to the various incarnations on earth is due to a curse pronounced by Bhṛgu and that Viṣṇu assumed most of these forms:—

कर्तुर्धर्मव्यवस्थानं जायते मानुषेष्विह।
भृगुःशापनिमित्तन्तु देवासुरकृते तदा॥ (Matsya Purāṇa 47.37)

(At the same time on account of the curse of Bhṛgu, there was destructive warfare between Devas and asuras to cause pain to Bali, when lord Viṣṇu manifested himself in human form to establish righteousness, for the sake of the Devas and the asuras).

(d) According to the above authority, it was Bhṛgu who initially commanded Viṣṇu to incarnate, in order to establish righteousness over the unrighteous deeds of the asuras. Thus the seeds of the theory of incarnation of Viṣṇu could quite well be traced in the Vedic texts and the Śatapatha-Brāhmaṇa, but the clear vision as to the need of such incarnations has been provided in the Matsya Purāṇa and the Bhagvadgītā as described earlier.

(e) Almost identical views are contained in Chapter-II of the Devi-Mahātmya wherein the goddess declares similarly.

(f) The Curse of Śukra, the priest of asuras

The Matsya Purāṇa (Chapter-47) further goes on to testify that there were indeed twelve conflicts between the gods and the asuras. On one occasion when Prahalāda had been overcome, Indra has gained the empire of the three worlds. Śukra, the priest of the asuras, left them and went to the gods. They however, entreated him not to desert them; when he reassured them by the promise of his support. They (the asuras) were attacked by the gods and they resorted to Śukra, when their assailants left them. Śukra then referred to their earlier discomfiture and advised them to wait for a more favourable time and resorted to Śiva to obtain a sacred text for achieving their victory. On being praised by Śukra for the sacred book, Mahādeva advised him to practice severe austerities. The absence of Śukra enthused the gods to attack the asuras, who feeling insecure went to the mother of Śukra, to save them. Then mother of Śukra, was ultimately slayed by Viṣṇu at the instance of Indra, quite hesitatingly because she was a woman. Viṣṇu was thereafter doomed by a curse of Śukra to be born seven times in the world of men and in consequence of this, he appeared for the good of the world when unrighteousness prevailed. In the consequence of Śukra's curse, which operated periodically, Viṣṇu had to be born seven times among men for a sin of killing a woman, knowing that a woman under no circumstances is to be killed.

यस्मात्ते जानतो धर्ममवध्या स्त्री निषूदिता।

तस्मात्त्वं सप्तकृत्वेह मानुषेषूपपत्स्यसे॥ (Matsya Purāṇa 47.103)

Besides, Brahmā had also decreed that all those asuras who should be disobedient to Prahalāda should be slain by man. This also explains the reasons for Viṣṇu's resorting to the human form for the destruction of the asuras:—

प्रह्लादस्य निदेशे तु न स्थास्यन्त्यसुराश्च ये।

मनुष्यवध्यास्ते सर्वे ब्रह्मेति व्याहरत्प्रभुः॥ (Matsya Purāṇa 47.233)

(ii) Types of Incarnations

As to the types of incarnations of Viṣṇu, they could be divided in following three types:—

(a) Complete incarnations like Rāma and Kṛṣṇa.

(b) Partial incarnations like Paraśurāma, who though a Cirañjīvi was endowed with divinity for a short span of life and had finally to retire to the mountains, handing over all his divine powers to Rāma, after his mission, the suppression of Kṣatriyas was over. Thus with Paraśurāma the divinity was not a life-long endowment, but of a short-lived nature. This type is called āveśa.

(c) The third is characterised by a portion of the power as illustrated in śaṁkha and cakra, the attributes of Viṣṇu, who are occasionally ordered to be born among the men as embodied beings to improve them in their ways, by becoming devotional personages and achieve the purpose of their mission. Such incarnations are called aṁśāvatāras or partial incarnations.

(iii) The Classification

These incarnations can also be classified, into human, animal and the composite forms:—

(a) Human forms, include Rāma, Paraśurāma, Vāmana, Kṛṣṇa, Buddha and Kalki.

(b) Animal forms, include, Matsya, Kūrma and Varāha.

(c) The composite forms include Narasimha, wherein the deity had the head of a lion placed on a human trunk. Sometimes even Varāha is conceived in the composite form of human with the head of a Boar.

(iv) The Doctrine, its genesis and evolution

As to the number of the incarnations of Viṣṇu, the different texts speak variously on the subject. In this connection, J.N. Banerjea has observed as follows:—

“The doctrine of the vibhavas (Avataras, i.e., incarnatory forms) was no less component part of Pañcarātra or Bhāgavata creed than that of the Vyūhas. The difference between the two lies in the fact that we have some evidence regarding the existence of the former in the later Vedic texts, whereas there is none about the existence of the latter in them. The term avatāra is applied to the act of the god coming down in the form of a man or an animal to the earth and living there in that form till the purpose for which he had descended in the universe was fulfilled; it also sometimes denotes the assumption of different forms by the god for the attainment of particular objects. It is thus distinct form for the attainment of particular objectives. It is thus distinct form identification (where one deity is identified with another), or emanation (as illustrated by the Vyūha doctrine). It is also different from the possession of one individual entity by the divinity in which the latter takes up temporary abode in the former; but this idea of possession has to some extent been manifest in the story of Paraśurāma incarnation of Viṣṇu. In the Pañcarātra theology, the Vibhavas (Vi-bhu-as), i.e., the act of becoming in a special manner) being the Pure Creation (Śuddhasṛṣṭi) to which the Vyūhas also belong; these incarnations, however, may not only be of a composite god Viṣṇu himself, but also may be of his Vyūhas, sub-Vyūhas and Parsādas (companions), or even of his attributes and emblems. One of the earliest reference to the assumption of some forms by the divinity is to be found in the Śatapatha Brahmana and the Taittirīya Samhitā where Prajāpati is said to have assumed the forms of Fish (Matsya), Tortoise (Kūrma) and Boar (Varāha) on different occasions for the furtherance of creation and the well being of the created. When the doctrine of incarnations in association with Vāsudeva-Viṣṇu-Nārāyana, was well established all these three were bodily transferred to that composite god, and were regarded as some of the celestial (divya) incarnations.....”

On the question of the number of incarnations of Viṣṇu, J.N. Banerjea has observed:—

“A brief reference to a few of the Epic, Puranic and Pañcarātra passages enumerating the various incarnations will be useful for our understanding of many Vaiṣṇava images. If we study them together, we shall not only recognise in some of these enumeration all the stereotyped ten (this list also some times varies in the north and south of India) whose icons are common, but also find the names of many Avatāras whose images, though not so common, are also known. The Nārāyaṇīya Section of the Mahābhārata refers in one list (XII.349,37) to the Varāha, Vāmana and Narasimha or the man-lion incarnations. The human incarnations refer no doubt to Vāsudeva Kṛṣṇa, Bhārgava Rāma and Dāśarathī Rāma, for in Chapter 389, (Verses 77-90) of the same section not only the stories about the first three in the list given above are briefly narrated, but also those about his incarnations as Bhārgava Rāma (Paraśurāma), Dāśarathī Rāma and Vāsudeva Kṛṣṇa are recounted. But a fuller list is given in verse 104 of the same Chapter which contains the name of Haṁsa, Kūrma, Matsya, Varāha, Narasimha, Vāmana, Rāma (Bhārgava), Rāma (Dāśarathī), Satvat, (Vāsudeva or Baladeva for both of them are of Satvat race) and Kalki. The number of ten is to be noted here and the absence of Buddha in this list may show that Buddha has not yet been regarded as an Avatara. In the Vāyu Purāṇa, mention is made of the ten incarnations of Viṣṇu, of which the first three, Yajña, Narasimha and Vāmana are celestial, the rest being his human incarnations; they are Dattātreyā, one unnamed, in the Tretāyuga simply called the fifth, Jāmadagnya Rāma, Dāśarathī Rāma, Vedavyāsa, Vāsudeva-Kṛṣṇa and Kalki, the future incarnation. Here also the Buddha is conspicuous by his absence, and a few other constituents of the stereotyped list of three— Matsya, Kūrma and Varāha are replaced by Yajña, Dattātreyā and Vedavyāsa.....”

The following tabulation shall provide a comparative picture of the number of avatāras as contained in different texts:—

Dattātreya

As to the number of the incarnations of Viṣṇu, Gopinatha Rao has observed:—

“Some Hindu authorities do not consider Buddha to be an avatara of Viṣṇu and substitute in his place Balarāma, the elder brother of Kṛṣṇa, as an avatara.”

But a comparative study of the above tabulation would reveal that there have been deviations in respects of the avataras, while some are omitted in one text the others are absent in the other lists. But ofcourse Buddha is found in a number of lists from various text describing the incarnations of Viṣṇu. According to Hemādri, Haṁsa is an addition and Kṛṣṇa is an alternative of Balarāma. In this connection D.N. Shukla has observed as follows:—

“Thus the incarnations of Viṣṇu are innumerable and those so far mentioned are only a few types. All these show philosophically the universal character of the god as all-pervading and all sustaining. These Avatāras are like rivulets flowing from one inexhaustible lake. Ṛsis, Manes, gods, sons of Manu—Prajāpatis are all his portions. Here is it enough to say about this great tradition of the Hindus, forming the very pillar of the high edifice of our religious life. The philosophical idea of incarnation is given in the oft-quoted verse—Yada yada hi dharmasya etc. Cosmologically if we take into consideration all these incarnations, we find that the first four are cosmogonic in nature. Manu says that in the beginning of the world, there was nothing but water. The fish was the first representative creature in the process of the evolution of the world. After water, mountains came out in the course of creation, and they are represented by the Kūrmavatāra. The recovery of the land from the water as a next stage of evolution may be represented by the incarnation of Varāha. The Narasimha incarnation can also account for the animal and the man-kingdoms on earth. These varieties of the Daśāvatāras again,.....contains some sub-varieties also, e.g., Varāhavatāra in sculpture comprises three different conceptional types namely; Bhū-varāha or Ādi-varāha, Yajña-varāha, Pralaya-varāha. Similarly Narasimha avatāra has also so many varieties. The sub-varieties of Kṛṣṇa-Navanītanṛtta, Veṇugopal, Goverdhana-dhara, Bālakṛṣṇa etc. are a common property both of sculptors and painters.”

Various texts describe the iconographical details of the Daśāvatāras of Viṣṇu, but the iconography of the images of these incarnations in the Agni Purāṇa is tabulated hereunder:—

Incarnation	Body	Arms	Attributes and other details	Remarks
Matsya	Resembling a Fish	-	-
Kūrma	should resemble Tortoise.			Should be made to look like the prototype of the animals from which its nomenclature is derived
Varāha	Composite body with a boar's head fixed over a human trunk.	Four arms	Gadā and other weapons in his right arms; conch shell and the goddess Lakṣmī seated on lotus to be resting on the other left elbow.
Narasimha	Lion's head placed over a human body	Four arms	Gadā, Cakra and the other two tearing the belly of the demon.	Daitya should be placed over the thighs of the god.
Vāmana	Human body looking like a dwarf	Two arms	Stick and an umbrella
Paraśurāma	Human body	Two arms	A bow, arrow and an axe.
Rāma	Human body	Two arms	A bow and an arrow besides a sword and a conch-shell.
Balarāma/Kṛṣṇa	Human body	Two arms	Four or two arm or a conch-shell. A gadā, or a plough.
Buddha	Human body, seated on a lotus with	Two arms	Should have comparatively larger ears and the calmness	Fair complexion, wearing a cloth petals turned upwards.	should be made to reflect in his appearance.

Kalki	Human body, Not mounted on a defined horse.	A bow and a quiver, a Should be mounted śaṁkha, cakra, gadā on a horse. and padma

Other lists also describe the iconography of the incarnations of Viṣṇu and the account that follows, throws some light on each one of them.

(1) Matsya

While dealing individually with the ten incarnations of Viṣṇu, it may be stated that according to most of the texts this incarnations comes first of all and accounts of Matsyāvatāra are found in the Agni, Bhāgavata and several other texts. The texts in general prescribe that the representation in art of Matsyāvatāra should resemble a fish:—

‘मत्स्यावतारिणं देवं मत्स्याकारं प्रकल्पयेत्।’

The Mahābhārata (Vanaparva 12.297 ff) also describes it and Matsyāvatāra is also a subject of discussion with the author of the Agni Purāṇa of the initial four of the ten incarnations of Viṣṇu which are of cosmogenic nature, Matsyāvatāra comes first as representing the aquatic animal.

The Bhāgavata Purāṇa describes that after having been addressed by Viṣṇurāṭa the divine Badrāyaṇa related the deeds of Viṣṇu achieved by him in his fish incarnation. At the end of the past kalpa there was a practical dissolution of the universe in which the earth and other worlds were submerged in the ocean. Then the powerful Rākṣaṣa named Hayagrīva took away the Vedas from the mouth of the creator, who from the drowsiness, which had come on through the lapse of time, had become disposed to go to sleep. On discovering this deed of Hayagrīva, the chief of the Dānavas, the divine lord Hari, took to the form of a Śapharī fish and recovered the Vedas.

Though the Purāṇas in general agree about the number of the incarnations to be ten, but the Bhāgavata Purāṇa and other texts speak out differently on the subject, as would be evident from the following facts:—

Avatāras in the Bhāgavata Purāṇa

The Bhāgavata Purāṇa enumerates the avatāras thrice, in the first recounting (1.2.6-22), the number is twenty-two; in the second (11.7.1 ff) the number mentioned is twenty three and in the third list (XI.4.3 ff) the number of avatāras mentioned is sixteen. The names, common in these lists are as follows:—

(1) Puruṣa, (ii) Varāha, (iii) Nārada, (iv) Nara and Nārāyaṇa, (v) Kapila, (vi) Dattātreya, (vii) Yajña, (viii) Rṣabha, (ix) Pṛthu, (x) Matsya, (xi) Kūrma, (xii) Dhanvantrī, (xiii) Mohinī, (xiv) Narasimha, (xv) Vāmana, (xvi) Bhārgava Rāma, (xvii) Vedavyāsa, (xviii) Dāśarathī Rāma, (xix) Balarāma, (xx) Kṛṣṇa, (xxi) Buddha, (xxii) Kalki.

This enumeration includes the names of all the usual ten in the stereotyped list, but the Purāṇakāra emphasises that the divine descents are innumerable (avatāraḥ hyasamkhyeyāḥ). The difference of this list from the other two is immaterial; the last omitting some included in the first list, but none of them omits R̥ṣabha (Ādinātha or R̥ṣabhanātha, the first Tirthaṅkara of Jainas and Buddhists). The Varāha and Agni Purāṇas contain the stereotyped list of ten incarnations while the Matsya Purāṇa lays down that Viṣṇu was born seven times among the men because he was cursed by Bhṛgu for killing his wife, the mother of Śukra. These are (1) Dattātreya, (ii) Māndhātā, (iii) Jamdagnya (Paraśurāma), (iv) Rāma Dāśarathī (v) Vedavyāsa, (vi) Buddha and (vii) Kalki, by adding three others, those of Nārāyaṇa, Kūrma and Varāha (probably meant to be the celestial ones), the number of ten is made up, though this list of Daśāvatara widely differs from the usually accepted ones, as many as four here, Dattātreya, Māndhātā, Vedavyāsa and Nārāyaṇa are the substitutes of Matsya, Kūrma, Varāha and Balarāma (or rarely Kṛṣṇa) of the usual list.

The evidence of the early and late Pañcarātra Saṁhitās also refers to the incarnations of Viṣṇu. The Satvat Saṁhitā, one of the earliest in the series enumerates as many as thirty-nine incarnatory forms of Viṣṇu. This list is copied verbatim in the Abhirbudhnya Saṁhitā which belongs to subsequent period.

(1) Padmanābha, (2) Dhruva, (3) Ananta, (4) Śaktyātmāna, (5) Madhusūdana, (6) Kapila, (7) Vidyādhīva, (8) Viśvarūpa, (9) Vihaṅgama, (10) Krodātman, (11) Baḍavavaktra, (12) Dharma, (13) Vāgiśvara, (14) Ekārṇavaśāyin, (15) Kamaṭheśvara, (16) Varāha, (17) Narasiṁha, (18) Piyūṣahatana, (19) Śrīpati, (20) Kantātaman, (21) Rahujita, (22) Kālanemighna, (23) Parijātahara, (24) Lokanātha, (25) Śāntāmna, (26) Dattātreya, (27) Nyagrohaśāyin, (28) Ekaṣṛṅgatanu, (29) Vāmanadeha, (30) Trivikrama, (31), Nara, (32) Nārāyaṇa, (33) Hari, (34) Kṛṣṇa, (35) Paraśurāma, (36) Rāma Dhanurudhara, (37) Vedavida, (38) Kalki, (39) Pātālaśāyana.

Matsyāvatāra destroyed by Śiva

This form of the deity is not available in the texts, but in the Ekambareśvara temple at Kanchi, Śiva stands depicted as a mythological bird swallowing the Matsyāvatāra of four-armed Viṣṇu having the human bust with lower part of a fish. The bird has four arms, two legs and a composite body, partly of a bird and partly human. The bust except the neck is human with four arms. The right hand carries an aṅkuśa and an indistinct object, while one of the left hands holds an antelope and the other one projects varada-mudrā. The legs resemble those of a bird. The neck and the head too are like those of a bird; in the beak the Matsyāvatāra is held.

The Matsyāvatāra on the other hand wears a Kirīṭa-mukuta and holds a club in his right hand. The fish part of the deity is slightly curved. A human devotee with hands folded against the chest stands to the left.

The Matsyāvatāra has been found represented in composite as well as the fish form. According to the Viṣṇudharmottara, the image of the fish incarnation is to be made in the form of a fish, with a horn. The Mahābhārata also describes the same legend in which the fish is described as 'Śṛṅgī', having a horn. Here he is considered to be more a form of Prajāpati rather than Viṣṇu.

The fish incarnation found representation in the Indian art individually as well as in the Daśāvatāra panels. A stone pillar from Sarnath depicts the Fish-god with two tails. The upper part of the figure is human, while the lower part is that of a fish. Another representation of the similar type is engraved on the belt of a human figure from Mathura. R.D. Banerjea has referred to an uncommon variety of the image of Matsya from Bajrayoginī in Bengal. In this case, the bust of four armed Viṣṇu issues from the fish enthroned on lotus. The god holds in his four arms, the usual attributes viz., a mace, a conch, a disc, while the mutilated lower right hand could be holding a lotus. The main figure is flanked by Lakṣmī and Sarasvatī, each perched over small lotus springing from the main lotus stalk; on the pedestal, there is a small figure of Garuḍa, and a devotee flanks the main figure on either side. The representations of Matsyāvatāra of Viṣṇu are found in the Daśāvatāra panels, but no individual shrine exclusively dedicated to this form of Viṣṇu has come to light so far, indicating his subsidiary character. The specimens described above are mostly from the outer walls of temples. The incarnation of Viṣṇu in the form of Matsya in the company of his consort Lakṣmī, is carved on a big boulder on a hillock at Kothagattu lying south of Karimganj in Andhra Pradesh. The shrine on hillock is known as Matsyagiri Svāmī temple. A big fish of 8 feet length in black granite is lying in the corridor of the temple at Kaleśvaram. (Ramaiah, J., Temple of South India, p.186).

A beautiful figure of Fish in stone comes from Kārī Talāi temple complex, dates back to the eleventh century A.D. This sculpture is carved exceedingly well in a most naturalistic manner. It is partly damaged but still the execution of the fish is commendable. Another image of Fish incarnation of Viṣṇu, comes from Himachal Pradesh. Here the Fish is also shown in quite a natural way surrounded by various deities.

A painted jewellery box from Kangra, displays the ten incarnations of Viṣṇu in a most lively manner. In these the Fish incarnation is also included. Four-armed Viṣṇu here emerges from the fish in the ocean and is attacking the demon Hayagrīva. The ocean is painted in silver grey colour. The demon is lying before him in the water and is holding back shield and a sword, while Viṣṇu holds his usual attributes of śaṅkha, cakra, gadā and padma. Four devotees are shown against the yellow background paying tribute to the lord with folded hands.

The story of Ekārvava doctrine has been the subject matter of discussion not only in India but also in the foreign lands. In India, it is connected with the fish incarnation of Viṣṇu.

The Description of each incarnation

Fish incarnation

The Matsya Purāṇa describes the fish incarnation of Viṣṇu in the first Chapter, according to which, a certain king named Manu, leaving his kingdom went out to Malaya country to perform penances and there obtained a boon from Brahmā that he should be able to protect all the creatures at the time of dissolution. The boon was granted and then the king one day at the time of offering oblation to Pitṛs noticed a small fish in the palm of his hand. He put it in water pot which the fish fully occupied by waxing during the course of the day. Then the king threw it into a jar and the same thing happened again. The fish was then thrown into a well and then it could not be contained there and was thrown into a pond, after which into a river and finally the fish was consigned into the ocean. When the piscine form filled the whole ocean by its giant size, the king became perplexed and asked the fish of its true identity, saying, “Are you the lord of asuras or god Nārāyaṇa himself. How can any one else behave like this? O, I have know the truth; you are certainly lord Viṣṇu, the cosmic deity in the form of fish.” The Fish replied, “Verily, O king, you have known the truth. Soon the earth will be submerged into the water. Look here at this boat which all the hosts all the Devas have improvised for the protection of living beings; place them on the ship and when the same is rocked by the furious winds of dissolution, then fasten it to my horn or cranial protuberance. When the storm is over, you will have saved the creatures and then the crowned as Prajāpati of the universe.”

Manu further asked as to how such a state of things would take place and was told that for hundreds of years there would be a severe famine and the solar disc also would emit such intense heat as would reduce everything on earth to ashes. The sea would emit the fury of its submarine fire and the nether world would throw up poisonous fumes from the thousand mouths of the cosmic serpent so that the three worlds, the sky, the gods and the stars would all be consumed. Then would appear the clouds which are produced at the end of time. They are of seven kinds viz., Samvarta, Bhīmanada, Droṇa, Caṇḍa, Balāhaka, Vidvatapatākā and Sona. There would be condensation in all space and even the oceans transcend their limits creating a condition of watery flood technically called Ekāṇava:—

(Matsya Purāṇa 2.10)

The king was also told that the boat which would come to him was the ship of the Vedas (Vedanavam), that he should stock there seeds of all living creatures (Sattva-bījāni), that he should pilot the boat by a rope to be supplied by the divine Fish and tie it to its horn to be protected by the glory of the divine creature. Things happened as was predicated and all the assurances given were fulfilled. The rope was the cosmic serpent and the Fish to whose horn the boat was anchored in the midst of watery floods was the divine creator himself.

There are several symbolical terms which have been duly interpreted by V.S. Agrawala. (Matsya Purāṇa— A Study, pp.4-5) The first question is about the real nature of Matsya or the Fish. The fish is the symbol of Egg. The Cosmos is the Egg of Brahmā (Brahmāṇḍa). Here Brahmā himself is the fish, and therefore the Brahmāṇḍa is the same as Matsyāṇḍa. Somewhere in the golden egg produced by Brahmā is a spec of life-principle which recreates and perpetuates consciousness on life or vitality from one aeon to another and the same process continues through successive ages of the universe during immeasurable units of time.

The Vedic doctrine of Hiraṇyagarbha is here completely repeated in the story of Fish incarnation or Matsyāvatāra. The Fish is an appropriate symbol of the principle of egg; it is borne out of the scientific knowledge of the present day. The class is the largest of all the vertebrate classes including some 20,000 species. Within it is found a great diversity of structure than any other class of vertebrates. Fishes live under a great variety of conditions, at the surface of sea, in mid water, at bottom or buried in sand or mud. Their greatest quality is found in their capacity to produce eggs. Most of the important northern food-fishes produce a great number of eggs that float in the sea, and in some species a single fish sheds millions of eggs annually (Encyclopaedia Britanica 14th edition, vol. IX, p.309). Moreover there is a resemblance between developing child in the womb called the foetus which is suspended by umbilical cord and floats freely in the amniotic fluid as the fish in water. The embryo assumes at a certain stage a cylindrical form, one end of the hollow tube thus formed is enlarged to form the head and neck; the other, the tail end, becomes curved forward and tapers to a point. Not only the tail but also the circulation from the heart and blood vessels at first resembles that of a fish. It should not be presumed that the microscopic details had been observed by ancient writers, but there is no doubt that within their comprehension was rooted the belief that the fish was the most dominant symbol of an oviparous (Aṇḍaja) vertebrate producing a life-germ. Although human beings have developed to a placental stage (Jarāyuja) still both belong to a common ancestry extending over geological times.

The Fish incarnation of Viṣṇu is directly connected with the deluge or the Flood waters. These deluge stories are commonly found in several countries of the world. The old answer about the flood myth was that such a catastrophs which overwhelmed the world actually occurred and many legends of the great flood which are so widely scattered among the mankind, embody more or less different versions of the same as would be evident from the following tabulation:—

Motif	Indian Sources	Foreign and Other Parallels
(i) Hero surviving with a woman.		Greece, Iceland, Greenland, Anals of Assam, Lepchas of Sikkim, Entagno Islanders or Indonesia, Bataks of Sumatra, Benuajakam of Malaya Peninisula.

(ii)	Male or Female surviving alone, counterpart appearing later.	S.B.	Pelew Islanders of Micronesia, Engano Islanders of Indonesia.
(iii)	Incestuous Relations for re-creation	S.B.	Bhils of central India; Amis of Formosa and Chiriguano of Bolivia in South America.
(iv)	Survival of a number of persons in pairs	Mahābhārata and Purāṇas	Babylonia, Egypt, Hebrew, Alfors of Ceram Islands (between Celebes and New Guinea); Tarahumares of Mexico, Indians of Brazil.
(v)	Survival of a Hero, couple of a group with several other things for recreation, e.g., seeds of every sort, various animals, birds, etc. in pairs.	Mahābhārata and Purāṇas	Persia, Hebrew, Welsh, Bahnars of Cochin, China, New Guinea, Melanesians of New Hebrides, Michoacans of Mexico.
(vi)	Flood warning given by animals or divine being in the form of an animal.	S.B., Mahābhārata and Purāṇas	Greece, Bhils of Central India, Papagos, Pimas and Cherokee Indians of North America (Coyote, Eagle, Dog).
(vii)	Flood warning given by Human hero		Greece (father); Tinneh Indians of North America.
(viii)	Flood warning given by divine being		Sumer, Babylonia, Hebrew, Persia, Huichol Indians of Mexico, Montagnais of Hudson Bay Territory.

(xii)	Sin and wickedness as the cause of flood	Mahabhārata (Kaliyuga ends with Deluge)	Greece, Rome, Egypt, Jews, Babylonia, Mexicans, North and South Indian tribes.
(xiii)	Excessive rain as source of water.	S.B., Mahābhārata and Purāṇas	Greece, Babylonia, Hebrew, Finnish, Singhphos of upper Burma, Ibans of Sarawak in Indonesia, Figi, Malaysia, Tribes of North and South America.
(xiv)	Rising sea as the source of flood		Bahanirs of Cochin, China, Indonesian Islands, aboriginals of Australia, Eskimos in North America.

Besides the above, it will be of interest to note as to what the Muslim historians speak about the incarnation of fish in the Hindu Pantheon. In this connection a passage from Āine-Akabarī compiled by Abul Fazal during the time of Akbar, in the sixteenth century A.D. is reproduced here under:—

“The deity was herein manifested under the form of a fish. They say that in the Draviḍa country at the extremity of the Dekhan in the city of Bhadravati, during the Satya Yuga, on the eleventh lunar day of the month of Phalguna (Feb.-March), Raja Manu, having withdrawn himself from all worldly concerns, and being then ten thousand years of age, lived in the practice of great austerities. He was performing his oblation on the banks of the river Kṛtamālā, when a fish came into his hands and said— “Preserve me”, it remained in his hands for a day and night and as it increased in size, he put it into a cup, and when it grew larger, he placed it in pitcher. When the latter could not contain it, he put it into a well and hence transferred it into a lake and afterwards to the Gaṅgā. As the Gaṅgā could not hold it, he placed it in the ocean and when filled the ocean, the Rājā recognised the origin of the miracle and worshipped it and prayed for a revelation. He heard the following answer. “I am the Supreme Being. I have assumed the form of this creature for the salvation and a few of the elect. After seven days the world will be destroyed and flood shall cover the earth. Get thou into an ark with a few of righteous together with the divine book, medicinal plants and fasten the ark to this horn which cometh out of me.” The deluge continued for one million, seven hundred and twenty eight thousand years after which it subsided. (This story slightly differs from the one available in the Mahābhārata, the Matsya and other Puranic texts.)

The Matsya Purāṇa also mentions about the sun worship and the building of a sun temple at Multan (Mulasthan) in Pakistan, with Iranian connection is widely known. In this connection it may be stated that the Mathura Museum, exhibit No. 894, belonging to the Ist century A.D. shows the Sun-god holding a dagger and wearing boots, long coat and trousers. Such motifs persist upto Gupta period in Mathura region. An image of Sūrya from the same Museum, has a flaming halo, holds a staff and sword in its left hand and a lotus bud with stalk in the right. The much damaged torso and head of an image of probably the Sun-god in the same Museum (No. D-1), has a remarkable circular halo. The face is considerably injured. He wears a hamlet fastened under the chin by means of a strap. Long curly locks falling down on both the shoulders. Wears thin moustaches (?) and is clad in cuirass over which there is a very elaborate necklace. A scarf thrown over both the shoulders is fastened in a knot on the left breast. A double card girdle is tied round the loins and fastened in front.

According to V.S. Agrawala, there is another example which reflects the intercourse with Iranians, thus:

“Another example which reflects the intercourse with the Pārsaika (Persians) is an important bust which wears fizzled bushy hair, a bearded chin, knotted scarf and a cuirass. The bearded head reminds us of the description of Persians given by Kālidāsa in his Raghuvamśa, where the bearded heads of Persians are compared to the bee-hives carved with black laces:

भल्लापवर्जितैस्तेषां शिरोभिः श्मश्रुलैर्महीम्।

तस्तार सरघाव्याप्तैः स क्षुद्र पचलैरिवः॥

“Another marked Sassanian feature on this image is the Sun and the moon symbol on the Kulah cap.”

Now the question arises, as to why this intercourse with the solar sect of Iran took place. Though India had normal trade and diplomatic relations with many countries of the world, but the follower of the Sun-Cult in Iran seem to be men of great significance and importance; and probably had some special features of their own. The Sun-worship was in vogue in India, ever since the dawn of civilization, but in Iran, the Magā Brāhmaṇas had developed some aspects of the cult practices which were possibly unknown to the contemporary priest-hood in India. That is why it became necessary to import the trained Magā priests from Iran to India, the evidence of which is provided by the Sāmba Purāṇa in the context of the episode of Sāmba, the Son of Kṛṣṇa from Jāmbavatī, who was inflicted with leprosy due to a curse. Though it has not been possible to categorically state that the Iranian Sun-cult was more emphatic on the healing power of the Sun, (which aspect is also brought out in the literary evidence) which necessitated the import of the qualified priests from Iran to rid Sāmba of the heinous disease, and of which he was ultimately cured: these imported priests were lodged in the Sun temple at Multan, as per the evidence of the Matsya Purāṇa—

मूलस्थानं ततश्चक्रे अस्ताचलगतं रवौ।

स्थाप्य त्रिमूर्तिं साम्बस्तु प्रातर्मध्यापराह्णके॥

Matsya Purāṇa, 175.49

The glimpses of other prominent episodes relating to the different gods are presented herunder quite briefly:—

(1) Brahmā

(a) It has been stated in verse 7 of Chapter-167 Matsya Purāṇa that the Sātvik

Brāhmaṇas who perform and direct the performance of sacrifice were born of Viṣṇu. He created Brahmā, Sāmagā, Hotā, and Adhvaryu.

(b) The Chapter-168 of Matsya Purāṇa, states that the lord, selects out of the Jīvas on the earth, a person for the position of Brahmā for the creation of cosmos after the expiry of one thousand Mahāyugas, (Each Mahāyuga comprises of four yugas). The one who is a pure soul, endowed with the power of asceticism and the highest knowledge with the yogic powers and equipped with all the excellences, who is established in his self and is purified by many births is made a Brahmā. In that great ocean, the great place of pilgrimage, the infallible Hari, the creator of the worlds plays for some time and brings forth out of his navel, a wonderful lotus of a thousand petals shining like the sun. The beautiful lotus looking like the hair of the high soul was brilliant like fire and bright like the sun. Then Viṣṇu out of the golden lotus begot Brahmā, the creator of the universe. The lotus was many yojanas wide endowed with the qualities of earth, full of gunas and all the lustre of the golden colour.

(c) In earlier times Brahmā had five heads. Śiva cut off his fifth head with the nail of his left toe. Then Brahmā said— “You have cut off my head for no fault of mine therefore you shall keep on wandering in the sacred places. Hearing the curse Śiva went to Himalaya and begged alms from Nārāyaṇa, in the skull of Brahmā which was stuck up with his arm. Lord Nārāyaṇa cut off his finger nail and blood rushed out of it, but the skull could not be filled. Thereafter the stream of blood flowed for a thousand years. Then lord Viṣṇu said to Śiva— “How was this skull brought into existence, you tell me?” Lord Śiva replied— “In ancient time Brahmā was endowed with a divine form and after thousands of years, because of his tapas, fifth head appeared on his body which was shining like the gold. I cut it off in anger and now it follows like Brahmahatyā.” Lord Nārāyaṇa said— you go back and please Brahmā and the skull will be removed from your body.” On hearing this I went to all the sacred places, but the skull did not depart. The moment he reached the Avnimukta tirtha the skull left him for good. This episode is described in various other Purāṇas differently, where the skull is said to have disappeared at Kapālamocana-tīrtha at Vārāṇasī.

(ii) Viṣṇu

Lord Viṣṇu is conceived in Matsya Purāṇa as the imperishable Brahma— Īśvara. Brahman in the neuter form is abstract supreme spirit and Īśvara is the deity in his active nature. He is the one who is able to do or leave undone, or do anything in any other manner than in which it is done. He having three qualities is the cause of creation, preservation and destruction; the parent intellect, nature and the other ingredients of the universe besides being the source of the final emancipation. There is a school of thought that Viṣṇu is partly Aryan, a form of the sun god and partly atleast, the deity is of Dravidian affinity, as a sky god whose colour was the blue sky and the middle Indo Aryan or Prakṛt form of Viṣṇu, which was inhu or vehhu (Srinivas Iyenger, P.T., Life in Ancient India is the Age of Mantras, p. 125.)

Indeed Viṣṇu is a mild and benevolent deity who offers salvation through, personal devotion rather than the practice of rituals. Though the deity has its origin in the Vedic literature, still in the later vedic texts, his personality was deified into an entirely different deity, adding two or more arms to the existing one, making him four armed, or eight armed and ending in his having a thousand arms and heads. He indeed is the preserver of the world. According to Hindu ideology, at the end of the Kalpa, the universe is destroyed. Brahmā is then reborn of Viṣṇu and recreates the universe. In each one of these great cycles, in which he has rescued the cosmos, Viṣṇu appeared in a different form. Among the popular subjects of Hindu art, are the representations of Viṣṇu, in the form of Matsya—when he rescued the seven sages and others; then the form of Kūrma, when he was instrumental in the churning of the ocean and without him the event could never take place. In the form of Boar, however, he rescued the earth from the depths of the oceanic water.

Of several other subjects, Matsya Purāṇa also variously deals Viṣṇu, occasionally besides his incarnations, a bird eye view of which is given here under:—

(a) Matsya is the first of the ten incarnations of Viṣṇu and the episode of his protecting the seven Ṛṣis as well as the king Manu has been detailed already.

(b) Kūrma

In the Matsya Purāṇa too like other texts Kūrma performed a pivotal role in the churning of the ocean and it was he who served as the base for the Mandarācala, which was used as a churning rod by the gods and the demons. Because without the base for the churning rod, there could be no churning of the ocean at all. Accordingly fourteen gems are said to have emerged out of the churning of the ocean:—

लक्ष्मी-कौस्तुभ-पारिजातक-सुरा-धन्वन्तरी-चन्द्रमा
गावाः कामदुधा सुरेश्वरगजो रम्भादिदैत्याङ्गनाः।
अश्वःसप्तमुखः विषं हरिधनु शंखोऽमृतं चाम्बुधे
रत्नानीति चतुर्दश प्रतिदिवं देयात् सदा मङ्गलम्॥

Thus these were the gems emerging from the ocean as a result of the churning of the same. Thus as Kūrma, Viṣṇu performed his job well.

(c) Mohini

In Chapter-251 of the Matsya Purāṇa, the incarnation of Viṣṇu as Mohini is mentioned. The fascinated demons placed the nectar pot over the hands of Viṣṇu, who being deluded, placed the nectar pot over the hands of Viṣṇu, who being deluded, placed the pitcher of nectar into the hands of the lord and then ran towards the gods to fight with them holding various arms. In the meantime the lord, most ingeniously, brought the pot of the nectar before the gods and the demons and the gods started drinking the same. The demon Rāhu, assumed the form of a god and seated himself along the gods and was about to drink the nectar. The sun and the moon drew the attention of the gods for their own benefit. When the nectar had gone into the neck of Rāhu, Viṣṇu severed his head with his Cakra. The severed head of Rāhu fell down on earth shaking it, but remained alive and became immortal. It was known as Rāhu. Thus he became the enemy of the sun and the moon and is said to torture them both during the solar and lunar eclipses.

(d) Varāha

Varāha— the third incarnation of Viṣṇu has been popular in the Brahmanical pantheon from the remote past. It is not possible to give any specific date from which Varāha— the boar became popular in ancient India and when he penetrated into the religious or sacred annals. This would be evidenced from the fact that in the Rgveda (1.6.1.7 and 8.77.10) mention is made of a myth in which Viṣṇu is said to have carried away a hundred buffalos and cooked rice milk which were guarded by Emuṣa— the boar. This boar has been regarded as a fugitive designation of vṛtra. In the same text a casual reference to Rudra as the boar of the sky (1.114.5) could lead one to believe that there existed an Indian counterpart of the German wotan with the boar. Yet this animal in some way or the other, is also associated with Brahmanaspati, Soma and other gods in the Rgveda (9.97.7 and 10.67.7). The Mahāvarāhacarita has been described in Chapter 247-248 of the Matsya Purāṇa.

According to V.S. Agrawala, the theme of Varāha is closely associated with the history of the country more so during the Gupta period. He feels that Candragupta Virkramāditya was one of the great Gupta rulers, who annihilating the vestiges of foreign rule also extended the limits of his empire up to the ocean on the east, the sea on the west by his conquest of Vaṅga and Aparanta respectively. His gigantic programme of acquiring territory includes direct conquest of north-west up to Balhika or Bactria on the Oxus. He had a system of peaceful alliance with kings of south (referred to as by Kālidāsa in Raghuvaṁśa, 7) i.e. restoration of their autonomy or sovereignty, which had been disturbed by Samatragupta and by this his fame perfumed the waters of the south sea (Mehrauli Pillar Inscription of Chandīa).

Besides the symbolical and philosophical aspects, the Purāṇas point to the sanctity of the episode of the rescue of the earth by Varāha. They testify to the actual place on which the Varāha emerged with earth. The Varha Purāṇa (Ch. 140.4) describes it to be a sacred place just where Koka emerged. This seems to be the location of Kokamukhasvamin. Infact the actual name of Kokamukha appears in the same Purāṇa. In Chapter 122, verses 19-22, the Varāha form of Viṣṇu testifies to the rescue of Prthvi from the deep ocean. As to the place where the Varāha form of Viṣṇu first appeared, it may be pointed out that the same text (140.24) testifies Viṣṇusaras as the place where Varāha pulled out the earth with the stroke of the tusk. Cunningham believes Varāha-kṣetra in basti district of Uttar Pradesh as it is the place where Varāha appeared with the earth.

Varāha form of Viṣṇu has also been known with the following epithets:—

(i) Ekaśṛṅga (Mahābhārata, 13.149.70). Since the Varāha had a single tusk, he was called Ekaśṛṅga.

(ii) Mahāśṛṅga (Mahābhārata, 3.142.45) The one having a huge tusk.

(iii) Nṛvarāha:– The one who has the composite form of a man and a boar.

(iv) Ādivarāha:– The one who appeared to rescue the Earth from primeval waters.

(v) Bhūvaraha:– The one who rescued the Earth from deep sea waters.

(vi) Yajñavarāha:– The real meaning of the Varāha conception as applied to Yajña is its significance as a symbol of Vedic cosmogony.

(e) Vāmana:–

The episode of the proceeding of lord Viṣṇu in the form of Vāmana has been contained in Chapter 244-246 of the Matsya Purāṇa. As Vāmana's treads the whole earth shakes and Bali asks his preceptor Śukrācārya the cause of the shaking of the earth and why the fires do not accept the offerings of the asuras. He replied smilingly– “In Kaśyapa's house, Viṣṇu has taken birth. He will come to your sacrifice. The earth quakes at his strides, unable to bear his great weight. On his approach, the fire, refuse your offerings.” At this Bali felt delighted and asked his preceptor as to how the lord should be received and entertained.” Śukrācārya said– “The lord arrives in the sattva quality, to preserve creation and to crush you. Beware of making any promises to him inspite of their being quite petty. Just say I am unable to give you anything.” Bali replied– “How can I refuse the lord anything when he directly makes a request. I shall not say no to him. Please do not stand in the way of my charity. You know, I am his devotee and he will never kill me. Of course he come in the form of a dwarf.” Bali was greatly delighted. On the arrival of Vāmana, Bali picked the argha and said to the lord, I shall give you anything you like.”

At this, the lord said– “O king give me three feet of earth for the worship of fire by me.” Bali gives him three feet of land. As the consecrating water falls on the hand of Vāmana, he appears in his true form. Then assigning the three worlds to Indra and bestowing many boons to Bali, established him on his throne.

(f) Narasimha

(Chapter 161-163, Matsya Purāṇa) The episode about the lord has been stated in this Purāṇa, according to which, once the gods under the leadership of Brahmā approached lord Viṣṇu with a prayer to deliver them from the atrocities of Hiranyakaśipu. Viṣṇu comforted them, promising them to kill Hiranyakaśipu. Then Viṣṇu took to the form of a man-lion and went to the kingdom of Hiranyakaśipu, who enjoyed all the worldly pleasure. His son Prahalāda, who was against his father's way of life as a demon and was a great devotee of lord Viṣṇu, described to his father about Viṣṇu as the lord of the universe. Hearing that, the demon king commanded the Daityas to captive Narasimha. All the demons therefore struck the lion variously with several types of weapons. Then in a moment Narasimha frightened all the demons. Still they made a fruitless effort of kill Narasimha together with Hiraṇyakaśipu. Suddenly Narasiṃha captured Hiraṇyakaśipu, placed him over his thighs and tore him apart with his sharp nails. Then the man-lion was praised by Brahmā and others. Narasiṃha as described is the fourth incarnation of Viṣṇu.

(iv) Śiva:

Lord Śiva has been factually conceived on the one hand as the loftiest and the most transcendental of all the gods, dwelling in inaccessible heights of spiritual perfection and on the other hand, as the most liberal and popular of all the gods, easily approachable by men, women and children of all classes, castes, and races. He is called Āśutoṣa or the one who gets easily pleased. He is not inaccessible to any one, however low he may be. The worship of Śiva does not require any elaborate rituals or valuable articles for offerings. He is above all desires, likes and dislikes, besides the senses of worldly values. He is prepared to drink the poison produced by the vicious and indiscreet actions of people and to save them from distress and death, whenever they take refuge in him. He is self-absorbed, as well as an all-absorbing, all assimilating and all-unifying force. “He is spoken of as the one dwelling in cremation ground (śmaśana— the abode of the dead), the region where all worldly differences vanish, where all diversities are reduced to unity, where all that in impermanent disappears and only the eternal and permanent remains. It is a place where all creatures ultimately must take refuge. Śiva waits there to receive all into his loving arm and to bestow on them immortality and bliss.” This is the Śaivite concept of the Supreme Deity and the Śaivite ideal of spiritual life. According to this viewpoint, one who transcends all worldly limitations and attains spiritual perfection, becomes one with all in love and compassion and transcendental experience.

Śaivism had certain ideals which were alien to the Vedic society. For example, the Vedic ideology believed in the classification of the people into four-fold divisions (Varṇas) according to their distinctive characteristics and capabilities. Śaivism on the other hand disregarded all such barriers and treated all as equals entitled to attain the highest spiritual good. Śaivism extended identical treatment to the Aryan and the non-Aryan alike, which was not acceptable to the early Vedic society. Thus there was ample ground for Vedic society to disdain the ideals of Śiva cult. The early attempts of the seers of both the school—Vedic and Śaiva, at reconciliation between the two, could hardly produce any positive results. The later Vedic literature as well as the Paurāṇic tradition kept up the memory of the early history and referred to many anecdotes connected therewith.

He is the lord who has been mentioned not only in almost all the prominent Sakta or Śaiva Purāṇas, but is also held in high esteem in the Vaiṣṇava Purāṇas. In the Matsya Purāṇa, however, the following events of his life have been eloquently discussed:—

- (a) Destruction of Dakṣa's sacrifice (Chapter-13)
- (b) Killing of Tripura (Chapter-129,140,188)

(c) Marriage of Śiva and Pārvatī (Chapter-154)

(d) Birth of Kārttikeya in the reed forest (Chapter-146-158)

(e) Birth of Gaṇeśa (Chapter-154)

(f) Quarrel between Śiva and Pārvatī, who goes for performing tapas to become Gaurī, Mutual curse of Śiva-Pārvatī, (Chapter-155)

(g) Killing of Tāraka by Kārttikeya. (Chapter-160)

(h) Killing of Andhaka (Chapter-179)

Besides the gods, the important stories about rulers of the past have also been included in this Purāṇa:—

(i) Story of Kartvīrya Arjuna. (Chapter-44)

(ii) Description of the Syamantaka gem and acceptance of Satyabhāmā as wife by Kṛṣṇa. (Chapter-47)

(iii) The story of Satyavān and Sāvitrī (Chapter-209-214)

(iv) Story of Yayāti, Devayāni and Śarmiṣṭhā (Chapter-31-37)

(v) Story of Kaca and Devayāni.

In Chapters 25-30 of the Matsya Purāṇa, there is the well known story of Kaca, the son of Bṛhaspati to receive the knowledge of elixir of life from Śukrācārya, the priest of the Daityas. In spite of Kaca being the son of the priest of the gods, he was welcomed by Śukrācārya with open arms, and not only did he impart him the full Sañjīvinī lore, he also saved him from the wrath of the Daityas a number of times, and who did not look kindly to Śukra's providing training to him out of the spite for Kaca, and in order to save themselves the demons killed Kaca who was grazing the cows and threw his dead body to the wolves and jackals to eat it up. At the instance of Devayāni, Śukra brought him back to life. Kaca told his preceptor that he was killed by the demons. He was killed the second time when he was collecting flowers. This time the demons burnt him alive and the ashes of his body were mixed with wine and they made Śukra to drink the same. This time Śukra finding him in his own body imported knowledge of Sañjīvinī to Kaca and asked him to bring him back to life after emerging from his belly. Kaca did as desired by his preceptor. Devayāni, the daughter of Śukra when wanted to marry Kaca, he refused to oblige her on the grounds that he had been in the same belly in which she herself was lodged. Then she cursed him that the knowledge he had gained from Śukrācārya shall be of no consequence when used by him. He accepted the curse saying, "Though I may not be able to make use of the said knowledge, but the person to whom he will import the same shall make use of the same successfully. Then Kaca and Devayāni curse each other in which Devayāni was told by Kaca that she would never be married to a Brāhmaṇa. She was ultimately married to Yayāti. This story is contained in the Śiva Purāṇa as well.

Besides these stories, Matsya Purāṇa also contains a number of chapters on scholarly issues. Chapters 252-270 are dedicated to divine Vāstuśāstra or Ancient Architectural science including iconography and related subjects such as Pratimālakṣaṇa. These chapters describes in relative detail about the temple architecture, house architecture, town planning, various directions and various architectural norms. It also details some astronomical subjects such as various planets including sun and the moon, their distances from the earth, their relative sizes, etc.

This is one of the series of the work of English translation of the Purāṇas, which has been undertaken by Parimal Publications and I am sure, it will be of significant interest to the readers.

In ancient times lord Vaivasvata Manu, the son of the Sun, who was merciful, possessing all the virtues, treated pleasure and the pain similarly, and possessed enormous prowess. He entrusted the kingdom of his son, went to the Malayācala mountain to perform severe tapas (penances). Performing tapas there, he achieved the best of success in the yoga.⁵

At this Brahmā, the soul of the universe, disappeared from the scene, saying, “Be it so.” At the same time the gods showered enormous rain of flowers.

Once, while performing oblation for the manes lord Manu, carried a small fish together with the water in the hand cup. Finding the fish there the king was filled with compassion. Keeping the fish in his kamaṇḍalu,¹ he tried to save it.

After this, the son of Sūrya lodged the fish in the well, but when the fish could not be accommodated in the well, then it was lodged in a tank, where it grew to the size of a yojana (distance) and feeling miserable, it spoke, “O Best of kings, you save me, save me.” Manu then released the fish in the Gaṅgā. When it further grew to a gigantic size in the Gaṅgā, then the king released it in the ocean.

When the fish expanded its size to a gigantic proportions, then Manu, feeling panicky asked it, “Are you a demon king? Or, are you lord Vāsudeva? Otherwise how could anyone else be like that? How could anyone else attain the body of such an enormous proportions extending to crores of yojanas?

At that point of time a serpent also in the form of a rope reached there floating over the flood waters at the living being over the boat. With the use of his yogic powers, the boat was tied to the horn of the fish using the serpent as a cord. Thereafter he himself also boarded the boat offering his salutation to the lord Janārdana.

Lord Matsya replied, "O Royal sage, it is quite blissful, that I am now going to narrate to you the story of the Pitṛ-varṇśa. You please listen. There are the seven gaṇas of Pitṛs in the heaven. Out of them three are formless, and the remaining four are with forms. All of them are immensely glorious. The formless¹ Pitṛ-gaṇas are the sons of Prajāpati Vairāja. Therefore they are known by the names of Vairāja. They are adored by the gods. All of them after achieving the Sanātanalokas, fall from the yogic path and then at the end of the day of Brahmā, are reborn as Brahmavādins. Then they regaining the memory of the past, taking refuge in the excellent Sāṁkhyayoga, achieve the siddhi which relieves them from the cycle of rebirth. Because of this, the donors should donate the offerings of the *Śrāddha*¹ to the yogis.

1. The Vāyu, Matsya and Padma Purāṇas and Hari Varṇśa, profess to give an account of the original Pitṛs. The account is much the same and for the most part in the same words, in all. They agree in distinguishing the Pitṛs into seven classes; three of which are without form (अमूर्तयः) or composed of intellectual, not elementary substance and assuming what forms they please; and four are corporal (समूर्तयः). According to a legend given by the Vāyu and the Hari Varṇśa, the first Pitṛs were the sons of the gods. Matsya has मन्वन्तरेषु जायन्ते पितरो देवसूनवः। 'The Pitṛs are born in the Manvantaras as the sons of the gods. The Hari Varṇśa has the same statement, but more precisely distinguishes the Vairājas as one class only of the incorporeal Pitṛs. The commentator states the same, calling the three incorporeal Pitṛs, Vairājas, Agniṣvāttas and Varhiṣads; and the four corporeal orders, Sukālas, Āngirasas, Susvādhās and Somapās. The Vairājas are described as the fathers of Menā, the mother of Umā. Their abode is variously termed the Sāntānika, Sanātana and Soma loka.

क्रौञ्चद्वीपः स्मृतो येन चतुर्थो घृतसंवृतः॥७॥

Menā, the mind-born daughter of the Pitṛs is known to be the wife of Himavān. Maināka happens to be her son. Krauñca had been born even earlier to him. On the basis of this same Krauñca, an island has been named after it, which is surrounded by the clarified butter (ghṛta).

मेना च सुषुवे तिस्रः कन्या योगवतीस्ततः।
उमैकपर्णाऽपर्णा च तीव्रव्रतपरायणाः॥८॥

Thereafter Menā gave birth to Ekaparnā, Aparnā and Umā- the three girls. All of them were engaged in yogic practices and performed severe tapas. They were considered to be the best of the female ascetics in the world.

Out of these daughters, Himavān, gave one to Rudra, one to Śiva, and the third to Jaigīṣavya.

Rṣis asked, “O Sūta, why did Satī, the daughter of Dakṣa immolate her body? Then how could she reappear in the same form as daughter of Himavān?

At that point of time, what did Dakṣa, the son of Brahmā, speak to Satī, his own daughter, as a result of which she immolated herself? You kindly narrate the entire story exhaustively to us.”

सूत उवाच

Sūta said, “O Rṣis, in earlier times, Dakṣa organised a vast yajña, in which enormous riches were given away in dakṣiṇā. All the gods had been invited to receive their shares of the yajña. (But Śiva, the lord of the gods, remained uninvited. Satī finding the share of her husband in the yajña absent) asked Dakṣa, her father, “O Father, why has my husband not been invited in the yajña.” At this Dakṣa replied to Satī, “O Daughter, your husband carrying a trident, destroys the world in the form of Rudra. As a result of this he is considered to be inauspicious. Therefore he is not fit enough to be invited in the yajña.”

दशानां त्वं च भविता पितृणामेकपुत्रकः।
क्षत्रियत्वेऽश्वमेधे च रुद्रात्त्वं नाशमेष्यसि॥१५॥

On hearing this, Satī felt enraged and in the height of anger she uttered, “O Dear one, I shall finish this body born out of your sinful body. You will be the only son of the ten Pitṛs and after having been born in the Kṣatriya family, at the time of Aśvamedha sacrifice, you will get destroyed by Rudra.”

इत्युक्त्वा योगमास्थाय स्वदेहोद्धवतेजसा।

1. Śrāddha is commonly an obsequial or funeral sacrifice, but it implies offerings to the progenitors of an individual and of mankind and always forms part of a religious ceremony on an occasion of rejoicing or an accession of prosperity, this being termed the Abhyudaya or Vṛddhi Śrāddha. As. Res. VII. 270.

किं किमेतदिति प्रोक्ता गन्धर्वगणगुह्यकैः।

Thus speaking Satī, burnt her body with the yogic power emerging out of her own body. At that point of time the gods, asuras, kinnaras and the Gandharvas cried aloud, “Oh, what is all this happening here? What is happening? They sounded miserable as they cried.

त्वमस्य जगतो माता जगत्सौभाग्यदेवता।

दुहितृत्वं गता देवि ममानुग्रहकाम्यया॥१८॥

Observing all this Dakṣa went close to Satī and offering his salutation to her spoke, “O Goddess, you are the mother of the universe. Be graceful on me. You had been born to me at my request showering your grace on me. You are the deity showering your fortunes on the people of the world.

न त्वया रहितं किञ्चिद्ब्रह्माण्डे सचराचरम्।

प्रसादं कुरु धर्मज्ञे न मां त्यक्तुमिहार्हसि॥१९॥

O Goddess well-versed in dharma, you pervade in the entire mobile and immobile things of the universe. Be graceful on me. You should not desert me at the present moment.

At this prayer of Dakṣa, the goddess said, “O Dakṣa, the task which has been started by me would surely be completed by me. After the destruction of the yajña by the trident bearer Śiva, and with the desire to create the universe, you should perform tapas for me. With the influence of the same, you would become a Prajāpati named Pracetā and become a son of ten fathers.

मदंशेनाङ्गना षष्टिर्भविष्यन्त्यङ्गजास्तव।

एवमुक्तोऽब्रवीदक्षः केषु केषु मयाऽनघे।

तीर्थेषु त्वं च द्रष्टव्या स्तोतव्या कैश्च नामभिः॥२३॥

At these words of the goddess, Dakṣa said, “O Sinless goddess, for this purpose, which are the sacred places to be visited by me, to have the audience with you? Which are the names by which, you should be eulogised by me?”

देव्युवाच

The goddess said, “Though I pervade in all the living beings on earth, and you can visualise me everywhere. Because whatever exists in the universe is not separated from me. Or in other words I pervade in all the mobile and immobile beings, still a person desirous of success and riches or fortunes, should have an audience with me at the sacred places, the details of which are being given by me.

1. Prabhāsa is a place of pilgrimage in the west of India, near the temple of Somanāth, and town of Pattan Somanath. In this way, I have spelt out a hundred and eight names of mine, together with an equal number of the holy places. Whosoever will recite my hundred and eight names or shall listen to them from the mouths of others, he shall be freed from all his sins. A person who having a bath at the above holy places shall have an audience with me, he, getting relieved of all the sins, shall reside in the Śivaloka for the duration of a kalpa. Besides a person who would remember these holy place at the end of his life, he piercing through the globe shall reach the place of Śiva.

A person who on the third or the eighth day of the moon, shall recite my hundred and eight names, he shall achieve a number of sons. A person who would recite these names at the time of donation of cow, Śrāddha or daily at the time of adoration, he would achieve the position of the supreme Brahman." Satī thus speaking, reduced herself to ashes in yajña-maṇḍapa of Dakṣa.

Then at the appropriate time, Brahmā's son Dakṣa appeared as the son of Pracetās while the goddess Satī was reborn as Pārvatī to become the spouse of Śiva. She was born from the womb of Menā, who bestows pleasures as well as the salvation. By recitation the aforesaid hundred and eight names, Arundhatī achieved the best of the yogasiddhi.

CHAPTER 14

Fall of Acchodā from the heaven and her redemption at her prayer to the manes

सूत उवाच

लोकाः सोमपथा नाम यत्र मारीचनन्दनाः।

वर्तन्ते देव पितरो देवा यान्भावयन्त्यलम्॥१॥

Sūta said, "O Ṛṣis, the place where the manes of the gods of the descendants of Mārīca are lodged is known as Somapathā. The gods adore the manes.

अग्निष्वात्ता इति ख्याता यज्वानो यत्र संस्थिताः।

अच्छोदा नाम तेषां तु मानसी कन्यदा नदी॥२॥

अच्छोदं नाम च सरः पितृभिर्निर्मितं पुरा।

आजग्मुः पितरस्तुष्टाः किल दातुं च तां वरम्।

दिव्यरूपधराः सर्वे दिव्यमाल्यानुलेपनाः॥४॥

The manes who are devoted to the yajñas are known by the name of Agniṣvāttā.¹ At their dwelling place, a river named Acchodā flows who happens to be the mind-born daughter of the manes. The manes had in the earlier times built a lake named Acchodā. In earlier times Acchodā performed severe tapas for a thousand years. The manes getting pleased with the tapas reached there, getting pleased in order to grant her the boon. All the manes were clad in divine costumes wearing the garland of divine flowers and their bodies were plastered with the divine paste.

सर्वे युवानो बलिनः कुसुमायुधसंनिभाः।

तन्मध्येऽमावसुं नाम पितरं वीक्ष्य साऽङ्गना॥५॥

वव्रे वरार्थिनी सङ्गं कुसुमायुधपीडिता।

योगाद्भ्रष्टा तु सा तेन व्यभिचारेण भामिनी॥६॥

1. Agniṣvāttas—sons of Marīci and Pitr̥s of the gods (Manu-Matsya, Padma) : living in Soma-loka and parents of Achchodā (Matsya, Padma, Hari Vamśa). The commentator on the Hari Vamśa derives the name from Agniṣu (अग्निषु), 'in or by oblations to fire.' and Āttā (आत्ताः), 'obtained,' 'invoked.'

धरां तु नास्पृशत्पूर्वं पपाताथ भुवस्तले।

 धैर्येण तस्य सा लोकैरमावास्येति विश्रुता।
 पितृणां वल्लभा तस्मात्तस्यामक्षयकारकम्॥८॥

All of them were quite young, valorous, besides being beautiful like Kāmadeva. Among them there was a mane named Amāvasu, the beautiful Acchodā, desirous of a mate, became excited and expressed her desire to live with him. Because of this mental folly the beautiful Acchodā, was deprived from yoga and fell on earth. She had never touched the earth earlier. The date on which she expressed such a desire and Amāvasu, the mane, did not yield to the passion, was subsequently known as Amāvasyā tithi. Amāvasyā is therefore quite liked by the manes and the offerings made to them on that particular day are heartily accepted by them.

अच्छोदाऽधोमुखी दीना लज्जिता तपसः क्षयात्।
 सा पितृन्नार्थयामास पुरे चाऽऽत्मप्रसिद्धये॥९॥

Acchodā after losing her powers acquired by hard tapas felt ashamed and crest fallen. She lowered down her head in shame and prayed to the manes for her salvation.

विलप्यमाना पितृभिरिदमुक्ता तपस्विनी।
 भविष्यमर्थमालोक्य देवकार्यं च ते तदा॥१०॥
 इदमूचुर्महाभागाः प्रसादशुभया गिरा।
 दिवि दिव्यशरीरेण यत्किंचित्क्रियते बुधैः॥११॥
 तेनैव तत्कर्मफलं भुज्यते वरवर्णिनी।
 सद्यः फलन्ति कर्माणि देवत्वे प्रेत्य मानुषे॥१२॥

Then the manes reassured the female ascetic, who had been crying in the lonely forest. The great manes, taking into account the future task of the gods with the speech filled with delight and welfare spoke to her, “O Auspicious one, whatever auspicious deeds are performed by the people with wisdom in the heaven, they enjoy the reward of the same with the same body, because the deeds performed in the devayoni, yield the reward at once. To the contrary, the deeds in the human life yield the reward after death.

तस्मात्त्वं पुत्रि तपसः प्राप्स्यसे प्रेत्य तत्फलम्।
 अष्टाविंशे भवित्री त्वं द्वापरे मत्स्ययोनिजा॥१३॥
 व्यतिक्रमात्पितृणां त्वं कष्टं कुलमवाप्स्यसि।
 तस्माद्राज्ञो वसोः कन्या त्वमवश्यं भविष्यसि॥१४॥

Therefore, O Daughter, you will reap the reward of your tapas in the next birth, after your death. In the twenty eight Dvāpara, you would be born as the fish. Because of your violating the norms of the Pitṛ-race, you will achieve that painful yoni. Then getting relieved of that yoni, you would be born as a daughter to the king Vasu.

कन्या भूत्वा च लोकांस्वानुनराप्स्यसि दुर्लभान्।
 पराशरस्य वीर्येण पुत्रमेकमवाप्स्यसि॥१५॥
 द्वीपे तु बदरीप्राये बादरायणमच्युतम्।
 स वेदमेकं बहुधा विभजिष्यति ते सुतः॥१६॥

In spite of your being a girl, you shall surely achieve to inaccessible lokas. When still a girl, you shall conceive a son in the island of Badarī forest, who would be known by the name of Bādarāyaṇa, besides being the incarnation of Nārāyaṇa, who shall never fail in his duties. Your only son would divide the provisions of the Vedas.

पौरवस्याऽऽत्मजौ द्वौ तु समुद्रांशस्य शंतनोः।
 विचित्रवीर्यस्तनयस्तथा चित्राङ्गदो नृपः॥१७॥

Thereafter, you will give birth to two more sons from the king Śāntanu of the race of Puru, born out of the amśa of the ocean. The names of the two sons would be Citrāṅgada and Vicitravīrya.

इमावुत्पाद्य तनयौ क्षेत्रजावस्य धीमतः।
 प्रौष्ठपद्यष्टकारूपा पितृलोके भविष्यसि॥१८॥

The intelligent Vicitravīrya shall have two sons named Dhṛtarāṣṭra and Pāṇḍu. Then on the full moon day of Bhādrapada, you shall be reborn in Pitṛ-loka.

नाम्ना सत्यवती लोके पितृलोके तथाऽष्टका।
आयुरारोग्यदा नित्यं सर्वकामफलप्रदा॥१९॥

Thus you will be known as Satyavatī on earth, while in the Pitṛ-loka you shall be known as the goddess Aṣṭakā and you will bestow the desired wishes to the people.

भविष्यसि परे काले नदीत्वं च गमिष्यसि।
पुण्यतोया सरिच्छ्रेष्ठा लोके ह्यच्छोदनामिका॥२०॥

In due course of time, you on earth would be known as Acchodā, the best of the rivers with auspicious water."

इत्युक्त्वा स गणस्तेषां तत्रैवान्तरधीयत।
साऽप्यवाप च तत्सर्वं फलं यदुदितं पुरा॥२१॥

Thus speaking the group of manes, disappeared from that place, while Acchodā enjoyed the reward of all her deeds, which have been stated earlier.

It is the place where barhi (kuśa grass) remaining present there and are anxious to bestow the reward to the people, making offering to the manes of their ancestors, finding happiness there. These Pitṛs are venerated by the gods, Asuras, Apsaras, Gandharvas, Yakṣas and Rākṣasas. These Barhiṣadas Pitṛs, possessing the great power by Yoga, are the sons of the sage Pulastya.

They bestow safety and freedom from fear to their devotees. They live there. These Pitṛis had a mind-born daughter, known by the name of Pīvarī.

The said Yoginī as well as Yogamātā known as Pīvarī, performed hard tapas by which lord Viṣṇu was pleased. He appeared before her and Pīvarī then begged for a boon from Śrī Hari.

She said, "O Lord, in case you are pleased with me, then you bestow a husband to me, who should be well-versed in the yogic practice, extremely beautiful, having control of his sense organs, best of the orators besides the one who should well look after me."

Hearing this, lord Viṣṇu said, “O Excellent one, when Śuka will be born as son of the sage Vyāsa, then you shall be the wife of the same yogācārya. By union with him, you shall have a girl born to you who shall be well versed in yogic practices. Then you should give away that girl to the king of Pāñcāla of the human race. Your daughter being well-versed in yoga, shall be the mother of Brahmadaṭṭa. She will be known by the name of Gau. Thereafter you shall have four sons known by the names of Kṛṣṇa, Gaura, Prabhu and Śambhu.

The manes who are the sons of the sage Vasiṣṭha are known as the beautiful form of dharma. All of them dwell beyond the heaven in the Jyotirbhāsī lokas. This is the place wherein even the Śūdras who perform Śrāddhas mounted over the wish-fulfilling planes enjoy all the sports.

What to speak of the active and devoted people engaged in the performing of the Śrāddhas? These Pitṛs were born out of Gau, the mind-born daughter of the Pitṛs who resides in the heaven; and happens to be the loving wife of Śukra and expands the glory of the Sādhyas.

They happen to be the manes of the Kṣatriya kings. They bestow the heaven as well as mokṣa provider.

Such of the Kṣatriyas who perform Śrāddhas in the holy places, they achieve these lokas. These Pitṛs have a well known mind-born daughter named Yaśodā. She was the daughter-in-law of Pāñcajana. She was the wife of Amśumān and mother of the king Dilīpa, besides being the grand mother of Bhagīratha. There is another Pitṛloka called Kāmadugha.

O Great sage, that Vaiśyas, who had been born from the body of Pulaha, adore them. All the Vaiśyas who are performers of the Śrāddhas, reaching in these lokas, meet thousands of their relatives like the mothers, dev Subsequently Virajā, who was immensely

Eka Brahmāloka, where she was known as thre Ekāṣṭakā. Thus far I have discussed about the det three pitṛ-gaṇas and now I am spelling out the details about the fourth one.

dwelling in the Mānasaloka.

तेभ्यः सर्वे तु मनवः प्रजाः सर्गेषु निर्मिताः।

With the tradition of these Pitṛs, the Manus engage themselves in creation in their respective times. Knowing about this secret, the people at the time of the decline of dharma always perform the Śrāddhas.

तेभ्य एव पुनः प्राप्तुं प्रसादाद्योगसंततिम्।

पितृणामादिसर्गे तु श्राद्धमेव विनिर्मितम्॥३०॥

By the grace of these Pitṛs, in order to again revive the yogic traditions, at the start of the creation, the performing of the Śrāddha was brought in vogue.

सर्वेषां राजतं पात्रमथवा रजतान्वितम्।

दत्तं स्वधा पुरोधाय पितृन्प्रीणाति सर्वदा॥३१॥

For the sake of these Pitṛs, in case a vase of silver or silver mixed with other metals, is given away in charity, reciting svadhā, delights the Pitṛs always.

The intelligent performer of the Śrāddha during the time of the performing of the Śrāddha, the Pitṛs should be pleased with the oblation of Agni, Soma and Yama. In other words, the food meant for the Pitṛs should be dropped into the fire or in the absence of fire, the same should be placed over the hand of a Brāhmaṇa, water over the ear of a goat, or a horse, in cow-shed or close to the river water.
Sky has been prescribed to be the place of the Pitṛs. The southern direction has been stated to be more auspicious for them.

position, the offerings of water, sesame seeds,

Savyāṅga, green coconut, fruit pulp, cow's milk, sweet juice, iron, honey, kuśa, Pāṭhīna, the flesh of rhinoceros, śyāmaka rice, barley, wild rice, kidney beans, sugarcane, white flowers, clarified butter etc. are liked by the Pitṛs the most and should be offered to them. These are liked by them always.

न देयाः पितृकार्येषु पयश्चाजाविकं तथा।

कोद्रवोदारचणकाः कपित्थं मधुकातसी॥३८॥

Now I am narrating the things which are not liked by the manes and should not be offered to them in the performing of the Śrāddha. These include Masūra (lentil), hemp, ripe black mustard, black-gram, safflower, lotus, wood-apple, sun flower, white thorn-apple, fruit of neema tree, Vāsā,¹ milk of she goat, split-chickpea, linseed and liquorice should never be offered to the Pitṛs by one who is desirous of winning their favour. A person who pleases the Pitṛs by devotion, they shower their blessing on him.

एतद्वः सर्वमाख्यातं पितृवंशानुकीर्तनम्

When the Pitṛs are pleased, they bestow, good health, heaven and children to their devotees. The adoration of the Pitṛs is more important than that of the gods.² Therefore the Pitṛs should be pleased first of all. They get pleased rapidly and preserve no anger. They cause no harm besides being affectionate. They possess the spotless and noble soul, they like purity in every respect. They are soft spoken and bestow happiness, prosperity to their devotees. The sun happens to be their lord. Thus I have narrated to you the family of the Pitṛs and by listening to the same, one achieves happiness in life besides all the virtues. Therefore everyone should read and listen to the same.

They are said indeed by Manu (III. 203), in words repeated in the Vāyu and Matsya and Hari Vamśa, to be of more moment than the worship of the gods : देवकार्यादपि सदा पितृकार्यं विशिष्यते। These ceremonies are not to be regarded as merely obsequial; for independently of the rites addressed to a recently deceased relative and in connection with him to remote ancestors and to the progenitors of all beings, which are of a strictly obsequial or funereal description, offerings to deceased ancestors and the Pitṛs in general, form an essential ceremony on a great variety of festive and domestic occasions.

Of these the first one i.e. nitya is being described by me. It is devoid of arghya or invocation.

The Śrāddha which is performed at the time of festivities is called Pārvaṇa. O Lord of the earth, the Pārvaṇa-Śrāddha is known to be of three types. You please listen about the same. O Nareśvara, I am going to spell out the person who should be deputed for the Pārvaṇa-

Śrāddha. You please listen. The person who is well known in the Pañcāgni lore, or adores the five fires¹ like Gārhapatya, is a researcher, or a student of the Vedic lore, or is well-versed in the six aṅgas of the Vedas, is a Śrotriya, a scholar well-versed in the dharmaśāstras, omniscient, well-versed in the Vedas, who is the proper consultant, born in the well known family, belonging to the noble and spotless race, well-versed in the Purāṇas, devoted to dharma, engaged in studies² and japam, one who is devoted to Śiva, one who is devoted to the parents, devotee of the sun, and is a Vaiṣṇava.

One who is devoted to Brahma, one who is well-versed in the Vedas, well-versed in the yoga, peaceful, one who could exercise his control over the souls and the one who is valorous, such types of Brāhmaṇas should be invited in the Śrāddha. (Now I shall narrate the names of the persons who should be offered food in the Śrāddha.) They include the son of the daughter, one's own friend, preceptor,

1. The Āhavanīya, Gārhapatya, Dakṣiṇa, Sabhya, and Āvasathya, are the five fires; of which the three first have a religious, and the other two a secular character. The first is a fire prepared for oblations at an occasional sacrifice : the second is the household fire, to be perpetually maintained: the third is a sacrificial fire, in the centre of the other two, and placed to the south: the Sabhya is a fire lighted to warm a party: and the Āvasathya the common domestic or culinary fire. Manu. III. 100, 185, and Kullūka Bhaṭṭa's explanation.

2. Under Niyama are comprehended purity (Śauca), contentment (Santośa), devotion (Tapas), study of the Vedas (Svādhyāya) and adoration of the supreme (Īśvara-praṇidhāna).

एते भोज्याः प्रयत्नेन वर्जनीयान्निबोध मे॥१३॥

Ācārya, maternal uncle, kins and relatives, Priest of sacrifice and Somapāyī. They should be invited making all the efforts and the food in Śrāddha should be served to them. Besides a Soma-sacrificer, a grammarian, one who is well-versed in Mīmāṃsā (commentary), performer of the Vedic sacrifice, one who is well-versed in Sāmaveda and the chanting of it, one who is quite well learned, one who is respectable or learned, whose presence could elevate and purify the people, the one who sits for the feast with him in the same row, the reciter of the Sāmaveda, a Brahmacārī, a Vedic professor or the one who is known as Brahmā. These are the sort of people who should be invited in the Śrāddha feast. When such people are feasted, the Śrāddha becomes real and earnest.

Now you listen to the names of the people, whose entry is prohibited in the Śrāddhas. They are the fallen people, the notorious ones, cursed, eunuches, backbiters, deformed because of ailments, the patients, having deformed nails, those having black teeth, bastards, bastards of widows, tamers of dogs, offspring of a younger brother married ahead of the elder brother, the servants or those who are attracted for service, lunatic, drunkard, mad men, stone hearted, cheats, swindlers, the conceited, the temple priests etc. All of them are prohibited from partaking the Śrāddhas.

Similarly the ungrateful persons, the atheists, dwellers of the Mleccha country, Triśaṅkus, Barbaras, Dravītas, Draviḍas, people of Koṅkaṇas and the lingis besides the Saṁnyāsīs. These should all be particularly left out of the Śrāddha feasts.

निमन्त्रिताहि पितर उपतिष्ठन्ति तान्द्विजान्।

वायुभूतानु गच्छन्ति तथाऽऽसीनानुपासते॥१८॥

The performer of the Śrāddha should invite humbly the Brāhmaṇa for the Śrāddha feast, a day or two in advance, because the manes arrive on the particular day and remain with them. They follow the Brāhmaṇas in the form of the wind. When the Brāhmaṇas take their seat, the manes are also seated besides them.

The performer of the Śrāddha, touching the right knee of the Brāhmaṇa, should pray to him, "I am inviting you." Thus extending the invitation, revealing the performing of the Śrāddha of father, brother and other or the king, he should speak. (I shall perform the Śrāddha on a particular day). Therefore you should remain without anger, purified, following Brahmacarya-vrata. I shall also follow these rules being the performer of Śrāddha."

पितृयज्ञं विनिर्वर्त्य तर्पणाख्यं तु योऽग्निमान्।

पिण्डान्वाहार्यकं कुर्याच्छ्राद्धमिन्दुक्षये सदा॥२१॥

Thus having been relieved of the Pitr-yajña, oblation should be performed. The performer of the Śrāddha should perform the Piṇḍānvāhāryaka Śrāddha on the moonless day alone.

and the Śrāddha should be performed there with devotion.

अग्निमान्निर्वपेत्पित्र्यं चरुं च सममुष्टिभिः।

पितृभ्यो निर्वपामीति सर्वं दक्षिणतो न्यसेत्॥२३॥

One who consecrates and maintains the sacred fire, should cook caru and after offering with equal handfuls, should say, "I am offering to the Pitṛs." Thus speaking he should place the caru to the Pitṛs and the rest should be placed to his right.

अभिधार्य ततः कुर्यान्निर्वापत्रयमग्रतः।

Then the ghī (clarified butter) should be poured in the three plates. The Caru should be divided in three parts and one should place them in the front. These parts should also be stretched to the length of four fingers. After putting the sacred thread over the right shoulder, the performer of Śrāddha, should put a water goblet and a vase of bell-metal and mekṣaṇa, sacrificial wood, kuśa-grass, sesamum, leaf plates, sandal, new cloth, scent, incense and sandal paste should be slowly placed to the right.

Thus collecting all the essential things, he should draw a maṇḍala with the urine of the cow over the space plastered with the cow-dung. He should worship the maṇḍala with unhusked rice and flowers. Then welcoming the Brāhmaṇas repeatedly, he should wash their feet. Then the Brāhmaṇa should be made to sit over the seat of kuśa-grass and should provide water to them for ācamana as well as the eatables. Then he should get their opinion for the performing of the śrāddha. A person with intelligence should serve food to three Brāhmaṇas in the Deva-kāryas or the Pitr-kāryas. Or alternatively on both the occasions, a Brāhmaṇa each should be served with food. In spite of one's possessing enough of riches, the expansion of Pārvaṇa-śrāddha is not advised. Initially arghya should be offered to Viśvedeva and the Brāhmaṇas should be adored subsequently offering the arghya.

Again the performer of śrāddha should, with the permission of the Brāhmaṇas, the Caru should be placed in the vase of bronze and then one should perform homa appropriately in the fire. Thereafter the learned person should perform oblation for Agni, Soma and Yama. Thus the best of a Brāhmaṇa who is devoted to Agni, and the wearer of yajñopavīta, with the igniting of the Dakṣiṇā fire, should complete the śrāddha.

यज्ञोपवीती निर्वर्त्य ततः पर्युक्षणादिकम्।

प्राचीनावीतिना कार्यमतः सर्वं विजानता॥३४॥

He should perform Paryukṣaṇa with the sacred thread on the left shoulder and one who knows all the rites should perform it with the sacred thread on the right shoulder.

षट् च तस्माद्धविःशेषात्पिण्डान्कृत्वा ततोदकम्।

 दक्षिणाभिमुखः कुर्यात्करे दर्वी निधाय वै।
 निधाय पिण्डमेकैकं सर्वदर्भेष्वनुक्रमात्॥३७॥

With the remaining havi, six piṇḍas should be made and the sesamum with water be dropped with left hand. Then getting free from jealousy, holding kuśa in hand, turning the knee, draw a line over the pedestal making all the efforts or the kuśa-grass should be spread in lines. Then turning his face to the right the piṇḍas should be placed over the kuśa-grass in a sequence.

निनयेदथ दर्भेषु नामगोत्रानुकीर्तनैः।

तेषु दर्भेषु तं हस्तं विमृज्याल्लेपभागिनाम्॥३८॥

Then lifting up the piṇḍas one by one, speaking out the gotras and the names of the manes, the piṇḍas should be placed over the kuśa grass one by one. Then for the satisfaction of the manes, the hands should be wiped out with the ends of the kuśa-grass.

तथैव च ततः कुर्यात्पुनः प्रत्यवनेजनम्।

षडप्यृतून्मस्कृत्य गन्धधूपार्हणादिभिः॥३९॥

Thereafter the water should be sprinkled over the piṇḍas as before. Then all the six Pitṛs should be adored offering fragrance, incense, and other materials for adoration, offering his salutation to each one of the Pitṛs.

एवमावाह्य तत्सर्वं वेदमन्त्रैर्यथोदितैः।

एकाम्नेरेक एव स्यान्निर्वापो दर्विका तथा॥४०॥

They should then be invoked with the reciting of the appropriate Vedic hymns. Then the one who is Ekāgni, or the performer of Agnihotra, should offer a piṇḍa of rice with a ladle.

ततःकृत्वाऽन्तरे दद्यात्पत्नीभ्योऽन्नं कुशेषु सः।

तद्वत्पिण्डादिके कुर्यादावाहनविसर्जनम्॥४१॥

After completing all these procedures, the performer of the Śrāddha, should offer food for the wives of the Pitṛs. The process of invoking and *Visarjana*¹ should again be repeated as has been done earlier.

ततो गृहीत्वा पिण्डेभ्यो मात्राः सर्वाः क्रमेण तु।

तानेव विप्रान्प्रथमं प्राशयेद्यत्नतो नरः॥४२॥

The performer of the Śrāddha, then picking up small portions from the piṇḍas shall give them to the invited Brāhmaṇas for eating, first of all.

यस्मादन्नाद्धता मात्रा भक्षयन्ति द्विजातयः।

अन्वाहार्यकमित्युक्तं तस्मात्तच्चन्द्रसंक्षये॥४३॥

Since the portion of the food taken out of the piṇḍas is consumed by the Brāhmaṇas on the moon-less day or Amāvasyā, therefore this particular Śrāddha is known as Anvāhāryaka.

पूर्वं दत्त्वा तु तद्धस्ते सपवित्रं तिलोदकम्।

वर्णयन्भोजयेदन्नं मिष्टं पूतं च सर्वदा।

वर्जयेत्क्रोधपरतां स्मरन्नारायणं हरिम्॥४५॥

The performer of the śrāddha should initially offer the ring of kuśa-grass with sesamum seeds and water in the hands of the Brāhmaṇa and then the portion of the piṇḍa should be offered. Then uttering the phrase, "Let it be svadhā for our Pitṛs, the food should be served to the Brāhmaṇas. Then the Brāhmaṇa, discarding anger, remembering the name of Nārāyaṇa, should speak out, "It is quite sweet, It is quite auspicious," and then consume the food.

1. A rite in which the life given is sent away and the idol is thrown away. These two peculiar religious rites distinctly show that the Hindus do not worship the idol but the spirit which they temporarily invoke in that idol.

तृप्ताज्ज्ञात्वा ततः कुर्याद्विकिरन्सार्ववर्णिकम्।
सोदकं चान्नमुद्धृत्य सलिलं प्रक्षिपेद्भुवि॥४६॥

Pleasing the Brāhmaṇas, the host should place food on earth, with rice and water for the use of all other classes of people. This is called Vikīra or scattering.

आचान्तेषु पुनर्दद्याज्जलपुष्पाक्षतोदकम्।

देवाद्यन्तं प्रकुर्वीत श्राद्धनाशोऽन्यथा भवेत्।
विसृज्य ब्राह्मणांस्तद्वत्तेषां कृत्वा प्रदक्षिणम्॥४८॥

After the Brāhmaṇas rinse their mouths, the host should drop the water, flowers and unbroken rice over the piṇḍas and the reward of the Śrāddha should then be dedicated to the lord, otherwise the śrāddha becomes impure. Similarly, after going round the Brāhmaṇas, they should be sent off.

दक्षिणां दिशमाकाङ्क्षन्पितृन्याचेत मानवः।
दातारो नोऽभिवर्धन्तां वेदाः संततिरेव च॥४९॥
श्रद्धा च नो मा व्यगमद्बहु देयं च नोऽस्त्विति।
अन्नं च नो बहु भवेदतिथींश्च लभेमहि॥५०॥

At that point of time the performer or the host, facing sought, should humbly pray to the Pitṛs, "Let there be increase in our giving of charities, study of the Vedas, the progeny, our faith in lord should never diminish, we should have enough of riches for performing charities, we should have enough of cereals, crowds of guests should always visit our house.

याचिताश्च नः सन्तु मा च याचिष्म कंचन।
एतदस्त्विति तत्प्रोक्तमन्वाहार्यं तु पार्वणम्॥५१॥

Many should ask favours from us, but we should never beg from anyone." The Brāhmaṇas should speak out at that time, "Be it so." Thus the Anvāhāryaka-śrāddha also known as Pārvaṇa, which is performed on the moonless day has been completed. This Śrāddha can be performed in other tithis as well.

यथेन्दुसंक्षये तद्वदन्यत्रापि निगद्यते।

आधत्त पितरो गर्भमत्र संतानवर्धनम्।
तावदुच्छेषणं तिष्ठेद्यावद्विप्रा विसर्जिताः॥५४॥

After the concluding of the śrāddha, the piṇḍas should be given over to the cow, a goat or the Brāhmaṇas. Or alternatively they should be consigned in water or fire. They can also be given over to the birds for eating in the presence of the Brāhmaṇas. The middle piṇḍa out of those should be consumed by the performer's wife herself saying, "O Pitṛs, you kindly get me the conception for the increase of the progeny." With this desire, the wife of the host should herself consume the piṇḍas with all humility. The host should remain standing till the Brāhmaṇas depart. He should then perform the remaining rites.

वैश्वदेवं ततः कुर्यान्निवृत्तं पितृकर्मणि।
इष्टैः सह ततः शान्तो भुञ्जीत पितृसेवितम्॥५५॥

After the Śrāddha rites are over, the host should make an offering to the Vaiśvadevas, by making oblation in the fire and then he should happily enjoy the company of his friends; concentrating his mind towards the Pitṛs.

पुनर्भोजनमध्वानं यानमायासमैथुनम्।
श्राद्धकृच्छ्राद्धभुक्चैव सर्वमेतद्विर्वर्जयेत्॥५६॥

On that day, the one who performs the śrāddha as well as those who participate in the feast, should not take the food twice. They should not go out of the village, after the Śrāddha is performed. They should not use any conveyance, nor should they unite with their wives.

स्वाध्यायं कलहं चैव दिवास्वप्नं च सर्वदा।
अनेन विधिना श्राद्धं निरुद्धास्येह निर्वपेत्॥५७॥

The recitation of the Vedas on that particular day is prohibited. The host should not pick up a quarrel with anyone on that day, nor should he sleep during the day. This is the manner of performing the Śrāddha.

कन्याकुम्भवृषस्थेऽर्के कृष्णपक्षेषु सर्वदा।

यत्र यत्र प्रदातव्यं सपिण्डीकरणात्परम्।

तत्रानेन विधानेन देयमग्निमता सदा॥

Thus the Agnihotri should perform the Śrāddha in the dark fortnight of the month, when the sun is in the sign of Virgo and Taurus. Whenever the *Sapiṇḍikaraṇa-śrāddha*¹ has to be performed, then also the above process should be followed by the one who adores the sacred fire.

When the sun is in the equinoctial and the period when the sun passes from one zodiacal sign to another, the period when the planetary body passes from one Zodiacal sign into another, on the Amāvasyā or Aṣṭaka of the dark fortnight, and on the fifteenth day of the moon, the period of Ardrā-sixth, the Magha-tenth, Rohiṇī-fourth lunar mansions, the presence of materials and Brāhmaṇas, the time of gajacchāya, the day of the full moon, or on a Monday, the days called viṣṭis, and vaidhṛtis, the third day of the bright fortnight of the month of Vaiśākha, which is the anniversary day of Satyayuga, the ninth day of the bright fortnight in the month of Kārtika, the anniversary day of the Tretāyuga, the fifteenth or the full moon day of the month of Māgha- the anniversary day of Kaliyuga, the thirteenth day of the month of Bhādra, corresponding to the August-September- the anniversary day of Dvāparayuga are the periods and occasions, when by performing of śrāddha, one gets bliss and exhaustless merits. In addition to the above, on the anniversary day of the beginning of the Manvantaras, as detailed above, the śrāddhas can be performed.

On the bright ninth day of the month of Āśvin, on the bright twelfth day of the month of Kārtika, on the bright third day of the month of Caitra, on the bright third day of the month of Bhādrapada, on the moonless day of the month of Phālguna, on the bright eleventh day of the month of Pauṣa, on the bright tenth day of the month of Āṣāḍha, on the bright seventh day of the month of Māgha,

On the dark eighth day of the month of Śrāvaṇa, on the full moon day of the month of Āṣāḍha, besides the full moon days of the months of Kārtika, Phālguna, Caitra and Jyeṣṭha are the fourteen tithis, of the fourteen Manvantaras and the śrāddha performed during these tithis bestows everlasting reward. When the initial tithi of the month of Māgha, falls on the seventh day of the bright fortnight, then lord Sūrya mounts over his chariot. That day is known as Ratha-Saptamī.

पानीयमप्यत्र तिलैर्विमिश्रं

दद्यात्पितृभ्यः प्रयतो मनुष्यः॥

श्राद्धं कृतं तेन समाः सहस्रं

रहस्यमेतत्पितरो वदन्ति॥१०॥

In case, during this tithi a person, making all the efforts, offers to his manes, a vase filled with water and sesamum or performs oblation, he achieves the reward for performing the śrāddha for a thousand years. The secret of the same has been told by the Pitṛs themselves.

विविक्तेषूपलिप्लेषु श्राद्धं देयं विजानता।

विप्रान्पूर्वे परे चाह्नि विनीतात्मा निमन्त्रयेत्॥१२॥

The intelligent performer of the Śrāddha, should on the full moon day of the month of Vaiśākha, during the solar or lunar eclipses, on special occasions, during the Pitṛpakṣa, at the holy places, in the temple of the god, or in the cowpen, lamp house, in the orchard, or a place in seclusion plastered with cowdung, perform śrāddha with devotion. A day or two earlier to the śrāddha, one should humbly invite the Brāhmaṇas who should be humble, noble, virtuous, beautiful and quite aged.

शीलवृत्तगुणोपेतान्धयोरूपसमन्वितान्।

द्वौ दैवे त्रींस्तथा पितृ एकेकमुभयत्र वा॥१३॥

During the Devakāryas, two Brāhmaṇas should be invited, while in the Pitṛkāryas number of the Brāhmaṇa invitees should be three, or alternatively one Brāhmaṇa should be invited in each case and served with food.

भोजयेत्सुसमृद्धोऽपि न प्रसज्जेत विस्तरे।

विश्वान्देवान्यवैः पुष्पैरभ्यर्च्योऽऽसनपूर्वकम्॥१४॥

In spite of a person being financially well off, there should be no expansion. At that time offering seat to the Viśvedevas, they should be adored with flowers and barley. Then keeping two terracotta vases, the kuśa-ring should be placed in the same. Then the Brāhmaṇa invited for the Daiva Śrāddha should be attended offering a seat of barley and flowers.

पूरयेत्पात्रयुग्मं तु स्थाप्य दर्भपवित्रकम्।

गन्धपुष्पैरलंकृत्य या दिव्येत्यर्घ्यमुत्सृजेत्।

अभ्यर्च्य ताभ्यामुत्सृष्टं पितृकार्यं समारभेत्॥१७॥

Two vases should be placed with Kuśā rings and water should be poured after uttering “Om Sanno Devī” etc. Flowers and sandal paste should also be dropped in the vases for Viśvedevas uttering the mantra “Om Viśvedeva” etc. who should be thus invoked pouring the barley at the same time. After the flowers and the sandal paste are offered, the host should offer Arghya water to them reciting the mantra, “Yadivye” etc. After the conclusion of the Viśvedeva worship, the adoration of Pitṛs should be started.

सौवर्णं राजतं वाऽपि पितॄणां पात्रमुच्यते॥२०॥

In the Pitr-śrāddha, the seat of kuśa should first be offered. Then three Arghya vases should be readied and the rings of kuśa-grass should be dropped therein, reciting the mantra “Sanno Devī” etc. Reciting this mantra, these vases should be filled with water. Thereafter reciting the mantra “Tilosī...” etc. the sesamum should be poured into them. Then pouring the water into the vases, the fragrance, flowers etc. should also be offered. The vases used for the purpose of the Pitrs should be of wood, or the tree leaves, or the leaves grown in water or the ocean. Or alternatively they should be of conchshell, gold or silver.

रजतस्य कथा वाऽपि दर्शनं दानमेव वा।

In case one cannot afford the silver vase, then the worshipper may give away a little of silver.¹ In case he cannot afford it even, then he may simply look at it or merely mention its name. By offering even the water with devotion out of the silver vase or the vase of alloyed metals, the devotee gains everlasting bliss. The silver vase is the best to be used at the time of offering libation of piṇḍas and of food to the Pitrs of water. Infect silver is said to have emerged out of the eyes of Śiva and was subsequently appreciated by the Pitrs. But it should not be used at the time of the Deva worship, because it is considered to be inauspicious in that case.

Thus making appropriate arrangements for the vases as per one's own means, getting free from pride, holding kuśa in his hand, the performer, should recite the mantra, “Yā divye” etc. and should also recite the name and gotra of his father, place the vase on earth saying, “I shall invoke your Pitrs.” In reply to this the Brāhmaṇas should say, “Do it.” After uttering of these words, the mantras like “Uśantastva” and “Ayantū nah”, the Pitrs should be invoked through the Brāhmaṇas.

Then reciting the mantra “yā-divye” etc. Arghya should be offered to the Pitrs, besides the fragrance and flowers etc. adoring them drop it in the vase of Pitrs. Then the vase should be kept upturned before the pedestal; reciting the mantra, “Pitr̥bhyosthānamasī” which means that the place is meant for the Pitrs. Thus uttering the mantra, water should be poured over it. In this case as well, one should perform the fire rites as explained earlier quite carefully. Then carrying kuśa in his hand, the performer with a peaceful mind should serve the sumptuous food including pulses, vegetables and several other dishes, which should be brought by him carried in both the hands. In offering food, curd, milk, clarified butter of cow's milk and sugar should also be put in the dishes. The Pitrs are exceedingly fond of flesh. This has been stated by lord Keśava.

The Pitṛs say that the offering of fish keeps them satisfied for two months, the flesh of deer for three months, mutton for four months, the flesh of birds for five months, goat's flesh for six months, Pārṣat's flesh for seven months, Veṇa's flesh for eight months, ham and buffalo's flesh for ten months, hare and turtle's flesh for eleven months, cow's milk and rice cooked in cow's milk for a year, the flesh of Ruru for fifteen months, lion's flesh for twelve years, Kālaśuka's (pot herb) and flesh of rhinoceros for a great number of years, the cow's milk mixed with honey and rice cooked in cow's milk, clarified butter made of cow's milk offered even in small quantity, satisfies Pitṛs, the Pūrvadevatās, to the maximum possible extent.

The Pitṛs are the supreme divinities of the householders. Therefore at the time of śrāddha the recitation of Pitṛ-sūkta, all the Purāṇas, and the sūktas relating to the Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Sūrya and Rudra, besides Agni, Indra, Soma, Bṛhadarathantara, Jyeṣṭha, Sāman with Rohiṇī, Śāntikādhyāya, Madhu Brāhmaṇa and Maṇḍala Brāhmaṇa and other similar types of loving Sūktas, or Strotras should be recited by the Brāhmaṇa or by the performer himself. After the food is finished by the Brāhmaṇa, all the items of food should be brought and placed over the earth before those who are required to take food saying, "Such of the living beings of my race, who had been cremated in the past, or those who could not be cremated, all of them should get pleased with the food spread on the ground and achieve the supreme position (Salvation). Those who have no mother or father or brother, whose gotra has not been purified and those who do not possess the food, for their satisfaction, I have scattered the food on the ground. All of them should go to the heaven like my Pitṛs for enjoying all the comforts.

 उच्छिष्टभागधेयः स्याद्भर्ते विकिरयोश्च यः॥४४॥

Similarly such of the brides of the race, who met with their death without purification, or those who had been discarded by the family, the remaining part of the food or that part which has been stuck to the kuśa-grass, is meant for their alms.

तृप्ताज्ज्ञात्वोदकं दद्यात्सकृद्विप्रकरे तथा।
 उपलिप्ते महीपृष्ठे गोशकृन्मूत्रवारिणा॥४५॥

Then finding that the Brāhmaṇas have been satisfied, the performer should pour water over their hands, Then the kuśa-grass should be spread towards the south appropriately over the ground, which has already been plastered with cowdung and the cow's urine.

निधाय दर्भान्विधिवदक्षिणाग्रान्प्रयत्नतः।

सर्ववर्णेन चान्नेन पिण्डांस्तु पितृयज्ञवत्॥४६॥

Then the performer of the Śrāddha, reciting the name of his father and his gotra sprinkle the water over the pedestal of kuśa. Then he should place the piṇḍas made of the several types of food over the kuśa grass, as was done in the case of Pitr-yajña.

The piṇḍas should then be adored offering the fragrance, flowers etc. sprinkling the water over them. Kneeling down, he should then adore them with folded hands. Then holding kuśa in his hand, the Pitr-yajña should be completed appropriately.

दीपप्रज्वालनं तद्वत्कुर्यात्पुष्पार्चनं बुधः।

अथाऽऽचान्तेषु चाऽऽचम्य वारि दद्यात्सकृत्सकृत्॥४९॥

The intelligent performer of the śrāddha should light the lamp as prescribed earlier and adore the piṇḍas with flowers.

अथ पुष्पाक्षतान्पश्चादक्षय्योदकमेव च।

सतिलं नामगोत्रेण दद्याच्छक्त्या च दक्षिणाम्॥५०॥

When the Brāhmaṇas have already rinsed their mouths, he would rinse his mouth himself. Then he should, placing the water, flowers, unbroken rice and sesamum seeds over the hands of the Brāhmaṇas, offer dakṣiṇās to them according to one's own means.

गोभूहिरण्यवासांसि भव्यानि शयनानि च।

दद्याद्यदिष्टं विप्राणामात्मनः पितुरेव च॥५१॥

Again, discarding miserliness, pleasing the Pitr̥s, he should give away in charity things like the cow, land, gold costumes, beautiful beds, or the things in charity.

वित्तशाठ्येन रहितः पितृभ्यः प्रीतिमावहन्।

ततः स्वधावाचनकं विश्वदेवेषु चोदकम्॥५२॥

Thereafter reciting Svadhā, the intelligent performer of śrāddha, facing the east, shall offer water oblation to the Viśvedevas and receive blessings from them.

दत्त्वाऽऽशीः प्रतिगृहीयाद्विजेभ्यः प्राङ्मुखो बुधः।

अघोराः पितरः सन्तु सन्वित्युक्तः पुनर्द्विजैः॥५३॥

He should at that time tell the Brāhmaṇas, "Let our Pitr̥s be comfortable." The Brāhmaṇas should ten repeat, "Be it so."

गोत्रं तथा वर्धतां नस्तथेत्युक्तश्च तैः पुनः।

दातारो नोऽभिवर्धन्तामिति चैवमुदीरयेत्॥५४॥

Again the host should say, "Our gotra should flourish, and the donors in our race should prosper." At these words of the host, the Brāhmaṇas should say, "Be it so."

एताः सत्याशिषः सन्तु सन्वित्युक्तश्च तैः पुनः।

स्वस्तिवाचनकं कुर्यात्पिण्डानुद्धृत्य भक्तिः॥५५॥

उच्छेषणं तु तत्तिष्ठेद्यावद्विप्रा विसर्जिताः।

ततो ग्रहबलिं कुर्यादिति धर्मव्यवस्थितिः॥५६॥

The host should then say, "Let the blessing come true." The Brāhmaṇas should say, "Let them be true." Then the Brāhmaṇas should recite the svastivācana. Then lifting the piṇḍas, he should perform the graha-bali. This is the limit of dharma.

उच्छेषणं भूमिगतमजिह्वस्याऽऽस्तिकस्य च।

दासवर्गस्य तत्पित्र्यं भागधेयं प्रचक्षते॥५७॥

Till the Brāhmaṇas are sent off, all the things become the left overs. The left over of the faithful and those devoid of deceitfulness and the food scattered on earth in connection with the Pitṛ-kārya, forms the share of the servants, as is widely believed.

पितृभिर्निर्मितं पूर्वमेतदाध्यायनं सदा।

अपुत्राणां सपुत्राणां स्त्रीणामपि नराधिप॥५८॥

O Nareśvara, the oblation prescribed by the Pitṛs is also useful for those having sons or no sons besides the ladies.

ततस्तानग्रतः स्थित्वा परिगृह्योदपात्रकम्।

वाजे वाज इति जपन्कुशाग्रेण विसर्जयेत्॥५९॥

बहिः प्रदक्षिणां कुर्यात्पदान्यष्टावनुव्रजन्।

बन्धुवर्गेण सहितः पुत्रभार्यासमन्वितः॥६०॥

Then making the Brāhmaṇas to stand in the forefront, holding the water vase in hand, uttering vāje-vāje the Pitṛs should be sent off from the tips of the Kuśā-grass. Then going out together with the kins and relatives he should follow-up to eight steps the Brāhmaṇas and should then circumambulate them.

निवृत्य प्रणिपत्याथ पर्युक्ष्याग्निं समन्त्रवत्।

दैश्वदेवे प्रकुर्वीत नैत्यकं बलिमेव च॥६१॥

ततस्तु वैश्वदेवान्ते सभृत्यसुतबाह्ववः।

भुञ्जीतातिथिसंयुक्तः सर्वं पितृनिषेवितम्॥६२॥

Returning from there, he should offer his salutation to Agni, he should perform Vaiśvadeva and nitya-bali. Finishing the Vaiśvadeva-bali, he should take food with his servants, sons, brothers relatives and the guests, with all the items and padārthas.

एतच्चानुपनीतोऽपि कुर्यात्सर्वेषु पर्वसु।

श्राद्धं साधारणं नाम सर्वकामफलप्रदम्॥६३॥

This Pārvaṇa-śrāddha, bestows all the desires, and can be performed by a person without having the sacred thread, on the occasions of festivals.

भार्याविरहितोऽप्येतत्प्रवासस्थोऽपि भक्तिमान्।

शूद्रोऽप्यमन्त्रवत्कुर्यादनेन विधिना बुधः॥६४॥

The intelligent person who is devoted to his parents, but having no wife or when he is in foreign land, can perform this śrāddha. Even the Śūdras can perform the same in the aforesaid manner, even without the reciting of the mantras.

तृतीयमाभ्युदयिकं वृद्धिश्राद्धं तदुच्यते।

उत्सवानन्दसंभारे यज्ञोद्वाहादिमङ्गले॥६५॥

Now I am going to narrate the third type of Pārvaṇa-Śrāddha which is known as Abhyudayikavṛddhi-śrāddha. This śrāddha can be performed on any one of the festive occasions or the joyful occasion, yajña, marriage or on any other auspicious occasion.

मातरः प्रथमं पूज्याः पितरस्तदनन्तरम्।

ततो मातामहा राजन्विश्वेदेवास्तथैव च॥६६॥

In this Śrāddha initially adoring the mothers, the Pitṛs have to be adored subsequently. Thereafter the maternal grandfather, and Viśvedevas are to be adored.

प्रदक्षिणोपचारेण दध्यक्षतफलोदकैः।

प्राङ्मुखो निर्वपेत्पिण्डान्दूर्वया च कुशैर्युतान्॥६७॥

The host, should, facing east, perform the circumambulation, should offer to the piṇḍas curd, unbroken rice, fruit and water with kuśa.

संपन्नमित्यभ्युदये दद्यादर्घ्यं द्वयोर्द्वयोः।

युग्मा द्विजातयः पूज्या वस्त्रकार्तस्वरादिभिः॥६८॥

In this Abhyudayika śrāddha, the mantra Sampannam should be recited and arghya should be offered to both the types of Pitṛs. At that point of time, the costumes, gold and other things should be offered to the two Brāhmaṇas.

तिलार्थस्तु यवैः कार्यो नान्दीशब्दानुपूर्वकः।

माङ्गल्यानि च सर्वाणि वाचयेद्द्विजपुंगवैः॥६९॥

Uttering the word Nāndī, barley should be substituted in place of sesamum. Then all the Brāhmaṇas should be made to recite the welfare mantras and other stotras.

एवं शूद्रोऽपि सामान्यवृद्धिश्राद्धेऽपि सर्वदा।

नमस्कारेण मन्त्रेण कुर्यादामान्तः सदा॥७०॥

दानप्रधानः शूद्रः स्यादित्याह भगवान्भुः।

दानेन सर्वकामाप्तिरस्य संजायते यतः॥७१॥

Thus in this ordinary vrddhi-śrāddha, even Śūdra uttering the Namaskāra mantra can perform the same without cooked grain. The Śūdra should particularly be charitable because by being charitable, all his desires are fulfilled. This has been ordained by the all powerful lord.

CHAPTER 18

Method of Ekoddiṣṭi and Sapiṇḍīkarana Śrāddha

सूत उवाच

एकोद्दिष्टमतो वक्ष्ये यदुक्तं चक्रपाणिना।

मृते पुत्रैर्यथा कार्यमाशौचं च पितर्यपि॥१॥

Sūta said, "I shall now speak out the method of Ekoddiṣṭi-Śrāddha, which had been narrated by lord Viṣṇu himself, the holder of cakra. At the death of the father, you listen to the performance of the sons till the time of purification.

दशाहं शावमाशौचं ब्रह्मणेषु विधीयते।

क्षत्रियेषु दश द्वे च पक्षं वैश्येषु चैव हि॥२॥

शूद्रेषु मासमाशौचं सपिण्डेषु विधीयते।

नैशं वाऽकृतचूडस्य त्रिरात्रं परतः स्मृतम्॥३॥

The impurity of ten days has been prescribed among the Brāhmaṇas. Similarly this period has been prescribed to be twelve days for the Kṣatriyas, fifteen days for the Vaiśyas and a month for the Śūdras. This impurity prevails among the people of the same gotra. The child whose ceremony for the shaving of the head has not been performed, the impurity lasts after his death for a night and the one who is elder in age, his impurity lasts for three nights alone.

जननेऽप्येवमेव स्यात्सर्ववर्णेषु सर्वदा।

तथाऽस्थिसंचयादूर्ध्वमङ्गस्पर्शो विधीयते॥४॥

प्रेताय पिण्डदानं तु द्वादशाहं समाचरेत्।

पाथेयं तस्य तत्प्रोक्तं यतः प्रीतिकरं महत्॥५॥

Similarly impurity for the birth of the child has also been prescribed for the people of all the varṇas. In the impurity of death, the relatives can be touched after the collection of the bones of the dead. Piṇḍadāna should be performed for the departed soul upto twelve days, because piṇḍa happens to be the food for the departed soul; therefore it is extremely comforting.

तस्मात्प्रेतपुरं प्रेतो द्वादशाहं न नीयते।

गृहं पुत्रं कलत्रं च द्वादशाहं प्रपश्यति॥६॥

This is the reason that the departed soul is not carried to the place of Yama for twelve days. The departed soul remains in the house itself for twelve days, observing his sons, wife and other relatives.

तस्मान्निधेयमाकाशे दशरात्रं पयस्तथा।

सर्वदाहोपशान्त्यर्थमध्वश्रमविनाशनम्॥७॥

Therefore for the removal of all his sufferings and the fatigue of the journey, a vase filled with water should be hung over a Pipala tree for ten days.

तत एकादशाहे तु द्विजानेकादशैव तु।

क्षत्रादिः सूतकान्ते तु भोजयेदयुजो द्विजान्॥८॥

Then on the eleventh day, eleven Brāhmaṇas should be served with food. Similar process should be adopted by the people of Kṣatriya and others and after the removal of the impurities, the Brāhmaṇas should be served with food.

द्वितीयेऽहि पुनस्तद्वदेकोद्दिष्टं समाचरेत्।

आवाहनाग्नौकरणं दैवहीनं विधानतः॥९॥

Again on the twelfth day,¹ the Ekoddiṣṭi-

1. The eleventh or twelfth day is the term on which the Śrāddha which crowns the whole of the funeral rites is to be performed and when Brāhmaṇas are to be invited. Nirṇaya Sindhu, p. 437.

śrāddha should be started as before. This should not include in invocation, offering piṇḍas in the fire, and the adoration of Viśvedevas. These activities are prohibited.

एकं पवित्रमेकोऽर्घ एकः पिण्डो विधीयते।
उपतिष्ठतामित्येतद्देयं पश्चात्तिलोकदम्॥१०॥
स्वदितं विकिरेद्ब्रूयाद्विसर्गे चाभिरभ्यताम्।
शेषं पूर्ववदत्रापि कार्यं वेदविदा पितुः॥११॥

In this śrāddha, there should be a single pavitrakā (ring of kuśa-grass, a single arghya, and a single piṇḍa). Thereafter uttering the word “upatiṣṭhatam” the water with sesamum should be offered. Then reciting fully the complete mantra of “Svaditam” etc. the food should be spread over the ground. At the time of send off, one should utter Abhiramyotam. In this way, the sons, who are well-versed in the Vedas, should perform their fathers rites appropriately as before.

अनेन विधिना सर्वमनुमासं समाचरेत्।
सूतकान्ताद्वितीयेऽह्नि शय्यां दद्याद्विलक्षणाम्॥१२॥
काञ्चनं पुरुषं तद्वत्फलवस्त्रसमन्विताम्।
संपूज्य द्विजदाम्पत्यं नानाभरणभूषणैः॥१३॥

Following the same method, the same process should be repeated every month. After the conclusion of the impurities, an image of gold, fruits and costumes, the bed should be given over (to the Brāhmaṇas). At that point of time a Brāhmaṇa couple should be adored offering both of them the costumes and ornaments.

वृषोत्सर्गं प्रकुर्वीत देया च कपिला शुभा।
उदकुम्भश्च दातव्यो भक्ष्यभोज्यसमन्वितः॥१४॥
यावदब्दं नरश्रेष्ठ सतिलोदकपूर्वकम्।
ततः संवत्सरे पूर्णे सपिण्डीकरणं भवेत्॥१५॥

Then he should perform the rite of the release of a bull, giving away in charity a white cow. O Best of kings, thereafter, he should give away in charity several eatables, a water vase, filled with water and sesamum seeds. The giving away of the water vase in charity should continue for a year. After the completion of a year the Sapiṇḍa-śrāddha should be performed.

सपिण्डीकरणादूर्ध्वं प्रेतः पार्वणभाग्भवेत्।
वृद्धिपूर्वेषु योग्यश्च गृहस्थश्च भवेत्ततः॥१६॥

After performing of the Sapiṇḍa-śrāddha the departed soul becomes entitled to the Pārvaṇa-śrāddha and becomes eligible for adoration at Vṛddhi-śrāddha and the house holder also becomes entitled to perform Nāndīmukha-śrāddha etc.

सपिण्डीकरणे श्राद्धे देवपूर्वं नियोजयेत्।
पितृन्निवासयेत्तत्र पृथक्प्रेतं विनिर्दिशेत्॥१७॥
गन्धोदकतिलैर्युक्तं कुर्यात्पात्रचतुष्टयम्।
अर्घ्यार्थं पितृपात्रेषु प्रेतपात्रं प्रसेचयेत्॥१८॥

In the Sapiṇḍikaraṇa-śrāddha initially Viśvedevas are adored, then the Pitṛs are given the place. The place of the departed soul should be prescribed separately. Then he should keep four vases ready with sandal paste, water and the sesamum seeds. The Preta-vase with water should be divided into three parts and water from the same should be poured in the vase of Pitṛs.

तद्वत्संकल्प्य चतुरः पिण्डान्पिण्डप्रदस्तथा।
ये समाना इति द्वाभ्यामन्त्यं तु विभजेत्त्रिधा॥१९॥
चतुर्थस्य पुनः कार्यं न कदाचिदतो भवेत्।
ततः पितृत्वमापन्नः सर्वतस्तुष्टिमागतः॥२०॥
अग्निष्वात्तादिमध्यत्वं प्राप्नोत्यमृतमुत्तमम्।
सपिण्डीकरणादूर्ध्वं तस्मै तस्मान्न दीयते॥२१॥

Similarly, the giver of the piṇḍas should prepare four piṇḍas and should place them separately over the places of the Pitṛs reciting the samkalpas. Then reciting the mantras like “ye-samānā” etc., the four Preta's piṇḍa should be divided into three parts with kuśa grass and each one of the parts should be mixed with the piṇḍas of the Pitṛs. Thereafter the fourth piṇḍa becomes redundant. After this, the Pretātmā feeling satisfied from all the sides is turned as a Pitṛs and achieves the infallible position joining the Agniṣvāttā divine Pitṛs. Because of this, after the performing of the Sapiṇḍīkaraṇa, nothing more is offered to the same.

पितृष्वेव तु दातव्यं तत्पिण्डो येषु संस्थितः।

ततः प्रभृति संक्रान्तावुपरागादिपर्वसु॥२२॥

त्रिपिण्डमाचरेच्छ्राद्धमेकोद्दिष्टे मृतेऽहनि।

एकोद्दिष्टं परित्यज्य मृताहे यः समाचरेत्॥२३॥

The Pitṛs among whom the Pretātmā is lodged, the three parts of the piṇḍa should be mixed with the piṇḍas of those Pitṛs. Then on the first day of the month or on the days of solar or lunar eclipses or on the days of festivities tripiṇḍa-śrāddha should be performed. Ekoddiṣṭi-śrāddha is required to be performed on the day of the death of the deceased.

सदैव पितृहा च स्यान्मातृभ्रातृविनाशकः।

मृताहे पार्वणं कुर्वन्मृतेऽथो याति मानवः॥२४॥

The performer of the Śrāddha, who on the date of the death of his father, discarding the Ekoddiṣṭi-śrāddha, performs other śrāddhas, he becomes the destroyer of his parents and the brothers. The performer of the Pārvaṇa-śrāddha on the day of the death of the father, achieves the degraded position.

संपृक्तेष्वाकुलीभावः प्रेतेषु तु यतो भवेत्।

प्रतिसंवत्सरं तस्मादेकोद्दिष्टं समाचरेत्॥२५॥

Because the Pitṛs get upset in association with the pretas, therefore Ekoddiṣṭi-śrāddha should be performed annually.

यावदब्दं तु यो दद्यादुदकुम्भं विमत्सरः।

प्रेतायान्नसमायुक्तं सोऽश्वमेधफलं लभेत्॥२६॥

A person, who discarding all the jealousies, gives away in charity for the sake of the departed soul, food and other things, besides the water vase, he achieves the merit of Aśvamedha sacrifice.

आमश्राद्धं यदा कुर्याद्विधिज्ञः श्राद्धदस्तदा।

तेनाग्नौकरणं कुर्यात्पिण्डांस्तेनैव निर्वपेत्॥२७॥

The performer of the śrāddha who is well-versed in the procedures, when performs an ordinary śrāddha, then he should ignite the fire appropriately, performing piṇḍadāna at the same time.

त्रिभिः सपिण्डीकरणे अशेषत्रितये पिता।

यदा प्राप्स्यति कालेन तदा मुच्येत बन्धनात्॥२८॥

When the father (after his death) develops his relationship with his father, grandfather, great grandfather and others, then he is relieved of all the bondages.

मुक्तोऽपि लेपभागित्वं प्राप्नोति कुशमार्जनात्।

लेपभाजश्चतुर्थद्याः पित्राद्याः पिण्डभागिनः।

पिण्डदः सप्तमस्तेषां सापिण्ड्यं साप्तपौरुषम्॥२९॥

After his release from the bondages, he, with the sprinkling of water with the kuśa grass, wiping (lepa) and not the piṇḍa, they are entitled to the food, being the seventh generation in the giver of piṇḍas. These seven are known as sapiṇḍas as the sapiṇḍahood includes these seven counted from the performer of the sacrifice.

CHAPTER 19

Distribution of havya and kavya by Pitṛs in Śrāddhas

ऋषय ऊचुः

यदि मर्त्यो द्विजो भुङ्क्ते हूयते यदि वाऽनले।

शुभाशुभात्मकैः प्रेतैर्दत्तं तद्भुज्यते कथम्॥२॥

The Ṛṣis asked, O Sūta, what is the method of offering havya and kavya by the people to the Pitṛs? How do the havya and kavyas given for the sake of the Pitṛs reach them in Pitṛ-loka?

Who carries the same to them? In case the Brāhmaṇas on earth eat them up, or the offerings are poured into the fire, then how do the Pitṛs having achieved different forms according to their karmas, make use of the same.

सूत उवाच

वसून्वदन्ति च पितृन् रुद्रांश्चैव पितामहान्।
प्रपितामहांस्तथाऽऽदित्यानित्येवं वैदिकी श्रुतिः॥३॥

Sūta said, “O Ṛṣis, the Pitṛs are called Vasus, Pitāmaha, as Rudragāṇas, and Prapitāmahas (great grandfathers) are known as Ādityagāṇas. The havya and kavya given for the sake of the Pitṛs reach them through them.

नाम गोत्रं पितॄणां तु प्रापकं हव्यकव्ययोः।
श्राद्धस्य मन्त्राः श्रद्धा च उपयोज्याऽतिभक्तिः॥४॥

The mantras chanted during the performing of the śrāddha are also responsible for carrying the given material to the Pitṛs. The usages of the śrāddhas are also the means for the same.

अग्निष्वात्तादयस्तेषामधिपत्ये व्यवस्थिताः।

Agniṣvāttā and others preside over the Pitṛs. Whatever the eatables are given before the divine Pitṛs, reciting their names and gotras, time and the country with devotion, reaches the Pitṛs even when they are in the cycle of several births, satisfying them at the same. The same is turned into the appropriate food for the Pitṛs living in a particular yoni. In case with the influence of the noble deeds, the father is born in a Devayoni, then the food etc. given for his sake turns into nectar and reaches him in the Devayoni. The food of śrāddha turns into the article of pleasure and grass in the Paśu-yoni

(form of animal).

श्राद्धान्नं वायुरूपेण सर्पत्वेऽप्युपतिष्ठति।
पानं भवति यक्षत्वे राक्षसत्वे तथाऽऽमिषम्॥८॥

In the form of serpents, it reaches before the reptiles. In the yoni of the Yakṣa, it turns into beverage and in the Rākṣasas it is turned into the flesh.

दनुजत्वे तथा माया प्रेतत्वे रुधिरोदकम्।
मनुष्यत्वेऽन्नपानानि नानाभोगरसं भवेत्॥९॥

In the yoni of the Dānavas, it takes the form of Māyā, and with goblins it turns into blood and water. In the human race, it turns into various types of delicious eatables or food items.

रतिशक्तिः स्त्रियः कान्ता भोज्यं भोजनशक्तिता।

It also develops the conjugal pleasures and bestows beautiful women, delicious eatables, strength for digesting food, enormous riches besides the desire to give away the charities, beautiful form, good health etc. All of them have been described as the flowers of the tree of devotion. Their reward is the achieving of the Brahman. When the Pitṛs are pleased a person achieves long life, sons, riches, lores, heaven, mokṣa, comforts and the kingship. It is heard that in earlier times, the sons of Kauśika, because of the glory of śrāddha, took birth in the yonis like vyādha, deer, sheldrake birds etc. five times, got relieved and achieving the highest position reached Vaikuṇṭha.

CHAPTER 20

Story of the sage Kauśika and the ants

ऋषय ऊचुः

कथं कौशिकदायादाः प्राप्तास्ते योगमुत्तमम्।

पञ्चभिर्जन्मसंबन्धैः कथं कर्मक्षयो भवेत्॥१॥

Rṣis asked, "O Sūta, how could the sons of Kauśika achieve the highest yoga and how could their sins be washed out after taking birth, five times?

सूत उवाच

कौशिको नाम धर्मात्मा कुरुक्षेत्रे महानृषिः।

नामतः कर्मतस्तस्य सुतान्सप्त निबोधत॥२॥

Sūta said, "O Sages, there had been a noble sage known by the name of Kauśika at Kurukṣetra.¹ He had seven sons.

स्वसृपः क्रोधनो हिंस्रः पिशुनः कविरेव च।

वाग्दुष्टः पितृवर्ती च गर्गशिष्यास्तदाऽभवन्॥३॥

The story of these sons of the sage is being narrated by me in a sequence. You please listen to the same. They were known by the names of Svasṛpa, Krodhana, Himśra, Piśun, Kavi, Vāgduṣṭa, and Pitṛ-vartī. After the death of their father, they became the disciples of the sage Garga.

पितर्युपरते तेषामभूदुर्भिक्षमुल्बणम्।

अनावृष्टिश्च महती सर्वलोकभयंकरी॥४॥

During that period there had been no rainfall, which terrified the people. There had been a horrible draught.

गर्गदिशाद्वेने दोग्ध्रीं रक्षन्तस्ते तपोधनाः।

खादामः कपिलामेतां वयं क्षुत्पीडिता भृशम्॥५॥

In the meantime, all the disciples, with the permission of the sage Garga, engaged themselves in serving him. All of them terribly suffered in the forest due to hunger.

इति चिन्तयतां पापं लघुः प्राह तदाऽनुजः।

यद्यवश्यमियं वध्या श्राद्धरूपेण योज्यताम्॥६॥

एवं कुर्वित्यनुज्ञातः पितृवर्ती तदाऽनुजैः॥७॥

When they could find no means of removing their hunger, then Pitṛvartī, the youngest of all the brothers advised them to perform śrāddha.

चक्रे समाहितः श्राद्धमपयुज्य च तां पुनः।

द्वौ दैवे भ्रातरौ कृत्वा पित्रे त्रीनप्यनुक्रमात्॥८॥

ततः कालावकृष्टास्ते व्याधा दाशपुरेऽभवन्।

जातिस्मरत्वं प्राप्तास्ते पितृभावेन भाविताः॥१२॥

When the elder brothers agreed to the proposal, Pitṛvartī arranged for the śrāddha. At that point of time, in the sequence of elder and younger, entrusted two brothers in the Devakārya, three were entrusted with Pitṛ-kārya and one was entrusted with atithi-kārya, while he himself became the performer of the śrāddha. Thus pitrparāyana Pitṛvartī, invoking the Pitṛs performed the śrāddha reciting the mantras. In due course of time because of some discrepancies in the śrāddha, all of them were born as hunters in the city of Daśapur (Mandasaur). But because of their influence of the śrāddha performed by them, they could retain the memory of the earlier birth.

यत्कृतं क्रूरकर्मापि श्राद्धरूपेण तैस्तदा।

Because of the earlier evil deeds, they were born in the house of a hunter no doubt, but because of the glory of the Pitṛs in the earlier birth they could retain the earlier memories. Because of the effect of śrāddha all of them developed śrāddha. They all took to fasting and ended their bodies born of a hunter.

जातिस्मराः सप्त जाता मृगाः कालञ्जरे गिरौ।

Thereafter all of them were born as deer over the mountain Kālāñjara, around the temple of Nilakaṇṭha there.

तत्रापि ज्ञानवैराग्यात्प्राणानुत्सृज्य धर्मतः।

There also, having been influenced with grace of the Pitṛs, they could retain the memories of their earlier birth. During their birth as deer, they could possess knowledge as well as detachment. All of them getting devoted to dharma, taking to fasting, ended their lives in full view of people there.

मानसे चक्रवाकास्ते संजाताः सप्त योगिनः।

Thereafter all the seven of them who were devoted to yoga, were reborn as Sheldrake birds at the Mānasarovara lake.

O Brāhmaṇas, you listen to their stories in the sequence of their names and the deeds. As Cakravāks or sheldrake birds, they were known by the names of Sumana, Kumuda, Śuddha, Chhidradarśī, Sunetraka, Sunetra and Aṁsumān. All of them were devoted to yoga.

Three out of them having little wisdom were fallen from yoga and started wandering here and there. At that point of time the king of Pāñcāla-race, possessing enormous prowess and having huge army as well as the vehicles, arrived there with his queens in the same pleasure garden and enjoyed love-sports there.

Observing the grandeur of that influential king, one of the aquatic birds developed the desire of becoming a king. He was devoted to the Pitṛs and was known by the name of Pitṛvartī.

Similarly the other two also observed the king's ministers with vast army and the vehicle and developed the desire to become ministers on earth. O Best of Brāhmaṇas, the four of them, who were devoid of desires were reborn in the races of the best of the Brāhmaṇas. The first out of them was born as son to the king Vibhrāja and was known as Brahmadatta. The remaining two were reborn as Subālaka and Kaṇḍarīka- the sons of ministers.

After the death of the king Vibhrāja, the intelligent royal priest crowned Brahmadatta as the king. The powerful king of Pāñcāla was immensely valorous, well-versed in all the śāstras and yoga, and could speak the language of all the creatures.

Once the king Brahmadatta, accompanied with his wife Sannati, went to an orchard for the purpose of enjoyment, where he found a pair of male and female ants engaged in a quarrel over the love sport. The body of the male ant was infested with passion and it spoke to the female ant with all humility.

You have beautiful eyes which can reach the target, you love sugar and guda (jaggery).

O Auspicious one, you tell me why do you feel annoyed with me?” Then the female ant replied to the male one, “O Wicked one, why are you talking nonsense to me? O Cunning one, only yesterday, you discarding me, took a piece of the sweet ball and gave it to another ant.

The male ant replied, “O Beautiful one, by mistake I gave the piece of the sweet ball to another ant, since she resembled you in form and beauty. O Beautiful one, you forgive me for this mistake. The story of Brahmadata and the four sheldrake birds Sūta said, "O Rṣis, all the sheldrake birds were reborn in the city of Brahmadata, as the sons of an old Brāhmaṇa. In that birth as well, the Brāhmaṇas could preserve the memories of their earlier births.

ऋषय ऊचुः

At that point of time they were known by the names of Dhṛtimān, Tattvadarśī, Vidyācaṇḍa and Tapotsuka. According to their deeds, they were the sons of the Brāhmaṇa known as Sudaridra.

तपसे बुद्धिरभवत्तदा तेषां द्विजन्मनाम्।

Right from their childhood, they were more inclined towards tapas. Then they spoke to their father with prayer, "O Father, we intend to achieve the supreme success by performing tapas."

Listening to their words, Daridra- the great tapasvī spoke in miserable words, "O Sons, what are you speaking? Discarding an old and poor Brāhmaṇa in this miserable condition, you intend to become the forest dwellers. What type of merit are you going to achieve by discarding me? What will be your position? This will be a grave sin." Thus speaking, the father tried to dissuade them from the performing of tapas. On hearing this, they said, "We have arranged for your livelihood. Besides this what more do you want, you tell us.

The verses mean, "those who were the best of the Brāhmaṇas in Kurukṣetra, hunters in Daśapura, the mountain deer in Kālañjara and seven sheldrake birds of Mānasarovara, they becoming successful, live here."

इत्युक्त्वा पितरं जग्मुस्ते वनं तपसे पुनः।

Thus speaking to the farther, all of them left for the forest for the performing of tapas. On the other hand, the old Brāhmaṇa, Sudaridra also moved towards the royal palace for the accomplishment of his selfish end.

(The story of the birth of Brahmadata has been narrated). In earlier times, there had been a king named Anagha in the Pañcāla country. He was the son of Vaibhrāja. The said king with the desire of getting a son was engaged in severe vrata and adored the omniscient, god of gods- lord Viṣṇu.

वरं वृणीष्व भद्रं ते हृदयेनेप्सितं नृप।

एवमुक्तस्तु देवेन वव्रे स वरमुत्तमम्॥१३॥

After the lapse of a considerable time, lord Janārdana, was pleased with their tapas and appearing before him, he said, “Let the welfare be bestowed on you. Now you ask for the desired boon from me.”

पुत्रं मे देहि देवेश महाबलपराक्रमम्।

सर्वसत्त्वस्तज्ञं मे देहि योगिनमात्मजम्।

एवमस्त्विति विश्वात्मा तमाह परमेश्वरः॥१५॥

At these words of lord Viṣṇu, the king spoke desiring for the best of the boon, “O lord of gods, you better bestow a son to me, who should be possessing enormous strength and prowess, should be well-versed in the scriptures, besides being the religious one, the best of yogis and should know the speech of all the creatures, besides being devoted to yoga. O lord bestow me such a type of son.” On hearing this, lord Parmeśvara spoke to the king, “Be it so”.

पश्यतां सर्वदेवानां तत्रैवान्तरधीयत।

ततः स तस्य पुत्रोऽभूद्ब्रह्मदत्तः प्रतापवान्॥१६॥

Thus speaking, lord Viṣṇu, in full view of all those present there disappeared from the scene. In due course of time, he got the glorious son named Brahmadata.

सर्वसत्त्वानुकम्पी च सर्वसत्त्वबलाधिकः।

सर्वसत्त्वरुतज्ञश्च सर्वसत्त्वेश्वरेश्वरः॥१७॥

Subsequently, he got a son who was compassionate on the creatures, extremely valorous of all the living beings, knew the speech of all the creatures and also became the emperor of all the jīvas.

Thereafter he reached the place, where the ant couple were engaged in conversation, finding that the male ant was filled with passion, Brahmadata laughed. Finding the king so laughing the queen Sannati was surprised and apprehending some future misfortune, she questioned the king Brahmadata.

Sūta said, “The prince Brahmadata, repeated the conversation between the two ants and said, "O Beautiful one, I laughed because no other reason for my laughter." But the queen Sannati did not believe in the words of the emperor. She said, "The words spoken by you are totally untrue, presently you laughed some how on me. Therefore, I shall not remain alive any more. How could the people on earth (except the gods) know about the talk of the pair of ants. Therefore you have presently laughed at me alone. What else could be there?" Listening to the words of the queen, the sinless Brahmadatta, could give no reply. Then with the desire of knowing the secret of the same he started performing tapas before Hari for seven nights. Ultimately lord Hṛṣikeśa spoke to the king in dream, "O king, tomorrow in the early morning, whatever a Brāhmaṇa would speak, his words shall reveal the entire secret to you." Lord Viṣṇu then disappeared from the scene. The next morning, when the king Brahmadatta together with his queen and courtiers, was on a round of the city, at the same time, he found an old Brāhmaṇa coming to him. He was uttering as follows.

ब्राह्मण उवाच

The Brāhmaṇa said, "The one who was born at Kurukṣetra as the excellent Brāhmaṇa, Vyādha at Daśapura (Mandasaur), as a deer over the mountain Kālāñjara, and seven sheldrake birds at the lake of Mānasarovara, the same person, becoming a siddha, is living here."

सूत उवाच

Sūta said, "O Ṛṣis, listening to the words of the Brāhmaṇa, the king was filled with grief and getting fainted, fell down on earth together with both his courtiers. At the same time he regained the memories of his earlier births.

Out of the two excellent courtiers, one of them was Bābhavya Subālaka who was well-versed in the love sports, besides all the holy scriptures. He was known by the name of Pāñcāla in the world. The second one was Kaṇḍarīka who was quite noble besides being the orator of the Vedas. Both of them having been overpowered with grief also fell down on the ground, who also regained his earlier memories.

ततस्तस्मै धनं दत्त्वा प्रभूतग्रामसंयुतम्॥३३॥

Both of them lamenting bitterly, spoke, "Alas, all of us getting greedy, getting entangled in the bondage of the deeds, have completely fallen from our path. Thus all the three of them lamenting variously becoming omniscient by yoga, feeling surprised, started highlighting the glory of śrāddha again and again. Thereafter, the king gave away the Brāhmaṇa, enough of riches and the villages.

In this way, the Brāhmaṇa, getting delighted with the receipt of the wealth, was gracefully made to retire by the king. The king Brahmadatta, then, crowned his legitimate son named Viṣvakṣena as the king and he himself retired to the forest. Thereafter Brahmadata and the other excellent yogis, discarding all the jealousies, devoting themselves to their father, collected again at the Mānasarovara.

The anger of Sannati, the queen was wiped out and she spoke to the king, “O King, whatever is presently being desired by you is the result of the giving up of the kingdom and I am indeed responsible for the same.” The king accepted her words and again felicitating her said to her.

1. The term Yoga (योगः), which is that used in its literal acceptation signifies ‘union’, ‘junction’ from युज ‘to join:’ in a spiritual sense it denotes ‘union of separated with universal soul;’ In the Bhagavad Gītā it is variously applied, but ordinarily denotes the performance of religious ceremonies as a duty, and not for interested purposes. Yoga is understanding of the identity of the contemplator and the object contemplated; ध्यातृध्येयैक्यधीः। A text of Yājñavalkya is quoted to this effect: ज्ञानं योगात्मकं विद्धि योग-श्चाष्टाङ्गसंयुतः संयोगो योग इत्युक्तो जीवात्मपरमात्मनोः। ‘Know holy wisdom to be the same with Yoga’ (the practice of) which has eight divisions. That which is termed Yoga is union of the living with the supreme soul.’

नामतस्तानि वक्ष्यामि संक्षेपेण द्विजोत्तमाः॥३॥

O Brāhmaṇas, I am now going to speak out the names of the holy places which are liked the most by the Pitṛs.

पितृतीर्थं गया नाम सर्वतीर्थवरं शुभम्।

यत्राऽऽस्ते देवदेवेशः स्वयमेव पितामहः॥४॥

तत्रैषा पितृभिर्गीता गाथा भागमभीप्सुभिः॥५॥

The Pitr-tīrtha of Gaṅgā, is best of all the holy place and bestows welfare, where Pitāmaha, the god of gods, himself remains present. This story is narrated by the Pitṛs who desire to participate in the Śrāddhas at Gayā.

एष्टव्या बहवः पुत्रा यद्येकोऽपि गयां व्रजेत्।

यजेत वाऽश्वमेधेन नीलं वा वृषमुत्सृजेत्॥६॥

The people should desire to have many sons, because in case a single person goes on pilgrimage to Gayā, or organises an Aśvamedha sacrifice, or releases a blue bull, then he shall be redeemed.”

तथा वाराणसी पुण्या पितृणां वल्लभा सदा।

यत्राविमुक्तसांनिध्यं भुक्तिमुक्तिफलप्रदम्॥७॥

पितृणां वल्लभं तद्वत्पुण्यं च विमलेश्वरम्।

Similarly the auspicious Vārāṇasī, is always liked by the Pitṛs. It is the abode of Vimalaśvara, the giver of prosperity and emancipation. This place is also dear to the Pitṛs.

पितृतीर्थं प्रयागं तु सर्वकामफलप्रदम्॥८॥

वटेश्वरस्तु भगवान्माधवेन समन्वितः।

योगनिद्राशयस्तद्वत्सदा वसति केशवः॥९॥

Prayāga is another sacred place dear to the Pitṛs, which bestows the fulfilment all the desires. Lord Vateśvara together with Mādhava and lord Keśava, sleeps there in yoganidrā. (the sleep at the end of a Yuga)

दशाश्वमेधिकं पुण्यं गङ्गाद्वारं तथैव च।

नन्दाऽथ ललिता तद्वत्तीर्थं मायापुरी शुभा॥१०॥

The auspicious Daśāśvamedha-tīrtha, Gaṅgadvāra (Haridvāra), besides Nandā, Lalitā and Māyāpurī (Rishikesh) are also the holy places dear to the Pitṛs.

तथा मित्रपदं नाम ततः केदारमुत्तमम्।

गङ्गासागरमित्याहुः सर्वतीर्थमयं शुभम्॥११॥

The Mitrapada-tīrtha, is also the best. The excellent Kedāranatha and Gaṅgāsāgara, the best of Tīrthas are also dear to the Pitṛs.

तीर्थं ब्रह्मसरस्तद्वच्छतद्रुसलिले हृदे।

तीर्थं तु नैमिषं नाम सर्वतीर्थफलप्रदम्॥१२॥

Similarly the holy place of Brahmasara in the waters of Sutlaj river is also considered to be the best. Besides Naimiṣāranya is the place which bestows the combined reward of all the tīrthas.

गङ्गेन्द्रेदस्तु गोमत्यां यत्रोद्भूतः सनातनः।

तथा यज्ञवराहस्तु देवदेवश्च शूलभृत्॥१३॥

यत्र तत्काञ्चनं द्वारमष्टादशभुजो हरः।

यः प्रयाति स पूतात्मा नारायणपदं व्रजेत्।

कृतशौचं महापुण्यं सर्वपापनिषूदनम्॥१६॥

This place is also dear to the Pitṛs. There is the place known as Gaṅgādbheda in Gomatī, Varāha-kṣetra, which is abode of lord Mahādeva, and the lord Śiva having eighteen hands, the place where the cakra of Viṣṇu fell, is known as Naimiṣāranya, which is the most sacred of all the tīrthas and where lord Varāha is worshipped, are considered to be the sacred places. A person who visits that place is liberated from all the sins and he finally attains emancipation.

यत्राऽऽस्ते नारसिंहस्तु स्वयमेव जनार्दनः।

तीर्थमिक्षुमती नाम पितृणां वल्लभं सदा॥१७॥

संगे यत्र तिष्ठन्ति गङ्गायाः पितरः सदा।

कुरुक्षेत्रं महापुण्यं सर्वतीर्थसमन्वितम्॥१८॥

Ikṣumatī is the holy place which serves as the dwelling place to lord Narasimha and is held dear to the Pitṛs and is located at the confluence of the Gaṅgā. Besides Kurukṣeta is the most sacred place where the Pitṛs remain always present.

तथा च सरयूः पुण्या सर्वदेवनमस्कृता।
इरावती नदी तद्वत्पितृतीर्थाधिवासिनी॥१९॥
यमुना देविका काली चन्द्रभागा दृषद्वती
नदी वेणुमती पुण्या परा वेत्रवती तथा॥२०॥

The river Sarayū is adored by all the gods, which is quite auspicious. Same is the case with Irāvati, besides the rivers, Yamunā, Devikā, Kālī, Candrabhāgā, Dṛṣadvatī, Veṇumatī and Vetravatī are sacred and dear to Pitṛs and the Śrāddhas performed on the banks of these rivers, confer great benefits over the performers.

पितृणां वल्लभा होताः श्राद्धे कोटिगुणा मताः।

तथा रुद्रसरः पुण्यं सरो मानसमेव च।
मन्दाकिनी तथाऽच्छोदा विपाशाऽथ सरस्वती॥२३॥

Jambūmārga, from where the path of Pitṛs is visible, is sacred pitṛ-tīrtha even to this day. There are other sacred Pitṛ-tīrtha like Nīlakuṇḍa, Rudrasarovara, Mānasarovara, Mandākinī, Acchodā, Vipāśā and Sarasvatī.

पूर्वमित्रपदं तद्वद्वैद्यनाथं महाफलम्।
क्षिप्रा नदी महाकालस्तथा कालञ्जरं शुभम्॥२४॥

The Purvomitrapada, Vaidyaṇātha, the river Kṣiprā, Mahākāla, Kālāñjara hill are the extremely sacred places.

The mere recollection of these sacred places, bestows enormous benefits, what to speak of those who perform the Śrāddha there. The places like Omkāreśvara, Kāverī, the confluence of the river Candravegā, and Amarakaṇṭaka are also the auspicious places where by taking a bath, one gets hundred times more merits than by bathing at Kurukṣetra. Śukratīrtha, Pindārā and Someśvara are also the sacred places, which remove all the sins, and it is quite auspicious to perform Śrāddha there, besides giving of the charities there. Kāyāvarohaṇa, Carmaṇvatī river, besides Gomatī, Varāṇā, Auśaṇasā, Bhairava-kṣetra, Bhṛgu-tuṅgā and Gaurī-tīrtha are also the sacred places. Besides Vināyaka and Bhadreśvara are also the sacred places, which release a person from the sins. The river Tāpatī too is also a sacred one. The river Mūlatāpī, Payoṣṇī and her confluence Mahābodhi, Pāṭalā, Nāgatīrtha, Avantī, Mahāśālā, the river Veṇa, Mahārudra, Mahāliṅga, the river Daśārṇa, Śatarudra, Śatāhvā, Viśvapada, Aṅgāravāhikā, Śoṇa river, Ghargharā river, Kālikā river, Vitastā river, Dronī river, Vata river, Dharā river, and Kṣīra river, are also the places where Śrāddhas when performed bestow great satisfaction to the Pitṛs. Besides Gokaṇa, Gajakaṇa, Puruṣottama, Dvārakā, Arbuda, Sarasvatī river, are known as the holy places. The rivers of Maṇimatī, Girikaṇikā, Dhūtapāpam and the southern ocean, Meghakra tīrtha which is the abode of Janārdana Viṣṇu, the Mandodari-tīrtha, the river Campā, Samalanātha, Mahāśālā river, Cakravāka, Carmakoṭa-tīrtha, Janmeśvara, Arjuna-kṣetra, Tripurā tīrtha, Siddheśvara, Śrīśaila, Narasimha are also the places fit for the performing of the Śrāddhas for pleasing the Pitṛs.

The auspicious Bāhudā river, the Siddhavanā, Pāśupatas, the river of Pārvatīkā, are the places where, the Śrāddhas when performed yield much more benefits. The Pitṛ-tīrtha, near the Godāvarī river, with images of Śiva, is an exceedingly auspicious place. It is also known as Jamadagni-tīrtha. It is here that the river Godāvarī was ruptured because of the fear of the sage Pratīka. It represents as Deva as well as the Pitṛ-tīrtha. It is also known as Apsarāyuga. With the performing of the Śrāddha here, the merit of Agnihotra as well as that of the charity is multiplied millions of times more.

Lord Matsya said, “At the time of dissolution, the entire universe, including mobiles and immobiles was covered with darkness like the one overpowered with sleep. No one could imagine about the then prevailing condition, nor could anything be known about the same. No trace of anything existing earlier was left. Nothing known thing was left. Thereafter lord Svayambhu who is the abode of the auspicious deeds and is not manifest, with the intention of creating the universe, piercing through the darkness, appeared in the universe alone.

At the same time, the one who is beyond the comprehension of the organs of senses, being greater than the greatest, smaller than the smallest, being imperishable and known as Nārāyaṇa, emerged on the universe alone.

He, from his body with the intention of creating several type of creatures, meditated carefully and initially created water. He planted his semen as the seed in the same.

After the lapse of a thousand years, the same seed was turned into an egg of gold and silver and its lustre resembled the lustre of ten thousand suns.

Thereafter the immensely illustrious Svayambhu, himself entered the egg and pervading in it with his own influence, he came to be known as Viṣṇu.

In due course to time, the sun emerged out of the golden egg, first of all. Since he was born first of all, therefore he was known as Āditya. Because of the reciting of the Vedas, he was known as Brahmā.

He divided the egg into two parts creating heaven and the sky. In between both of them, he created the directions and imperishable sky.

At that point of time, out of the embryo's skin, the mountains like the Meru and other seven mountains, were formed and the womb was turned into the lightning and clouds. From the same, the rivers, the manes and Manus were born. Besides the seven oceans with diamonds and gems were also born having the salt water, sugarcane juice and wine etc. They were also formed of the watery substance of the same egg.

स सिसृक्षुरभूद्देवः प्रजापतिरिन्दम।

O Destroyer of the enemies, when lord Prajāpati became desirous of engaging himself in creation of the universe, then with his lustre Mārtaṇḍa (the sun) emerged.

Since he was born after the destruction of the egg, he came to be known as Mārtaṇḍa. The rajoguṇa form of the said Mahātmā appeared in the form of the four faced Brahmā also known as the Grand Sire.

Before the creation of all the śāstras, Brahmā composed the Purāṇas, which happen to be indestructible, full of words, auspicious and were comprised of a hundred crores of the verses.

Thereafter, there emerged from the mouth of Brahmā, the Vedas with their accessories, mīmāṃsā and nyāya. Thereafter the sons of Brahmā, who were engaged in the recitation of the Vedas, were born with the desire of his mind. Because they were born of the mental desire of Brahmā, they came to be known as the mind-born sons of Brahmā.

Thus I have collected the names of all the holy places and explained to you in brief. Even otherwise, Brhaspati is not competent to narrate their glory fully, then what to speak of the humans.

In fact the Satyatīrtha, Dayatīrtha and Indriyanigraha tīrthas, do exist in the abodes of those who faithfully follow the Varṇāśrama dharma.

Since the Śrāddhas performed in these tīrthas bestows crores of times more the reward, therefore the people should perform the Śrāddhas in these holy places making all the efforts.

The period of three *muhūrtas*¹ in the morning is treated as Saṅgava, the three muhūrtas of the noon time are uttamas, the even muhūrtas which should be avoided, because that time is treated as Rākṣasī for Śrāddha. There are fifteen such muhūrtas in a day and the eighth of them are called Kutapa.

मध्याह्ने सर्वदा यस्मान्मन्दी भवति भास्करः।

Since the afternoon sun always moves slowly therefore the time of the bestowing of limitless reward i.e. kutapa starts. During the noon, a vase of rhinoceros, horn, a Nepal blanket, silver, Durvā grass, sesamum, kins and daughter's son, are the eight essentials of Śrāddha. Kutsita is another synonym of Pāpa (sin) and the eight things mentioned above, absorb heat of all the sins (Ku) therefore they are known as kutapas.

Kuśa-grass and black sesamum were both produced from the body of Viṣṇu therefore they are fit enough to protect the śrāddha. This has been ordained by the gods. The visitors of the tīrthas holding kuśa in one hand and sesamum in the other, should perform the oblation and by the performer of the śrāddha and by doing so the importance of śrāddha is increased.

This is quite meritorious, extremely auspicious, prolongs the age and destroys all the sins. A person who listens to the same, or himself recites it, he earns enormous riches. The people on pilgrimage, for the removal of all the sins, should recite the glory of Śrāddha-Māhātmya, which is extremely auspicious, bestower of glory, destroyer of the grave sins of the people. CHAPTER 23

The origin of Moon, his marriage, performing of Rājasūya yajña, his attraction for Tārā, his fight with lord Śiva, and ending of war at the instance of Brahmā.

ऋषय ऊचुः

सोमः पितृणामधिपः कथं शास्त्रविशारद।

तद्वंश्यां ये च राजानो बभूवुः कीर्तिवर्धनाः॥१॥

Rṣis asked, O Sūta, well-versed in the Śāstras, what has been the origin of the moon, the lord of the Pitṛs? You speak out all about it. Besides we would like to know about the rulers of the past in the lunar dynasty. You kindly tell us all in detail.

सूत उवाच

Sūta said, "O Rṣis, in the earlier times, Brahmā commanded his son to start creation. Then the all competent Maharṣi, performed Anuttama tapas for the creation of the universe.

यदानन्दकरं ब्रह्म जगत्क्लेशविनाशनम्।

With the influence of the said tapas the blissful Brahmā, the dispeller of the discomforts of others, and is enshrined within Viṣṇu, Śiva, the sun and Rudra, who is super-sensuous and is the bestower of all peace and is lodged in the eyes of the peaceful things, the same Brahmā, getting pleased with the tapas of Atri, became the cause of his happiness, in other worlds. He caused the moon to be produced from the eyes of Atri. At that time, lord Śiva, with the goddess Pārvatī, was immensely delighted to find the moon. He therefore decorated his head with the same. The power produced from the water which emitted from the eyes of Atri illumined the universe with its lustre.

तद्दिशो जगृहुर्धाम स्त्रीरूपेण सुतेच्छया।
 गर्भो भूत्वोदरे तासामास्थितोऽब्दशतत्रयम्॥७॥

The directions held that shine in the form of damsels desirous of getting sons. The said tejas after entering their womb, remained there for three hundred years.

 तत्र ब्रह्मर्षिभिः प्रोक्तमस्मत्स्वामी भवत्वयम्॥१०॥

When the directions were unable to contain the womb any further, then they discarded the same. The four faced Brahmā then collected the same and turned it in the form of a young man, holding all the attributes. The powerful Pitāmaha, mounted over the chariot of Vedaśakti, driving with thousand horses took him to his loka. The Brahmarṣis then declared that, "Let him be our lord."

ऋषिभिर्देवगन्धर्वैरोषधीभिस्तथैव च।
 तुष्टुवुः सोमदेवत्यैर्ब्रह्माद्या मन्त्रसंग्रहैः॥११॥

The Pitṛs, Brahmā and other gods, Gandharvas and Oṣadhis, adored him with the Vedic mantras known as Somadevatya.

स्तूयमानस्य तस्याभूदधिको धामसंभवः।
 तेजोवितानादभवद्भुवि दिव्यौषधीगणः॥१२॥

Having been thus eulogised, the lustre of the moon was increased. With the same lustre the divine Oṣadhis were grown.

 वेदधामरसं चापि यदिदं चन्द्रमण्डलम्।
 क्षीयते वर्धते चैव शुक्ले कृष्णे च सर्वदा॥१४॥

Because of this the shine of these Oṣadhis increases during the night. Because of this the moon came to be known as the lord of oṣadhis. He is also called Dvijeśa. The lunar disc was caused to be created with the juice of the Vedas. It always increases in the bright fortnight and gets reduced in the dark fortnight.

विंशतिं च यथा सप्त दक्षः प्राचेतसो ददौ।
 रूपलावण्यसंयुक्तास्तस्मै कन्याः सुवर्चसः॥१५॥

Thereafter, Dakṣa, the son of Pracetā, gave away his twenty seven beautiful daughters who were quite illustrious to the moon as his wives.

 ततस्तुष्टुस्तु भगवांस्तस्मै नारायणो हरिः।
 वरं वृष्णीष्व प्रोवाच परमात्मा जनार्दनः॥१७॥

Then the moon with his cool rays, devoting his mind exclusively to lord Viṣṇu, performed tapas for ten lakhs of years. As a result of this lord Janārdana, who is also known as Nārāyaṇa, and Śrī Hari, was pleased with the moon and appeared before the moon and said.

ततो वव्रे वरान्सोमः शक्रलोकं जयाम्यहम्।

राजसूये सुरगणा ब्रह्माद्याः सन्तु मे द्विजा।
रक्षःपालः शिवोऽस्माकमास्तां शूलधरो हरः॥१९॥

The lord said, “Ask for a boon.” When so commanded by lord Viṣṇu, the moon seeking the boon said, “I would like to conquer the place of Indra and the gods should arrive in my palace to receive their share individually. In my Rājasūya yajña,¹ Brahmā and the gods should serve as the Brāhmaṇas. Then the auspicious lord Śiva, the carrier of trident, and the divine Rakṣapālas should conduct themselves as the security guards.”

To this lord Viṣṇu replied, “Be it so.” Then the moon arranged for the Rājasūya yajña in which the sage Atri became the hotā priest, Bhṛgu officiated as Adhvaryu, Brahmā was the udgātā, lord Hari officiated as the Brāhmaṇa priest, besides Śaunaka and other sages were the members in the Rājasūya sacrifice.

The ten Viśvedevas performed as Camasa-addvaryus. In that sacrifice the moon gave away the three lokas as dakṣiṇā to the sacrificial priests.

On the occasion of the sacrifice, all the nine goddesses influenced with love, went to have a look at the moon.

सोमः प्राप्याथ दुष्प्राप्यमैश्वर्यमृषिसंस्कृतम्॥

The moon achieved such a store of pleasure which is envied by Ṛṣis, and became sole Monarch of the seven lokas by his austerity.

Once the moon came across Tārā, the wife of Brhaspati, when she was roaming in the garden. On seeing Tārā, adorned with flowers, having projected breasts, too delicate to touch the body with flowers even, the moon was filled with passion.

exquisite beauty with lovely eyes and caught her by the hair.

Tārā too finding the enchanting form of moon was overpowered with passion and enjoyed his company for long. The moon enjoyed her company for a long time and then carried her to his abode.

The moon was so attracted with her beauty that he never felt satisfied, even after enjoying her company for a long time. Brhaspati was missing her very much in the absence of Tārā.

शशाकं शापं न च दातुमस्मै

He came to know all about her by means of his tapas, but could not dissuade the moon by means of the curses, incantations, arms, fire or the poison.

Then Brhaspati, burning with passion went to moon, and humbly requested him to get him back his wife. But the moon who had completely fallen for Tārā, refused to part with her.

Subsequently the moon refused the requests of even Śiva, Brahmā, Devas and Maruts besides others to part with Tārā, which enraged lord Śiva.

Then Vāmadeva carrying the Ajagava bow, accompanied with his attendants, the Bhūteśvaras, Siddhas¹ started a fight with the moon.

At the time when Śiva issued fire from his third eye, looked quite horrible, when the moon looked at him.

1. A Siddha is a Semi-divine being supposed to be of great purity and holiness and characterised by eight supernatural faculties namely.

(i) Aṇimā or the power of becoming as small as an atom; (2) Mahimā or the power of increasing size to any shape, (3) Laghimā or the power of assuming extreme lightness at will, (4) Garimā or the power of making one's self heavy (5) Prāpti or the power of obtaining everything at will (6) Prākāmya or irresistible will; (7) Isitva or supremacy (8) Vaśitva or the power of subjugating all.

Finding that Śiva was engaging himself in a full fledged war, together with his attendants like Gaṇeśa and others holding various weapons, Kubera also followed him with large number of his soldiers.

The Moon on the other hand finding the enemy forces marching against him, he also moved with his army of constellations Vetālas, Yakṣas, serpents and the line of a million and a half of the chariots in order to engage himself in the war.

The army of enraged moon included the constellation, Daityas, Asuras with Śani and Mars co-operating with him, and reached the battle ground. The sight frightened all the seven lokas and the islands with the oceans. The earth started shaking.

Then Śiva holding the terrific fire-arm, attacked the moon. Thereafter a terrific war started between the two armies. Gradually the war took to a horrible form.

शस्त्रैरथान्योन्यमशेषसैन्यं द्वयोर्जगाम क्षयमुग्रतीक्ष्णैः॥४२॥

All the living being were being killed in the same, and the weapons were shining like the fire. Thus both the armies started vanishing with the use of terrific weapons, on both the sides.

At that point of time such shining types of weapons were being showered which could reduce to ashes the heaven, earth and the nether world. Finding this, Śiva shot Brahmaśīrṣa arrow. The moon also in reply to this used the infallible Somāstra.

तयोर्निपातेन समुद्रभूम्यो-

With the mutual striking of both the weapons, the ocean, earth and the sky shook with terror. Finding that both the weapons were causing destruction to the universe, Brahmā, together with the other gods, entered the weapons and some how made them infructuous.

Then Brahmā and other gods spoke to the moon, “O Soma, why did you do this without any reason? This is the destroyer of the people. Because you had indulged into such a terrific war after usurping the wife of other person, therefore, you inspite of being a peaceful planet, will become a planet of malignant aspect at the end of the bright fortnight. You should hand over the wife of Bṛhaspati to us. In case the usurped riches are returned to the owner, one does not earn any disgrace.

Sūta said, “O Ṛṣis, then the moon said, “Be it so.” Thus the moon accepted the command of Brahmā and becoming peaceful, he retreated from the battlefield. Bṛhaspati, on the other hand after receiving his wife back, returned to his abode delightfully with Śiva.

Birth of Budha from the womb of Tārā, the story of Urvaśī and Purūravā and that of Yayāti Sūta said, “O Ṛṣis, then after the lapse of a year, Tārā gave birth to a son. He was illustrious like the twelve Ādityas, was clad in yellow lower garment and adorned with all the divine ornaments. He possessed the lustre of the moon.

सूत उवाच

He was well-versed in the artha-śāstra, having enormous intelligence, and he knew fully well the science of medicines for the elephants.

The said Śāstra is known by the name of Rājaputrīya. The treatment of the elephants has been exhaustively explained therein. Because of his being the son of the moon, the prince was known as Rājaputra or Budha.

The valorous prince, soon after his birth, over-powered all the powerful things. During the name giving ceremony of the child, all divine sages and the gods assembled in the house of Bṛhaspati.

At the time of the birth ceremony, Candramā (moon), accepted the son and gave him the name of Budha. Thereafter the omniscient Brahmā together with the Brahmarṣis, asked Tārā repeatedly from whom the baby was born? Hearing this she held her face in shyness, and after a long silence bashfully declared that the child was from moon. The moon accepted this, crowned him as the king on earth and made him the foremost of all comparable with the planets.

Brahmā then disappeared in full view of all those present there. The same Budha, produced a noble son from the womb of Ilā who came to be known by the name of Purūravā.

अश्वमेधशतं साग्रमकरोद्यः स्वतेजसा।

He was respected by all the people and because of his strength, he performed more than a hundred Aśvamedha sacrifices.

The said king Purūravā, performed tapas for Viṣṇu at a charming place in the mountain Himālaya and acquired all the fortunes of the world and he then became the lord of the seven islands.

He destroyed Keśī and other crores of Daityas, because of his prowess. Urvaśī— the divine Apsarā, fell for the beauty of Purūravā and accepted him as her husband.

Then Purūravā, who had the desire of welfare of all the universe, ruled religiously on all the mountains, forests, orchards and the seven continents.

The glory always served him like a chowrī-bearer. By the grace of lord Viṣṇu, Indra had offered half of his throne to the king Purūravā.

Purūravā followed dharma, artha and kāma with a religious mind. In earlier times, dharma, artha and kāma went to the king in a personified form in order to test his equal treatment for all.

They were desirous of peeping into the conduct of the king. The king offered them arghya and pādyā etc. appropriately.

Then three golden seats studded with gems were brought and they were made to occupy the same and were adored at the same time. Thereafter he adored dharma a little more, which enraged artha and kāma. Then artha pronounced a curse on the king, “You will get destroyed because of greed.”

कामोऽप्याह तवोन्मादो भविता गन्धमादने।

Then Kāma said, “O King, because of the separation from Urvaśī, you will lose the balance of mind over the Gandamādana mountain.

Dharma said, “O king, you shall have a long life remaining immensely devoted to dharma. Your generations shall achieve old age by several means. Till the sun, the moon and the star shine in the world, your generations shall never get destroyed.” Thus speaking all of them disappeared and the king started ruling the country.

Purūravā, the king of kings, used to visit Amarāvati to meet Indra. Once he, mounted over the chariot of the sun, was roaming in the southern region of the sky. Suddenly he spotted the apsarās named Urvaśī and Citralekhā being forcibly carried by the demon Keśī, through the sky way.

The Budha's son Purūravā, desirous of glory, holder of various weapons, used the wind-arrow in the battlefield and defeated Keśī, the lord of the Dānavas, who had defeated even Indra in the battlefield. The king then carried Urvaśī and handed her over to Indra. As a result of this, he developed the height of friendship with the gods.

Since that time, Indra also became friendly with the king Purūravā, Indra then bestowed on Purūravā, supremacy of all the lokas, enormous strength, prowess, glory and fortunes, besides the riches.

At the same time, Indra, made sage Bharata to recite the glory of the king. Urvaśī, because of her love for the king used to sing the glory of the king lovingly.

Once the play of Lakṣmī-svayaṁvara as composed by the sage Bharata, was enacted. In that performance, Indra desired Menakā, Urvaśī and Rambhā to dance. Out of them Urvaśī taking to the form of Lakṣmī was dancing rhythmically. At the time of dancing, spotting Purūravā there, she was overpowered with passion, losing the balance of mind at the same time. As a result of this, she forgot all the process of dancing as had been taught by the sage Bharata earlier. This enraged the sage Bharata, who in anger pronounced a curse, “you will be born on earth in a subtle form of a creeper, while Purūravā shall wander there as a piśāca (goblin).

Thereafter Urvaśī, went to Purūravā and accepted him as her husband for long. After she was relieved of the curse of the sage Bharata, Urvaśī, in union with Purūravā— the son of Budha, gave birth to eight sons, who were known by the names of Āyu, Dṛḍhāyu, Āśvāyu, Dhanāyu, Dhṛtimān, Vasu, Śucividya and Śatāyu. All of them possessed the divine strength. Out of them Āyu had five sons known as Nahuṣa, Vṛddhaśarma, Raji, Dambha and Vipāpmā, Raji had a hundred sons who came to be known as Rājeyas.

रजिराराधयामास नारायणमकल्मषम्।

तपसा तोषिता विष्णुर्वरान्नादान्महीपतेः॥३६॥

Raji on the other hand, being sinless, adored lord Viṣṇu. Lord Viṣṇu, getting pleased with his tapas, bestowed several boons on Raji, as a result of which he conquered all the gods, asuras as well as the humans.

ततो देवासुरैः पृष्टः प्राह देवश्चतुर्मुखः॥३८॥

Thereafter a great war started between Prahlāda and Indra, which continued for three hundred years, but neither of them could be victorious. Then all the gods went to Brahmā and asked him, “Who shall be victorious of the two?” On hearing this, Brahmā said, “To whomsoever the king Raji joins he shall be victorious.” The Daityas then went to the king Raji and requested him for their victory.

अनयोर्विजयी कः स्याद्रजिर्यत्रेति सोऽब्रवीत्।

जयाय प्रार्थितो राजा सहायस्त्वं भवस्व नः॥३९॥

Listening to their request the king Raji said, “I can help you in case I become your lord and not otherwise.”

स्वामी भव त्वमस्माकं सङ्ग्रामे नाशय द्विषः।

ततो विनाशिताः सर्वे येऽवध्या वज्रपाणिना॥४१॥

But the asuras did not agree to this proposal. The gods on the other hand accepted the condition and said, “O King, you be our lord and destroy the enemies in the battle.” Thereafter the king Raji, killed all the asuras who were infallible by Indra.

पुत्रत्वमगमत्पुष्टस्तस्येन्द्रः कर्मणा विभुः।

दत्त्वेन्द्राय तदा राज्यं जगाम तपसे रजिः॥४२॥

Having been pleased with his prowess, Indra— the lord of gods, became the son of the king. Then the king Raji, handing over the kingdom to Indra, proceeded on to the forest for performing of tapas.

रजिपुत्रैस्तदाच्छिन्नं बलादिन्द्रस्य वैभवम्।

यज्ञभागं च राज्यं च तपोबलगुणान्वितैः॥४३॥

Thereafter on the strength of their tapas the sons of Raji, forcibly usurped the fortunes and the path of yajña from Indra.

राज्यभ्रष्टस्तदा शक्रो रजिपुत्रैर्निपीडितः।

ततो बृहस्पतिः शक्रमकरोद्बलदर्पितम्।

Thus Indra having been so humiliated by the sons of Raji and having been thrown from the kingship of heaven, went to Brhaspati and spoke to him, “O Great preceptor, I have been tortured by the sons of Raji. I have been deprived of my share in the yajña and my entire kingdom has also been usurped by them, therefore O Brhaspati, you kindly make some effort for the restoration of my kingdom to me.” Brhaspati then restored his grandeur as well as the strength to Indra by means of pleasing of the planets and by Paustika karmas.

Then he went to the sons of Raji and cast illusion on them. Then Brhaspati who was well-versed in the Vedas, taking refuge in Jina dharma, made them fall from the Vedic dharma. Thereafter Indra, declaring them atheists and having been disowned by the Vedic-dharma, killed them with the use of Vajra. Thus the sons of Raji were killed.

यतिर्ययातिः संयातिरुद्धवः पाचिरेव च।

शर्यातिर्मघजातिश्च सप्तैते वंशवर्धनाः॥५०॥

Now I shall narrate the story of the seven noble sons of Nahuṣ who were known by the names of Yati, Yayāti, Samyati, Udbhava, Paci, Śaryāti and Meghajāti. The race expanded with all the seven of them.

यतिः कुमारभावेऽपि योगी वैखानसोऽभवत्।

Yati— the eldest of all, when he was still a boy took to a yogī¹ taking to the form of Vaikhanasa. Then the second son Yayāti taking refuge under the dharma took up the reins of the kingdom. At that point of time Śarmiṣṭhā, the daughter of Dānava king Vṛṣaparvā and Devayānī, the daughter of Śukrācārya, were married to the king Yayāti.

Five sons were born to them. From these two queens, Devayānī gave birth to Yadu and Turvasu, while Śarmiṣṭhā gave birth to Druhyu, Anu and Puru.² Both of them expanded the race.

Yayāti the son of Nahuṣa, was truthful, valorous and invincible. He ruled the earth with a religious mind and performed several yajñas appropriately. He also adorned the gods and the Pitṛs with full devotion, ruling all the earth.

स शाश्वतोः समा राजा प्रजा धर्मेण पालयन्।

जरामार्च्छन्महाघोरां नाहुषो रूपनाशिनीम्॥५७॥

In this way Yayāti, the son of Nahuṣ, ruled the country with the religious mind. In the meantime he reached the terrific old age, which deformed the body.

After having been overpowered with old age, the king Yayāti called for his sons and spoke to them, “Though with the passage of the youthful age my desires have also vanished, but I have a desire to relieve with the young damsels, regaining the youthful age. You should help me in this regard.”

तं पुत्रो देवयानेयः पूर्वजो यदुब्रवीत्।

साहाय्यं भवतः कार्यमस्माभिर्यौवनेन किम्॥६०॥

On hearing this Yadu, the elder son of Devayānī said, “What type of help have we to render to you with our youthful age.”

यजतो दीर्घसत्रैर्मे शापाच्चोशनसो मुनेः।

कामार्थः परिहीनो मेऽतृप्तोऽहं तेन पुत्रकाः॥६२॥

Then Yayāti said to his sons, “You can take my old age and then I shall enjoy the worldly pleasures with your youthful age. With the performing of the long time yajñas and with the curse of Śukrācārya, my kāma and artha have been destroyed, therefore I cannot enjoy them.

जरां मा देहि नवया तन्वा मे यौवनात्सुखी॥६५॥

Therefore if any one of you can accept my old age in exchange for the youthful age, and with the achieving of the youthfulness, I shall enjoy all the worldly pleasures.” But when Yadu and other sons refused to oblige the father and refused to accept the old age, then the Royal sage cursed them. This is what has been heard by us. Thereafter Puru—the truthful one, who happened to be the youngest of all, said to the king, “O Father you give away your old age to me and in exchange you have my youthful age for the enjoyment of all the worldly pleasures.

अहं जरां तवाऽऽदाय राज्ये स्थास्यामि चाऽऽज्ञया।

संस्थापयामास जरां तदा पुत्रे महात्मनि।
पौरवेणाथ वयसा राजा यौवनमास्थितः॥६७॥

I accepting your old age, shall conduct myself according to your command shall take care of your kingdom.” At these words of Puru, Yayāti—the royal sage, with the use of his tapas established his own old age in the body of his young son Puru and he himself became young with the young age of his son.

ययातेश्चाथ वयसा राज्यं पूरुकारयत्।

अतृप्त इव कामानां पूरुं पुत्रमुवाच ह।
त्वया दायादवानस्मि त्वं मे वंशकरः सुतः॥६९॥

Then Puru attaining the old age of his father started ruling the country. Thus even after the passing of a thousand years, Yayāti remained dissatisfied with enjoyment of the worldly pleasures. Then he said to his son Puru, “I claim to have a son because of you and you are my real son. From today onwards, this dynasty shall be known as Puru dynasty.”

Thereafter, Yayāti, the lion among the rulers, crowning Puru as the king, got himself detached and after the lapse of a lot of time met with his end. Now I am going to describe the dynasty in which the Bharata-varṇśa expanded. I am now going to describe about the Puru-varṇśa. All of you should listen with a concentrated mind.

Rṣis said, “O Sūta, how could the Puru dynasty, achieve excellence, inspite of Puru being the youngest of all the brothers? How could the race of Yadu be deprived of grace inspite of his being the eldest of the brothers? You kindly explain the story of Yayāti in considerable details, because it happens to be quite auspicious, enhances age and is praised by the gods.

Śatānīka asked, O Tapodhana, our ancestor, the king Yayāti, was born in the tenth generation of Prajāpatis. How could he get Devayānī, the unique daughter of Śukrācārya as his wife? I would like to listen to this story exhaustively. You tell me the story of each one of the kings of the Puruṣa, individually.

Śaunaka said, “O Great king, Yayāti the royal ascetic, was as illustrious as Indra. In earlier times, Śukrācārya and Vṛṣaparvā had given their daughters in marriage to Yayāti. I shall relate the relevant story at your instance. Simultaneously I shall also narrate about the union of Yayāti and Devayānī.

Once for the possessing of the fortunes of the three worlds, there had been a great war between the gods and the asuras. For the purpose of achieving victory in the war, the gods established Brhaspati, the son of Angira as the priest, while the Daityas appointed Śukrācārya as the priest.

Both the Brāhmaṇas had great conflict between themselves. Whoever demons arrived in the war were killed by the gods, but Śukrācārya with the use of Sañjīvanī-lore, brought the demons back to life. They then again getting up started fighting with the gods. But the gods who were killed in the war, could not be brought back to life by Brhaspati.

न हि वेद स तां विद्यां यां काव्यो वेद वीर्यवान्।

It was due to the fact that Śukrācārya knew the powerful Sañjīvanī lore, which was unknown to Brhaspati. Because of this the gods felt immensely disturbed.

The gods getting terrified from Śukrācārya, felt exceedingly anxious. Then they went to Kaca—the elder son of Brhaspati and said, “Śukrācārya possesses Sañjīvanī-lore, which is unknown to Bṛhaspati. As a result of this, the gods have suffered. You own us. We take refuge in you. By doing so you would be able the share of yajña from the gods. You own us and help us.” Śukrācārya— the immensely illustrious one possesses Mṛtasañjīvanī lore. You must learn it quickly. You can meet Śukrācārya in the vicinity of the demon king Vṛṣaparvā.

By pleasing Devayānī by your humility, broad-mindedness, sweet temperament, noble conduct and controlling of the sense organs, you can please Devayānī and by doing so, you will surely learn the Sañjīvanī lore.

He said, “All right.” Kaca, the son of Bṛhaspati, having been honoured by the gods, went to Vṛṣaparvā. Thus Kaca who had been deputed by the gods, went to the city of Vṛṣaparvā— the king of Dānavas and met Śukrācārya offering salutation to him, he said, “O Lord, I am the grand son of Aṅgira— the great sage and am the son of Bṛhaspati. I am known by the name of Kaca. You kindly accept me as your disciple.

Śaunaka said, “Kaca then said, “All right.” Then at the command of the immensely illustrious Śukrācārya, the son of Kavi, Kaca, took to Brahmacarya-vrata. Kaca was thus owned by Śukrācārya since he had embraced vrata for a fixed period. Then Kaca, started adoring Śukrācārya and his daughter Devayānī regularly. He was a youthful boy and pleased Devayānī, by singing and dancing.

Devayānī, the daughter of the ācārya also had entered the youthful age. Kaca used to bring the flowers and fruits for her, and acted as per her command. He always pleased her. Devayānī too, kept regular company of Kaca who observed the Brahmacarya-vrata singing, dancing and joking. She also served him in seclusion.

Thus living there, observing the vrata of Brahmacarya, Kaca spent five hundred years. Then the Dānavas came to know of the reality. Therefore, they finding that Kaca was in the forest grazing the cows alone, because of their jealousy with Brhaspati, and for the protection of the Sañjīvanī lore, the Dānavas having been filled with anger killed Kaca. After killing him his body was cut into pieces and they threw them before the jackals. On that particular day the cows returned to their abodes without the cowherd.

When Devayānī found the cows returning from the forest without their protector Kaca, then she atonce informed her father—Śukrācārya, “O Lord, you have performed the Agnihotra, and the sun is also going to set, the cows have today returned without their protector. O Dear one, but Kaca is no where to be seen. O Father, Kaca has surely either been Śukrācārya said, “Don't worry my daughter, I shall call back the dead Kaca saying, “Come here, Come here. Thus calling him I shall bring him back to life.” Thus speaking Śukrācārya, making use of the Sañjīvanī lore, called Kaca. Then at the call of the preceptor, Kaca—the son of Sarasvatī, ran from a distance and coming close to Śukrācārya, offered his salutation to the sage and said, “O Preceptor, the Dānavas had killed me.” Again once Devayānī sent Kaca to fetch flowers from the forest. Then Kaca—the Brāhmaṇa, reciting the Vedic hymns, went to the forest. The Dānavas spotted Kaca, collecting flowers from the forest. The asuras then killed him the second time and burnt his body in the fire. Then they made the powder of his dead body and mixing up that powder in the wine, made Śukrācārya to drink the same.

Śaunaka said, "O Śātānīka, at these words of Devayānī, Śukrācārya, who had been grieved because of her grief, called for Kaca and then getting enraged with the Daityas, he said, "There is not the slightest doubt that the demons are jealous of me. This is the reason that they kill my disciple, who has arrived here and has taken refuge with me. These Daityas with terrific temperament intend to make me fall from brahmanhood. This is the reason that they are acting against me daily. The result of this sin will surely appear. Who cannot be burnt by Brahmahatyās irrespective of his being Indra or any one else?"

O Kaca, when the demons killed you repeatedly, the love I had for you since that time, should be remembered by you. You have already witnessed my goodwill, my attachment for you, the excellent devotion for you. You are well-versed in dharma as well. Devayānī said, “O Father, it is immaterial, whether I get redeemed of my deeds or not, but you kindly listen to my words attentively. Are the words spoken by Śarmiṣṭhā, true? She had told me that I sing the glory of the Daityas like the bards. The loving daughter of Vṛṣaparvā, with her eyes red in anger, had spoken very harsh and sharp words. She had said, “O Devayānī, you are the daughter of a bard who sing praise for others, who is a beggar and receive charities, while I happen to be the daughter of the king who is eulogised by your father. My father gives charities without expecting anything in exchange.” This is what Śarmiṣṭhā, the daughter of Vṛṣaparvā has spoken to me. Her eyes were red, when she was so speaking in anger. She had been filled with pride. In case I am really the daughter of a bard or the one who is a receiver of the charities, then I shall please Śarmiṣṭhā by serving her. I had told this to my maid. (At these words thus spoken by me, Śarmiṣṭhā getting enraged, caught hold of me and pushed me into the well in the lonely forest. Thereafter she returned home).

Śukrācārya said, “O Devayānī, you are certainly not the daughter of a bard or a beggar or the receiver of the charities. You are the daughter of such an auspicious Brāhmaṇa, who does not praise anyone, but to the contrary is praised by everyone. This fact is well known to Vṛṣaparvā, Indra— the lord of gods, as well as the king Yayāti. The unparallel and unthinkable Brahmanhood only is my strength and the fortunes.

History of Yayāti and dialogue between Devayānī and Śukra

शुक्र उवाच

यः समुत्पतितं क्रोधमक्रोधेन नियच्छति।

देवयानि विजानीहि तेन सर्वमिदं जितम्॥३॥

Śukrācārya said, “O Devayānī, my daughter, you take it for granted from me that a person, who listening to the harsh words from others, ignores them, he appears like having conquered the entire universe. The one who controls the height of anger like the forceful horse, he is treated to be the true charioteer by the noble people and not the one who hangs on holding the reins. O Devayānī, the one who subsides his anger with forgiveness, you take it from me, that he resembles the one who has conquered the universe.

यः समुत्पतितं कोपं क्षमयैव निरस्यति।

यथोरगस्त्वचं जीर्णं स वै पुरुष उच्यते॥४॥

As the serpent discards its old skin, similarly a person who overpowers the height of anger with forgiveness, he is indeed treated to be the best of the persons.

यस्तु भावयते धर्मं योऽतिगात्रं तितिक्षति।

यश्च तप्तो न तपति भृशं सोऽर्थस्य भाजनम्॥५॥

The one who follows dharma with devotion, and bears the worst denouncement and does not feel painful when tortured by others, he is the abode of all the virtues.

यो यजेदश्वमेधेन मासि मासि शतं समाः।

ये कुमारः कुमार्यश्च वैरं कुर्युरचेतसः।

नैतत्प्राज्ञस्तु कुर्वीत विदुस्ते न बलाबलम्॥७॥

A person who performs Aśvamedha-sacrifices in every month for a hundred years, and the one who does not show his anger on others, of these two, the one who never becomes angry is indeed the better. The innocent boy and girls become envious of others because of ignorance, they should not be followed by the people with wisdom, because the innocent children are unaware of the strength of others.

Devayānī said, “O Father, though I am a small girl, but still the difference between dharma and adharma is well known to me. The strength of forgiveness and denouncement is also well known to me. But a person, who being a disciple, does not behave properly like a disciple, then the preceptor, desirous of his welfare should not forgive him for his misdeed. Therefore I do not like to live among the Dānavas who are mean in their out-look.

Those who denounce the conduct and race of others, the people desirous of their own welfare should not live with such people with evil thought. One should live among the people having excellent way of thinking, conduct or those praising the family of others. O Dear one, the terrific and evil words spoken by Śarmiṣṭhā, the daughter of Vṛṣaparvā, are churning my heart as a person desirous of igniting the fire, churns the fire sticks. I do not consider anything else worse than this in the three worlds. It is better to lay down one's life instead of praising the riches of others, himself being a pauper.

CHAPTER 29

Denouncement of Vṛṣaparvā by Śukrācārya and Śarmiṣṭhā becomes the slave girl of Devayānī

शौनक उवाच

ततः काव्यो भृगुश्रेष्ठः समन्युरुपगम्य ह।

Śaunaka said, “O Śatānīka, listening to the words of Devayānī, Śukrācārya, the excellent preceptor, having been filled with anger, went to Vṛṣaparvā, who was seated over the royal throne and started addressing him without thinking of anything.

नाधर्मश्चरितो राजन्सद्यः फलति गौरिवा।
शनैरावर्त्यमानस्तु मूलान्यपि निकृन्तति॥२॥
यदि नाऽऽत्मनि पुत्रेषु न चेत्पश्यति नष्टेषु।
पापमाचरितं कर्म त्रिवर्गमतिवर्तते॥३॥

O King, whatever evil is done on earth, one does not get its reward atonce. As the cow litres after getting served for sometime, or otherwise the seed sown on earth sprouts in the form of a plant and bears fruit after sometime, similarly the evil deed performed by a person, slowly destroys the roots. The evil effect of the riches earned by unfair means, is not visible openly, but it crossing over the future generations of sons and grandsons, overpowering them all, appears in the future generations.

Though the heavy food taken by a person causes no harm at once, but it does so after sometime, similarly the evil deed performed surely reveals its reward. O king, Kaca, the grandson of Āṅgirā is an auspicious Brāhmaṇa. He has been sinless by nature, is devoted to dharma and he was engaged in serving me living in my abode. But you got him killed four times. O Vṛṣaparvān, you listen to my words carefully. Initially you killed a Brāhmaṇa who was not at all fit to be killed. And now, my daughter has also been thrown in the well intending to kill her. Because of these two killings, I shall disown you together with your kins and relatives. O king, I shall not be able to stay on in your kingdom even for a moment. O Daitya king, it is today alone, that I have been able to well understand the Daityas like you embracing falsehood. Why are you neglecting the misdeeds of your daughter?

Śaunaka said, “O Śatānīka, the capital city of Yayāti was like Amarāvati, the capital of Indra. Reaching his city, Yayāti lodged her in his palace with her consent. He also built a palace in the Aśoka-vāṭikā for Śarmiṣṭhā, the daughter of Vṛṣaparvā, where she was lodged with her thousand companions. Devayānī has got a son, but I have reached the youthful age now, which is going waste. As Devayānī has made Yayāti her husband, I shall also do the same. The old age makes one totally fatigued. The entire body develops wrinkles and a person becomes so weak that no body wants to look at him. One does not have the strength to work in the old age. An old person is despised by the damsels as well as the servants who earn their livelihood from the same old man. Therefore I am not interested in embracing the old age.

Now I relate to you about nine sons of Brahmā. They all were void of their mother. Dakṣa Prajāpati was born from his right thumb, Dharma was born from the chest, Cupid was born from his heart, Krodha (anger) from the interval between the eyebrows and Lobha (greediness) from lower part of the body. Buddhi gave birth to Moha (delusion) and Mada (inebriety) was born out of Ahaṁkāra. Pramoda (pleasure) was originated from neck, and death from the eye. Bharata was born out of his palm. O King, these nine sons were born out of the body of Brahmā. The tenth issue of Brahmā happens to be a girl, who was known by the name of Aṅgajā.

Lord Matsya said, “O Royal priest, the three guṇas known as sattva, rajas and tamas are often mentioned. The presence of these three guṇas or attributes are in equipoise form of the Prakṛti. The same Prakṛti is known as Pradhāna, Avyakta and Māyā.² The same

1. The Vāyu describes the Rṣis of each Manvantara as the sons or in some cases the descendants in a direct line, of the seven sages, Atri, Angiras, Bhṛgu, Kaśyapa, Pulaha, Pulastya and Vasiṣṭha

2. Māyā has been defined as the inherent force residing in the Supreme Brahma which is essentially existent and which cannot be differentiated. As the consuming flame of fire imparts an idea of its force, so the potentiality of force present itself is plainly seen in the objective world. But this Māyā cannot be said to be one with Para-brahman, nor as something distinct, in the same way as the consuming force of a fire cannot be said to be the fire itself. Then again if you admit it as a separate entity you cannot by any means describe its separate existence. (Pañcadaśī, Book II. V. & 43.)

Māyā is described as a force and it is elsewhere defined as something indescribable, which is neither existence (sat) nor non-existence (asat) in short it is one with Ignorance, which again being the chief factor of the grand cosmos is the same as Prakṛti of Kapila.

Prakṛti is responsible for the creation of the universe and also for unmaking of it.

गुणेभ्यः क्षोभमाणेभ्यस्त्रयो देवा विजज्ञिरे।

एका मूर्तिस्त्रयो भागा ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः॥ १६॥

With the disturbance of these three guṇas the gods are born. The image of all the three gods is the same, but it turns into the forms of Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Maheśvara.

सविकारात्प्रधानात् महत्तत्त्वं प्रजायते।

महानिति यतः ख्यातिलोकानां जायते सदा॥ १७॥

Then with the deformation of Pradhāna or principal, emerges the *Mahat-tattva*¹ and he is called the supreme in the three worlds.

अहंकारश्च महतो जायते मानवर्द्धनः।

इन्द्रियाणि ततः पञ्च वक्ष्ये बुद्धिवशानि तु।

प्रादुर्भवन्ति चान्यानि तथा कर्मवशानि तु॥ १८॥

From, Mahat-tattva emerges the ahaṅkāra which is the cause of the increase of the pride. The said ahaṅkāra influences the ten sense organs.² Out of these ten sense organs, five are influenced by wisdom or knowledge while the other five are subservient to the karmas or deeds.

श्रोत्रं त्वक् चक्षुषी जिह्वा नासिका च यथाक्रमम्।

पायूपस्थं हस्तपादं वाक्चेतीन्द्रियसंग्रहः॥ १९॥

In the group of the sense organs, the ears, eyes, tongue and the nose are known as Jñānendriyas or the organs of knowledge. The organs like anus, liṅga, hands, feet and speech are the organs of karmas or action.

शब्दः स्पर्शश्च रूपं च रसो गन्धश्च पञ्चमः।

मन एकादशं तेषां कर्मबुद्धिगुणान्वितम्।

इन्द्रियावयवाः सूक्ष्मास्तस्य मूर्ति मनीषिणः॥ २१॥

The functions of all the ten organs of senses include sound, touch, beauty, taste, fragrance, discharge of refuse or urine, delight, receiving, moving and the singing etc. Besides these sense organs, the mind is another organ of the individual soul that lies enshrined in it. It is for this reason that the frame within which lies the asylum of individual soul is known by the name of the subtle body.

श्रयन्ति यस्मात्तन्मात्राः शरीरं तेन संस्पृतम्।

शरीरयोगाज्जीवोऽपि शरीरी गद्यते बुधैः॥ २२॥

The individual soul, by coming into contact with the atomic body are called tanmātras or the corporeal body. Because of its (jīva's) coming into contact with the body, it is also called Śarīrī or the one having the body.

आकाशविकृतेर्वायुः शब्दस्पर्शगुणोऽभवत्।

वायोश्च स्पर्शतन्मात्रात्तेजश्चाविरभूततः॥ २४॥

When the mind is forced by the desire to engage itself in creation, then it resorts to the creation of the universe. From the śabda-tanmātrā, emerges the sky having the qualities of sound which is brought into being, with the deformation of the sky, the wind is formed, having the qualities of sound and touch. Thereafter, with the touch of the wind with the subtle form of the matter, splendour is formed.

The wind on the other hand comprises of the sound, touch and form, (the three deformities) is called Triguṇātmaka. With this Triguṇātmaka coming in contact with the tejas, there emerges the water possessing the four guṇas, which

1. Intelligence otherwise called Mahat or Buddhi. This is the first production of nature and the intellectual principle.

2. Ahaṅkāra or the consciousness of ego or I am. This is produced by intellectual principle.

The great king used to enjoy all the worldly pleasures as per his enthusiasm, according to time and according to dharma.

देवान्तर्पयज्ञैः श्राद्धैरपि पितामहान्।

दीनाननुग्रहैरिष्टैः कामैश्च द्विजसत्तमान्॥४॥

He then pleased the gods with the performing of the yajñas, the Pitṛs, with the performing of the śrāddhas, pleased the beggars and the down trodden people by bestowing them their desired things. He also pleased Brāhmaṇas by fulfilling their desires.

The king was valorous like a youthful person and powerful like a lion; all the matters were under his control. He enjoyed the best of pleasures without neglecting dharma in any way.

With the enjoying of the auspicious pleasures, he initially felt satisfied and pleased, when he recalled that those pleasures were to be lost after a thousand years, then he felt painful. The valorous king who was well aware of Kālatattva, while calculating each one of the kālas and kāsthās, correctly kept in view the period of a thousand years. Realising that the prescribed period of a thousand years was over, then he went to his son and said, “O Son, destroyer of the enemies, with the use of your youthful age I have had all the pleasures, but the desire for the worldly pleasures does not subside by indulging in them, rather it gets inflamed like the pouring of the offering of ghī in fire.

It is also heard that the immensely valorous Yayāti, joining the kings named Vasumān, Aṣṭaka, Pratardana and Śibi— acting as the sages, went back to the heaven, because of the influence of these ascetics.

Yayāti—the son of Nahuṣa had crowned his son Puru as the king, lodging the other sons over the outskirts of his kingdom. Thereafter he gladly retired to the forest, where, he consuming fruits and roots, lived for a long time. There, he purifying his heart, overcoming the anger, performed oblation to the gods and the Pitṛs daily. He spent the period of Vānaprastha appropriately performing the homas daily.

Following the strict norms of the Vānaprastha age, he consumed the left overs of the yajñas. Before the performing of homa, he welcomed his guests offering them the fruits and roots of the forest. In this way he spent a thousand years. He, controlling the mind and the sense organs, lived for three years on water alone. Thereafter, he shedding away lethargy lived for a year on inhaling the air alone. Then for a year, he performed tapas burning five fires¹ around him. Thereafter for six months he stood on one leg inhaling air alone. Then the king Yayāti—the auspicious one, spreading his glory on earth as well as in the sky, proceeded on to the heaven.

The king having the noble soul, who had overcome his mind as well as the organs of senses, while moving from the heaven to the Brahmaloṇa, spent a long time, according to the tradition of the Purāṇas.

Once Yayāti—the excellent king went to Indra. At the end of the conversation, Indra put a question to the king Yayāti.

1. The five fires to which an ascetic who practices self mortification exposes himself, viz one fire towards each of the four quarters, and the sun overhead.

शक्र उवाच

Indra asked, "O King, after Puru, receiving the old age from you, started wandering on earth, in your form, you tell me truthfully, what did you advise him at that time?"

Yayāti said, "O Lord of gods, I crowned Puru as the king with the approval of the people and had advised him thus, "O Son, the entire region located between the Yamunā and the Gaṅgā shall be under your control. This region is the middle of the earth and you will be the king of the same, while your brothers will be the kings of the boundary regions." O Devendra, thereafter, I advised him then that the people should not be mean, wicked and angry. They should be free from wickedness, jealousies and enmity. They should never be disrespectful to their parents, intellects, ascetics, those who forgive others, besides the literary people. The powerful people always forgive others. A person devoid of power always gets enraged. The wicked person is envious of a noble person, while the weak person becomes envious of a strong man. An ugly man gets envious of a beautiful person, a poor is envious of the rich, the lethargic gets jealous of an active person and the irreligious person becomes envious of a religious person. Similarly a person devoid of virtues is envious of a virtuous person, O Indra, these are the symptoms of the age of Kali.

न हीनतः परमभ्याददीत।

ययाऽस्य वाचा पर उद्विजेत

न तां वदेदुशतीं पापलौल्याम्॥८॥

A person who does not become angry is better than the person who gets angry. Similarly a tolerable person is better than the intolerable one, of all the non-human creatures, human is better, while a person with wisdom is better than the foolish person. In case any one denounces or rebukes anyone, then the person so abused should not behave similarly. Because the one who tolerates the rebukes and abuses, the internal grief of the same person is reduced to ashes as against the one who abuses. At the same time, he usurps his merits. One should not hurt anyone in anger at the sensitive spot.

अरुन्तुदं पुरुषं तीव्रवाचं

सद्भिस्तया पृष्ठतो रक्षितः स्यात्।

सदा सतामतिवादांस्तितिक्षेत्

सतां वृत्तं पालयान्साधुवृतः॥१०॥

One should not speak harsh words against anyone and should not overpower the enemies by unfair means. The words which burn the heart or incite others, should not be spoken, because only the sinful people behaves like this. The one who is harsh by nature and hurts the sensitive spots of others, or speaks harshly or injures others with harsh words like the thorns, he should be treated a pauper. It is bad even to look at him, because he by speaking foul words carries a piśācinī in his mouth. One should conduct himself in such a way that the noble people besides praising him in his presence, praise him in his absence even.

वाक्सायका वदनान्निष्यतन्ति

यैराहतः शोचति वा त्रहानि।

परस्य नो मर्मसु ते पतन्ति

तान्यण्डितो नावसृजेत्परेषु॥११॥

One should ignore the evil words spoken by the wicked people and taking refuge of the noble conduct of the good people, one should follow the conduct of the noble people. The wicked people are in the habit of issuing arrows in the form of the evil words and a person getting injured with the same is engrossed in anxiety. Those arrows of the evil words hurt a person at the sensitive spots. Therefore a person with wisdom should not use similar type of language for others.

नास्तीदृशं संवननं त्रिषु लोकेषु किञ्चन।

यथा मैत्री न लोकेषु दानं च मधुरा च वाक्॥१२॥

तस्मात्सान्त्वं सदा वाच्यं न वाच्यं परुषं क्वचित्।

पूज्यान्संपूजयेद्दद्यान्नाभिशापं कदाचन॥१३॥

One should be friendly and compassionate towards the others, give away charities and should speak sweet language for all. There is no other better way than this to overpower others. Therefore one should not utter harsh words even. He should adore the respectable people. Give charities to others and should not himself ask for anything from anyone.

Yayāti said, “Sin is considered to be the destroyer of the merits. A person earns the hell with the same. This aspect could be witnessed among the indisciplined people. The excellent people do not follow the misconduct of the evil people. Even in earlier times the noble people followed the footsteps of the noble people alone. I possessed the enormous treasure of the auspicious merits, which has vanished by denouncing others. I cannot regain it even after making all the efforts. Realising my miserable position, the one who devotes himself for the welfare of self, he happens to be a person of wisdom as well as the patient one. There are several living beings of different temperaments in this world. All of them are subservient to the destiny. Therefore all his efforts for gaining of the riches etc. become infructuous. Therefore a person should realise that the destiny is more powerful than the wisdom. Keeping this in view one should remain unmoved in pleasure or the pain.

Thereafter I reached the further higher loka. Thereafter I reached a place which was beyond the reach of the Lokapālāss. It was a divine country which was inaccessible even for the Prajāpatis. The old age was no where to be seen there. I spent there a thousand years of Brahmā, the god of gods. I wandered there in different countries at will and was honoured by all the gods there. Then after the decline of my merits, I fell down from the Nandanavana. O Best of the kings, at that point of time, I heard the voice of the gods who grieved for me, in the space, “Alas! It is extremely painful that the king Yayāti, possessing the auspicious glory, is falling down as a result of the decline of his merits.” Then while falling down, I asked them, “What is the remedy for my falling among the noble people?” Then the gods informed me about your yajñabhūmi. I, looking towards it, then reached here. With the fragrance of haviṣya, as well as the smoke, I felt delighted, getting reassured at the same time.

With the union of a person with a woman at the time of conception, it merges with the semen and reaches the womb of the woman. Thereafter it is turned into a womb. The jīvas falling in the water enter the greenery, Oṣadhis (herbal plants), etc. Then entering the water, air, earth and the space they are reborn according to their karmas as animals, birds or the humans. Yayāti said, “O King, the noble people speak of the seven doors of the heaven, which serve as the entry points to it for the jīvas. These are defined as asceticism, charity, self-control, restraint, modesty, honesty and compassion on all the living beings. The sages also speak of the fact that even the ascetics are ruined by conceit and tamoguṇa. A student who thinks too much of his learning and makes use of his learnings to belittle others, loses his privilege of finding a place in the higher regions and that the wisdom bears no fruit for him. The performing of agnihotra, the keeping of the silence vrata, the acquisition of the knowledge and the performing of the sacrifice in spite of their being the good deeds, are marred by indulgence in drinks and conceit. It is worthy of a large-minded man, not to get elated on being praised by others and not to be angry at the denouncement by others. The people with high mind, worship the god and the wicked people never achieve the supreme knowledge in the world. The performing of charities or the study of the Vedas, in the prescribed manner, should be considered to be the best of all. The vices mentioned above should always be discarded, which would enable the learned people to achieve the vicinity of the Brahman through regular meditation culminating in attaining of the final beautifude.”

Aṣṭaka said, “O King, the people well-versed in the Vedas, consider many of the actions under the dharma as the excellent ones and the source of achieving of the best of the lokas. Therefore I ask you as to how a brahmacārī serving the ācārya, the householder, Vānaprasthī, engaged in noble path, or a recluse or a saṁnyāsī, can achieve the best of the lokas by following the dharma?”

Yayāti said, “It would be proper for a disciple that he should go to the preceptor at his command and study there. He should devote himself in the service of the preceptor, whenever he is asked to do so. He should go to bed in the night, after his preceptor does so. He should get up in the morning, earlier than the waking up of the preceptor. He (disciple) should be humble, control his sense organs, patient and alert, besides being studious. A brahmacārī who follows these rules always achieves success.

धर्मागतं प्राप्य धनं यजेत दद्यात्सदैवातिथीभोजयेच्च।
अनाददानश्च परैरदत्तं सैषा गृहस्थोपनिषत्पुराणी॥३॥

A householder should perform yajña with the wealth earned by him by lawful means and give away charities besides feeding the guests. He should not accept anything belonging to others unless they are specifically given to him. This is the ancient most form of the householder, besides being mysterious.

A Vānaprasthī sage should live in the forest, controlling his conduct and the food. He should lead his life on his own strength and efforts. He should keep himself aloof from sins. He should give charities to others and should trouble nobody. Such a sage achieves the best of siddhis and mokṣa.

He should not earn his livelihood by means of working as an artisan. He should possess the virtues like self control, suppressing all his passions, possessing the best of the virtues. He should always control his sense organs, keeping himself aloof from others. He should not sleep in the abode of a householder, he should not be dependant on others, and should keep himself light. He should walk bit by bit and should wander alone. Such a type of recluse can indeed be called a bhikṣu.

When the beauty, essence, and other worldly pleasures, appear to be of no consequence, or are controlled according to one's own desire and in case one feels comfortable by disowning them, at that very moment, a person with wisdom should try to become a forest dweller. A forest dweller sage, who meets with the end of his life in the forest, drives the ten previous and the ten following generations, including that of his own to the heaven.”

Yayāti said, "The muni who lives in the forest and does not use the things produced in the village, for such a Vānaprasthī muni the village is treated at the back. The one who has discarded the fire and the home, the one who has severed his link with the Vedas and gotra, the one who keeps silence, is desirous of only that much of cloth which is sufficient for covering the body and a laṅgoṭi, or he takes food just enough to maintain the body fit and alive, with this end in view the muni— the dweller of the village, the forest is considered to have been left behind. A muni who discarding all his desires, has already stopped performing the deeds, the one who controlling all the senses, maintains silence appropriately, such a type of saṅnyāsī achieves the best in the world.

धौतदन्तं कृत्तनखं सदा स्नातमलंकृतम्।

The muni's whose teeth are clean and auspicious, whose nails are clipped and the hair is shaven, who takes the bath daily, follows all the religious rules and regulations, whose complexion has become dark bearing heat and cold, whose conduct is the best, such a saṅnyāsī is adorable for all.

With the decline of the flesh, blood and the bones, because of the tapas and the body having become lean and thin, and the one who is unmindful of pleasure, pain, attachment or jealousy and is free from all the worldly struggles, has been practicing silence regularly, he after conquering the world also conquers the other world. When a saṅnyāsī or a muni takes food by mouth munching like the cow or a bull, without taking help of the hands, then he should taken to have conquered all the lokas. Such a person is considered to be competent to achieve mokṣa.

When a person donates a hundred beautiful horses, then he becomes the auspicious soul like the gods. I had given away this earth full of cereals, cows, gold and the best of wealth and riches to the Brāhmaṇas. Besides I gave away in charities innumerable cows, elephants and horses, the earth and the sky are stable because of the truth. Similarly the fire is ignited on earth because of truth. I have never indulged in useless talk, because the noble people always respect the truth. O Aṣṭaka, whatever has been told by me to you, Pratardana, Vasumān and Śibi, is all true. I have a firm belief that all the lokas, the sages and the gods are honoured because of the truth. Sūta said, "O Sages, now I am going to describe exhaustively about the varṇa of Yadu, who had been the eldest son of Yayāti. All of you should listen to it carefully.

यदोः पुत्रा बभूवुर्हि पञ्च देवसुतोपमाः।

Yadu had five sons, who resembled the divine princes, were illustrious, the great archers, as well as valorous.

They were known by the names of Sahasraji, the eldest, while the names of the remaining four were Kroṣṭu, Nīla, Antika and Laghu. Sahasraji had a son named Śatāji, Haihaya was born as son to Śatāji, besides two other sons named Haya and Veṇahaya. All the three of them were quite illustrious.

Haihaya had a world famous son named Dharmanetra. The son of Dharmanetra was known as Kunti, who had a son named Samhata.

Mahiṣmān was the son of the king Samhata. The glorious Rudraśreṇya was the illustrious son of Mahiṣmān who was the king of the city of Vārāṇasī. His story has already been narrated. Durdarma was the son of Rudraśreṇya.

The wise Kanaka was the son of Durdarma. Kanaka had four sons who were well known in the world. Their names were Kṛtavīrya, Kṛtāgni, Kṛtavarmā and Kṛtāṅga who was the fourth one. Out of them Arjuna was born of Kṛtavīrya.

He having a thousand arms, came to be known as Sahasrārjuna. He was the lord of all the seven islands. Sahasrārjuna, the son of Kṛtavīrya performed tapas for a thousands years for Dattātreya— the son of sage Atri. Getting pleased with him, Dattātreya bestowed four boons on him. Against the first boon, Arjuna sought a thousand arms for himself. Against the second boon, he desired to relieve the noble people of the influence of adharma. With the third boon, he desired to conquer the entire earth and rule it according to dharma. Against the four boon, he desired his death in the battlefield from some one who is stronger than him.

तेनेयं पृथिवी सर्वा सप्तद्वीपा सपर्वता।
 सप्तोदधिपरिक्षिप्ता क्षात्रेण विधिना जिता॥१८॥

With the influence of these boons, Kārtavīrya Arjuna, following the dharma of Kṣatriyas, conquered the earth surrounded by the seven islands and seven oceans, comprising of the mountains and trees.

जज्ञे बाहुसहस्रं वै इच्छतस्तस्य धीमतः।

The intelligent Kārtavīrya Arjuna developed a thousand arms at his desire. The chariots and the flags also appeared in the same way. This is what has been heard by us.

दश यज्ञसहस्राणि राज्ञां द्वीपेषु वै तदा।
 निरर्गलानि वृत्तानि श्रूयन्ते तस्य धीमतः॥२०॥

At the same time, it is also heard about Kārtavīrya Arjuna, that he performed ten thousand yajñas in quite a humble manner, in all the seven islands.

सर्वे यज्ञा महाराज्ञस्तस्याऽऽसम्भूरिदक्षिणाः।
 सर्वे काञ्चनयूपास्ते सर्वाः काञ्चनवेदिकाः॥२१॥

The great king gave enormous wealth as dakṣiṇā in these yajñas. The yūpa-pillars in those yajñas were made of gold. All the pedestals of the yajñas were also build of gold.

सर्वे देवैः समं प्राप्तैर्विमानस्थैरलंकृताः।
 गन्धर्वैरप्सरोग्भिश्च नित्यमेवोपशोभिताः॥२२॥

All the gods arrived in the yajñas for receiving their respective shares, on the planes. The Gandharvas and Apsāras also graced the occasions with their dances.

Observing the glory of Rājārṣi Kārtavīrya, a Gandharva named Nārada, sung a story in the yajña. There was no other Kṣatriya king who could be compared with him in the performance of sacrifices, in giving alms, in practicing of ascicism, in progress and in the learning of the scriptures. The king Arjuna always travelled about his extensive country and punished the thieves and the wicked with his sword bow and the arrows.

पञ्चाशीतिसहस्राणि वर्षाणां स नराधिपः।

The king Arjuna ruled the country for eighty five thousand years, possessing all the gems and remained the Cakravartī emperor.

The emperor Arjuna was the king of animals, because of his own strength, was protector of the fields and he dropped rain timely turning himself into the form of clouds. With the strikes of the stringing of the bow his skin had become quite hard and he appeared with his thousand arms in the same way as the sun appears graceful with his thousand rays.

Arjuna, who was immensely graceful among the humans, had conquered Karkotaka and had made him captive in the city of Māhiṣmatī.

The king Arjuna, during the rainy season, facing the flow of water used to enjoy the sports comfortably. When engaged in water sports with the ladies, in the river, Narmadā shook with fear at his sight and becoming highly astonished, herself surrendered to him. He alone with his thousand arms, swelled it by pushing the oceanic water into it and increased it, as it increases in monsoon. The ocean having been thus agitated with his thousand arms was subdued by him and he extended his sea power so that the dwellers of Pātāla got inoffensive and peaceful.

He with his thousand arms churned the great ocean and in that process the small and big fish which were caught in the water waves were pounded and the foam that emerged out of the ocean made the whirlpools unbearable.

At the same time, having been surprised with churning of the ocean in earlier times, getting apprehensive of the emerging of the nectar from the ocean, the hoods of the Nāgas became static as the wind becomes static in the evening making the banana leaves to be motionless. Similarly, Arjuna, once, repeatedly going to Laṅkā confused Rāvaṇa with the shooting of the five arrows. He overpowered him forcibly and bound him with the string of his bow. Making him captive he brought him in the city of Māhiṣmatī. On hearing this the sage Pulastya, reaching the city of Māhiṣmatī pleased Arjuna in various ways. Then Arjuna, at the assurance of Pulastya released Rāvaṇa— the grand son of Pulastya. With the stringing of his bow with a thousand arms, such a terrific sound was created by him which was like the thunder of the thousands of the clouds at the time of dissolution. But his moves of the destiny are quite graceful, that Paraśurāma, born in the race of Bhṛgu, cut off all his arms like the creepers, and shattered them. The reason for this is that the sage Vasiṣṭha had once pronounced a curse on him saying, “O Descendent of Haihaya, since you have reduced to ashes my favourite forest, therefore someone else would bestow the reward on you for this misdeed. A valorous Brāhmaṇa of the Bhṛgu race, being an ascetic will cut off a thousand of your arms and then shall severe your head.”

O King, Śasrārjuna had a hundred sons, but five of them were quite powerful. Besides them, his sons known as Sūrasena, Sūra, Dhṛṣṭa, Kroṣṭu, Jayadhvaja, Vaikarta and Avanti were quite valorous and well-versed in the archery, besides being strong, devoted to dharma, and immensely valorous. Tālajaṅgha was the son of Jayadhvaja, who had a hundred sons. The race of Haihayas was divided in five parts and were known by the names of Vītihoṭra, Śaryāta, Bhoja, Avanti and Kuṇḍikera. They were also known by the name Tālajaṅghā. The glorious son of Vītihoṭra, became the ruler of Avarta-Gujarāta. His grandson was invincible who was the destroyer of the enemies. The immensely intelligent, Sahaśrārjuna looked after the people with a religious mind. He had conquered the earth upto the ocean with the strength of His bow. A person who getting up early in the morning recites his names, he does not have to face decline in the riches and in case it is already lost it is restored. The person who narrates the story of the birth of Kārtavīrya, his soul gets purified and is praised in the heaven.

Sūta said, "O Ṛṣis, thereafter, Sūrya gave away the arrow to Kārtavīrya Arjuna. Then Arjuna burnt out all the trees, villages, āśramas, towns, cities, tapovanas, charming forests and the orchards, reducing them to ashes. Arjuna, thus after burning out the eastern region also burnt out the southern region. With the terrific lustre, the earth was deprived of even the grass, getting completely destroyed. At the same time the great sage Apava had been performing tapas seated in the water for a thousand years."

O Ṛṣis, now you listen to the prowess of the Rājarṣi Kroṣṭu and his Vamśa, who was full of strength. It is the same varṇśa in which lord Viṣṇu in the form of Kṛṣṇa, the gem of the Vṛṣṇi-varṇśa was born. Vṛjinīvān was the son of Kroṣṭu.

वृजिनीवतश्च पुत्रोऽभूत्स्वाहो नाम महाबलः।

Vṛjinīvān, had a son named Svāhā, who was quite valorous. Svāhā had a son, named Rṣaṅgu who was the best of orators.

Rṣaṅgu, with the desire of getting a son of noble character (performed the tapas). Because of his noble deeds, he got a son named Citraratha. Śaśabindu was the valorous son born to Citraratha, who in due course of time became a Cakravartī king. He gave away enough of dakṣiṇā in the yajñas.

अत्रानुवंशश्लोकोऽयं गीतस्तस्मिन्पुराऽभवत्।

शशबिन्दोस्तु पुत्राणां शतानामभवच्छतम्॥१९॥

In earlier times, a verse was being quoted about the dynastic traditions of Śaśabindu, that Śaśabindu had a hundred sons.

धीमतां चाभिरूपाणां भूरिद्रविणतेजसाम्।

तेषां शतप्रधानानां पृथुसाह्व महाबलाः॥२०॥

पृथुश्रवाः पृथुयशाः पृथुधर्मा पृथुजयः।

पृथुकीर्तिः पृथुमना राजानः शशबिन्दवः॥२१॥

Each one of those hundred sons of Śaśabindu again had a hundred sons each. All of them had enough of wealth, the lustre, beautify and possessed enormous wisdom, six of his sons had the term of Pṛthu, added to their names. Their names are like this— Pṛthuśravā, Pṛthuyaśa, Pṛthudharma, Pṛthujaya, Pṛthukīrti and Pṛthumanā. All of them were born in the race of Śaśabindu.

These were the kings born in the race of Śaśabindu. The people of wisdom, well-versed in the Purāṇas, praised Pṛthuśravā, who was the eldest of all. Suyajña was the son of Pṛthuśravā, who performed the yajñas quite properly. Uṣanā was the son of Suyajña who was extremely religious. He protecting the earth, performed a hundred Aśvamedha sacrifices.

Titikṣā was the son of Uṣanā, who tortured his enemies. Marut who was the best of Rājārṣis, was the son of Titakṣā. The valorous son of Marut was known as Kambala-barhiṣ. Kambala-barhiṣ had a son who was the intelligent king Rukmakavaca. Rukmakavaca, had with the shooting of his arrows, killed the powerful enemies and conquered their lands.

Rukmakavaca, the great king had performed once an Aśvamedha sacrifice and had given enormous dakṣiṇā to the Brāhmaṇas.

The king Rukmakavaca had five sons, named Rukmeṣu, Pṛthurukma, Jyāmagha, Parigha and Hari. They were extremely valorous and great archers. The father Rukmakavaca crowned Parigha and Hari as the kings of Videha-kṣetra. Rukmeṣu was the chief king while Pṛthurukma was subservient to him. All of them drove out Jyāmagha from the country. The Brāhmaṇas, who had collected there, were pacified and he embraced the position of a vānaprasthī. After sometime, he, at the education of a Brāhmaṇa, mounted a chariot with a fluttering flag, and holding the bow and arrows in his hand, moved towards another country. He reached the bank of Narmadā for the purpose of earning his livelihood. Then he went to the Śatapurā mountain range and started living there. The chaste wife of Jyāmagha, named Chaitrā, had reached the middle age and she could not produce a son.

Thus though the king Jyāmagha had no son, but still he did not marry another damsel. Once the king Jyāmagha became victorious in a battle, where he received a girl of marriageable age. He brought her and handing her over to his wife, said to her, "She is not my daughter, but is your daughter-in-law." At these words of the king she asked, "Whose daughter-in-law is this?"

At this the king said, "She would be the wife of the son that would be born to you. (Finding this the girl started performing tapas). Thereafter as a result of the tapas of the girl, Caitrā conceived, inspite of her being quite old. She then gave birth to a son named Vidarbha. The intelligent Vidarbha then produced three noble sons from that girl, who were known as Kratha, Kaiśika and Lomapāda. Jñāti was the son of Manu. Cidi was the son of Kauśika and the kings born to him were known as Caidyas. Kratha the son of Vidarbha got a son named Kuntī. Dhṛṣṭa was the son of Kuntī, who was quite glorious and well-versed in warfare. Nirvṛtti was the son of Dhṛṣṭa who was quite noble and was the destroyer of the enemy warriors. Nirvṛtti had a son named Vidūratha, while Vidūratha had a son named Daśāhi. Vyoma was the son of Daśāhi. Vyoma's son was known as Jīmūta.

Devarāta had an immensely glorious son named Devakṣetra. Devakṣetra had a son named Madhu who had the lustre like the divine prince. Puravasā was the son of Madhu. Purudvān was the son of Puravasā, with the union with Purudvān, the Vidarbha princess gave birth to a son named Jantu. The name of the wife of Jantu was Aikṣvākī who gave birth to a son named Sāttvata who expanded the race. Thus on hearing the family tradition of the noble Jyāmagha, a person achieves a son and ultimately he achieves the sāyujya of Soma. O King, Kauśalyā was the wife of Sāttvata, she in union with Sāttvata, gave birth to the valorous sons named Bhaji, Bhajamān, Divyavṛdha, Andhaka, the divine king, Mahābhoja and Vṛṣṇi, who delighted the race of Yadus. Now I shall speak out their story exhaustively, which you please listen.

Sṛñjaya had two daughters named Sṛñjayī and Vāhyaka, who were wedded to Bhajamān. A son known as Vāhyaka was born to them. Besides these, both the sisters gave birth to several other sons known by the names of Nimi, Kṛmila and Vṛṣṇi, who could conquer the towns of the enemies. All of them were born in union of Bhajamān and Sṛñjayī and Vāhyaka's wombs.

Thereafter the king Devavṛdha was born, who was immensely friendly with his kins. But the king Devavṛdha had no son at all. He performed severe tapas for begetting a virtuous son.

He embracing the mantra entered the water of the river Parṇāśā. Because of the touch of the water by the king, the river Parṇāśā started doing good to him.

The best of the river was then upset for doing good to the king. Ultimately she come to the conclusion that she was unable to find a second woman like her who could give birth of a son desired by the king. Therefore she thought, "I shall myself today take to thousand forms."

Thereafter, Parnāsā, taking to the extremely beautiful form, appeared as a maiden, informed the king who accepted her as his wife. Thereafter Parnāsā, the excellent among the rivers in union with the king Devavṛdha, gave birth to a son in the ninth month possessed of all the virtues known as Babhru. The intellectuals well-versed in the Purāṇas, in the context of spreading of the dynasties, praised the king Devavṛdha, saying, "Whatever had been heard by us earlier about this king Babhru from a distance, we find him in the same position, coming near to him. Babhru is the best among all the humans, while Devavṛdha is himself comparable with the gods. O King because of the influence of Babhru and Devavṛdha, seventy six thousand of their ancestors, became eternal.

O King, best among the learned people, Āhuka was born as son to Punarvasu. He had a daughter known as Āhuki. Both of them were born twins. Āhuka was quite popular and invincible. These verses were recited by the people relating to Āhuka— the king Āhuka had ten thousand such chariots, the axles of which were quite hard, with flags fluttering over them. They were decorated with kavacas and produced the sound of the thundering clouds. In the Bhoja race, no king was born who was truthful, lustreless, ante-yajñas, incapable of giving dakṣiṇā in thousands, unclean or foolish." These were the words spoken by the people who lived on the livings provided by the king.

Sūta said, "O Ṛṣis, (now you listen to the details of Vṛṣṇivarnśa, the son of Sāttvata) Gāndhārī and Mādrī were the two wives of Vṛṣṇi. Gāndhārī gave birth to two sons named Sumitra and Mitra-nandana, while Mādrī had five sons named Yudhājita, Devamīdhuṣa, Anamitra, Śibi and Kṛtalakṣaṇa.

Nighra was the son of Anamitra while Nighra had two valorous sons named Prasena and Śaktisena. This Prasena had the Syamantaka gem which was the best of all the gems and was the foremost of all the gems on earth. Lord Kṛṣṇa also being desirous of achieving the said gem, requested Prasena for the purpose, but he could not get the same. But at the same time, Kṛṣṇa, inspite of his having the strength to forcibly usurp the said gem, did not do so.

कदाचिन्मृगयां यातः प्रसेनस्तेन भूषितः।

यथाशब्दं स सुस्त्राव बिले सत्त्वेन पूरिते॥६॥

Once Prasena, wearing the Syamantaka gem, went in the forest for hunting. In a cave in the forest in which the bear of the cave was present, Prasena heard a great sound and disturbance.

ततः प्रविश्य सबिलं प्रसेने हृक्षमैक्षत।

Out of curiosity, Prasena entered the cave and found a bear there. Then both Prasena and the bear glanced at each other and started fighting. The bear killed Prasena and snatched the gem from him. Thus Prasena who entered the cave was killed by the bear, therefore no one could see him. On the other hand, apprehending the killing of Prasena, lord Kṛṣṇa became doubtful that people would attribute the death of Prasena by him for the sake of the Syamantaka gem, which came out to be true. When he heard of the talk on the subject lord Kṛṣṇa replied, "Wearing the said gem, Prasena had gone to the forest. Possibly he has been killed by someone. Therefore, I shall kill the person who happens to be the killer of Prasena king, the enemy of Vṛṣṇivarnśa."

Then lord Kṛṣṇa, went on for hunting after the lapse of a long time, and while wandering in the forest at will, he reached the same cave. Finding Kṛṣṇa there, the powerful bear, uttered a loud thunder. Hearing the sound, Lord Kṛṣṇa, holding the sword, entered the cave and found the powerful bear who was none else than Jāmbavān himself.

ततस्तूर्णं हृषीकेशस्तमृक्षपतिमज्जसा।

Then the powerful Hṛṣīkeśa-Kṛṣṇa, with eyes red in anger, overpowered the powerful bear Jāmbavān with his own strength.

तुष्टावैनं तदा ऋक्षः कर्मभिर्वैष्णवैः प्रभुम्।
 ततस्तुष्टस्तु भगवान्वरेणैनमरोचयत्॥१४॥

Then the bear king eulogised lord Kṛṣṇa, reciting the Viṣṇu-stotras, which pleased the lord who delighted Jāmbavān, by granting a boon.

जाम्बवानुवाच

Jāmbavān said, "O Lord, I have a desire to meet my death with the striking of your cakra. Let my daughter who is quite beautiful, embrace you as her husband. O lord, thus the gem, which I had got from Prasena, after killing him, should remain with you." Thereafter the immensely competent and valorous Śrī Kṛṣṇa killed Jāmbavān with his cakra and accepted his daughter as well as the gem.

Returning home in the assembly of Sātvatas, he handed over the gem to Satrajit, because he was fed up with his false talk.

At that point of time all the people of the race of Yadu, thus spoke to lord Kṛṣṇa, "O Kṛṣṇa, we were totally sure that Prasena would meet with his end at your hands.

Life story of Kṛṣṇa, history of Daityas, battle between gods and the demons, and the related stories

सूत उवाच

अथ देवो महादेवः पूर्वं कृष्णः प्रजापतिः।

Sūta said, “O Ṛṣis, in earlier times, Lord Mahādeva, the god of gods and the ruler of all the people, incarnated in the human form of Kṛṣṇa on earth.

Because of the tapas of Vāsudeva, he was born from the womb of Devakī. His eyes resembled the lotus flowers, had four hands. His divine figure was illumining with the divine lustre, and his chest was adorned with Śrīvatsa mark. Then Vāsudeva observing the divine symptoms said to Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

भीतोऽहं देव कंसस्य ततस्त्वेतद्ब्रवीमि ते।

“O Lord, you better wind up this form. O Lord, I am frightened from Kamsa, because he has already killed my six valorous sons, who were your elders.”

वसुदेववचः श्रुत्वा रूपं संहरतेऽच्युतः।

अनुज्ञाप्य ततः शौरिं नन्दगोपगृहेऽनयत्॥५॥

Listening to the words of Vāsudeva, lord Acyuta spoke to Vāsudeva, the son of Śiva should be carried to the abode of Nanda. With this command, he changed his form.

दत्त्वेनं नन्दगोपस्य रक्षयतामिति चाब्रवीत्।
अतस्तु सर्वकल्याणं यादवानां भविष्यति।
अयं तु गर्भो देवक्यां जातः कंसं हनिष्यति॥६॥

Thereafter Vāsudeva, carried the child to the abode of Nanda— the cowherd. Entrusting the care of the child to Nandagopa, he said, “O friend, you better protect this child. He will bring many-fold welfare for the people of the race of Yadus. The child who has been born to Devakī is sure to kill Kamsa.”

ऋषय ऊचुः

The Ṛṣis asked, “O Sūta, who was this Vāsudeva, who had the privilege of getting the lord as his son and to whom the lord himself addressed as the father? Who was the glorious Devakī, who produced the lord out of her womb? At the same time who was Nanda— the cowherd and who was Yaśodā— the performer of the great vrata, who brought up the lord during his childhood?”

Kaśyapa happens to be the amśa of Brahmā, while Aditi is the amśa of the earth. Lord Kṛṣṇa fulfilled all their desires. The same lord who is also known as Yogātmā, depending on Yogamāyā, confusing the people, incarnated on earth in human form.

In this way the intelligent Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the son of Vāsudeva, had sons numbering one crore, one lakh and eighty thousand. Upasaṅga had two sons known as Vajra and Saṅkṣipta. Gaveṣaṇa had two sons named Bhūrīndrasena and Bhūri.

Pradyumna had a son named Aniruddha from the princess of Vaidabhryā; who was quite intelligent, and could fight enthusiastically in a battle. The son of Aniruddha was Mṛgaketana.

In union with Sāmba, Kāśyā, the daughter of Pārśva, gave birth to five sons who were quite active, truthful and valorous, besides being beautiful.

तिस्रः कोट्यः प्रवीराणां यादवानां महात्मनाम्।
षष्टिः शतसहस्राणि वीर्यवन्तो महाबलाः॥२५॥

Thus the number of the valorous Yādavas at that point of time was three crores but sixty lakhs out of them were immensely valorous and strong.

All the Yādavas had been born on earth from the aṁśas of the gods. In the battle between the gods and the demons, the strong asuras were killed. They had been creating trouble for the humans after having been born on earth in human form.

In order to destroy the wicked people, the lord incarnated in the race of Yadus. These great Yādavas are divided in a hundred and one races. All these races come under the race of Viṣṇu. Lord Viṣṇu (Kṛṣṇa) had been their leader besides being their lord. It is said that all the Yādavas were under the command of lord Kṛṣṇa.

When the Brāhmaṇas and Kṣatriyas feel fatigued, what for does he incarnate on earth? What for Viṣṇu (Kṛṣṇa) who is the best among the Vṛṣṇi or Andhaka Vamśas, incarnates in human form on earth? You kindly enlighten us for these reasons precisely?"

Sūta said, "O Ṛṣis, when the people become unmindful in different yugas and the auspicious activities move towards decline, then the lord, relieving himself of his divine body incarnates on earth in human form.

In earlier times, when Hiranyakaśipu, the great demon was ruling the earth, at the time of the battle between the gods and the demons, lord Hari incarnated on earth.

Similarly when Bali, was ruling the three worlds, the gods were intimately friendly with because of deriving its source from the rasa or juice, it is usually liquid or fluid. Thereafter the earth with five guṇas or attributes is formed, having mainly the quality of fragrance. The wisdom comprises of possessing the factual knowledge about all these facts.

All these twenty four tattvas- (five organs of wisdom or jñāna, five organs of karmas, five mahābhūtas,¹ five tanmātrās,² ahaṅkāra, the mind and the wisdom) are enjoyed by the humans on earth. He also functions at the command of the lord or is subservient to the lord.³ Because of this, he is called jīvātmā. Therefore the human body is conceived with twenty six tattvas.

The sages like Kapila and others have given it the name of sāṅkhya because of their leanings towards sāṅkhya philosophy. Brahmā too had resorted to the creation of the universe depending on these tattvas.⁴

ततः सञ्जपतस्तस्य भित्त्वा देहमकल्मषम्॥ ३०॥

When Brahmā devoted himself to Sāvitṛī in his mind with the intention of engaging himself in creation, he started performing tapas. At that point of time, his body, while performing tapas was divided into two parts; half of which was in male and the other half was in female form.

1. Mahānti bhūtāni, the gross elements.

2. The subtle element

3. The twenty-fifth being Puruṣa or Spirit which is neither a Producer nor Production but wholly distinct from the twenty-four other Tattvas. (Sāṅkhya K.)

4. According to Sāṅkhya the creation is effected by the involuntary union of soul and nature. Others hold that Brahmā brings about this union for a mere sport.

O Great sage, the female came to be known as Sāvitṛī or Śatarūpā. The same is also called as Sarasvatī, Gāyatrī or Brahmāṇī. Thus Brahmā, accepted Sāvitṛī, born of his own body as his own daughter. But suddenly at the sight of Sāvitṛī, Brahmā, the best of the Prajāpatīs was fascinated and filled with passion and uttered. "What a pleasant form, what a beauty." Brahmā then could think of nothing else except looking at the face of Sāvitṛī. He kept on saying repeatedly, "What an astonishing form? What an astonishing beauty is there?" Then when Sāvitṛī offered her salutation to Brahmā bending downwards, then Brahmā again gazed at her.

Thereafter Sāvitṛī, again circumambulated Brahmā, her father. At that point of time another head with yellow complexion, emerged to the right on the side of the head in order to gaze at Sāvitṛī. Thereafter an astonishing head with fluttering lips also appeared at the back of the main head. Then to his left another head infested with the arrows of kāma also appeared. This was the fourth head.

Because of the repeated gazing at Sāvitrī, the severe tapas that had been performed by Brahmā, for engaging himself in creation, became infructuous. As a result of the same sin, another head emerged (over all the heads of Brahmā) which was the fifth head. This head had the matted locks of hair. The illustrious Brahmā accepted the said head as well.

Thereafter Brahmā, commanded his mind-born sons named Marīci and others, for the creation of gods, demons and humans on earth.

At this command of the father, the sons resorted to several types of creations. After the departure of the mind-born sons of Brahmā, after offering their salutation to the father, then the lord married Śatarūpā who had been lying over his feet.

After the lapse of a considerable time, a son named Manu was born from the womb of Śatarūpā, who in due course of time came to be known as Svayambhuva Manu.

the demons.

Thus when Bali¹ had been ruling the three worlds, the time passed for three yugas. At that point of time the entire universe was disturbed with the presence of the demons. Both the gods and the asuras were under the command of the demon lord.

Ultimately at the time of the subjugation of Bali, a great war was started between the gods and the demons, which was quite destructive.

Then lord Viṣṇu in order to well establish the dharma and because of the curse pronounced by the sage Bhṛgu on the gods and the demons, he incarnated on earth in human form.

Rṣis asked, “O Sūta, how did lord Viṣṇu, engage himself in the form of an incarnation for the sake of the gods and the demons? How was the war between the gods and the demons fought? You kindly narrate the same quite precisely.”

Sūta said, “O Rṣis, in earlier times there had been twelve conflicts like Varāha and others for the war between the demons and the gods, which are said to have occurred during the time of priesthood of Śaṇḍāmārka. I am speaking out the names of the incarnations quite briefly. You please listen. The first battle was fought with Narasimha,² the second during Vāmana, the third during Varāha,³ and the fourth at the time of the churning of the ocean. The fifth war was fought during the time of Tārakāsura and the sixth was fought during the time of Hyāḍivaka. The seventh was related to Tripurāsura, the eighth related to Andhakāsura, the ninth related to the killing of Vṛtra, the tenth was related to Dhātra, the eleventh was related to the poison hālāhala. The twelfth war was known as kolāhala.

In these wars, lord Viṣṇu, killed Hiranyakaśipu in the form of Narasimha. In earlier times while measuring the three worlds, lord Viṣṇu captivated Bali in the form of a Vāmana. Then the lord taking to the form of

1. According to the mythological account is that Viṣṇu in his incarnation of dwarf placed one foot on earth, one in the sky and wanted room for the third. Bali then offered his head. Viṣṇu placed his third foot on it and sent him down to the nether region, where even now Bali is reigning.

2. The man-lion form of Viṣṇu, one of his incarnations in which he killed the giant Hiranya-Kaśipu.
3. The boar-form of Viṣṇu in which he raised up the earth from water after deluge.

Varāha, tore out Hiranyākṣa with his fangs, killing him at the same time, dividing the ocean in two parts.

At the time of the churning of the ocean, Prahlāda was defeated by Indra in a war fought between them. Getting enraged with the same Virocana, the son of Prahlāda, waited daily for an opportunity for the killing of Indra. He could not tolerate the gods at all, but Indra in the battle with Tāraka, displaying his own prowess, killed the demon. All the Dānavas, Asuras and the Piśācas, were completely killed by Śiva, while in war with Andhaka. In the said battle, the gods, humans the Pitṛganas and all others participated. Then Vṛtrāsura, who had been surrounded by the Dānavas was killed in the hālāhala war.

Thereafter Indra detached Vipracitti from war, with the help of Viṣṇu. But Vipracitti who was well-versed in yoga, concealed himself with Māyā and turned himself in the form of a flag. But in spite of the same, Indra, killed Vipracitti with his brother.

Thus Indra, in the war named Kolahala, killed all the demons, who had arrived in the war collectively. (It appears that Indra had organised a yajña), in which at the time of the ceremonial bath, two demons named Śaṇḍa and Amarka who were the demon priests, were spotted by Indra. In this way twelve wars were fought between the gods and the demons, which destroyed the forces of both the sides, but were beneficial for the people.

हिरयकशिपू राजा वर्षाणामर्बुदं बभौ॥५५॥

In ancient times, Hiranyakaśipu ruled the earth with all the glory at his command for a period of one hundred million seventy eight crores and eighty thousand years; after whom Bali ruled for two crores and seventy thousand years and Prahlāda also ruled for a similar period with other demons.

पर्यायेण तु राजाऽभूद्बलिर्वर्षायुतं पुनः।

All the three of them were the most powerful Daitya kings and came to be known as Indras among the Daityas. The world remained under the domination of the Daityas for a period of ten yugas, after which, Indra ruled over three regions with marvellous tact and statesmanship.

Indra ruled, since the close of the days of Prahlāda, when the seer Śukra deserted the Daityas and joined the gods. Then in the due course of time, after the killing of Prahlāda, Indra became the lord of the three worlds. At that point of time the universe was without an enemy, for a period of ten yugas and Indra continued to rule the three worlds with ease. At the same time Śukrācārya deserting the demons joined a Devayajña.

Thus finding Śukrācārya having joined the yajña of the gods, the demons complained to Śukrācārya saying, “O Preceptor, why did you join the yajña of the gods in full view of we people? Therefore we cannot stay here any longer and shall enter the nether world.” At these pathetic words of the gods, Śukrācārya, assured the demons, speaking the sweet words.

मा भैष्ट धारयिष्यामि तेजसा स्वेन वोऽसुराः।

कृत्स्नानि मयि तिष्ठन्ति पादस्तेषां सुरेषु वै।

तत्सर्वं वः प्रदास्यामि युष्मदर्थे धृता मया॥६५॥

He said, “You should not at all be afraid. I shall with my own strength own you up again, because all the mantras, oṣadhis, essences, and the riches are possessed by me and only one fourth of the same is meant for the gods. I shall give the rest to you, which is owned by me for your sake alone.

When the gods realised that Śukrācārya had again patronised the demons, then the thoughtful gods started confabulation among themselves saying, “O Brothers, Śukrācārya, is bound to upset all our plans, forcibly. Therefore, it would be better that before the preceptor strengthens the demons by educating them, we should leave the place and kill them forcefully and then force the remaining Daityas to enter the nether world.” Thus taking a decision, the gods pounced upon them and attacked them.

Thus finding their total destruction, the demons again took refuge with Śukrācārya. The preceptor then finding the demons having been driven out by the gods, made arrangements for their protection, as a result of which the demons started torturing the gods. When the gods found Śukrācārya to be inactive at that time, they removed themselves from the battlefield.

Then the Brāhmaṇa Śukrācārya was reminded of the earlier happenings, who thoughtfully spoke to the demons, the beneficial words, “O Demons, Vāmana, usurped the entire kingdom of Bali with the measuring of it by three steps. Bali was imprisoned and his entire kingdom of three lokas was usurped. Jambhāsura was killed, besides Virocana. In this way in all the twelve wars, all the prominent demons were killed by the gods by different means. Only a limited number of the demons have now survived. Therefore, you should, think stop fighting, and taking into account the adversity of the time, presently become peaceful. I shall subsequently apprise you of some way out. I am proceeding to lord Mahādeva today itself in order to seek a mantra for the achieving of the victory. After my return from Kailāśa, meeting Mahādeva— the god of gods, receiving the infallible mantra, only then you should fight with the gods with my help. You will be victorious then.”

Thus making consultations about the war, the demons went to the gods and said, “O Gods, we have presently disarmed ourselves, removing the kavacas and unyoking the chariots. Now we shall be wearing the bark garments, shall perform tapas stealthily.” Hearing the words of the truthful Prahlāda, the gods were pleased with the dropping of the weapons by the demons. Their anxiety was over and they became unmindful about the war. After the stopping of the war, Śukrācārya spoke to demons, “O Dānavas, all of you shedding away your evil ways and pride, should engage yourself in tapas. You meditate for sometime, because time is performer of the great jobs. Thus all of you should live in the hermitage of my father, and wait for my return.” Thus advising the asuras, Śukrācārya reached the abode of Mahādeva.

मन्त्रानिच्छाम्यहं देव ये न सन्ति बृहस्पतौ।

पराभवाय देवानामसुराणां जयाय च॥८१॥

Śukrācārya said, “O Lord, I intend to know about the mantras for the defeat of the gods and victory of the demons. These are not possessed by Bṛhaspati.”

एवमुक्तोऽब्रवीद्देवो व्रतं त्वं चर भार्गव।

पूर्णं वर्षसहस्रं तु कणधूममवाक्शिराः॥

यदि पास्यसि भद्रं ते ततो मन्त्रानवाप्स्यसि॥८२॥

At these words of Śukrācārya, Mahādeva said, “O Bhārgava, let you meet with welfare. For your purpose in view you shall have to perform severe vrata. In case you perform tapas for a thousand years keeping your head on the ground and raising your legs upwards, inhaling the smoke of chaff, only then would you be able to achieve the desired mantras.”

तथेति समनुज्ञाप्य शुक्रस्तु भृगुनन्दनः।

पादौ संस्पृश्य देवस्य बाढमित्यब्रवीद्वचः॥

व्रतं चराम्यहं देव त्वयाऽऽदिष्टोऽद्य वै प्रभो॥८३॥

Then Śukrācārya, the son of Bhṛgu, accepting the command of Śiva, touched his feet and said, “O Lord, All right, I shall act accordingly. O Lord, I am starting the vrata from today itself.

ततोऽनुसृष्टो देवेन कुण्डधारोऽस्य धूमकृत्।

तदा तस्मिन्नाते शुक्रे ह्यसुराणां हिताय वै॥

मन्त्रार्थं तत्र वसति ब्रह्मचर्यं महेश्वरे॥८४॥

Then getting leave of lord Mahādeva, he went to Yakṣa Kuṇḍadhāra, who could produce smoke and for the benefit of the asuras, for achieving of the mantras and started living in the hermitage of Maheśvara performing the brahmacarya.

तद्बुद्ध्वा नीतिपूर्वं तु राज्ये न्यस्ते तदाऽसुरैः।
अस्मिंश्छिद्रे तदाऽमर्षद्विवास्तान्समुपाद्रवन्॥८५॥
दंशिताः सायुधाः सर्वे बृहस्पतिपुरः सराः॥८६॥

When the gods came to know of the conspiracy of the demons in deserting the kingship and the treacherous ways of the demons, they tried to turn them out of the region where they had been living.

दृष्ट्वाऽसुरगणा देवान्गृहीतायुधानुनः।

न्यस्ते शस्त्रेऽभये दत्त आचार्ये व्रतमास्थिते।
दत्त्वा भवन्तो ह्यभयं संप्राप्ता नो जिघांसया॥८८॥

Thus finding the gods getting ready for attack holding the weapons, the demons were suddenly panic stricken and they got up saying, “O Gods, we have discarded the weapons and we have also been assured of your protection. Our preceptor is presently engaged in the performing of the vrata. Then why do you intend to kill us even after assuring protection to us?

अनाचार्या वयं देवास्त्यक्तशस्त्रास्त्ववस्थिताः।

रणे विजेतुं देवांश्च न शक्यामः कथंचन।
अयुद्धेन प्रपत्स्यामः शरणं काव्यमातरम्॥९०॥

Presently we people are without the preceptor, and have discarded our weapons, standing unarmed, like the ascetics wearing the deer skins. We are inactive. Under these circumstances we are totally unable to wage a war against you. Therefore we are going to take refuge with the mother of Kavya, without fighting a war.

याप यामः कृच्छ्रमिदं यावदभ्येति नो गुरुः।
निवृत्ते च तथा शुक्रे योत्स्यामो दंशितायुधाः॥९१॥

We shall spend the difficult times there till the return of our preceptor. After the return of our preceptor, we shall take up the arms and shall then fight a war with you.”

एवमुक्त्वा ततोऽन्योन्यं शरणं काव्यमातरम्।
प्रापद्यन्त ततो भीतास्तेभ्योऽदादभयं तु सा॥९२॥

Thus the frightened demons, while consulting among themselves departed from that place and took refuge with the mother of Śukrācārya.

न भेतव्यं न भेतव्यं भयं त्यजत दानवाः।
मत्संनिधौ वर्ततां वो न भीर्भवितुमर्हति॥९३॥

Then she providing protection to the demons said to them, “O Dānavas, do not be afraid. Be fearless because by living with me here, you shall be completely fearless.

तया चाभ्युपपन्नांस्तान्दृष्ट्वा देवास्ततोऽसुरान्।

तस्तम्भ देवी बलवद्योगयुक्ता तपोधना॥९६॥

Thereafter finding that the demons were safe with the mother of Śukrācārya, irrespective of the valorous or weak, the gods forcibly attacked the demons. Finding the demons being so tortured by the gods the mother of Śukrācārya spoke, getting enraged, “I shall just now deprive you of Indra.” At that time, the ascetic goddess, collecting all the materials, made use of Abhicāra-mantra and made Indra inactive forcefully.

ततस्तं स्तम्भितं दृष्ट्वा इन्द्रं देवाश्च मूकवत्।
प्राद्रवन्त ततो भीता इन्द्रं दृष्ट्वा वशीकृतम्॥९७॥

Finding their own lord having been made so inactive, the gods became dumbfolded. Finding that Indra had been overpowered by the demons, the gods fled away from the place.

गतेषु सुरसंघेषु शक्रं विष्णुरभाषत।
मां त्वं प्रविश भद्रं ते नयिष्ये त्वां सुरोत्तम॥९८॥

After the flight of the gods, Lord Viṣṇu said to Indra, let you meet with welfare. You better enter my body. I shall carry you from here to some other place.”

एवमुक्तस्ततो विष्णुं प्रविवेश पुरंदरः।

एषां त्वां विष्णुना सार्धं दहामि मघवन्बलात्।

मिषतां सर्वभूतानां दृश्यतां मे तपोबलम्॥१००॥

At these words of lord Viṣṇu, Indra entered the body of the lord, who carried him to some other place, which was quite safe. Observing that lord Viṣṇu had carried Indra to a safe place, Khyāti— the goddess, spoke the words getting enraged, “O Indra, in full view of all the living beings, I am going to forcibly burn you out with Viṣṇu. Let both of you witness the strength of my tapas.”

तथाऽभिभूतौ तौ देवाविन्द्राविष्णू बभूवतुः।

ज्ञात्वा विष्णुस्ततस्तस्याः क्रूरं देव्याश्चिकीर्षितम्।

क्रुद्धः स्वमस्त्रमादाय शिरश्चिच्छेद वै भिया॥१०४॥

On hearing this, both Viṣṇu and Indra were frightened. Then Viṣṇu said to Indra, “How can both of us be relieved of the crises?” On hearing this Indra said, “Before she reduces us to ashes, let us kill her. I have already been overwhelmed with your influence. Therefore, it is you who can kill her. Don't delay.” Then Viṣṇu, keeping in view the goddess and her evil designs against him besides the enormous sin involved in the killing of a goddess, he was overpowered with anxiety. But keeping in view the impending action of the lady, Viṣṇu in order to relieve himself of the ugly situation, thought of the cakra, on the arrival of which Viṣṇu, hesitatingly cut off the head of the lady— the mother of Śukrācārya.

तं दृष्ट्वा स्त्रीवधं घोरं चुक्रोध भृगुरीश्वरः।

यस्मात्ते जानतो धर्ममवध्या स्त्री निषूदिता।

तस्मात्त्वं सप्तकृत्वेह मानुषेषूपपत्स्यसे॥१०६॥

On the other hand the illustrious Bhṛgu, witnessing the terrific killing of the lady, felt enraged and pronounced a curse on Viṣṇu saying, “O Viṣṇu, since the killing of a woman is prohibited and this fact is quite well known to you. In spite of that you have killed my wife. Therefore you will be born as human on earth, seven times.”

ततस्तेनाभिशापेन नष्टे धर्मे पुनः पुनः।

लोकस्य च हितार्थाय जायते मानुषेष्विह॥१०७॥

Because of the same curse, and due to the decline of dharma and for the welfare of Viṣṇuloka, lord Viṣṇu incarnates on earth again and again, as a human being.

अनुव्याहृत्य विष्णुं स तदादाय शिरस्त्वरन्।

ततस्तां सर्वभूतानि दृष्ट्वा सुप्तोत्थितामिव।

After pronouncing such a curse on Viṣṇu, Bhṛgu at once lifted up the severed head of Khyāti and joining it with the trunk of the lady, he spoke, “O Goddess, you have been killed by Viṣṇu but I shall now bring you back to life.” Thus speaking, he joined the head with rest of the body and said, “You come back to life.”

Then he spoke with a firm resolve, "In case I am well aware of all the *dharma*s, all the *dharma*s are followed by me, or in case I am truthful and with the influence of the same truth, you get back your life." Thereafter he sprinkled cool water over the body of the goddess and said, "You come back to life." At these words of Bhṛgu, the lady atonce got back her life. It appeared as if she had woken up from sleep. Observing this all the people, uttered "well-done, well-done." These words were resounded in all the directions.

एवं प्रत्याहता तेन देवी सा भृगुणा तदा।

मिषतां देवतानां हि तदद्भुतमिवाभवत्॥११३॥

Thus the sage Bhṛgu, in full view of all the gods, brought the goddess back to life, which was an astonishing event.

Then Indra came to know with a disturbed mind about the survival of the wife of Bhṛgu, he was terribly afraid of Śukrācārya. He lost the peace of his mind and always remained disturbed. He could not sleep during the night. Then after a deep thought, Indra called for his daughter Jayantī and said to her.

O Daughter, Śukrācārya is performing a terrific vrata for the benefit of my enemies. The intelligent Śukrācārya has completely upset me. Therefore you go to him and establish my cause. After going there you shall have to be free from laziness, and you have to conduct yourself in such a way that the sage is pleased. You should adore Śukrācārya in such a way by which he is fully pleased.

काव्यमाराधयस्वैनं यथा तुष्येत स द्विजः।

गच्छ त्वं तस्य दत्ताऽसि प्रयत्नं कुरु मत्कृते॥११७॥

You go and dedicate yourself to Śukrācārya from today. You endeavour for my welfare."

तं दृष्ट्वा तु पिबन्तं सा कणधूममवाङ्मुखम्।

When so asked by Indra, Jayantī the daughter of Indra, accepting the command of her father, departed for the place, where Śukra had been performing the tapas. Reaching there Jayantī found that Śukrācārya was inhaling smoke produced by Kuṇḍadhāra Yakṣa.

Reaching close to him, Jayantī found the sage inhaling the smoke, with his head turned downwards. He was quite peaceful in meditation. His body was plastered with the ashes and he had grown pretty weak. Then as per the advice of her father, she started serving Śukrācārya. The sweet tongued Jayantī, offered prayer to Śukrācārya with favourable words. She gently pressed his hands feet and other limbs and served him variously. Thus she kept on serving the sage variously in a docile manner for many years.

पूर्णे धूम्रव्रते तस्मिन्धोरे वर्षसहस्रके।

On the completion of the smoke-vrata after the lapse of a thousand years, lord Śiva was pleased with Śukra and pronouncing a boon on him.

Lord Mahādeva said, "So far this vrata has been performed by you alone. No one else has been able to complete this vrata. Therefore, you yourself shall be able to defeat the gods with your tapas, wisdom, knowledge of weapons, strength and the lustre. O Brāhmaṇa, all your desires shall get fulfilled. But you should never speak out this mantra to anyone else. O Excellent, Brāhmaṇa, with the use of this mantra, you will be able to subjugate all your enemies."

After granting the boon to Śukrācārya, Śiva again declared him as Prajāpati, lord of riches, and to be invincible. On receiving these boons the body of Śukrācārya was thrilled. Because of his immense pleasure, a divine stotra emerged out of his heart in praise of Śiva and he sang the hymns of praise to the lord of blue and red colour.

Sūta said, “O Sages, thereafter Śukrācārya, thus praying to the blue throated lord Śiva, fell at his feet with his hands folded. Then he humbly got up and quietly stood before him. Then lord Śiva delightfully touched the body of Śukrācārya tenderly and appeared before him in his true form. Thereafter he disappeared before him. Śukrācārya then noticed Jayantī, who had been serving him, thus, “O Beautiful one, who are you? Who is your father, you had been facing all the trouble while I was engaged in performing of the tapas. Thus performing this tapas, what for had you been serving me? I am immensely pleased with the height of your devotion and humility, controlling of the sense organs and love you had been extending to me. What do you desire of me? O Beautiful one, what do you want? You should surely speak out the same to me. I shall surely fulfil your desire today, irrespective of its being difficult.”

एवमुक्ताऽब्रवीदेनं तपसा ज्ञातुमर्हसि।

At these words of Śukrācārya, Jayantī said to him, “O Brahman, because of the strength of your tapas, you can well visualise my inner most desire because you are well aware of everything.”

At these words of the girl, Śukrācārya, making use of his divine sight, could realise the desire of Jayantī and he said to her, O damsel with beautiful eyebrows, you have a dark complexion like the Indīvara lotus flowers. O Goddess, your eyes are quite charming and you speak sweet words. O Beautiful one, you are desirous of living with me for ten years and it will be done. Come with me to my place. Thereafter Śukra took her home and married her there.

Then the sage Bhārgava, in order to enjoy the company of Jayantī without disturbance, made himself invisible by means of his yogic powers.

The Daityas on the other hand, getting the news of the return of their preceptor after achieving success, were overjoyed and went to him delightfully to pay their homage to him. But they were unable to find him there because of his having been enveloped with the illusion and they returned disappointed.

When Br̥haspati came to know that Śukrācārya, for the benefit of Jayantī and to please her, had been bound in a bondage of ten years in order to please her, then taking it to be the biggest shortcoming of the Daityas, at the inspiration of Indra, he took to the form of Śukrācārya and summoned the asuras.

ततस्तानागतान्दृष्ट्वा बृहस्पतिरुवाच ह।

स्वागतं मम याज्यानां प्राप्तोऽहं वो हिताय च॥१८४॥

On the arrival of the Daityas, Br̥haspati (in the form of Śukra) spoke to them, “O My clients, you are welcome. I have returned from tapovana for the sake of your benefit.

अहं वोऽध्यापयिष्यामि विद्याः प्राप्तास्तु या मया।

ततस्ते हृष्टमनसो विद्यार्थमुपपेदिरे॥१८५॥

I shall now educate you with knowledge, which has been acquired by me.” At this all the Daityas collected there delightfully for getting so educated.

समयान्ते देवयानी तदोत्पन्ना इति श्रुतिः॥

बुद्धिं चक्रे ततः सोऽथ याज्यानां प्रत्यवेक्षणे॥१८६॥

On the other hand, when the period of ten years was over, then Śukrācārya thought of taking care of his clients. At the end of the said period Jayantī gave birth to Devayānī. This is commonly heard.

देवि गच्छाम्यहं द्रष्टुं मम याज्याञ्शुचिस्मिते।

एवमुक्त्वाऽब्रवीदेनं भज भक्तान्महाव्रत।

Then he spoke to Jayantī, “O Goddess with an auspicious smile, you have vast eyes and your sight is quite unstable, O auspicious one, I am now leaving to take care of your yajamānas.” At these words of Śukrācārya, Jayantī spoke to him, “O Mahāvrata, you should surely do good to your devotees, because it is the duty of the noble people. O Brāhmaṇa, I do not intend to destroy your dharma.”

Thereafter, Śukrācārya, on reaching the place of the Daityas, found that Brhaspati had cheated the Daityas by impersonating him. Then he said to the asuras, “O Dānavas, you please listen to me carefully. I am Śukrācārya in reality who has pleased lord Śiva with the performing of severe tapas. Therefore, you should adore me alone as Śukrācārya. Brhaspati has indeed cheated you impersonating me.”

At these words of Śukrācārya, all the Daityas felt confused at that time. Then they started staring at both of them at the same time and while doing so they were non-plussed. They were unable to understand anything.

Finding them so confused, Śukrācārya said to them, “O Daityas, I am Śukrācārya— the preceptor of demons and he is Brhaspati, the preceptor of the gods. Therefore, you should disown Brhaspati the preceptor of the gods. Therefore, you should disown Brhaspati and follow me.”

At these words of Śukrācārya, they started staring at both of them quite carefully, but they could notice no difference in both of them. Then Brhaspati spoke to them quite patiently, “O Daityas, I am Śukrācārya, your preceptor, while he is Brhaspati, who has taken to my form. O Daityas, he is confusing you taking to my form.”

संमोहयति रूपेण मामकेनैष वोऽसुराः।

अयं नो दश वर्षाणि सततं शास्ति वै प्रभुः।

At these words of Brhaspati, all the Daityas collected and spoke thus, “The preceptor (Brhaspati) had been giving them the lessons for the last ten years and according to their judgement he was their real preceptor.”

ततस्ते दानवाः सर्वे प्रणिपत्याभिनन्द्य च।
वचनं जगृहस्तस्य चिराभ्यासेन मोहिताः॥१९८॥

Thereafter, all the asuras offered their salutation to the sage Brhaspati in the guise of Śukra and accepted the words spoken by him to be true, because they were deluded by him during his prolonged stay of ten years with them.

ऊचुस्तमसुराः सर्वे क्रोधसंरक्तलोचनाः।
अयं गुरुर्हितोऽस्माकं गच्छ त्वं नासि नो गुरुः॥१९९॥

भार्गवो वाऽङ्गिरा वाऽपि भगवानेष नो गुरुः।
स्थिता वयं निदेशेऽस्य साधु त्वं गच्छ मा चिरम्॥

Then the Daityas, with their eyes getting red in anger, spoke to Śukrācārya, “He happens to be our preceptor and well-wisher. You are not our preceptor. Therefore, you better leave this place. Irrespective of his being Śukrācārya or Br̥haspati, he happens to be our illustrious preceptor and we shall follow his command. It would therefore be better for you to leave this place, without delay.”

एवमुक्त्वाऽसुराः सर्वे प्रापद्यन्त बृहस्पतिम्।

तस्मात्प्रनष्टसंज्ञा वै पराभवमवाप्स्यथ।
इति व्याहृत्य तान्काव्यो जगामाथ यथागतम्॥२०३॥

Thus speaking all the asuras went to Br̥haspati. On the other hand when the asuras gave no importance to the words spoken by Śukra, then he felt immensely enraged for their pride and pronouncing a curse on them he said, “Dānavas, since you have not cared for my advice, therefore in the future war, you would be deprived of your consciousness and you would face a defeat.” Thus pronouncing a curse on the demons, Śukrācārya returned in the same way by which he had arrived.

बुद्ध्या सुरान्हताञ्ज्ञात्वा कृतार्थोऽन्तरधीयत।
ततः प्रनष्टे तस्मिन्स्तु विभ्रान्ता दानवाभवन्॥२०५॥

When Br̥haspati came to know that Śukrācārya had pronounced a curse on the demons, then he felt overjoyed, because his task had been established. Then he atonce appeared in his true form, with his wisdom he found that the demons had almost been dead, therefore, he took to his original form and disappeared from the scene. At the disappearing of Br̥haspati, the Dānavas felt extremely confused and started talking among themselves.

अहो विवञ्चिताः स्मेति परस्परमथाबुवन्।
पृष्ठतोऽभिमुखाश्चैव ताडिताङ्गिरसेन तु॥२०६॥

They uttered, “Alas! We people have been particularly cheated. Br̥haspati has cheated and made as miserable visibly as well as invisibly. He has confused us with his delusion.”

Thus getting dissatisfied, all the Dānavas, under the leadership of Prahlāda, again went to Śukrācārya in order to follow him. Reaching before Śukrācārya, lowering their heads, they stood there surrounding him. Then finding the arrival of the demons again Śukrācārya said to them.

मया संबोधिताः सर्वे यस्मान्मा नाभिनन्दथ।
ततस्तेनावमानेन गता यूयं पराभवम्॥२०९॥

“O Dānavas, since you disregarded my correct advice and you did not welcome me, therefore because of the insult you extended to me, you have faced the defeat.”

एवं बुवाणं शुक्रं तु बाष्पसंदिग्धया गिरा।

यदि नस्त्वं न कुरुषे प्रसादं भृगुनन्दन।
अपध्यातास्त्वया ह्यद्य प्रविशामो रसातलम्॥२१२॥

At these words of Śukrācārya, the eyes of Prahlāda were wet with tears, then with a choked voice, he spoke to him, “O Son of Bhṛgu, we are your dependants, besides being your slaves and the devotees. You kindly own us. Bṛhaspati the preceptor of the gods had confused us in your absence. You can well realise the position of your devotees by means of the long tapas performed by you. O Son of Bhṛgu, in case you do not shower your grace on us, then we shall be overpowered with the evil thoughts and shall have to enter the nether world today itself.”

When the demons so offered their prayer to Śukrācārya, he could well understand the factual position with the use of his divine sight and his heart was filled with compassion. Then he controlled his anger and then spoke to the asuras, “Do not be afraid, O Prahlāda, nor should you proceed to the nether world. You will ofcourse have to face the unavoidable miseries, which cannot be averted, because the will of the destiny cannot be averted being so powerful. The consciousness which you had lost because of my curse, shall be restored to you today itself. At the same time at the arrival of the adverse time, even after your gaining victory over the gods, you shall have to proceed to the nether world once, because it has been ordained by Brahmā already. Because of my grace, you have ruled the universe, placing your feet over the heads of the gods. Brahmā had ordained for your ruling the earth for this period only.

राज्यं सावर्णिके तुभ्यं पुनः किल भविष्यति।
 लोकानामीश्वरो भाव्यस्तव पौत्रः पुनर्बलिः॥२१८॥

You will rule the earth again in the Sāvarnī Manvantara. At that point of time your grandson Bali shall be the lord of the three worlds.

एवं किल मिथः प्रोक्तः पौत्रस्ते विष्णुना स्वयम्।
 वाचा हतेषु लोकेषु तास्तास्तस्याभवन्किल॥२१९॥

This had been stated by lord Viṣṇu to your grandson during the discussion of the lord with him who had usurped the universe.

यस्मात्प्रवृत्तयश्चास्य सकाशादभिसंधिताः।
 तस्माद्वृत्तेन प्रीतेन तुभ्यं दत्तं स्वयंभुवा॥२२०॥

All the events shall happen now. Because these best tendencies continued for ten years, therefore getting pleased with their conduct, the kingdom has been bestowed on you.

Bali shall be established as the king over the kingdom of the gods and these words were spoken to me by lord Śiva as well. Because of this, he is spending time, keeping himself aloof from the living beings. Thus getting pleased Svayambhu had given you another boon. Therefore you should pass time with the asuras.

न हि शक्यं मया तुभ्यं पुरस्ताद्विप्रभाषितम्।

 इमौ च शिष्यौ द्वौ मह्यं समावेतौ बृहस्पतेः।
 दैवतैः सह संसृष्टान्सर्वान्वो धारयिष्यतः॥२२४॥

O Excellent one, I am well aware of the future happenings, but I cannot reveal those events to you in advance because I have been prohibited from doing so by Brahmā. Both my disciples known as Śaṇḍa and Arka are like Br̥haspati possessing great influence, who were born with the gods and shall protect you.”

इत्युक्ता ह्यसुराः सर्वे काव्येनावलिष्टकर्मणा।

हृष्टास्तेन ययुः सार्धं प्रह्लादेन महात्मना॥२२५॥

Śukrācārya, who performed his task quite comfortably, when so spoke to the Daityas, they with Prahlāda, returned to their abodes delightfully.

अवश्यं भाव्यमर्थं तु श्रुत्वा शुक्रेण भाषितम्।

सकृदाशंसमानास्तु जयं शुक्रेण भाषितम्॥

दंशिताः सायुधाः सर्वे ततो देवान्समाह्वयन्॥२२६॥

At that point of time the words of Śukrācārya, that whatever is destined to happen shall surely happen,” were echoing their minds. After the lapse of sometime, they thought, that they shall be victorious atleast once, according to the words of Śukrācārya. Therefore with the hope of victory all the demons put on their kavacas. Then arming themselves appropriately, challenged the gods and reached before them.

देवास्तदाऽसुरान्दृष्ट्वा सङ्ग्रामे समुपस्थितान्।

सर्वे संभृतसंभारा देवास्तान्समयोधयन्॥२२७॥

When the gods found that the asuras had arrived, well-equipped with their army, then they too organised their army, and getting united started fighting the demons with all the equipments.

देवासुरे तदा तस्मिन्वर्तमाने शतं समाः।

अजयन्नसुरा देवास्ततो देवा ह्यमन्त्रयन्॥२२८॥

यज्ञेनोपाह्वयामस्तौ ततो जेष्यामहेऽसुरान्।

तदोषामन्त्रयन्देवाः शण्डामर्कौ तु तावुभौ॥२२९॥

The war between the gods and the demons continued for a period of a hundred years, in which the asuras defeated the gods. Then the gods after confabulating among themselves came to a conclusion that they would call for Śaṇḍa and Arka on the pretext of performing a yajña, after which they could be victorious over the demons.

यज्ञे चाऽऽहूय तौ प्रोक्तौ त्यजेतामसुरान्द्विजौ।

वयं युवा भजिष्यामः सह जित्वा तु दानवान्॥२३०॥

Thus consulting among themselves, the gods invited Śaṇḍa and Arka to their yajña and told them, “O Brāhmaṇas, you should leave the side of the asuras. With your co-operation, we defeating, the demons, shall serve you.”

एवं कृताभिसंधौ तौ शण्डामर्कौ सुरास्तथा।

ततो देवा जयं प्रापुर्दानवाश्च पराजिताः॥२३१॥

शण्डामर्कपरित्यक्ता दानवा ह्यबलास्तथा।

एवं दैत्याः पुरा काव्यशापेनाभिहतास्तदा॥२३२॥

Thus when an agreement was reached between the two Daityācāryas and the gods, then the gods became victorious in the battlefield while the Dānavas were defeated. With the deserting of the Dānavas by Śaṇḍa and Arka, the demons lost their strength. Thus, because of the curse pronounced by Śukrācārya on the demons in the earlier times, the Daityas were killed at that time.

काव्यशापाभिभूतास्ते निराधाराश्च सर्वशः।

निरस्यमाना देवैश्च विविशुस्ते रसातलम्॥२३३॥

The remaining Daityas having been influenced with the curse of Śukrācārya, became shelterless from all sides and the gods started driving them out from the earth, after which, they feeling helpless, entered the nether world.

एवं निरुद्यमा देवैः कृताः कृच्छ्रेण दानवाः।

Thus the gods, with great difficulty could dissuade the demons from war. Since then because of the curse of Śukrācārya, with the decline of the dharma particularly, and for the re-establishing of the dharma and for the destruction of the demons, lord Viṣṇu incarnates on earth again and again.

प्रह्लादस्य निदेशे तु न स्थास्यन्त्यसुराश्च ये।

मनुष्यवध्यास्ते सर्वे ब्रह्मेति व्याहरत्प्रभुः॥२३६॥

In earlier times, the all powerful Brahmā, had spoken this in some context, that such of the asuras who would not be subservient to Prahlāda, shall get killed at the hands of the human beings.

धर्मान्नारायणस्यांशः संभूतश्चाक्षुषेऽन्तरे।

यज्ञं वै वर्तयामासुर्देवा वैवस्वतेऽन्तरे॥२३७॥

संभूतस्तु समुद्रान्ते हिरण्यकशिपोर्वधे।

द्वितीये नरसिंहाख्ये रुद्रो ह्यासीत्पुरोहितः॥२३९॥

In the Cākṣusa Manvantara, lord Nārāyaṇa had been born out of the amśa of Dharma. After his birth, in the Vaivasvata Manvantara, he had performed a yajña and Brahmā officiated the priest of that yajña. In the fourth Tamasa Manvantara, when the gods fell into miseries, for the killing of Hiranyakaśipu, Viṣṇu took to the form of Narasimha¹ for the killing of Hiranyakaśipu. In the second incarnation of Narasimha, Rudra officiated as the yajña priest.

1. Man-lion incarnation of Viṣṇu. In ancient time there were two demon kings named Hiranyākṣa And Hiranyakaśipu. They were deadly enemies of Viṣṇu and tried their best to put down his worship. Their attempts were however baffled by the birth of a pious son of Hiranya Kaśipu, by name Pralhada, who was a devout follower of Viṣṇu. Hiranyakaśipu tried every possible means to induce his son not to worship Viṣṇu but he was unsuccessful. He then tried to kill him, by throwing him down from a mountain summit, by placing him under the feet of a mad elephant and by various other means, but all to no purpose. One day growing exasperated he asked his son "Where is your Hari?" Pralhada said "My Hari is everywhere. He is even in this pillar before you." The Dānava king, in anger, struck the pillar with his foot and anon Viṣṇu came out in his man-lion form and killed him.

मानुषाः सप्त याऽन्यास्तु शापजास्ता निबोधत॥२४१॥

In the seventh Vaivasvata Manvantara, in Tretāyuga, when Bali was the lord of the three worlds, then Viṣṇu incarnated on earth as Vāmana (dwarf). During that period Dharma officiated as the priest. O Brāhmaṇas, these are said to be the three divine incarnations of Viṣṇu. Now you listen to the seven incarnations of Viṣṇu, which appeared on earth as a result of the curse pronounced by Bhṛgu, as human beings.

त्रेतायुगे तु प्रथमे दत्तात्रेयो बभूव ह।

नष्टे धर्मे चतुर्थांशे मार्कण्डेयपुरःसरः॥२४२॥

The first one was in Tretāyuga, when the dharma had disappeared from earth, making the sage Mārkaṇḍeya to officiate as the priest, lord Viṣṇu incarnated on earth in the form of Dattātreya.

पञ्चमः पञ्चदश्यां च त्रेतायां संबभूव ह

मांधाता चक्रवर्ती तु तदोत्तङ्कपुरःसरे॥२४३॥

In the fifteenth Tretāyuga, he incarnated in the form of Māndhātā, the Cakravartī (splendid) emperor. Mahārṣi Tathya then officiated as the priest.

एकोनविंश्यां त्रेतायां सर्वक्षत्रान्तकृद्भिः।

जामदग्न्यस्तथा षष्ठो विश्वामित्रपुरःसरः॥२४४॥

In the nineteenth Tretāyuga, Paraśurāma—the son of Jāmadgni, incarnated on earth who came to destroy the entire race of Kṣatriyas. At that point of time, Viśvāmitra helped him.

चतुर्विंशे युगे रामो वसिष्ठेन पुरोधसा।

सप्तमो रावणस्यार्थे यज्ञे दशरथात्मजः॥२४५॥

In the twenty fourth Tretāyuga, Rāma appeared as the seventh incarnation of Viṣṇu being the son of the king Daśaratha. The sage Vasiṣṭha was his priest.

अष्टमे द्वापरे विष्णुरष्टाविंशे पराशरात्।
वेदव्यासस्तथा जज्ञे जातूकर्ण्यपुरःसुरः॥२४६॥

In the twenty eighth Dvāpara yuga, lord Viṣṇu incarnated in the form of Vedavyāsa. The duty of the priest was during that period performed by Jātūkarnya.

कर्तुं धर्मव्यवस्थानमसुराणां प्रणाशनम्।
बुद्धो नवमको जज्ञे तपसा पुष्करेक्षणः॥
देवसुन्दररूपेण द्वैपायनपुरःसुरः॥२४७॥
तस्मिन्नेव युगे क्षीणे संव्याशिष्टे भविष्यति।
कल्की तु विष्णुयशसः पाराशर्यपुरःसरः॥२४८॥

For the establishing of the dharma pretty well, and for the destruction of the asuras, in the ninth incarnation, lord Buddha was born, Sundara was having the same form at that point of time. His eyes resembled the lotus flowers. Dvaipāyana—the great ascetic happened to be his priest. At the end of the same yuga, when only sandhyā would be left, lord Viṣṇu will incarnate in the form of Kalki- the son of Viṣṇuyaśa.

दशमो भाव्यसंभूतो याज्ञवल्क्यपुरःसरः।
सर्वांश्च भूतांस्तिमितान्याषण्डांश्चैव सर्वशः॥
प्रगृहीतायुधैर्विप्रैर्वृतः शतसहस्रशः॥२४९॥
निःशेषाञ्छूद्रराज्ञस्तु तदा स तु करिष्यति।
ब्रह्मद्विषः सपत्नांस्तु संहत्यैव च तद्वपुः॥२५०॥

Thus in future tenth incarnation, Vyāsa, the son of Pārāśara and Yājñavalkya shall officiate as priests. At that point of time, Kalki, accompanied with hundreds of thousands Brāhmaṇas, who shall be well armed, shall destroy the fake kings of Śūdra-race because the incarnation of Kalki is meant for the destruction of the enemies who are inimical to Brāhmaṇas.

पञ्चविंशे स्थितः कल्किश्चरितार्थः ससैनिकः।
शूद्रान्संशोधयित्वा तु समुद्रान्तं च वै स्वयम्॥२५१॥
प्रवृत्तचक्रो बलवान्संहारं तु करिष्यति।
उत्सादयित्वा वृषलान्प्रायशस्तानधार्मिकान्॥२५२॥

In the twenty-eighth yuga, lord Kalki, together with his army, shall rule the earth, becoming successful. At that point of time, the lord, after completely destroying the Śūdras, shall destroy the sinners, expanding his kingdom. Thereafter Kalki, after completing his task, shall take rest with his army.

ततस्तदा स वै कल्किश्चरितार्थः ससैनिकः।
प्रजास्तं साधयित्वा तु समृद्धास्तेन वै स्वयम्॥२५३॥

At that point of time, all the people facing total development because of his influence, shall serve him.

अकस्मात्कोपिताऽन्योन्यं भविष्यन्तीह मोहिताः।
क्षपयित्वा तु तेऽन्योन्यं भाविनाऽर्थेन चोदिताः॥२५४॥

Then with the influence of the moves of destiny and future events, the people will get confused and suddenly become envious of one another. Then they fighting among themselves, shall kill one another. At the end of the time of Kalki, he shall disappear from the earth.

ततः काले व्यतीते तु स देवोऽन्तरधीयत।
नृपेष्वथ प्रनष्टेषु प्रजानां संग्रहात्तदा॥२५५॥
रक्षणे विनिवृत्ते तु हत्वा चान्योन्यमाहवे।
परस्परं च हत्वा तु निराक्रन्दाः सुदुःखिताः॥२५६॥

Thus with the destruction of the kings, in the absence of any protector, then the people shall kill one another in the battlefield. Thus with the fighting with one another, getting terrified, their condition shall become miserable.

पुराणि हित्वा ग्रामांश्च तुल्यत्वे निष्परिग्रहाः।
प्रनष्टाश्चमधर्माश्च नष्टवर्णाश्चमास्तथा॥२५७॥
अदृशूला जानपदाः शिवशूलाश्चतुष्पथाः।
प्रमदाः केशशूलाश्च भविष्यन्ति युगक्षये॥२५८॥
ह्रस्वदेहायुषश्चैव भविष्यन्ति वनौकसः।
सरित्पर्वतवासिन्यो मूलपत्रफलाशनाः॥२५९॥
चीरचर्मजिनधराः संकरं घोरमाश्रिताः।
उत्पातदुःखाः स्वल्पार्था बहुबाधाश्च ताः प्रजाः॥२६०॥

Then they getting deprived of their families, deserting the cities and the villages shall retire to the forest. Their varṇas and *dharma*s shall disappear. At the end of Kaliyuga, the people of the country shall start selling the food-grains. The images of Śiva shall start selling at the crossings, while the women shall sell out their own chastity. The people shall become dwarfish. Their age shall decrease and shall meet death at the tender age. They shall live in the forests, river banks or the mountains. They shall consume fruits, roots and the leaves, and shall wear the bark garments, animal hides or the deer skin as the costumes. All the castes shall mingle into one mass. The people will be reduced in size and will find themselves in great distress and subjected to many misfortunes.

एवं कष्टमनुप्राप्ताः काले संध्यंशके तदा।

ततः क्षयं गमिष्यन्ति सार्धं कलियुगेन तु॥२६१॥

Thus having been overpowered by the misfortunes and difficulties, the people will become annihilated along with the age of Kali.

क्षीणे कलियुगे तस्मिन्ततः कृतमवर्तत।

इत्येतत्कीर्तितं सम्यग्देवासुरविचेष्टितम्॥२६२॥

यदुवंशप्रसङ्गेन समासाद्वैष्णवं यशः।

तुर्वसोस्तु प्रवक्ष्यामि पुरोर्दुह्योस्तथा ह्यनोः॥२६३॥

This period will be followed by Satyayuga, while the Kaliyuga goes on decline. Thus I have narrated the activities of the gods and the demons in relation to the race of Yadus, highlighting at the same time, the glory of the lord Kṛṣṇa. Now I shall describe the details about Turvasu, Puru, Druhya and the Anu dynasties.

CHAPTER 48

Description of Turvasu and Druhya, story of Bali and the birth of Karna

सूत उवाच

करंधमस्तु त्रैसारिर्भरतस्तस्य चाऽऽत्मजः।

दुष्यन्तः पौरवस्यापि तस्य पुत्रो ह्यकल्मषः॥२॥

Sūta said, "O Ṛṣis, Garbha was the fifth son of Turvasu—the son of Yayāti. Gobhānu was the name of his son. Trisārī was the son of Gobhānu who was valorous and invincible. Karandhama¹ was the son of Trisārī who had a son named Maruta. He being issueless, adopted Duṣyanta of Puru dynasty, as his son.

एवं ययातिशापेन जरासंक्रमणे पुरा।

तुर्वसोः पौरवं वंशं प्रविवेश पुरा किल॥३॥

Thus in the earlier times, when Yayāti was overpowered by old age, and because of the curse pronounced by Yayāti to his son Turvasu, the dynasty of Turvasu had merged into the Puru dynasty.

दुष्यन्तस्य तु दायादो वरूथो नाम पार्थिवः।

Varūtha was the son of Duṣyanta. Aṇḍīra was born of Varūtha. Aṇḍīra had five sons named Sandhān, Pāṇḍya, Kerala, Cola and Karna. Each one of them established their respective countries, which were known after the name of each one of them.

दुह्योस्तु तनयौ शूरौ सेतुः केतुस्तथैव च।

सेतुपुत्रः शरद्वांस्तु गन्धारस्तस्य चाऽऽत्मजः॥६॥

1. Mārkaṇḍeya explains name Karandhama to denote his creation of an army, when besieged by his revolted tributaries, by breathing on his hands (करं + थमः).

The fourth son of Yayāti, named Druhya, had two sons named Setu and Ketu who were quite powerful. Setu's son was Śaradvān who had a son named Gandhāra and the vast country of Gandhāra was set up after his name.

ख्यायते यस्य नाम्नाऽसौ गन्धारविषयो महान्।

Gandhāra had a son named Dharma who had a son named Dhṛta. Vidūṣa was born of Dhṛta. Vidūṣa had a son named Pracetā. Pracetā had a hundred sons, who were all crowned as the kings, being the lords of the Mleccha rulers in the north.

Anu, the third son of Yayāti had three valorous sons named Sabhānara, Cākṣuśa, and Parameṣu. All of them were quite religious. The son of Sabhānara was full of wisdom and known by the name of Kolahala. The noble son of Kolahala was known as Sañjaya.

Sañjaya had a valorous son named Purañjaya. Janamejaya—the great king was the son of Purañjaya. Mahāśāla was born as the son of Rājarsi Janamejaya, who was as illustrious as Indra, and had a well established glory.

महामनाः सुतस्तस्य महाशालस्य धार्मिकः।
सप्तद्वीपेश्वरो जज्ञे चक्रवर्ती महामनाः॥१४॥

The said king had a son named Mahāmanā who was deeply religious, besides being the Cakravartī emperor of the seven islands.

Mahāmanā had two sons who were well known as Titikṣu and Uśīnara. Uśīnara had five queens named Bhṛśā, Kṛśā, Navā, Darśā and Dṛṣadvatī, who were born of Rājarsi.

उशीनरस्य पुत्रास्तु तासु जाताः कुलोद्बहाः।
तपसा ते तु महता जाता वृद्धस्य धार्मिकाः॥१७॥

The extremely religious sons who expanded the race were born of them. All of them were born to Uśīnara in old age as a result of the tapas of Uśīnara.

कृशायास्तु नृगः पुत्रो नवाया नव एव च।
कृशायास्तु कृशो जज्ञे दर्शायाः सुव्रतोऽभवत्।

Nṛga, the son of Bhṛśā and Nava was born as son of Navā, Kṛśā gave birth to Kṛśā, while Darśā gave birth to a son known as Suvrata. Śibi was the son of Dṛṣadvatī and Uśīnara.

Śibi had the sons known as Pṛthudarbha, Suvīra, Kekaya and Bhadraka. All of them were also known as Śibiganas. Their countries were known as Śibi-gaṇas. Their progressing countries were known as Kekaya, Bhadraka, Sauvīra and Paura.

सुव्रतस्य तथाऽम्बष्ठा कृशस्य वृषला पुरी।

Kekaya was the country ruled by Nṛga and the country of Suvrata was known as Ambaṣṭha. The capital city of Kṛśā was Vṛṣālāpurī. Nava was the lord of Navaraṣṭra. Now you listen to the progeny of Titikṣu.

Titikṣu had been a popular king of the eastern direction. He had a son named Br̥hadratha who had a son named Sena. Sena had a son named Sutapa, while Sutapa had a son named Bali. Bali the Mahāyogi, on the destruction of his race was born in the human race, with the desire of getting the progeny. He was subjugated by Vāmana, possessing enormous strength, captivating him at the same time. The king Bali had five sons, all of whom ruled the earth.

पुण्ड्रं कलिङ्गं च तथा बालेयं क्षेत्रमुच्यते।

बालेया ब्राह्मणाश्चैव तस्य वंशकराः प्रभोः॥२५॥

The names of his sons were Aṅga, Vaṅga, Suhya, Puṇḍra and Kaliṅga. These were his Kṣetrajña sons. Since the sons of Bali were born from Brāhmaṇa, they were known as Brāhmaṇas and carried forward the race of Bali.

तेषां च पञ्च दायादा वङ्गाङ्गाः सुह्यकास्तथा।

पुण्ड्राः कलिङ्गाश्च तथा अङ्गस्य तु निबोधत॥२९॥

In earlier times, Brahmā, getting pleased, had bestowed a boon on Bali for becoming a great yogī; enjoying the life span of a kalpa. Further that he would not be defeated in the battlefield. He would follow the best form of asuras. He would enjoy the glorious victory in the battlefield, besides being well-versed in the tattva of dharma.” As a result of this, the powerful Bali established all the four varṇas i.e. Brāhmaṇa, Kṣatriya, Vaiśya and Śūdras. It was through the glory of Brahmā that Bali was favoured even when he was the captive of Viṣṇu. The family of Aṅga is being described.

Rṣis said, “O Sūta, how was Bali blessed with five children and who was their mother? Who was the Rṣi who begot them and how did he do so? Kindly relate to us all this and also explain us the glory of the said sage.

Sūta said, “In the ancient times, there had been a great sage Uśija, who was married to Mamatā. Br̥haspati—the younger brother of Uśija intended to enjoy the company of the latter's wife. But Mamatā, understanding the intentions of Br̥haspati, dissuaded him to do so, since she was already carrying a child to his brother and added : "O Br̥haspati, the child in my womb will get angry, for being of the seed of Uśija, who knew Vedas well. Thus, O Br̥haspati, do not approach me now since your seed also never goes in vain. After I am delivered of this seed of Uśija, you may think proper."

Inspite of her objection, Br̥haspati, even though he was such a mighty sage, could not controlled his passion and forcibly carried out his intention. When he was about to emit his seed, the child in the womb cried out—

भो तात! वाचामधिप! द्वयोर्नास्तीह संस्थितिः।

अमोघरेतास्त्वं चापि पूर्वं चाहमिहाऽऽगतः॥३९॥

"O Sire, O Lord of speech! there is no room for two souls in the embryo; you are also of unerring valour; and I have come here before."

When the child in the womb objected to the act of Br̥haspati, he was enraged and thus cursed his brother's son in the womb— "You, who are present in the embryo and are putting an obstruction in my way of enjoyment, will suffer from blindness.

ततो दीर्घतमा नाम शपादृषिरजायत।

अतोऽशजो बृहत्कीर्तिर्बृहस्पतिरिवौजसा॥४२॥

Because of the curse of Br̥haspati, the child was born blind and came to be known as Dīrghatamas, who was illustrious like Br̥haspati.

Dīrghatamas then settled in the house of his brother leading a life of celibacy. In the meantime he learnt the dharma of the cattle from the bull. He was supported by his brother and the uncle. Once an ox started grazing the kuśa grass planted for the sacrificial purpose, but Dīrghatamas objected to it holding the bull by the horns.

The bull tried his best to get itself released from the grips of Dīrghatamas, but was of no avail. Ultimately he said to Dīrghatamas, "O Bravest of the persons, let me go. I have never come across a more powerful person like you. I am pleased. You ask for a boon.

The bull said, "I have committed no theft. This is the natural performance of the animals.

There are no specific rules to be followed by us for grazing, drinking or sexual enjoyment." Many of these duties are imposed on bipeds, and not on us, the quadrupeds.

On the bull going away satisfied with the repast, Dīrghatamas embraced the natural law as spoken to him by the bull.

On one occasion he met the wife of his younger brother's son, Gautama, and in spite of her being with child, he taking the laws relating to cattle to be of superior importance, did not desist from her, and caught hold of her with a violent jerk and enjoyed himself in her company, though she was like his daughter-in-law in relation. Knowing about futurity, he began to dilate upon the cattle law, when that lady said— "You going against nature are behaving like a bull, and without having regard for the rules of prohibited relationships in sexual intercourse; but following the natural law of beast, you have committed an incest on your daughter. Consequently, I forsake your base and mean, and now go away on account of your doings."

With those words, she packed him in the wooden box and threw him into the Gaṅgā river saying, "I abandon you (and do not kill you, pitying) your blindness and old age."

That box, after a long run, was drifted ashore and was noticed by Bali, the son of Virocana, who handed it over to his queen, who took him out of the box and took good care of him. Then he told Bali to ask for any boon. Bali, the king of Dānavas, desired him to beget progeny from his wife.

एवमुक्तोऽथ देवर्षिस्तथाऽस्त्वित्युक्तवान्प्रभुः।

Dīrghatamas agreed to do so, hearing which Bali sent his queen Sudeṣṇā, but she thinking him to be old and blind, did not approach him but instead, sent the daughter of his nurse to him. With the union of both of them Kākṣivān and other Śūdra sons were born by the self-restraint Ṛṣi. Then king Bali seeing Kākṣivān etc. Śūdra sons, told the sage Dīrghatamas—

राजोवाच

King said- So well up in saintly precepts, so illustrious, so sacred and so versed in saintly lore, said to Dīrghatamas, that they were the sons of Bali but were his own sons because they were born of the Śūdra nurse sent by his queen, who herself had rejected him because of his old age and blindness.

After that, King Bali appeased that sage was furious with his wife; and sent her again well-dressed, after her toilet, to the sage, when the seer said- O Devī, Cast off your bashfulness and then lick the whole of my body with your tongue, after rubbing it with salt, curds and honey; you will then attain your wish and get sons."

तस्य सा तद्वचो देवी सर्वं कृतवती तदा।

The queen followed the directions of the seer, but omitted to lick the hind private parts.

तामुवाच ततः सोऽथ यत्ते परिहृतं शुभे।

Then the sage said to the queen that her eldest son would be born without that private parts of the body which she failed to lick.

सुदेष्णोवाच

नार्हसि त्वं महाभाग पुत्रं मे दातुमीदृशम्।

The queen then begged for mercy. "It is not worthy of you to bless me with such an offspring, be pleased with my devotion."

At this Dīrghatamas said, "Because of your fault, your son shall not delight you in anyway but your grandson would do so. He will, however, not feel the necessity of the missing part of his body." The sage then touched her belly and said, "O queen because you have licked all parts of my body except the privates, your sons will be like the full moon and you will produce five sons in all, who would be quite illustrious, righteous and the performers of sacrifices."

Sūta said, "O Ṛṣis, Śudeṣṇā begot from Dīrghatamas, a son named Aṅga who was the eldest, followed by Kalinga, Puṇḍra, Suhya and Vaṅgarāja. Thus the sage begot the above named five sons to the king Bali.

Then the sage performed the requisite ceremonies for the sons, like the Brāhmaṇas and in this way the posterity of Bali was born.

The divine cow, Surabhi, then said to Dīrghatamas, “Since you consider the cattle law deliberately and consider it to be superior to all other laws, I am pleased with you and hereby remove your blindness by smelling you. The sin of Brhaspati is inherent in you. I also relieve you of the old age, death and loss of vision, by the same process.”

The sage then atonce regained his vision besides his youthfulness and subsequently came to be known as Gautama because of his having been freed of blindness because of the cow. Then Kākṣivān— the son of Śūdra nurse went with his father Dīrghatamas to Girivraja and he after performing tapas for a long time, purified his body born of Śūdra mother and became a Brāhmaṇa, at which his father told him— “I consider myself to-day blessed with a son through you, and O pious one! I feel blessed on getting a righteous and renowned son like you, who after casting off his previous sheath, has become a Brāhmaṇa.”

Kākṣivān on becoming a Brāhmaṇa begot a thousand sons who were known as Kūṣmāṇḍas and Gautamas.

इत्येष दीर्घतमसो बलेर्वैरोचनस्य च।

Thus I have explained as to how Dīrghatamas, came in contact with Bali, the son of Virocana.

बलिस्तानभिनन्द्याऽऽह पञ्च पुत्रानकल्मषान्।

Then Bali addressing the five sons said to them that he, by having them as sons considered himself to be quite fortunate. Thereafter he enveloped himself in the yogamāyā and waited for the prescribed period in Pātālapuri.

The great Dharmaratha drank the draught of Caturaṅga on the other hand by the grace of the sage Śṛṅgi expanded his race. He was the father of Pithulākṣa. Pithulākṣa had a son named Campa, after whose name the country Campāpurī is known, which was earlier known as Mālinī.

In the yajña of the said king, he had made the celestial conveyances to descend on earth through his supernatural powers and who served as a useful vehicle for defeating the enemies. Bhadraratha was the son of Haryāṅga. Brhatkarmā was the son of Bhadraratha.

A son named Janamejaya, the great conquerer, was born to the king Brhadratha, who had a son named Aṅga, the father of Karna. Vṛṣasena was the son of Karna, who had a son named Pṛthusena. O Sages, thus I have explained to you about the family of Aṅga. Now I shall narrate to you the details about the family of Puru."

ऋषय ऊचुः-

Rṣis asked- "O Sūta, you tell me, how was Karna the son of Adhiratha Sūta and then how was he known as the son of Aṅga? We have a great desire to have this mystery unfolded. You kindly narrate the same to us, because, you are past master in narration of the stories."

the king Jayadratha and Satyā gave birth to the world renowned Vijaya. Bṛhatputra was the son of Vijaya and Bṛhadratha was the son of Bṛhatputra. Bṛhadratha had a high-souled son named Satyakarman who had a son named Adhiratha. The same Adhiratha was also known as Sūta, who had rescued Karna when he was floating in the river Gaṅgā. Because of this, Karna came to be known as the son of Sūta. Thus I have explained to you the reason behind the hear say about Karna.

Rahamvarcā was the son of Sampātī, and Bhadrāśva was the son of Rahamvarcā. Bhadrāśva had ten sons from an Apsarā named Dhṛtā, who were known by the names of Auceyu, Hṛṣeyu, Kakṣeyu, Saneyu, Dhṛteyu, Vineyu, Sthaleyu, Dharmeyu, Sanateyu and Puṇeyu. Jvalanā was the name of the wife of Auceyu, who was the daughter of the Naga king Takṣaka. The king Rantināra was born of the womb of Jvalanā. Rantināra produced from his wife Manasvinī, many beautiful sons.

Out of whom valorous Amūrtaraya and Trivana were most popular. His third issue was a daughter named Gaurī from whom Māndhātā was born.

Itinā was the daughter of Yama. She in union with Trivana begot sons who were gifted with Divine knowledge.

The son of Ilinā in union with Upadānavī, produced the sons named Ṛṣyanta, Duṣyanta, Pravīra and Anagha.

चक्रवर्ती ततो यज्ञे दुष्यन्तात्समितिजयः।

शकुन्तलायां भरतो यस्य नाम्ना च भारताः॥११॥

The second son out of them, was born of Śakuntalā in union with Duṣyanta, who in due course of time became the Cakravartī king Bharata, after whom the country came to be known as Bhārata.

त्वं चास्य धाता गर्भस्य सत्यमाह शकुन्तला॥१३॥

The divine voice once addressed the king Duṣyanta, "Mother is like the pair of bellows to father which produce the sons; the son thus resembles the father. Therefore O Bharata you bring up your son and do not discard Śakuntalā. The son raises his father from the hell to the heaven. You have produced a child. The words of Śakuntalā are true.

In this way Bharata was the son of Śakuntalā and the king Duṣyanta. In earlier times when all the sons of Bharata, met with their end, because of an epidemic spread by the goddess Mātrikā, then Bharadvāja, the son of Bṛhaspati was brought by Maruts and gave him to Bharata.

Sūta said, "Bṛhaspati, while staying on earth once saw the pregnant wife of his brother Uśija and desired to enjoy her. She tried to dissuade him from doing so by addressing him that "the embryo in my womb is mature and is already reciting the Vedas and therefore, the seed will not be fruitless and thus, your proposal is sinful". But the same forcibly molested her. At the same time he pronounced a curse on the child in the womb to be born as blind (Dīrghatamas). The seed of Bṛhaspati fell on earth from which Bharata was born. The lady then asked Bṛhaspati to take care of the child and left the place.

She then left the place and the child was abandoned by the father as well as the mother. The Martus took pity on the child known as Bharadvāja and carried him with them.

The king Bharata at the same time, with the desire of getting a son, had been performing yajñas, but the powerful king could not get a child inspite his performing the yajñas, then he performed a yajña called Martuasoma with the purpose of getting a son.

तेन ते मरुतस्तस्य मरुत्सोमेत तुष्टुवुः।

उपनिन्युर्भरद्वाजं पुत्रार्थं भरताय वै॥२९॥

With the performing of the said Marutsoma yajña, by the king Bharata, the Maruts were pleased who carrying the infant Bharadvāja gave him as his son, reaching the yajña.

दायादोऽङ्गिरसः सुनोरौरसस्तु बृहस्पतेः।

In that way, they handed over Bharadvāja, the son of Bṛhaspati, the son of Aṅgiras to Bharata.

भरतस्तु भरद्वाजं पुत्रं प्राप्य विभुर्ब्रवीत्।

आदावात्महिताय त्वं कृतार्थोऽहं त्वया विभो॥३१॥

The Bharata receiving Bharadvāja as his son, thus spoke to Maruts, “O Excellent Maruts, initially, getting this child, I feel quite beholden to you.

पूर्वं तु वितथे तस्मिन्कृते वै पुत्रजन्मनि।

ततस्तु वितथो नाम भरद्वाजो नृपोऽभवत्॥३२॥

All the yajñas that had been performed by me earlier for the purpose of getting a son, were of no avail, therefore, Bharadvāja came to be known by the name of Vitatha.

Then on getting Vitatha as his son, the king Bharata, crowning him as the king proceeded

All of them are known as Urukṣavas, who were ultimately converted as the Brāhmaṇas. In the race of the kavyas, these have been known as Maharṣis. The Gargas, Saṅkṛtayās and Kāvya, are twice-born Brāhmaṇas with Kṣatriya strain in them. Brhatkṣetra of the Aṅgira gotra had also ruled the earth. Hasti was the son of Brhatkṣetra, who in earlier times established the city of Hastināpura (Gajasāhvaya).

Sūta said, “O Sages, Ugrāyudha, was born in the solar race. He went to an āśrama (hermitage) and staying there like a pillar performed great tapas for eight thousand years. At the same time the king Janamejaya, getting defeated, reached before him. At the prayer of the king Janamejaya, Ugrāyudha promised to get his kingdom restored to Janamejaya. Thereafter the immensely valorous Ugrāyudha, exterminated the rulers of the Nīpa dynasty. Initially, Ugrāyudha tried his best to bring them round by some advice, but when they failed to listen to him and got ready to kill both (Janamejaya and Ugrāyudha), then Ugrāyudha cursed them, “For no reason, you are ignoring my words, therefore, in order to protect a person who has taken refuge with me, I am pronouncing a curse on you that, “In case I have performed the tapas with devotion, then Yama should lift you all to his abode.’ When all of them were so dragged to the abode of Yama, the heart of Ugrāyudha was filled with compassion and he commanded Janamejaya, “O Janamejaya, at my command, you better stop these warriors being carried to the abode of Yama, protecting them.

Ultimately Janamejaya conquered all the messengers and together with Yama, he produced them before Ugrāyudha. This is an astonishing thing that had happened. Then Yama getting pleased, bestowed on Janamejaya the divine knowledge for salvation. Thereafter all of them performing the appropriate religious duties were absorbed in eternal Śrī Kṛṣṇa. By knowing about the life story of these rulers, one does not have to face the untimely death. He also achieves the everlasting pleasures in the present as well as the future world.

Ahalyā gave birth to Śatānanda in union with Śaradvān. Satyadhṛti was the son of Śatānanda and was well versed in Dhanurveda (science of archery). The semen of Satyadhṛti was unfailing. Once the semen of Satyadhṛti was discharged in water, while looking at an apsarā, as a result of which twins were born in the water and kept on growing in the same water.

Once the king Śāntanu, went for hunting. Finding the two children there he lifted them up out of compassion and carried them home. Thus I have narrated the story of the sons of Śaradvān who were known from the Gautama gotra. Now I am narrating the story of Divodāsa's progeny, which you should listen from me.

Dhūminī consumed purified eatables only once a day, while performing the homa was overpowered with sleep. With the continuous performance of the homa all her limbs had become smoky and the complexion had faded out. At the same time Ajamīdha impregnated her, as a result of which a son named Rkṣa was born to her, who was the eldest of his hundred brothers and his body was of the complexion of smoke.

Samvarana was born from Rkṣa, while Kuru was born of Samvarana, who had attacked Prayāga and established Kurukṣetra as a holy place. The king Kuru ploughed the land of Kurukṣetra with his own hands for many years. Indra finding him so ploughing the land got frightened and bestowed on a king a boon, as a result of which the land of Kurukṣetra has been known to be the auspicious one. The dynasty of the king Kuru had been quite vast, which in due course of time came to be known as Kaurava dynasty.

The king Cyavan was the son of Sudhanvā, who had been full of wisdom and well-versed in the tattvas. Kṛmi was the son of Cyavana, who had been born of Rkṣa. Vasu was the son of Kṛmi. He was a remarkable warrior like Indra and could move in the sky. He produced seven issues from Girikā. The king of Magadha was the first of them all, who was known as Br̥hadratha. The second was Pratyāśravā, the third was Kuśa, Harivahāna was the fourth, Yaju was the fifth, Matsya was the sixth. The seventh one was a daughter known as Kālī. Br̥hadratha's son was known as Kuśāgra who had a son named Vṛṣabha. The king Puṇyavān was the son of Vṛṣabha. Puṇya was born of Puṇyavān, while Satyadhṛti was born of the king Puṇya. Dhanuṣa was the son of Satyadhṛti who had a son named Sarva.

After the returning of Devāpi to the forest, Śāntanu, was crowned as the king. Besides his being a man of wisdom, he was a renowned physician as well. His quality of being a great physician was highlighted by the people in a verse, which means that whenever the king Śāntanu touched a patient or an old man with his hand, he was turned into a young man. Because of this quality, he was known as Śāntanu among the people. The people always talked of his quality of healing the ailing people besides making the old as the young ones. Thereafter Śāntanu begot, from Jéhnāvi, the famous Devavrata—Bhīṣma was born. Kālī, the daughter of Niṣāda, also known as Satyavatī,¹ in union with Śāntanu got a son named Vicitravīrya, who was quite dear to the father. He was calm, sinless and died childless.

Maharṣi Kṛṣṇa-dvaipāyana Vyāsa, in the region of Vicitravīrya produced Dhṛtarāṣṭra and Pāṇḍu, while Vidura was born of a slave girl. Dhṛtarāṣṭra in union with Gāndhārī gave birth to a hundred sons and Duryodhana was the eldest of them all. He was the lord of the entire Kṣatriya race. Similarly Kuntī and Mādrī were the two wives of Pāṇḍu.

From the womb of both of them, for the expansion of the race of Pāṇḍu, the gods bestowed five sons to her. In union with Dharma, Kuntī gave birth to Yudhiṣṭhira, in union with the wind god (Vāyu), Bhīmasena was born, Arjuna was born by her union with Indra. Similarly from Mādrī, the second wife of Pāṇḍu, Nakula and Sahadeva were born through the two gods Aśvini.

In union with these five Pāṇḍavas, Draupadī produced five sons. Her first son Prativindhya was born in union with Yudhiṣṭhira, Śrutasena was born in union with Bhīmasena, Śrutakīrti was born in union with Arjuna, Śrutakarmā was born in union with Nakula, while Śatānīka was born in union with Sahadeva. These five sons were born of Draupadī and came to be known as Draupadeyas. Pāṇḍavas had other six sons also besides these five sons.

A son named Ghaṭotkaca was born of the union of Bhīma with demon girl Hidimbā and Sarvaga from Kāśī. Sahadeva produced a son from the daughter of the king of Mādrī country who was his wife. Sahotra was his name. Niramitra was the name of the son of Nakula born of Kareṇumatī.

Parīkṣit was the son of Abhimanyu who entered the city of the enemies. The noble soul Janamejaya was the son of Parīkṣit.

Janamejaya appointed Vājasenaya, an ācārya of Śukla-yajurveda, to officiate as Brahmā. Finding this Vaiśampāyana, as priest of Kṛṣṇa-yajurveda pronounced a curse on him saying, “Your Saṁhita— literature shall not be respected on earth. It shall be honoured only upto your life time.”

Since then, learning of the victory of the Kṣatriyas over Brāhmaṇas, many people from far and wide started living close to the king Janamejaya, the promoter of Śukla-yajurveda.

But, because of the curse of the sage Vaiśampāyana, many of the priests officiating at sacrifices performed by Kṣatriyas began to decline and refused to attend on occasions of their sacrifices.

At the time, when Janamejaya after finishing the sacrifice of Prajāpati, on a full-moon day, was about to offer the paurṇa-māsa-havi (entering the hall of sacrifice), his entry was stopped by Vaiśampāyana.

Thereafter Janamejaya, the son of Parīkṣit, performed two Aśvamedha sacrifices in which the methods of Śukla-yajurveda was applied. The entire performance was organised under the leadership of the sage Vājasneya. At that point of time some controversy developed among the Brāhmaṇas who pronounced a curse on him, as a result of which he retired to the forest.

CHAPTER 51

Dynasty, Origin and various names of Agni

ऋषय ऊचुः

ये पूज्याः स्युर्द्विजातीनामग्नयः सूत सर्वदा।

तानिदानीं समाचक्ष्व तद्वंशं चानुपूर्वशः॥१॥

The Ṛṣis said— O Sūta! Please tell us about those Agnis or Fires which are honoured amongst the twice-born,¹ and narrate the history of the descendents of that dynasty in detail.

सूत उवाच

Sūta said— O Ṛṣis! in Svāyambhuva Manvantara, Agni Abhimānī (the presiding spirit of Fire), was born from the mind of Brahmā, and Svāhā was his wife. She gave birth to Pāvaka (Sub-terranean), Pavamāna (Terrestrial) and Śuci (Celestial) fires. Pavamāna or Terrestrial Fire is produced by friction and Pāvaka (Subterranean) Fire produces the magnetic fire, called Vidyuta.

शुचिरग्निः स्मृतः सौरः स्थावराश्चैव ते स्मृताः।

पवमानात्मजो ह्यग्निर्हव्यवाहः स उच्यते॥४॥

Śuci is also called Saura (Solar or Celestial Fire). These fires are known as Sthāvaras or Fixed Fires. Havyavāha is the son of Pavamāna.

दिव्यतेजोमयी भूप दिव्यज्ञानसमुद्भवा।

न मर्त्यैरभितः शक्या वक्तुं वै मांसचक्षुभिः॥ ४॥

Lord Matsya said, “The rajoguṇa creation emerging in the form of Śatarūpā and others is divine. As the Mulaprakṛti is beyond the reach of the organs of senses, similarly the damsel Śatarūpā's body was beyond the reach of the sense organs. It possesses the divine lustre besides the divine knowledge, therefore, the humans having the bodies of flesh cannot be described with their mortal eyes.

यथा भुजङ्गः सर्पाणामाकाशं विश्वपक्षिणाम्।

विदन्ति मार्गं दिव्यानां दिव्या एव न मानवाः॥ ५॥

As the paths of the serpents are known to the serpents and those of the birds are known to the birds alone, similarly the ways of the divine souls like Śatarūpā and others could be known to the divine jīvas alone and not to humans.

कार्याकार्ये न देवानां शुभाशुभफलप्रदे।

यस्मात्तस्मान्न राजेन्द्र तद्विचारो नृणां शुभः॥ ६॥

O Great king, since the activities of the gods (irrespective of their being) proper or improper, do not yield good or bad fruits, therefore it would not be proper for the humans to think about them.

विरिञ्चिर्यत्र भगवांस्तत्र देवी सरस्वती।

भारती यत्र यत्रैव तत्र तत्र प्रजापतिः॥ ८॥

The other reason is that as Brahmā happens to be the creator of the Vedas, similarly, Gāyatrī in the form of Śatarūpā is said to have been born of the limbs of Brahmā, therefore, this union is conceived as visible as well as invisible. Alas wherever there is Brahmā, Sarasvatī is bound to be there and wherever there is Sarasvatī, Brahmā must be there.

यथातपो न रहितश्छायया दृश्यते क्वचित्।

As the sunshine cannot be separated from the sun, similarly Gāyatrī cannot leave the company of Brahmā.

वेदराशिः स्मृतो ब्रह्मा सावित्री तदधिष्ठिता।

तस्मान्न कश्चिदोषः स्यात्सावित्री गमने विभोः॥ १०॥

Though Brahmā represents all the Vedas and Sāvitrī or Gāyatrī is the supreme goddess for him, therefore Brahmā does not earn any blemish casting an evil eye over Sarasvatī.

तथापि लज्जावनतः प्रजापतिरभूत्पुरा।

स्वसुतोपगमाद्ब्रह्मा शशाप कुसुमायुधम्॥ ११॥

Still Brahmā, felt shameful for his evil action at that time and he cursed the god of love his own son.

यस्मान्ममापि भवता मनः संक्षोभितं शरैः।

तस्मात्त्वद्देहमचिरादुद्रो भस्मीकरिष्यति॥ १२॥

He said, “Since you have badly wounded my mind with your arrows, therefore, lord Rudra will soon burn you to ashes.”

स्त्रीपुंसोरविचारेण मया सर्वत्र सर्वदा।

क्षोभ्यं मनः प्रयत्नेन त्वयैवोक्तं पुरा विभो॥ १५॥

Thereafter Kāmadeva, offering several prayers, pleased Brahmā. He said, “O Lord it would not be proper for you to pronounce a curse uselessly on me, without any reason. You yourself have produced me for disturbing the minds of the living beings. O Lord, you have yourself commanded that irrespective of the man or the woman; you always disturb the minds of all.

तस्मादनपराधोऽहं त्वया शप्तस्तथा विभो।

कुरु प्रसादं भगवन्स्वशरीरात्तये पुनः॥ १६॥

Therefore, O Lord, I am faultless by earning a curse from you. Therefore, O Lord, be compassionate on me to enable me to attain my original body."

Brahmā said, "O Kāmadeva, on the arrival of the Vaivasvata Manvantara, when Rāma, the destroyer of the demons, possessing my prowess, shall incarnate in the form of Balarāma in the Yadu race and dwell at Dvārakā, at that point of time, you will be born as son of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, possessing the comparable prowess.

एवं शरीरमासाद्य भुक्त्वा भोगानशेषतः।

You will achieve a similar type of body, enjoy all the pleasures in Dvārakā and then you will be born as the son of the king Vatsa in Bharata-race.

एवं शापप्रसादाभ्यामुपेतः कुसुमायुधः।

In this way, Kāmadeva, after earning a curse as well as the boon having been filled with grief and pleasure, returned in the same way as he had arrived.

मनुरुवाच

एतत्सर्वं समाचक्ष्व मूलतः संशयो हि ते॥ २३॥

What for did lord Rudra burn Kāmadeva and for what purpose, kindly speak out the early creations in the race of Bharata? Listening to these words a doubt has developed in my mind. Therefore, you narrate the same from the beginning.

मत्स्य उवाच

या सा देहार्द्धसम्भूता गायत्री ब्रह्मवादिनी।

जननी या मनोर्देवी शतरूपा शतेन्द्रिया॥ २४॥

Lord Matsya said, "O King, from the half of the body of Brahmā, Gāyatrī, the narrator of the Vedas was born, who happened to be the mother of Manu. She is also known by the name of Śatarūpā and Śatendriyā.

ततोऽसृजद्वामदेवं त्रिशूलवरधारिणम्।

Thereafter Brahmā created Vāmadeva- the holder of trident, and also created Sanatkumāra, who were the ancestors of the ancestors.

Pāvaki, Saharakṣa and Havyavāhamukha are sons of Pāvaka, Pavamāna and Śuci respectively. The Havyavāhamukha Agni is sacred to the Devas and the first-born of Brahmā (Pavamāna) is the fire sacred to men.

सहरक्षः सुराणां तु त्रयाणां ते त्रयोऽग्नयः।
एतेषां पुत्रपौत्रश्च चत्वारिंशत्तथैव च॥६॥

Saharakṣa is the Agni sacred to the Asuras. These three Fires belong to the three classes. Their sons and grandsons number forty.

They are now described and named separately. Pāvana (Pavamāna), the Fire of human beings (Laukika), is the first-begotten of Brahmā, and Brahmaudana known also as Bharata, was the son of Pavamāna. Havyavāha is also known as Vaiśvānara Agni. He died while carrying Havya offerings to the Gods. He being dead, the son of Atharvan (Aṅgīrasa) produced the Fire Puṣkarodadhi (produced by the churning the cloud), which is known as Atharva Alaukika Agni and also as Dakṣiṇa Agni, by non-rubbing.

Atharvan was begotten from Bhṛgu, and Aṅgīrasa was the son of Atharvan, who begot the above-mentioned Alaukika Dakṣiṇa Agni.

अथ यः पवमानस्तु निर्मथ्योऽग्निः स उच्यते।

Pavamāna is called Nirmathya Agni, also produced by (rubbing fire-sticks or) any friction, and the same is known as Gārhapatya Agni or household Fire and is the first-begotten of Brahmā.

He produced, from Samśati, two sons, named Sabhya and Avasathya, then Havyavāhana was enamoured of sixteen rivers. The twice born call this Agni Abhimānī Āhavanīya Fire also.

The sixteen above-mentioned rivers are:- Kāverī, Kṛṣṇavenī, Narmadā, Yamunā, Godāvarī, Vitastā, Candrabhāgā, Irāvātī, Kauśikī, Śatadru, Sarayū, Sītā, Manasvinī, Hrādinī and Pāvanā.

After dividing his body into sixteen different parts, he dallied with these sixteen river-goddesses, when he was attracted towards Dhiṣṇyas.¹ Produced from these Dhiṣṇyas was the progeny known as Dhiṣṇus. Since they were the sons of Dhiṣṇyas, they are called Dhiṣṇus.

विभुः प्रवाहणोऽग्नीध्रस्तत्रस्था धिष्णावोऽपरे॥१७॥

1. Dhiṣṇya. A sort of subordinate or side altar, generally a heap of earth, covered with sand, on which the fire is placed, and of which 8 are enumerated, viz., besides the Agnidhriya (in the Agnidhra), those in the Sadas belonging to the Hotri, the Maitravaruna or Pra-taṣṭrī, the Brāhmaṇāchchansin, the Potṛ, Neṣṭṛ and Achchāvāka and the Mārjāliya. (Monier-Williams' Sanskrit-English Dictionary).

विहरन्ति यथास्थानं पुण्याहे समुपक्रमे।

अनिर्देश्यानिवार्याणामग्नीनां शृणुत क्रमम्॥१८॥

All the sons of the rivers made friends with these Dhiṣṇyas. Listen now about the Viharaṇīyas (those which are removable from the altar and Upastheyas (those which are fixed in their places and worshipped there), amongst them. Vibhu, Pravāhana and Agnīdhra are fixed in their altars, while the remaining Dhiṣṇus are shifting and moving and taken from their places when some auspicious occasions arise. Hear the names of Anirdeśya (undefinable) and Anivārya Agnis (inavertible fire), in order.

वासवोऽग्निः कृशानुर्यो द्वितीयोत्तरवेदिकः।

सम्राडग्निसुतो ह्यष्टावुपतिष्ठन्ति तान्द्विजाः॥१९॥

Vāsava and Kṛśānu are both the Agnis of Dvitiya and Uttara vedī (altars). Samrāt was the son of Agni, and the Brāhmaṇas worship these eight Fires.

पर्जन्यः पवमानस्तु द्वितीयः सोऽनुदृश्यते।

पावकोष्णः समूहस्तु वोत्तरे सोऽग्निरुच्यते॥२०॥

Parjanya and Pavamāna are also Agnis and are seen on the Dvitiya altar. Pāvakoṣṇa and Samuhya are the Agnis found in the North or uttara altar.

हव्यसूदो ह्यसंमृज्यः शामित्रः स विभाव्यते।

शतधामा सुधाज्योती रौद्रैश्वर्यं स उच्यते॥२१॥

ब्रह्मज्योतिर्वसुधामा ब्रह्मस्थानीय उच्यते।

अजैकपादुपस्थेयः स वै शालामुखो यतः॥२२॥

Havyasūda and Asamrija are both known as Śāmitra. Śatadhāmā and Sudhājyoti are described as Raudraiśvarya agnis. Brahmajyoti and Vasudhāmā are said to be Brahmasthānīya. The Upastheya Agni by Ajekapāda is known to be Śālāmukha.

अनिर्देश्यो ह्यहिर्बुध्न्यो बहिरन्ते तु दक्षिणौ।

पुत्रा ह्येते तु सर्वस्य उपस्थेया द्विजैः स्मृताः॥२३॥

Anirdeśya and Ahirbudhnya are carried to the south. The Brāhmaṇas say that these Upastheya Agnis should be worshipped by all.

ततो विहरणीयांस्तु वक्ष्याम्यष्टौ तु तान्सुतान्।

होत्रियस्य सुतो ह्यग्निर्बर्हिषो हव्यवाहनः॥२४॥

Now I shall describe the Viharaṇīyas and their eight sons. Barhiṣa Agni, the carrier of sacrifice, was the son of Hotriya.

प्रशंस्योऽग्निः प्रचेतास्तु द्वितीयः संसहायकः।

सुतो ह्यग्नेर्विश्ववेदा ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिरुच्यते॥२५॥

Pracetā Agni is the son of Praśamsya. He is the second Agni. Samsahāyaka Viśvavedā is the son of Agni, called Brāhmaṇacchaṁsin.

अथां योनिः स्मृतः स्वाम्भः सेतुर्नाम विभाव्यते।

धिष्य आहरणा ह्येते सोमेनेज्यन्त वै द्विजैः॥२६॥

Svāmbha Agni is described having its origin in the waters. His name is Setu. These Dhiṣṇya Āharaṇa (shifting) Agnis are worshipped along with the Soma in the Soma sacrifice by Brāhmaṇas.

ततो यः पावको नाम्ना यः सद्भिर्योग उच्यते।

अग्निः सोऽवभृथो ज्ञेयो वरुणेन सहेज्यते॥२७॥

The god call Pāvaka Agni to be Yoga, and that Agni is worshipped along with Varuṇa at the time of purificatory bath.

हृदयस्य सुतो ह्यग्नेर्जठरेऽसौ नृणां पचन्।

मन्युमाज्जठरश्चाग्निर्विद्धाग्निः सततं स्मृतः॥२८॥

Agni, the son of Hṛdaya, that digests the food, is known as Manyumān, Jātharāgni and Viddhāgni.

परस्परोत्थितो ह्यग्निर्भूतानीह विभुर्दहन्।

अग्नेर्मन्युमतः पुत्रो घोरः संवर्तकः स्मृतः॥२९॥

The Agni that is produced spontaneously by friction and consumes all beings, is the son of the Agni Manyumān, called Ghora-samvartaka.

पिबन्नपः स वसति समुद्रे वडवामुखे।

समुद्रवासिनः पुत्रः रहरक्षो विभाव्यते॥३०॥

This Agni dwells in the ocean, drinking water, in the mouth of Vāḍavā (Oceanic volcano) and the son of Samudravāsin (oceanic fire) is Saharakṣa.

सहरक्षस्तु वै कामान्गृहे स वसते नृणाम्।

क्रव्यादग्निः सुतस्तस्य पुरुषोन्योऽति वै मृतान्॥३१॥

Saharakṣa Agni resides in the houses of the people, and fulfils their desires. Kravyāda Agni, the son of Saharakṣa, devours the dead (i.e., the funeral fire).

इत्येते पावकस्याग्नेद्विजैः पुत्राः प्रकीर्तिताः।

ततः सुतास्तु सौवीर्यान्धर्वैरसुरैर्हताः॥३२॥

These are the sons of Pāvaka Agni, as related by the Brāhmaṇas. Their sons, through Sauvīrya, were stolen by the Gandharvas and the Asuras.

मथितो यस्त्वरण्यां तु सोऽग्निराप समिन्धनम्।

आयुर्नाम्ना तु भगवान्यशौ यस्तु प्रणीयते॥३३॥

The Agni obtained by the rubbing of Araṇi went to dwell in the sacrificial fuel. This fire is called Lord Āyu, in which sacrificial victims are immolated.

आयुषो महिमान्पुत्रो दहनस्तु ततः सुतः।

पाकयज्ञेष्वभीमानी हुतं हव्यं भुनक्ति यः॥३४॥

सर्वस्माद्देवलोकाच्च हव्यं काव्यं भुनक्ति यः।

पुत्रोऽस्य सहितो ह्यग्निरद्भुतः स महायशः॥३५॥

Āyu begot, Mahimāna, the father of Dahana. This Dahana is the presiding Fire in Pākayajña (domestic sacrifice) and eats the fire oblations made into it; and it eats also offerings made to the Devas and the pitṛs. His son is Sahita Adbhuta, who is very celebrated.

प्रायश्चित्तेष्वभीमानी हुतं हव्यं भुनक्ति यः।

अद्भुतस्य सुतो वीरो देवांशस्तु महान्स्मृतः॥३६॥

He eats the offerings, made at Prāyaścitta (atonement). He (Adbhuta) is the father of a portion of the heroic Devānśa, known as the Great.

विविधाग्निस्ततस्तस्य तस्य पुत्रो महाकविः।

विविधाग्निसुतादर्कादग्नयोऽष्टौ सुताः स्मृताः॥३७॥

Vividhāgni was born of the Vīra Devānśa, who begot Mahākavi. Arka, the second son of Vividhāgni, begot eight sons.

काम्यास्विष्टिष्वभीमानी रक्षोहायतिकृच्च यः।

सुरभिर्वसुमानादो हर्यश्चैव रुक्मवान्॥३८॥

प्रवर्ग्यः क्षेमवांश्चैव इत्यष्टौ च प्रकीर्तिताः।

शुच्यग्नेस्तु प्रजा ह्येषा अग्नयश्च चतुर्दश॥३९॥

He who is known as Rakṣohāyatikṛt is the presiding deity in all Kāmya sacrifices. The second son is Surabhi (the fifth); Rukṇavāu (the sixth); Vasumān (the third), Aunada (the fourth); Haryaśva (the fifth), Pravargya (the seventh) and lastly Kṣemavāna (the eighth) and including the progeny of Śuci Agni, these are fourteen.

इत्येते ह्यग्नयः प्रोक्ताः प्रणीता ये हि चाध्वरे।

समतीते तु सर्गे ये यामैः सह सुरोत्तमैः॥४०॥

Thus have been described the Fires, which were employed in sacrifices in previous world periods by the Devas, along with the Yāmās (a class of gods).

स्वायंभुवेऽन्तरे पूर्वमग्नयस्तेऽभिमानिनः।

एते विहरणीयेषु चेतनाचेतनेष्विह॥४१॥

These Agnis were the presiding deities of sacrifices in Svāyambhuva Manvantara. Now, these are subsidiary fires, shifting from one altar to another and roaming among animate and inanimate beings.

स्थानाभिमानिनोऽग्नीध्राः प्रागासहव्यवाहनाः।

काम्यनैमित्तिकाद्यास्ते ये ते कर्मस्ववस्थिताः॥४२॥

They were the presiding deities of altars and were known as Agnīdhra Fires in ancient times, and were then carriers of sacrificial offerings, and were employed in those days, and may be employed in present days in voluntary (Kāmya)¹ and occasional (naimittika) rites.

1. Any act or ceremony done from interested or selfish motives.

पूर्वे मन्वन्तरेऽतीते शुक्रैर्यामैश्च तैः सह।
एते देवगणैः सार्धं प्रथमस्यान्तरे मनोः॥४३॥
इत्येता योनयो ह्युक्ताः स्थानाख्या जातवेदसाम्।
स्वारोचिषादिषु ज्ञेयाः सवर्णान्तेषु सप्तसु॥४४॥

Having passed all Manvantaras, in the next first Manvantara they along with the Devas known as Śukras, Yāmās etc. were present during sacrificial acts. Thus have been described the altars and the sources of the various Fires; they should be known as existing in the seven Manvantaras, beginning with Svārociṣa and ending with Savarṇa.

तैरेवं तु प्रसंख्यातं सांप्रतानागतेष्विह।
मन्वन्तरेषु सर्वेषु लक्षणं जातवेदसाम्॥४५॥

Thus have been described the Agnis of the past Manvantaras. Now will be described the characteristic marks of the Fires to be worshipped in the present and the future Manvantaras.

मन्वन्तरेषु सर्वेषु नानारूपप्रयोजनैः।
वर्तन्ते वर्तमानैश्च यामैर्देवैः सहाग्नयः॥४६॥

In all Manvantaras, these Fires, along with Yāmās and Devas, make their appearance in various forms and for diverse objects.

अनागतैः सुरैः सार्धं वत्स्यन्तोऽनागतास्त्वथ।
इत्येष प्रचयोऽग्नीनां मया प्रोक्तो यथाक्रमम्।
विस्तरेणाऽऽनुपूर्व्या च किमन्यच्छ्रोतुमिच्छथ॥४७॥

These Fires live along with future Devas; and thus I have described the Past Agnis; what more do you wish to hear now, O Ṛṣis?

CHAPTER 52

Description of Dharma and Adharma, the excellence of Karmayoga over Jñāna-yoga

ऋषय ऊचुः

इदानीं प्राह यद्विष्णुः पृष्टः परममुत्तमम्।
तदिदानीं समाचक्ष्व धर्माधर्मस्य विस्तरम्॥१॥

The Ṛṣis said— “O Sūta! Be good enough to relate to us the difference between Virtue (Dharma) and Vice (Adharma) in detail, as explained by the Lord Viṣṇu, at the respectful enquiries of the king Vaivasvata Manu”

सूत उवाच

एवमेकार्णवे तस्मिन्मत्स्यरूपी जनार्दनः।
विस्तारमादिसर्गस्य प्रतिसर्गस्य चाखिलम्॥२॥
कथयामास विश्वात्मा मनवे सूर्यसूनवे।
कर्मयोगं च सांख्यं च यथावद्विस्तरान्वितम्॥३॥

Sūta replied— Ṛṣis! Lord Janārdana, in the form of Fish, has explained at length Karma Yoga¹ and Sāṃkhya Yoga² to Manu, the most illustrious son of the Sun, at the time when the world was a vast sheet of water. He explained them at length the first creation and the destruction of the world.”

ऋषय ऊचुः

श्रोतुमिच्छामहे सूत कर्मयोगस्य लक्षणम्।
यस्मादविदितं लोके न किञ्चित्तव सुव्रत॥४॥

Hearing those words of the sage, the Ṛṣis cried out— “Sūta! We are also most eager to understand the characteristics of Karma Yoga, because, Oh Pious Sūta, there is nothing concealed from you in this world, and you are the knower of all.”

सूत उवाच

कर्मयोगं च वक्ष्यामि यथा विष्णुविभाषितम्।
ज्ञानयोगसहस्राद्धि कर्मयोगः प्रशस्यते॥५॥

1. Performance of a religious duties.

2. Sāṃkhya doctrine to the knowledge of spirit.

कर्मयोगोद्धवं ज्ञानं तस्मात्तत्परमं पदम्।

कर्मज्ञानोद्धवं ब्रह्म न च ज्ञानमकर्मणः॥६॥

Sūta said-- R̥sis! I repeat the Karma Yoga, as taught by Viṣṇu. Karma Yoga is superior to a thousand Jñāna Yogas, because Jñāna Yoga is produced by Karma Yoga and from Jñāna Yoga, one attains the final emancipation. The divine knowledge of Brahma springs from Karma Yoga and Jñāna combined. Jñāna Yoga in its turn does not arise without Karma Yoga.

तस्मात्कर्मणि युक्तात्मा तत्त्वमाप्नोति शाश्वतम्।

वेदोऽखिलो धर्ममूलमाचारश्चैव तद्विदाम्॥७॥

Consequently a person devoted to Karma Yoga attains to eternal Truth. The entire Veda is the fountain-head of all Dharma; so also the conduct of those good men who know the Vedas is also a root from which Dharma arises.

अष्टावात्मगुणास्तस्मिन्प्रधानत्वेन संस्थिताः।

दया सर्वेषु भूतेषु क्षान्ती रक्षाऽऽतुरस्य तु॥८॥

अनसूया तथा लोके शौचमन्तर्बहिर्द्विजाः।

अनायासेषु कार्येषु माङ्गल्याचारसेवनम्॥९॥

न च द्रव्येषु कार्पण्यमार्तेषूपार्जितेषु च।

तथाऽस्पृहा परद्रव्ये परस्त्रीषु च सर्वदा॥१०॥

The eight spiritual qualities must exist in pre-eminence, in order to produce Dharma:- They are, (1) Clemency to all living beings, (2) forbearance, (3) protection of him who seeks aid in distress, (4) Freedom from envy in the world, (5) external and internal purification, (6) to calmly meet sudden emergencies in all works, (7) not to exercise niggardliness in the case of the distressed and with regard to one's earnings, (8) not to hanker after the riches or the wives of others.

अष्टावात्मगुणाः प्रोक्ताः पुराणस्य तु कोविदैः।

अयमेव क्रियायोगो ज्ञानयोगस्य साधकः॥११॥

The above eight spiritual qualifications of the soul are enumerated by those learned in the Purāṇas and the possession of these qualities is essential which is, for Kriyā Yoga, the means to the attainment of Jñāna Yoga.

कर्मयोगं विना ज्ञानं कस्यचिन्नेह दृश्यते।

श्रुतिस्मृत्युदितं धर्ममुपतिष्ठेत्प्रयत्नतः॥१२॥

None in this world attains Jñāna without Karma Yoga; consequently, the duties enjoined by the Śruti and Smṛti ought to be closely followed with diligence.

देवतानां पितॄणां च मनुष्याणां च सर्वदा।

कुर्यादहरहर्यज्ञैर्भूतर्षिगणतर्पणम्॥१३॥

Every day one ought to perform the five sacrifices, viz., (1) worshipping the Devas, (2) the Pitrs, (3) feeding men, (4) the lower creatures and (5) honouring the R̥sis.

स्वाध्यायैरर्चयेच्चर्षीन्होमैर्विद्वान्यथाविधि।

पितृञ्छ्राद्धैरन्नदानैर्भूतानि बलिकर्मभिः॥१४॥

The learned according to the prescribed rites, ought to (1) adore the Devas by performing sacrifices to the fire, (2) worship the R̥sis by the recitation of the Vedas, (3) the Pitrs by Śrāddha offering, (4) the men by showing hospitality to guests, (5) honour all lower living creatures by scattering food for them on the ground, as described in Balikarma.

पञ्चैते विहिता यज्ञाः पञ्चसूनापनुत्तये।

कण्डनी पेषणी चुल्ली जलकुम्भी प्रमार्जनी॥१५॥

To ward off the five sins by which the animal life is accidentally destroyed by a householder, viz., (1) the threshing of the grain, (2) grinding of condiments and grain, (3) lighting the fire-place, (4) fetching water, by the water-pot, (5) sweeping by the broom; the above five sacrifices have been laid down.

पञ्च सूना गृहस्थस्य तेन स्वर्गं न गच्छति।

तत्पापनाशनायामी पञ्च यज्ञाः प्रकीर्तिताः॥१६॥

By the above-mentioned five deeds the householder commits the five sins that are known as pañcasūnā; and because of that he does not go to heaven. To destroy the above sins the performance of the five sacrifices are prescribed.

द्वाविंशतिस्तथाऽष्टौ च ये संस्काराः प्रकीर्तिताः।
तद्युक्तोऽपि न मोक्षाय यस्त्वात्मगुणवर्जितः॥१७॥

The twenty-two as well as the eight Saṁskāras have been described in the scriptures. But without the eight spiritual qualifications mentioned above, a man, even combined with Saṁskāras, can not gain emancipation.

तस्मादात्मगुणोपेतः श्रुतिकर्म समाचरेत्।
गोब्राह्मणानां वित्तेन सर्वदा भद्रमाचरेत्॥१८॥

Therefore, a man possessed of virtues of the self, ought to perform the rites prescribed in the Vedas and should support the cow and the Brāhmaṇas with his wealth, and always do good to others and should be well-conducted.

गोभूहिरण्यवासोभिर्गन्धमाल्योदकेन च।
पूजयेद्ब्रह्मविष्णुवर्करुद्रवस्वात्मकं शिवम्॥१९॥

A man should worship Śiva (Vāsudeva), who is in the form of Brahmā, Viṣṇu, the Sun, Rudra, and the Vasus, by means of cows, land, gold, cloth, incense, flower-garland and water.

व्रतोपवासैर्विधिवच्छ्रद्धया च विमत्सरः।
योऽसावतीन्द्रियः शान्तः सूक्ष्मोऽव्यक्तः सनातनः।
वासुदेवो जगन्मूर्तिस्तस्य संभूतयो ह्यमी॥२०॥
ब्रह्मा विष्णुश्च भगवान्मार्तण्डो वृषवाहनः।
अष्टौ च वसवस्तद्वदेकादश गणाधिपाः।
लोकपालाधिपश्चैव पितरो मातरस्तथा॥२१॥

Observing a fast and vows with devotion and void of jealousy, one should worship Śiva (Vāsudeva), according to the prescribed rites, and. Śiva (Vāsudeva) is supersensuous, peaceful, unmanifest, subtle, all-pervading, eternal. And the whole universe is His form. All the following Devas are his manifestations:- viz., Vāsudeva, Lord of the universe, Brahmā, Viṣṇu, the adorable Sun, Śiva, the eight Vasus, the eleven lords of hosts (eleven Rudras), the Lord of the Lokapālas, manes and the Divine Mothers.

इमा विभूतयः प्रोक्ताश्चराचरसमन्विताः।
ब्रह्माद्याश्चतुरो मूलमव्यक्ताधिपतिः स्मृतः॥२२॥

These above-mentioned Devas are said to be the powers of God. These powers include all moveable and immoveable objects and belong to that Supreme Spirit who is the root of Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Śiva and the Sun; and who is said to be the overlord of the Unmanifested (Prakṛti).

ब्रह्मणा चाथ सूर्येण विष्णुनाऽथ शिवेन वा।
अभेदात्पूजितेन स्यात्पूजितं सचराचरम्॥२३॥

He who has adored all the four (Brahmā, Sūrya, Viṣṇu and Śiva) without observing any difference among them, has worshipped, in fact, the whole universe, including the moveable and the immoveable.

ब्रह्मादीनां परं धाम त्रयाणामपि संस्थितिः।
वेदमूर्तावतः पूषा पूजनीयः प्रयत्नतः॥२४॥

He who is the supreme abode of Brahmā and the rest, in whom all the three (Vedas) reside. He is Pūṣan, the personification of Vedas; and consequently he should be worshipped with great diligence.

तस्मादग्निद्विजमुखान्कृत्वा संपूजयेदिमान्।
दानैर्व्रतोपवासैश्च जपहोमादिना नरः॥२५॥

These Deities, Brahmā, should be worshipped by feeding the fire and the Brāhmaṇas. Moreover, they should be adored by utterance of mantras, sacrifice, gifts, penances, ordinance of fasts, Japas and Homa.

इति क्रियायोगपरायणस्य

वेदान्तशास्त्रस्मृतिवत्सलस्य।

विकर्मभीतस्य सदा न किञ्चित्

For those who are devoted to the above-described Kriyā Yoga and who love the Vedānta, the Smṛtis and the Śāstras and who are afraid of sinful deeds there is nothing in this world as well as in the next which is beyond their reach, i.e., such people attain everything.

CHAPTER 53

Descriptions of Purāṇas and merit of making the gift of a Purāṇa

मुनय ऊचुः

पुराणसंख्यामाचक्ष्व सूत विस्तरशः क्रमात्।

दानधर्ममशेषं तु यथावदनुपूर्वशः॥१॥

The Rṣis said— O Sūta! Be pleased to describe to us the number of the Purāṇas in due order and in detail and also about the giving of gifts and charity (Dāna Dharma).

सूत उवाच

इदमेव पुराणेषु पुराणपुरुषस्तदा।

यदुक्त्वान्स विश्वात्मा मनवे तन्निबोधत॥२॥

Sūta said— I shall tell you exactly what the Universal Soul, the ancient Male Lord, said to the King Vaivasvata Manu.

मत्स्य उवाच

पुराणं सर्वशास्त्राणां प्रथमं ब्रह्मणा स्मृतम्।

अनन्तरं च वक्त्रेभ्यो वेदास्तस्य विनिर्गताः॥३॥

Lord said to Manu! Brahmā remembered in the beginning first the Purāṇas among all the Śāstras. So Purāṇas are the first among the Śāstras. Afterwards, Brahmā uttered out the four Vedas from His four mouths.

पुराणमेकमेवाऽऽसीत्तदा कल्पान्तरेऽनघ।

त्रिवर्गसाधनं पुण्यं शतकोटिप्रविस्तरम्॥४॥

There was only one Purāṇa in the beginning of the Kalpa. It was alone the means of the accomplishment of the three ends of man (Dharma, Artha and Kāma). And it was the only holy book consisting of thousand millions of stanzas.

तदर्थोऽत्र चतुर्लक्षं संक्षेपेण निवेशितः।

पुराणानि दशाष्टौ च सांप्रतं तदिहोच्यते॥११॥

When all the regions perished by fire at the Great Dissolution, then I recited the four Vedas, with their six Aṅgas as well as the Purāṇas, the manifold Nyāyas, the Mīmāṃsā and the Dharmaśāstra. In the beginning of the new age, I immersed myself in the furious waters, at the time of dissolution of the universe and explained them fully to Brahmā, Who in His turn revealed them to the Devas and the sages, after which they spread all over the world. Therefore, the Purāṇas became the source of all other Śāstras. Later on, seeing the neglect of the Purāṇa under the changed circumstances, I repromulgated them in every yuga, through my partial incarnation of Vyāsa. In every Dvāpara yuga, I compiled the Purāṇas to the extent of four lacs of ślokas, and spread them in the world after dividing them into eighteen. Even now the bulk of the Purāṇa extends to a hundred crore verses in the Deva loka. On the universe, however, its bulk is abridged only to 4 lakhs of ślokas, and is divided into eighteen Purāṇas.

नामतस्तानि वक्ष्यामि शृणुध्वं मुनिसत्तमाः।

ब्रह्मणाऽभिहितं पूर्वं यावन्मात्रं मरीचये॥१२॥

Sūta said— Hear, O Ṛṣis! The names of the different eighteen Purāṇas. I shall enumerate them to you, as they were described to Marīci by Brahmā.

ब्राह्मं त्रिदशसाहस्रं पुराणं परिकीर्त्यते।
लिखित्वा तच्च यो दद्याज्जलधेनुसमन्वितम्।
वैशाखपूर्णिमायां च ब्रह्मलोके महीयते॥१३॥

The Brahma Purāṇa. Brahma Purāṇa contains 13,000 ślokas. One who writes and gives it away in charity, along with a cow and water, in the month of Vaiśākha on the full-moon day, passes his days in Brahmāloka, in happiness.

एतदेव यदा पद्मभूद्वैरण्मयं जगत्।
तद्वृत्तान्ताश्रयं तद्वत्पादमित्युच्यते बुधैः।
पादं तत्पञ्चपञ्चाशत्सहस्राणीह कथ्यते॥१४॥

The Padma Purāṇa. At the time when this universe came out of the cosmic waters, in the beginning of the Lotus Kalpa, and in the form of a golden lotus, then the Padma Purāṇa was revealed, describing that creation, and it is called Padma Purāṇa by the wise. And is consists of 55,000 ślokas.

तत्पुराणं च यो दद्यात्सुवर्णकमलान्वितम्।
ज्येष्ठे मासि तिलैर्युक्तमश्वमेधफलं लभेत्॥१५॥

One who gives away Padma Purāṇa in charity, along with a golden lotus and sesamum, in the month of Jyēṣṭha, gets the benefit of performing an aśvamedha sacrifice.

वाराहकल्पवृत्तान्तमधिकृत्य पराशरः।
यत्प्राह धर्मानखिलांस्तद्युक्तं वैष्णवं विदुः॥१६॥

The Viṣṇu Purāṇa. Similarly, the rules of virtue laid down by Parāśara, for the period when there was the Varāha incarnation of Viṣṇu, in the beginning of Varāha Kalpa, form the Viṣṇu Purāṇa.

तदाषाढे च यो दद्याद्घृतधेनुसमन्वितम्।
पौर्णमास्यां विपूतात्मा स पदं याति वारुणम्।

त्रयोविंशतिसाहस्रं तत्प्रमाणं विदुर्बुधाः॥१७॥

That Purāṇa contains 23,000 ślokas and one who gives it away in charity, along with a cow and clarified butter, in the month of Āṣāḍhas, on the full-moon day, is purified of all sins and goes and rests in peace in the region of Varuṇa.

श्वेतकल्पप्रसङ्गेन धर्मान्वायुरिहाब्रवीत्।
यत्र तद्वायवीयं स्यादुदमाहात्म्यसंयुतम्।
चतुर्विंशत्सहस्राणि पुराणं तदिहोच्यते॥१८॥

The Vāyu Purāṇa. The rules of virtue laid down by Vāyu, along with the glory of Rudra, in the Śveta-kalpa, is known as Vāyaviya Purāṇa. It contains 24,000 ślokas.

श्रावण्यां श्रावणे मासि गुडधेनुसमन्वितम्।
यो दद्याद्वृषसंयुक्तं ब्राह्मणाय कुटुम्बिने।
शिवलोके स पूतात्मा कल्पमेकं वसेन्नरः॥१९॥

One who gives it away in charity, along with a cow, jaggery and an ox, to a Brāhmaṇa, whose family is large, on the 15th day of light half of the month of Śrāvaṇa, attains the region of Śiva and resides there for a Kalpa.

Vyāsa, possessed of wonderful deeds, said

1. The first point of Aries or Libra into which the sun enters at the vernal or autumnal equinox, the equinoctical point. विषुवच्छाया - the shadow of the shomon at noon. विषुवर्दनम् the day of the equinox. विषुव रेखा the equinoctical line विषुव संक्रान्ति the sun's equinoctical passage, V.S. Apte, pp. 524-525, MW p. 998.

these eighteen Purāṇas, to the extent of 4 lacs of ślokas, to my father and my father explained me and now I have described the same to you.

इह लोकहितार्थाय संक्षिप्तं परमर्षिणा।

इदमद्यापि देवेषु शतकोटिप्रविस्तरम्॥५९॥

The venerable sage has abridged the Purāṇas for the sake of the good of this world; otherwise, the entire Purāṇa existing in the Devaloka, contains a hundred crore ślokas.

उपभेदान्प्रवक्ष्यामि लोके ये संप्रतिष्ठितसः।

पादो पुराणे यत्रोक्तं नरसिंहोपवर्णनम्॥

तच्चाष्टदशसाहस्रं नारसिंहमिहोच्यते॥६०॥

Upapurāṇas— (1) Narasimha— I shall now tell you about the difference between the Purāṇas that exist in the universe and the secondary Purāṇas. There is a mention of Narasimha in the Padma Purāṇa, and the 18,000 ślokas (dealing with the history of Narasimha) forms the Nārsimha Purāṇa (which is one of the secondary Purāṇas).

नन्दाया यत्र माहात्म्यं कार्तिकेयेन वर्ण्यते।

नन्दीपुराणं तल्लोकैराख्यातमिति कीर्त्यते॥६१॥

(2) Nandī upapurāṇa— Where Kārtika has described the glory of the great goddess Nandā (the portion dealing with that), is known as the Nandī Purāṇa.

यत्र साम्बं पुरस्कृत्य भविष्यति कथानकम्।

प्रोच्यते तत्पुनर्लोके साम्बमेतन्मुनिव्रताः॥६२॥

(3) Sāmba upapurāṇa— That Purāṇa in which Lord Śiva, taking His most noble consort, Gaurī, as his audience, has related about the future, as found in the Bhaviṣya Purāṇa and also is styled by the sages as Sāmba Purāṇa.

पुरातनस्य कल्पस्य पुराणानि विदुर्बुधाः।

धन्यं यशस्यमायुष्यं पुराणानामनुक्रमम्।

एवमादित्यसंज्ञा च तत्रैव परिगद्यते॥६३॥

(4) Āditya upapurāṇa— The learned who know, say that the recitation of the list of the Purāṇas dealing with the ancient Kalpa, is conducive to glory, fame and long life. This is the order of the Purāṇas, as described above. Similarly, the Āditya Upapurāṇa is also mentioned therein.

अष्टादशभ्यस्तु पृथक्पुराणं यत्प्रदिश्यते।

विजानीध्वं द्विजश्रेष्ठास्तदेतेभ्यो विनिर्गतम्॥६४॥

O Ṛṣis! The secondary Purāṇas have been deduced from the original eighteen Purāṇas.¹

पञ्चाङ्गानि पुराणेषु आख्यानकमिति स्मृतम्।

सर्गश्च प्रतिसर्गश्च वंशो मन्वन्तराणि च।

वंश्यानुचरितं चैव पुराणं पञ्चलक्षणम्॥६५॥

The following are the five characteristics of the Purāṇas : They describe (1) the creation of the universe, (2) its genealogy and dissolution, (3) the dynasties, (4) the Manvantaras, (5) the dynastic chronicles.

ब्रह्मविष्णवर्करुद्राणां माहात्म्यं भुवनस्य च।

संहारप्रदानां च पुराणे पञ्चवर्णके॥६६॥

The Purāṇas, with these five characteristics, sing the glory of Brahmā, Viṣṇu, the Sun and Rudra, as well as they describe also the creation and dissolution of the Earth.

धर्मश्चार्थश्च कामश्च मोक्षश्चैव वात्र कीर्त्यते।

सर्वेष्वपि पुराणेषु तद्विरुद्धं च यत्फलम्॥६७॥

The four Vargas (Dharma, Artha, Kāma and Mokṣa) have also been described in all the Purāṇas, along with evil consequences following from sin.

सात्त्विकेषु पुराणेषु माहात्म्यमधिकं हरेः।

राजसेषु च माहात्म्यमधिकं ब्रह्मणो विदुः॥६८॥

तद्वदग्नेश्च माहात्म्यं तामसेषु शिवस्य च।

संकीर्णेषु सरस्वत्याः पितृणां च निगद्यते॥६९॥

1. Like the eighteen Purāṇas, Upapurāṇas are also in eighteen numbers, But this Purāṇa gives the names of only five Upapurāṇas.

In the Sāttvika Purāṇas, there is largely a mention of Hari's glory. In the Rājas Purāṇas there is the greater mention of Brahmā's glory. In the Tāmasika Purāṇas, there is a mention of Śiva and Agni's glory. In all kinds of Purāṇas, of all the three attributes, the glory of Sarasvatī and the pitṛs have been described.

अष्टादश पुराणानि कृत्वा सत्यवतीसुतः।
भारताख्यानमखिलं चक्रे तदुपबृंहितम्।
लक्षणेनैकेन यत्प्रोक्तं वेदार्थपरिवृंहितम्॥७०॥

The great sage Vyāsa, after compiling the 18 Purāṇas, indulged in the composition of the story of Mahābhārata, in order to magnify their bulk, which was an addition to the Purāṇas, by another lakh of ślokas. And in which he has condensed the sense of the Vedas.

वाल्मीकिना तु यत्प्रोक्तं रामोपाख्यानमुत्तमम्।
ब्रह्मणाऽभिहितं यच्च शतकोटिप्रविस्तरम्॥७१॥

The glorious story of Rāmāyaṇa, sung by the sage Vālmīki, at the instance of Brahmā, also extends to a hundred crore of ślokas.

आहत्य नारदायैव तेन वाल्मीकये पुनः।
वाल्मीकिना च लोकेषु धर्मकामार्थसाधनम्।
एवं संपादाः पञ्चैते लक्षा मर्त्ये प्रकीर्तिताः॥७२॥

Brahmā narrated the original Rāmāyaṇa to Nārada; the latter revealed it to Vālmīki, who gave it to the world, and which is a means of giving Dharma, Kāma and Artha. And in which way the famous epic exists in the world, and contains 5,25,000 ślokas.

पुरातनस्य कल्पस्य पुराणानि विदुर्बुधाः।
धन्यं यशस्यमायुष्यं पुराणानामनुक्रमम्।
यः पठेच्छृणुयाद्वाऽपि स याति परमां गतिम्॥७३॥

The learned know of the Purāṇas of the ancient Kalpa. The recitation of this list of the Purāṇas is conducive to prosperity, fame and long life. He who reads or listens to it, gets wealth, reputation, long life and emancipation.

इदं पवित्रं यशसो निधान-
मिदं पितृणामतिवल्लभं च।
इदं च देवेष्वमृतायितं च
नित्यं त्विदं पापहरं च पुंसाम्॥७४॥

This list is the most sacred. It is the giver of fame and the destroyer of sins. It is very dear to the pitṛs and is prized by the Devas as a nectar. It is external and destroyer of sin of all men.

CHAPTER 54

About the ordinance of Nakṣatra-puruṣa

सूत उवाच

अतःपरं प्रवक्ष्यामि दानधर्मानशेषतः।

महादेवस्य संवादे नारदस्य च धीमतः।
यथावृत्तं प्रवक्ष्यामि धर्मकामार्थसाधकम्॥२॥

Sūta said, Ṛṣis! I shall now relate to you in full about the gifts (Dāna Dharma), vows (Vrata) and fasts, as explained by the Lord in the form of fish. This narration is in the form of a dialogue between the great Lord Śiva and wise Nārada and also a mention of trivarga, (Dharma, Kāma and Artha). I shall relate exactly as the dialogue took place.

कैलासशिखरासीनमपृच्छन्नारदः पुरा।
त्रिनयनमनङ्गारिमनङ्गाङ्गहरं हरम्॥३॥

In ancient times, Nārada questioned the Lord Śiva, who resides on the summit of Kailāśa, has three eyes, and is the enemy and destroyer of Cupid.

नारद उवाच

The Sage Nārada said— “O Adorable God of gods! O Ruler of Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Indra! please tell me how one may become your devotee or a devotee of Viṣṇu and so attain wealth, life, health, beauty, luck and prosperity? You also tell me which Vrata is the giver of gradual emancipation to married women or widows, possessing all good and auspicious qualities?”

Lord Śiva said— Nārada! You have put a very useful question for the benefit of all. Hear about the vow which is beneficial to widows. There is religious observance (Vrata) which is known as Nakṣatrapuruṣa Vrata, which should be devoutly kept. It (Nakṣtra-puruṣa Vrata) is worship of Nārāyaṇa in the figure which should be made according to rule, having feet, etc., and the names of Viṣṇu should be recited. The devotee should arrange an image of the Lord Vāsudeva and invite a Brāhmaṇa and should then commence to worship it from the month of Caitra, at the time when the moon is in the Mūla, etc.

(17) Namaḥ Nṛsiṃhāya Dānavasūdanāya— on the mouth, sacred to Puṣyā asterism—Man-lion.

(18) Namaḥ Kāraṇavāmanāya— on the fore of the teeth, sacred to Svātī asterism and Vāmana (Dvarī) avatāra.

(19) Namaḥ Bhārgavanandanāya— on the gullet of the mouth, sacred to Satabhiṣa asterism and Paraśu Rāma.

(20) Namaḥ Rāmāya— in the nose sacred to Maghā asterism and Raghunandana Rāma.

(21) Namaḥ Rāmāya Vighūrṇitākṣāya— in the eyes, sacred to Mṛgaśīra asterism and Bala Rāma.

 शय्यां तथोपस्करभाजनादि-
 युक्तां प्रदद्याद्विजपुङ्गवाय॥ २२॥

On the completion of the Vrata, the devotee should give away a beautiful and big golden mace, studded with pearls and other jewels, cows garments, bedstead, to a pious Brāhmaṇa, versed in the Sāmaveda. The mace should be placed in a pitcher of water.

यद्यस्ति यत्किञ्चिदिहास्ति देयं

 मनोरथं नः सफलीकुरुष्व
 हिरण्यगर्भाच्युत रुद्ररूपिन्॥ २३॥

Besides all that, the devotee should give away other things worthy of being offered to a Brāhmaṇa, after which he should devoutly pray to the Lord to fulfil his desires in the words: "Manoratham naḥ Saphalīkuruṣva hiraṇya garbhācyutarudrarūppin." O You having the form of Brahmā Viṣṇu and Śiva, fulfill all my cherished desires.

सलक्ष्मीकं सभार्याय काञ्चनं पुरुषोत्तमम्।
 शय्यां च दद्यान्मन्त्रेण ग्रन्थिभेदविवर्जिताम्॥ २४॥

The image of Viṣṇu along with that of Lakṣmī, should be given away to the Brāhmaṇa and his wife, with a peaceful mind. So also should be given a bedstead, made of wood, without any joints.

यथा न विष्णुभक्तानां वृजिनं जायते क्वचित्।
 तथा सुरुपतारोग्यं केशवे भक्तिमुत्तमाम्॥ २५॥
 यथा न लक्ष्म्या शयनं तव शून्यं जनार्दन।
 शय्यां ममाप्यशून्यास्तु कृष्ण जन्मनि जन्मनि॥ २६॥

The devotee should recite the following:—
 "As the worshippers of Viṣṇu never get any sufferings or sin, so let me get beauty and health as well as highest devotion towards Keśava; as the house of the Lord is never devoid of Lakṣmī, so my house, may never be bereft of my consort in all my life; O Kṛṣṇa."

 भुञ्जीतातैललवणं सर्वर्क्षेष्वप्युपोषितः।
 भोजनं च यथाशक्ति वित्तशाट्यं विवर्जयेत्॥ २८॥

After that, the Brāhmaṇa versed in astronomy, should be dismissed by giving away the image of the nakṣatra puruṣa, along with clothes, garland, sandal paste. The worshipper should abstain from salt and oily food during all the twenty-seven days of his observance of the Vrata, and should feed others according to his means, without giving way to miserliness.

 ब्रह्महत्यादिकं किञ्चिदिह वामुत्र वा कृतम्।
 आत्मना वाथ पितृभिस्तत्सर्वं क्षयमाप्नुयात्॥ ३०॥

The worshipper of the nakṣatrapuruṣa attains all his desires, and at the end passes his days in the region of Viṣṇu with happiness. He washes off all his sins as well as all the sins of his deceased ancestors committed in his present and past lives.

Hear about the Vrata, called Āditya Śayana Śankarārcana observance, as described by the learned in the Purāṇas, as well as the method of worshipping Śankara, on the conjunction of the moon with particular asterism. That day is most auspicious which falls on a Sunday, when there is Sankrānti and the 7th day of the dark fortnight and when the moon is in the asterism Hastā. On that day, the images of Umā and Maheśvara should be worshipped, the former after reciting the names of the God, Sun and the latter along with the invisible form of Śiva.

यस्मात्तस्मान्मुनिश्रेष्ठ गृहे शम्भुं समर्चयेत्॥ ६॥

There is absolutely no difference between Śiva and Sun, and consequently, the devotee, when worshipping the Śiva uses the mantras addressed to the Sun. They are as follows :—

हस्ते च सूर्याय नमोस्तु पादा-

वर्काय चित्रासु च गुल्फदेशम्।

Afterwards the devotee should pray to Śiva: "O Lord! armed with a noose, a hook, a trident, a lotus, a human skull; and the wearer of the snake and the moon and the bow, I salute you. O Lord! the destructor of Gaja, Demons, Cupid and Pura and Andhaka, etc., I salute you."

The worshipper should also worship the different weapons (mentioned above) and should salute the Lord by bowing down his head, with the mantra Viśveśvarāya namaḥ, and every day abstain from oil, flesh, green vegetables and salt, and eat moderately.

इत्येवं द्विज नक्तानि कृत्वा दद्यात्पुनर्वसौ।

सप्तमे वस्त्रयुग्मं च पारणे त्वधिकं भवेत्॥ १९॥

After thus taking his meals in the night, the devotee, on the Punarvasu asterism day, should put some rice, along with some ghr̥ta (clarified butter), in a vessel made of fig-leaves. And should then give it away to the Brāhmaṇa, after putting some gold in it. Then, on the seventh day of the fast, he should give to the Brāhmaṇa a couple of raiments.

चतुर्दशे तु सम्प्राते पारणे नारदाब्दिके।

ब्राह्मणाम्भोजयेद्भक्त्या गुडक्षीरघृतादिभिः॥ २०॥

On the day of the fourteenth repast after the fast, the worshipper should feed the Brāhmaṇas with raw-sugar, milk and clarified butter.

कृत्वा तु काञ्चनं पद्ममष्टपत्रं सकर्णिकम्।

रौप्यखुरीं हैमशृङ्गीं सवत्सां कांस्यदोहनाम्।

दद्यान्मन्त्रेण पूर्वाह्णे न चैनामभिलङ्घयेत्॥ २५॥

And after that, he should get a golden lotus, eight fingers in length, made with eight leaves and studded with gems, and bedecking it with nice cloth, should give it away to a Brāhmaṇa, along with bedsheet, pillow, utensils, shoes, cāmara, a piece of mattress, looking-glass, garments, fruits, incense, bedstead, a cow with its horns covered with gold and hoofs with silver, along with her calf and a vessel of bell-metal for milching the cow. The cow must necessarily be given away on that occasion.

यथैवादित्यशयनमशून्यं तव सर्वदा।

कात्या घृत्या श्रिया रत्या तथा मे सन्तु सिद्धयः॥ २६॥

Then the devotee should pray to the Sun: “God! as Your house is not bereft of lustre, fortune and prosperity, similarly let mine be also in the enjoyment of same blessings.”

यथा न देवाः श्रेयांसं त्वदन्यमनघं विदुः।

तथा मामुद्धरा शेषदुःखसंसारसागरात्॥ २७॥

“Lord! who else is there, except yourself, to grant me prosperity; consequently, be pleased to safely and comfortably see me through this mundane sea of trials and troubles.”

ततः प्रदक्षिणीकृत्य प्रणिपत्य विसर्जयेत्।

शय्यागवादि तत्सर्वं द्विजस्य भवनं नयेत्॥ २८॥

After that prayer, the devotee should circumambulate and salute the Deity, and then dismiss the Brāhmaṇa and send to his house all the things given in charity. None of them should be kept in the house of the worshipper.

नैतद्विशीलाय न दाम्भिकाय

Nothing should be said about this sacred observance to a blasphemer, to a person of evil conduct, to a hypocrite, or to a false reasoner, for they are liable to profane it. Doing so, would lead to sin.

भक्ताय दान्ताय च गुह्यमेतदाख्येयमानन्दकरं शिवस्य।

इदं महापातकभिन्नराणामप्यक्षरं वेदविदो वदन्ति॥ ३०॥

The self-controlled and the devout are worthy of being told about the mystery of this observance. Those learned in the Vedas assert that it is the destroyer of all sins and giver of all peace and happiness to men.

न बन्धुपुत्रेण बलैर्वियुक्तः

Those women and men who observe this ordinance with devotion, are never bereft of their sons and other dear ones. They attain the Divine felicity, and are free from the curse of disease, grief and suffering.

In early time this ordinance was at first observed by Vasiṣṭha, Arjuna, Kubera and Indra. The mere recitation of this liberates one from all sins.

Kṛṣṇāṣṭamī Vrata and the merits of adoration of Śiva in different months

श्रीभगवानुवाच

कृष्णाष्टमीमथो वक्ष्ये सर्वपापप्रणाशिनीम्।

The adorable Śiva said— I shall now explain to you about the Kṛṣṇāṣṭamī Vrata (ordinance) which is the destroyer of all evils. This fast gives victory, peace and emancipation to men.

शङ्करं मार्गशिरसि शम्भुं पौषेऽभिपूजयेत्।

Śaṅkara should be worshipped on the eighth day of the dark fortnight in the month of Mārgaśīrṣa, Śambhu, on the corresponding day of Pauśa, Maheśvara in Māgha, Mahādeva in Phālguna.

These worships should be performed every month, on all the eight days of the dark fortnight. The devotee should worship the Brāhmaṇas, and should observe a fast after giving away cow, land, gold and cloth to them, especially to the devotees of Śiva. In the night time, Śiva should be worshipped with Pañcagavya¹ and with urine of the cow, clarified-butter, cow's milk, sesamum, barley, Kuśa grass, water, the water of the washing of the cows' horns, the leaves of Śiriṣa, arka (Calatropis gigantea), leaves of Bilva (aegle marmelos) and curds.

The worshipper should feast the learned and the pious, from Mārgaśīrṣa after an interval of two months, under the following trees:— aśvatha

1. Pañcagavya— Five products of the cow, taken collectively; i.e., milk, curd, clarified butter, urine and cowdung.

(the holy fig tree), vaṭa (the banyan tree), udumbara (Ficus glomerata), plakṣa (the rose-apple), palāśa (butea frondosa), jambu (eugenia jambolana); and he should use the tooth-brush made of these trees to cleanse his teeth on those days.

देवाय दद्यादर्घ्यं च कृष्णां गां कृष्णवाससम्।
दद्यात्समाप्ते दध्यन्नं वितानध्वजचामरम्॥ ९॥

An offering of arghya water and black cloth and black cow should be made to the Deity, and at the conclusion of the fast, curds, grain, canopy, flags and cāmara should be given away in charity.

द्विजानामुदकुम्भांश्च पंचरत्नसमन्वितान्।
गावः कृष्णाः सुवर्णं च वासांसि विविधानि च।
अशक्तस्तु पुनर्दद्याद्गामेकामपि शक्तिः॥ १०॥

Brāhmaṇas should be given a vase of water along with five gems, and a black cow, gold and different kinds of cloths. If the worshipper be not in a position to give away all that, he should give a cow at all events.

न वित्तशाठ्यं कुर्वीत कुर्वन्दोषमवाप्नुयात्।
कृष्णाष्टमीमुपोष्यैव सप्तकल्पशतत्रयम्।

Close-fistedness should not be exercised in charity, for it leads to sin. One who observes the Kṛṣṇāṣṭamī fast according to the rules laid down, enjoys happiness after being venerated by the Devas, for 307 kalpas, in the region of Śiva.

Nārada said— O Lord! with moon as your crest-jewel, pray tell me all about the ordinance, the observance of which begets long life, health, fecundity of the race, kingdom, in several successive lives.”

श्रीभगवानुवाच

त्वया पृष्टमिदं सम्यगुक्तं चाक्षय्यकारकम्।
रहस्यं तव वक्ष्यामि यत्पुराणविदो विदुः॥ २॥

The Lord Śiva said— O Nārada! I have already explained to you about the ordinance that confers everlasting blessing on the devotee and I shall now also explain to you more clearly about it, as described by those learned in the Purāṇas.

रोहिणीचन्द्रशयनं नाम व्रतमिहोत्तमम्।
तस्मिन्नारायणस्यार्च्यार्चयेदिन्दुनामभिः॥ ३॥

Rohiṇīcandra śayanavrat is most sacred. The devotee should worship the image of Nārāyaṇa, after reciting the names of the moon in observing it.

यदा सोमदिने शुक्ला भवेत्पंचदशी क्वचित्।
अथवा ब्रह्मनक्षत्रं पौर्णमास्यां प्रजायते॥ ४॥
तदा स्नानं नरः कुर्यात्पंचगव्येन सर्षपैः।
आध्यायस्वेति तु जपेद्विद्वानष्टशतं पुनः॥ ५॥

When the full moon day falls on Monday, or when the Rohiṇī asterism falls on the full moon day; the learned should bathe with pañcagavya and mustard, and after that, should recite “Āpyāya” Mantra for a hundred and eight times.

शूद्रोऽपि परया भक्त्या पाषण्डालापवर्जितः।
सोमाय वरदायाथ विष्णवे च नमो नमः॥६॥

The Śūdra also may observe this Vrata with extreme devotion, freeing himself from the company of all unbelievers, and should devoutly salute the Gods, Moon and Viṣṇu with the following mantra, instead of the Vedic one : somāya varadā yātha viṣṇave ca namo namaḥ.

कृतजप्यः स्वभवनमागत्य मधूसूदनम्।
पूजयेत्फलपुष्पैश्च सोमनामानि कीर्तयन्॥७॥

After finishing his bath and the recitation (japa) of the mantra, he should return to his house and worship Madhusūdana, by offering fruits and flowers and singing the names of Moon (Soma), as given below.

सोमाय शान्ताय नमोस्तु पादा-
वनन्तधाम्नेति च जानुजङ्घे।
ऊरुद्वयं चापि जलोदराय
सम्पूजयेन्मेढ्रमनन्तबाहवे॥८॥

After reciting (1) Somāya Śāntāya namaḥ, should be worshipped the feet (of the Divine image) and after reciting (2) Anantadhāmne namaḥ, should be worshipped the shanks and knees, after reciting (3) Jalodarāya namaḥ, the two thighs, and after reciting (4) Ananta-bhāhave namaḥ, the organ of generation.

Sūta said, "The King Vaivasvata Manu asked the Lord, who was lying in the water in the form of fish, to explain to him when should the sacrifice be performed and what feasts should be employed therein, and what kind of altar should be made for the occasion to consecrate a newly built tank, well and pool, grove and temple.

दक्षिणावलयः कालः स्थानमाचार्य एव च।

द्रव्याणि कानि शस्तानि सर्वमाचक्ष्व तत्त्वतः॥ ३॥

He also asked the Lord to explain what fees to the officiating priest, and sacred offerings to the Deity should then be made. What are the proper time and place for this observance, and what preceptor should be appointed?

The Lord Matsya said— Hear, O Mighty-armed, the rules about tanks, etc., as laid down in the Itihāsa and the Purāṇas, by knowers of the Veda. At the end of the summer solstice, the man performing the ceremony should get the preparatory rites to the observance performed in an auspicious bright fortnight, after consulting a Brāhmaṇa.

प्रागुदक्प्रवणे देशे तडागस्य समीपतः।

चतुर्हस्तां शुभां वेदीं चतुरस्रां चतुर्मुखाम्॥ ६॥

After that, he should get a nice Vedī (square altar) measuring four-hands in length, with four openings made, near the tank, to be consecrated, in the north-eastern direction.

A paṇḍāla (maṇḍapa), measuring sixteen hands, with four openings should also be made, and then around the altar should be made pits (gartas), five, seven or nine, but not more in number, one cubit deep and three circles round them. The receptacle (your) of the altar should be one span long and six or seven fingers broad.¹

गर्ताश्च तत्र सप्त स्युस्त्रिपर्वोच्छ्रितमेखलाः।

सर्वतस्तु सवर्णाः स्युः पताकाध्वजसयुताः॥९॥

The gartas or pits should be seven in number, and the circles should be three inches (parvas i.e. digits) in height. Flags and buntings of the same colour should be on all sides.

In all the four directions of the maṇḍapa, arches of the twigs of the Aśvatha, Udumbara, Plakṣa and Vata trees, should be made.

शुभास्तत्राष्ट होतारो द्वारपालास्तथाष्ट वै।

अष्टौ तु जापकाः कार्यं ब्राह्मणा वेदपारगाः॥११॥

Then eight Brāhmaṇas, versed in the Vedas, should be employed as sacrificial priests (hotā), eight as warders and another eight as Jāpakas.

Afterwards, the family guru (Ācārya) should scatter on the ground the different kinds of boiled rice and barley for presentation to the Gods, after reciting the Vedic text.

अथरत्निमात्रो यूपः स्यात्क्षीरवृक्षविनिर्मितः।

यजमानप्रमाणो वा संस्थाप्यो भूतिमिच्छता॥१५॥

The sacrificial posts should be made of the glamorous fig, measuring three cubits, with closed fist, in length, of the hand of the sacrificer. It is also auspicious to get them made of the size of the worshipper.

Then the worshipper (yajamāna), bathed in the water of different herbs, according to the Vedic injunctions, by those Veda knowing priests, should enter the sacred pavilion, wearing a garland of white flowers, white garments and smeared with white sandal-paste, through the western arch, in company of his consort, sons and grandsons.

ततो मङ्गलशब्देन भेरीणां निःस्वनेन च।

Afterwards, images of the planets and the regents of the world should be established in the proper directions on the different altars, after reciting the Vedic hymns (prescribed for the occasion).

कूर्मादि स्थापयेन्मध्ये वारुण्यां मन्त्रमाश्रितः।

ब्रह्माणं च शिवं विष्णुं तत्रैव स्थापयेद्बुधः॥ २४॥

Then, images of the turtle and other water animals should be established in the middle, after reciting the hymns of Varuṇa (the God of waters), and afterwards images of the Deities, Brahmā, Śiva and Viṣṇu should be established.

विनायकं च विन्यस्य कमलामम्बिकां तथा।

शान्त्यर्थं सर्वलोकानां भूतग्रामं न्यसेत्ततः॥ २५॥

After establishing the images of Gaṇeśa, Lakṣmī and Ambikā and for the peace of the Universe, the images of the group of the Bhūtas should be established.

After garlanding the warders and putting sandal paste on them, the Ācārya priest should ask the warders (the Dvārapāla priests) by saying “paṭhadhvam” to chant the Veda.

बह्वृचौ पूर्वतः स्थाप्यौ दक्षिणेन यजुर्विदौ।

सामगौ पश्चिमे तद्दुत्तरेण त्वथर्वणौ॥ २८॥

In the east should be seated the Vahavṛcas (the two priests versed in the R̥gveda), in the south the two Dvārapālas (learned in the Yajurveda), in the west the two Dvārapālas (learned in the Sāmaveda) and in the north, similarly, the two Dvārapālas (learned in the Atharvaveda).

उत्कृष्टान्मन्त्रजापेन तिष्ठध्वमिति जापकान्।

एवमादिश्य तान्सर्वान्यर्युक्ष्याग्निं स मन्त्रवित्॥ ३०॥

The worshipper should seat himself on the south side, facing the north and the Ācārya should ask the eight (Hotā) priests “Yajadhvam” to commence the sacrifice; and to the skillful Jāpakas he should say “tiṣṭhadvam” (to sit down). Thus directing them, the Ācārya, versed in the sacred text, should sprinkle water silently round the fire without uttering any ritual formula.

जुहुयाद्धारुणैर्मन्त्रैराज्यं च समिधस्तथा।

ऋत्विग्भिश्चाथ होतव्यं वारुणैरेव सर्वतः॥ ३१॥

Sacrificial fuel and clarified butter should be offered to the Fire, after reciting the hymns of Varuṇa, and the sacrificing priests should also be made to do the same all round.

ग्रहेभ्यो विधिवदधुत्वा तथेन्द्रायेश्चराय च।

मरुद्भ्यो लोकपालेभ्यो विधिवद्विश्वकर्मणे॥ ३२॥

Afterwards, according to the prescribed rites, offerings should be made to the planets, Indra, Īśvara, Maruts, Lokapālas and Viśvakarmā.

रात्रिसूक्तं च रौद्रं च पावमानं सुमङ्गलम्।

शाक्रं रौद्रं च सौम्यं च कूष्माण्डं जातवेदसम्।

सौरसूक्तं जपेन्मन्त्रं दक्षिणेन यजुर्विदः॥ ३४॥

Then the knowers of the R̥gveda, seated in the east, should separately mutter the formulae of Rātrisūkta, Rudrasūkta, the auspicious Pāvamānasūkta and Puruṣasūkta; in the same way the Dvārapālas, learned in the Yajurveda, seated in the south, should separately mutter the formulae of Indra, Rudra, Soma, Kūṣmāṇḍa, Fire (Jātavedas) and the Sun.

गायेयुः सामगा राजन् पश्चिमं द्वारमाश्रिताः॥ ३६॥

Similarly, the Dvārapālas, the chanters of the Sāmaveda, seated in the west, should chant the hymns of Vairājya, Pauruṣasūkta, Suvarṇa, Rudra Samhitā, Śaiśava, Pañcanidhana, Gāyatrīsūkta, Jyeṣṭha, Sāma, Vāmadevya, Br̥hatasāma, Raurava, Rathantara, Kāṇva, Gavām vratam, Rakṣoghna and Vayas.

अथर्वाणश्चोत्तरतः शान्तिकं पौष्टिकं तथा।

जपेयुर्मनसा देवमाश्रित्या वरुणं प्रभुम्॥ ३७॥

Afterwards, the learned (Dvārapālas) in the Atharvaveda, seated in the north, meditating on Varuṇa, should devoutly recite the mantras of the Śāntikas and the Pauṣṭikas.

पूर्वेद्युरभितो रात्रावेवं कृत्वाधिवासनम्।

गजाश्वरथ्यावल्मीकात्सङ्गमादध्वगोकुलात्।

After performing the above-mentioned ceremonies on the first day, adhivāsana¹ should be done, and then the earth of the following places, viz., Elephant ward, stable, well, lane, pool, cattle-shed, ant-hill, the place where four streets meet, should be put into the pitchers full of water (placed in the maṇḍapa).

रोचनां च ससिद्धार्थां गन्धं गुग्गुलमेव च।

स्नपनं तस्य कर्तव्यं पञ्चगव्यसमन्वितम्॥ ३९॥

Then the worshipper should bathe in the water, incensed with the following things: the yellow pigment white mustard, sandal paste and resin together with pañcagavya (five products of the cow).

प्रत्येकं तु महामन्त्रैरेवं कृत्वा विधानतः।

1. Preliminary rite of consecrating an idol before it is placed or a pupil before he is initiated.

पंचाशद्वाऽथ षट्त्रिंशत्पंच विंशतिरप्यथ॥४१॥

Having thus finished the preliminary rites performed with the utterance of great mantras, with regard to each ceremony, the worshipper should pass the night in sleep. In the morning, the worshipper should give away 100 or 68 or 50 or 36 or 25 cows to the Brāhmaṇas.

ततः सांवत्सरप्रोक्ते शुभे लग्ने सुशोभने।

Later on, on some auspicious day and hour, as calculated by the astrologer (Sāmavatsara) the worshipper should give away after making her pass through the water of the pond, etc., to be consecrated, a cow decked with gold, to the Brāhmaṇa versed in the Sāmaveda, after chanting the text of the Vedas accompanied with music.

Afterwards, the worshipper should put, five different kinds of gems on a plate of gold, and give away to the Brāhmaṇa, and should place the alligator, fish etc., in a pond. Then he should worship the above mentioned cow standing in water, held by the Brāhmaṇas versed in all the four Vedas, with the Gaṅgā water, curd and rice and should afterwards make it swim in the water facing towards the north.

The cow should then be bathed by reciting the text of the Atharvaveda etc., such as punarāmeti, as well as āpohiṣṭhā, and then the worshipper should return to the circle of priests. Then the tank should be worshipped and bali offerings should be made on four sides of it. Afterwards, homa sacrifice should be performed for four days.

चतुर्थीकर्म कर्तव्यं देया तत्रापि शक्तिः।

दक्षिणा राजशार्दूल वरुणक्ष्मापणं ततः॥४८॥

At the end of these ceremonies the Caturthī-karma should be performed, when the worshipper should give dakṣiṇā to the Brāhmaṇas, according to his means and should mutter mantras of Varuṇa.

कृत्वा तु यज्ञपात्राणि यज्ञोपकरणानि च।

ऋत्विग्यस्तु समं दत्त्वा मण्डपं विभजेत्युनः।

हेमपात्रीं च शय्यां च स्थापकाय निवेदयेत्॥४९॥

Then the entire materials employed in the performance of the sacrifice, including the paṇḍala, should be equally distributed to the Rtvijas and the golden bedstead should be conferred on the chief priest.

ततः सहस्रं विप्राणामथवाष्टशतं तथा।

भोजनीयं यथाशक्ति पंचाशद्वाथ विंशतिः।

एवमेषु पुराणेषु तडागविधिरुच्यते॥५०॥

Afterwards, the worshipper should feast either 1,000, 800, 50 or 20 Brāhmaṇas, according to his means, which is the way of consecrating the tank, as described in the Purāṇas.

कूपवापीषु सर्वासु तथा पुष्करिणीषु च।

एष एव विधिर्दृष्टः प्रतिष्ठासु तथैव च॥५१॥

And, similarly, it has been laid down for the consecration of wells, pools, small tanks etc.

अयं त्वशक्तावर्द्धेन विधिर्दृष्टः स्वयम्भुवा।

अल्पेष्वेकाग्निवत्कृत्वा वित्तशाठ्यादते नृणाम्॥५२॥

As to the consecration of palaces, groves, lands and buildings, the ritual formulae are somewhat different from the consecration of tanks. Lord Brahmā has prescribed these rites for the wealthy. Forty people, in less favourable circumstances, should follow the Ekāgni rites, without giving way to miserliness.

प्रावृट्काले स्थिते तोये ह्यग्निष्टोमफलं स्मृतम्।
शरत्काले स्थितं यत्स्यात्तदुक्तफलदायकम्।
वाजपेयातिरात्राभ्यां हेमन्ते शिशिरे स्थितम्॥५३॥

The consecration of tanks in the rainy seasons and autumn begets the fruit of Agniṣṭoma sacrifice¹, and of the Vājapeya² and Atirātra sacrifice in the seasons of Hemanta (winter season) and Śiśira (spring season).

अश्वमेधसमं प्राह वसन्तसमये स्थितम्।
ग्रीष्मेऽपि तत्स्थितं तोयं राजसूयाद्विशिष्यते॥५४॥

The consecration in the vernal season (Vasanta) begets the benefit of Aśvamedha sacrifice, and of the Rājasūya in the summer season.

एतान्महाराज विशेषधर्मान्

The Lord has said that one who performs the ceremonies mentioned above, with the mind purified by scriptures and with full faith in them, goes to the region of Śiva and resides in heaven for many ages.

Afterwards, that man goes and enjoys in higher regions, and remaining there for the full life of Brahmā, to the extent of two Parārdhas, gets emancipation and enters into the highest stage with Viṣṇu. And all this he gets through the merit acquired by the performance of this ceremony.

The wise who observes these rites in dedicating the plantation of trees, obtains all his desires and attains to endless felicity. One who plants even one tree, O King! According to the prescribed rites, resides in heaven for 30,000 years of Indra. The planter of trees, according to the prescribed rites, liberates the same number of his past and future manes and attains the highest perfection and is never re-born on earth. One who hears or relates to others these prescribed ceremonies goes to the region of Brahmā and is venerated by the Devas.

CHAPTER 60

About the ordinance of Saubhāgya-śayana

मत्स्य उवाच

तथैवान्यत् प्रवक्ष्यामि सर्वकामफलप्रदम्।
सौभाग्यशयनं नाम यत् पुराणविदो विदुः॥ १॥

The Lord Fish said— I shall now relate to you the Saubhāgya Śayana Vrata (ordinance), the giver of all bliss which is known to the Paurāṇikas.

पुरा दग्धेषु लोकेषु भूर्भुवःस्वमर्हादिषु।
सौभाग्यं सर्वभूतानामेकस्थमभवत्तदा।
वैकुण्ठं स्वर्गमासाद्य विष्णोर्वक्षःस्थलस्थितम्॥ २॥

ततः कालेन महता पुनः सर्गविधौ नृपः।

लिङ्गाकारा समुद्भूता वह्नेर्ज्वालातिभीषणा।
तयाभितप्तस्य हरेर्वक्षसस्तद्विनिःसृतम्॥ ४॥

When the regions Bhūh, Bhuvah, Svar and Maha, etc. were consumed, then the good fortune of all creatures went and centered itself in the heart of the Lord Viṣṇu, in Vaikuṇṭha heaven. Again, long time after, with the object of creating the world. O King! The plastic material, consisting of Pradhāna (root matter), and conscious souls called Puruṣas, was enveloped with self consciousness (ahankāra), when there arose a rivalry between Brahmā and Kṛṣṇa, regarding the fashioning of the future world. Then (from their clashing wills), a terrifying flame of fire arose in the form of a liṅga (pillar) by the warmth of which the good luck of the world resting in the heart of Hari came out (in the form of perspiration).

That good fortune emerging from the heart of Viṣṇu, passed through the Intermediate plane (antarikṣa) before it could reach the earth in liquid form, and Dakṣa the wise son of Brahmā, drank up this giver of beauty and loveliness.

बलं तेजो महज्जातं दक्षस्य परमेष्ठिनः।

लवणं चाष्टमं तद्वत् सौभाग्याष्टकमुच्यते॥ ९॥

Then Dakṣa got mighty power and great lustre, and the remainder of (the good luck) which reached the Earth was divided into eight parts. From them were produced the seven givers of prosperity to all men, namely (1) sugarcane, the kings of all juices Rasarājam (2) Niṣpāva, coriander seed (?), (3) the cuminseed (Kālājīrā), (4) the clarified butter (ghṛta), (5) cow's milk (Kṣīra), (6) saffron (Kusumbha), (7) safflower (Kumkuma). So also the common salt was produced as the eight, and these are called Saubhāgya Aṣṭaka, the eight blessings.

That which was drunk by Dakṣa, the son of Brahmā, the knower of Yoga, became his daughter, known as Satī (Pārvatī). Pārvatī, owing to Her matchless beauty, came to be known as Lalitā; and that paragon of beauty was afterwards married by the Lord Śiva. The very Satī is called the Goddess who gives bliss (Saubhāgyamayī), and also prosperity and emancipation. Those men and women who worship Her with devotion may obtain everything.

The Lord Fish said— The devotee should bathe himself with sesamum in the forenoon, on the third day of the lunar fortnight, in the month of Caitra, during the vernal season; for, on that day, the Goddess was united to Śiva, the soul of the Universe, with martial rites. On that day, Śiva, along with His consort, Pārvatī, should be worshipped with flowers, fruits, incense, lamps and offerings of foods, and the image (of Gaurī) should be bathed with Pañcagavya and scented waters, after which Gaurī and Śaṅkara should be worshipped as follows.

The following special articles of diet and mantra of gift (Dāna) should be observed; hear them from me. The devotee should drink the washing of the cow's horns in the month of Caitra, eat cowdung in the month of Vaiśākha. The flower of Mandāra tree in the month of Jyeṣṭha, the leaves of the wood apple (Bilvapatra) in the month of Āṣāḍha, curds in the month of Śrāvaṇa, the water sprinkled with the Kuśa grass in the month of Bhādra. Milk in Āśvina, clarified butter, mixed with curd, in Kārtika, the cow's urine in Mārgaśīra, clarified butter in Pauṣa, Black sesamum in Māgha, Pañcagavya in Phālguna. At the time of giving away the gifts, the devotee should recite the following mantra: “Lalitā, Vijayā, Bhadrā, Bhavānī, Kumudā, Śivā, Vāsudevī, Gaurī, Maṅgalā, Kamlā, Satī, Umā, be pleased.” In other words, the devotee should in each month invoke the pleasure of the Goddess by reciting a fresh name out of the twelve names mentioned, viz., in Caitra he should say, “Lalitā be pleased,” in Vaiśākha, “Vijayā be pleased,” and so on.

He should offer the following varieties of flowers (one each month), at the time of worship: Mallikā, Aśoka, Lotus, Kadamba, Utpala, Mālatī, Kubjaka, Karabīra, Bānam, Amlāna, Kuṅkuma and Sindhuvara; or any of the following flowers, as procurable, should be offered, viz. Jasmine, Safflower, Mālatī, Lotus and Karabīra.

स्त्री भक्ता वा कुमारी वा शिवमभ्यर्च्य भक्तिः।

व्रतान्ते शयनं दद्यात्सर्वोपस्करसंयुतम्॥ ४१॥

Married woman or maid, after worshipping Śiva with full devotion, at the end of the ordinance, should give away a bedstead, along with all the necessary requisites.

उमामहेश्वरं हैमं वृषभं च गवां सह।

स्थापयित्वाथ शयने ब्राह्मणाय निवेदयेत्॥४२॥

At the time of giving away the bedstead, the following things should also be placed on it and given away along with it: The golden images of Śiva and Pārvatī, the golden figures of ox and cow.

अन्यान्यपि यथाशक्ति मिथुनान्यम्बरादिभिः।

धान्यालङ्कारगोदानैरभ्यर्च्येद्धनसंचयैः।

The birth of Agastya and the dialogue between Nārada and Śiva

नारद उवाच

भूर्लोकोऽथ भुवर्लोकः स्वर्लोकोऽथ महर्जनः।

तपः सत्यं च सप्तैते देवलोकाः प्रकीर्तिताः॥१॥

Nārada said— Śiva! There are named the following seven regions of the Devas, viz., Bhuḥ, Bhuvah, Svah, Manah, Janah, Tapah, Satyam.

पर्यायेण तु सर्वेषामधिपत्यं कथं भवेत्।

How may perfection be obtained in succession over these lokās and how one may obtain in this earth prosperity, beauty, long life and blessing. Please also explain to me how they become blessed with fortune, beauty and wealth?

Śiva said— Formerly, a fearful fire was ablaze on this earth accompanied with a strong wind. The friction caused by the wind produced the fire for the destruction of the demons, at the command of Puruhūta (Indra).

That terrific fire reduced many demons to ashes, when Tārakāśura, Kamalākṣa, Kāladanṣṭra, Parāvasu and Virocana fled from their warfare with the Devas.

They all plunged themselves into the waters of the sea and took up their abode there, where fire with the help of air could not consume them.

ततः प्रभृति ते देवान् मनुष्यान् सह जङ्गमान्।

संपीड्य च मुनीन् सर्वान् प्रविशन्ति पुनर्जलम्॥ ६॥

Afterwards, the demons began to come out of the waters and persecute the Devas, men, sages and other living beings, and disappear again into the sea.

एवं वर्षसहस्राणि वीराः पंच च सप्त च।

जलदुर्गबलाद्ब्रह्मन् पीडयन्ति जगत्त्रयम्॥ ७॥

In that way, the demons asserted their boldness for twelve thousand years and continued their campaign of persecuting the three worlds, for a period of five or seven years at a time, by taking shelter in the fortress of the ocean.

ततः परमथो वह्निमारुतावमराधिपः।

Later on, Indra directed the fire and the wind to dry up the ocean in the following words : Dry up this receptacle of water quickly.

यस्मादस्मदद्विषामेष शरणं वरुणालयः।

तस्माद्भवद्भयामद्यैव क्षयमेव प्रणीयताम्॥ ९॥

“Because it shelters my foes. They have taken their refuge in the home of Varuṇa. It should therefore be dried up as quick as possible.

Hearing that mandate of Indra, both fire and wind said to Him, the destroyer of Sambara— “It would be a great sin to destroy the ocean. Because innumerable beings had made it their home, and the destruction of the ocean meant their annihilation along with it, therefore, we, O Purandara, cannot do it. Lacs and lacs of beings inhabit the ocean, within the space of every yojana. It was not meet for us to annihilate them. What fault have they done to be destroyed. O chief of the Devas.”

Hearing the speech of the fire and the wind, Indra became full of wrath. His eyes turned crimson red, and it appeared as if He was going to eat up both fire and wind. In his rage, he said.

“There is no question of Dharma or Adharma where Immortals are concerned, and your glory is still more high. O Agni and Vāyu! Since you have violated my injunction and have adopted the duties of the Munis not to injure any being, and since you have leaned towards the enemies who are devoid of religion and politics, losing sight of duty and Śāstra; therefore You, O fire, will now be born by assuming one body along with Maruta, among the mortals, in the form of a sage. In that form of the sage Agastya, you will dry up the ocean, after which you will again come back to your Divine form.”

After thus being cursed by Indra, both of them fell on the earth, where they were jointly born out of the pitcher by the seeds of Mitra Varuṇī and came to be known as Agastya— the younger brother of Vasiṣṭha, and one of the most renowned ascetics.

Nārada asked Śiva how Agastya became the brother of Vasiṣṭha, and how Mitra Varuṇa became his father and how the sage Agastya was born out of the pitcher?

Śiva said that, once upon a time Lord Viṣṇu, the son of Dharma, began to practise rigid asceticism on the summit of the Gandhamādana mountain. Indra being afraid of His austerities, sent a group of nymphs in company of the Vernal-season and Cupid to distract Him from His penances and destroy His austerities.

तदा तद्गीतवाद्येन नाङ्गरागादिना हरिः।

The Lord Hari was not in any way moved by the songs and music, gestures and tones of the Cupid and the spring, nor was his mind attracted to external objects.

Finding the Lord remaining firm, the agents of Indra began to shiver with fear, when the Lord, in order to further bewilder them, produced from His thigh a damsel of exquisite beauty, fascinating the dwellers of the three worlds.

संक्षुब्धास्तु तथा देवास्तौ तु देववरावुभौ।

Seeing whom, all the Devas, along with Cupid and spring, became enamoured of her, when the Lord said to them, in the presence of the Apsarās.

अप्सरा इति सा मान्या देवानामब्रवीद्धरिः।

Then the God Mitra called her, and asked her to enjoy with Him, which she accepted.

Afterwards, the lotus-eyed Urvaśī, while moving in the sky slowly, was caught by Varuṇa, who slowly pulled her by her cloth, at which she told Him: “Your action is not proper. Because I have accepted Mitra first, and consequently I cannot be your wife, O Varuṇa.” Varuṇa told her, “Keep me atleast in your favour and then go elsewhere.”

She replied— “All right.” When Mitra heard this, he cursed her: “You go down to the world of the mortals and be married to the son of moon, Budha because you have followed the ways of a courtesan.” Saying that, both Varuṇa and Mitra threw their seed in a pitcher of water, out of which two sages (Agastya and Vasiṣṭha) came out.

Once upon a time King Nimi was playing with women the game of dice, where Vasiṣṭha, the son of Brahmā, chanced to go. At that time the king did not show his respect to the sage, at which the latter got annoyed and cursed him to become bodyless, and the king also pronounced another curse on the sage.

They both became bereft of reason, as it were, through the curse of each other, and went to Brahmā, the Lord of the Universe, to remedy the effects of the curses.

With the orders of Brahmā, Nimi entered the eyes of the mankind, and this causes them to open their eyes; but when Nimi takes rest, they close their eyes; and hence this shutting and closing of the eyes is called winking or nimeṣa. Vasiṣṭha, similarly, entered that pitcher of water and was born out of it and after him the sage Agastya was born, of the same pitcher, of white colour, with four hands, sacred thread, kamaṇḍalu and garland.

King Vaivasvata Manu said— Lord! Pray tell me about a vrata (ordinance) that may be the giver of good luck, health, prosperity, emancipation and everlasting fruit in the next world.

Lord Matsya said— I shall relate to you what Śiva, the destroyer of Pura, said to Pārvatī, in answer to a question put by her, while he was sitting on the beautiful peak of the Kailāśa. I shall explain to you now the ordinance which gives prosperity and emancipation, as enunciated by Him, in the course of a conversation on religious and pleasant subjects in which they were engaged.

Lord Vāmadeva, created Brāhmaṇas from his mouth, Kṣatriyas from his arms, Vaiśyas respectively and created the lightening from Vajra, clouds, rainbow of different colours, besides the metres.

ततः साध्यगणानीशस्त्रिनेत्रानसृजत्पुनः।

Thereafter the powerful Vāmadeva, created eighty four crores of Sādhyas who were free from birth and death and had three eyes each.

वामोऽसृजन्नमर्त्यास्तान्ब्रह्मणा विनिवारितः।
 नैवविधा भवेत्सृष्टिर्जरामरणवर्जिता॥ ३१॥

Since they were free from birth and death at the time of creation by Vāmadeva, therefore Brahmā, stopped them from indulging in creation work because there could be no creation without birth and death.

शुभाशुभात्मिका या तु सैव सृष्टिः प्रशस्यते।
 एवं स्थितः स तेनादौ सृष्टेः स्थाणुरतोऽभवत्॥ ३२॥

The creation which is the combination of auspicious and inauspicious, it happens to be commendable. At these words of Brahmā, Vāmadeva was relieved of the job of creation and thereafter he became motionless.

(Now there is the description of sexual creation). The immensely intelligent Svayambhu Manu performed severe tapas and achieved a beautiful girl named Anantī, as his wife. Two sons named Priyavrata and Uttānapāda were born of her. Thereafter Sūnṛtā, the daughter of Dharma who was extremely beautiful walked gracefully, besides being intelligent one, in relation with Uttānapāda, produced the sons.

At the same time, Uttānapāda, the Prajāpati, produced four sons named Apasyati, Apasyanta, Kīrtimān and Dhruva.

Even today the seven sages² are lodged in the space, with Dhruva appearing as the foremost of them.

In union with the same Dhruva, Dhanyā, the daughter of the Manu, gave birth to Śiṣṭā. With the union of Śiṣṭā with Suchāyā, the daughter of the fire god, produced the children named Kṛpa, Ripuñjaya, Vṛtta, Vṛka, Vṛkatejas, and Cakṣusa.

1. An exhaustive account of Dhruva's translation to stellar regions occurs in Viṣṇupuranam.

2. The seven sages, Marīci, Atri, Aṅgiras, Pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu and Vasiṣṭha : here the constellation called Ursa Major, the seven stars of which are said to be the seven sages mentioned above.

Ripuñjaya, out of them produced Cākṣuṣa Manu from the womb of Viriṇī, the daughter of Vīraṇa. Cākṣuṣa Manu, on the other hand produced from the princess Naḍvala, the sons named Uru, Puru, Satadyumna, Satyavāk, Havi, Agniṣṭut, Atirātra, Sudyumna, Aparājita and Abhimanyu, who had been the tenth. All the ten of them were quite valorous.

Sunīthā, the daughter of the manes, in union with Aṅga, gave birth to Vena. (Vena was quite an evil one and met with his end due to the curse from a Brāhmaṇa). The Brāhmaṇas then churned the hand of irreligious Vena, as a result of which the immensely glorious Pṛthu was born. He had two sons.

They were named as Antardhāna as well as Havirdhāna. Out of them, Antardhāna, produced a son named Mārīca from his wife Śikhāṇḍinī. Dhiṣaṇa, the daughter of Agni, in union with Havirdhāna, produced six sons named Prācīnabarhis, Śāṅga, Yama, Bala and Śubha. Out of them, Prācīnabarhis was crowned as Prajāpati. He expanded several races in the name of Havirdhāna and produced ten sons, from Savarṇā, the daughter of the ocean. He was extremely proficient in the science of archery and became popular in the name of Pracetā. O Son of Sūrya, because of the tapas of these Pracetās, remaining well protected the trees look graceful everywhere, but at the command of Indra, all the trees were burnt out by Agni, reducing them to ashes.

The devotee should take the following things, one after the other, from the month of Bhādrapada— Cow's urine, cowdung, cow's milk, curds, clarified butter, the water of Kuśa grass, the leaves of the wood-apple (bilva), the flowers of Calotropis-gigantea (arka), barley (yava), the washing of the cow's horns, Pañcagavya¹ and Bael fruit; and offer these to the Goddess as Prāśana. They should be taken one by one, viz., on the third day of Bhādrapada cow's urine, in the month of Āśvina cowdung, and so on.

प्रतिपक्षं च मिथुनं तृतीयायां वरानने।

पूजयित्वा च येद्भक्त्या वस्त्रमाल्यानुलेपनैः॥ २७॥

In the same way, on every third day of the bright and dark fortnights, the devotee should, after adoring the God Śiva with his consort, offer them cloths, garlands, flowers, sandal. To a male God, a yellow garment should be offered and to a female goddess, saffron-coloured dress.

The Goddess Kumudā², Vimalā, Anantā,

Bhavānī, Sudhā, Śivā, Lalitā, Kamalā, Gaurī, Satī, Rambhā, Pārvatī should also be worshipped. The devotee should invoke the pleasure of the Goddess by reciting each of the names mentioned above, one by one, from Bhādrapada, viz., “Kumudā Priyatām,” Kumudā be pleased and satisfied, and so on. On the completion of the ordinance, a bedstead along with a golden lotus, should be given away to the Brāhmaṇa.

मिथुनानि चतुर्विंशदश द्वौ च समर्चयेत्।

अष्टौ षड्वाप्यथ पुनश्चानुमासं समर्चयेत्॥ ३२॥

Every month, 24, 10, 8, 6 or 2 Brāhmaṇas, with their wives, should be adored by the devotee and by his consort.

पूर्वं दत्त्वा तु गुरवे शेषानप्यर्चयेद्बुधः।

उक्तानन्ततृतीयैषा सदानन्तफलप्रदा॥ ३३॥

After first giving Dakṣiṇā to the guru, it should be given to other Brāhmaṇas. This is what has been laid down for the observance of this ordinance—the giver of infinite benefit.

Women who are in the family way, maids, those in confinement due to delivery, and those who are ailing, should take their food at night (not keeping the full fast). If one is in her menses, and so cannot observe it through impurity, she should get it observed by others,

1. The five products of the cow taken collectively i.e. milk, curd, clarified butter or ghī, urine and cow dung. All these are regarded as sacred articles of paramount; and essential importance for worshipping a deity.

2. All the above Goddesses are really manifestations of the same deity. The words Kumuda, etc., may be taken also as different names of one and the same

Goddess for the purposes of worship in different months and tithis.

according to the prescribed rites. She herself should observe continence.

The Lord Śiva said— I shall now describe to you another Tṛtīyā ordinance that washes off all the sins and is known as “Rasakalyāṇinī tṛtīyā” by knowers of ancient rituals. In observing it the devotee should bathe in cow's milk and sesamum on the third day of the bright fortnight in the month of Māgha. The Goddess should be bathed with honey and the juice of sugarcane. The right hand side of the Goddess should be worshipped first and the left hand side afterwards, with the following mantras.

ललितायै नमो देव्याः पादौ गुल्फौ ततोऽर्चयेत्।

जंघां जानुं तथा शान्त्यै तथैवोरुं श्रियै नमः॥ ४॥

The feet and the ankle should be worshipped, after reciting (1) Lalitāyai namaḥ “I salute the Goddess Lalitā,” the legs and the knees, after pronouncing (2) Śāntyai namaḥ, the thighs, after reciting (3) Śriyai namaḥ.

The waist, after reciting (24) “Suratavāsīnyai namaḥ”, the thighs, after reciting (25) “Campakapriyāyai namaḥ”, the knees and the legs, after reciting (26) “Gauryai namaḥ”, the ankles, after reciting (27) “Gāyatryai namaḥ”.

धराधरायै पादौ तु विश्वकार्यै नमः शिरः।

नमो भवान्यै कामिन्यै कामदेव्यै जगत्प्रिये॥११॥

The feet, after reciting (28) “Dharādharāyai namaḥ”, the head, after reciting, “Viśvakāryai namaḥ.” Namobhavānīyai, Kāmīnyai, Kāmadevyai, Jagatapriyāyai, should also be said.

एवं सम्पूज्य विधिवद्विजदाम्पत्यमर्चयेत्।

भोजयित्वा न्नपानेन मधुरेण विमत्सरः॥१२॥

The Goddess should be worshipped like this, and then the Brāhmaṇa and his wife should also be honoured and feasted with sweet food and drink.

जलपूरितं तथा कुंभं शुक्लाम्बरयुगद्वयम्।

दत्त्वा सुवर्णकमलं गन्धमाल्यैः समर्चयेत्॥१३॥

A pitcher, full of water and decorated with a pair of white cloths, along with a golden lotus and flower-garlands and sandal, should be given away in charity to the Brāhmaṇa.

प्रीयतामत्र कुमुदा गृहीयाल्लवणव्रतम्।

अनेन विधिना देवीं मासि मासि सदार्चयेत्॥१४॥

Afterwards, the devotee should say, O Kumudā Goddess! Be pleased and accept this lavaṇavrata. In this way, the Goddess should be worshipped each month. The Goddess Kumudā becomes pleased with the devotee by the observance of this ordinance.

लवणं वर्जयेन्माघे फाल्गुने च गुडं पुनः।

तैलं राजिं तथा चैत्रे वर्ज्ये च मधु माघवे॥१५॥

In the month of Māgha, salt should not be taken, raw sugar should be avoided in Phālguna, oil and mustard should be discarded in Caitra, and honey and sweets should be avoided in Vaiśākha.

पानकं ज्येष्ठमासे तु आषाढे चाथ जीरकम्।

श्रावणे वर्जयेत् क्षीरं दधि भाद्रपदे तथा॥१६॥

In the month of Jyēṣṭha puddings should be avoided, cumin-seed should be discarded in Āṣāḍha, milk in Śrāvaṇa, curds in Bhādrapada.

घृतमाश्वयुजे तद्वदूर्जं वर्ज्यं च माक्षिकम्।

धान्यकं मार्गशीर्षे तु पौषे वर्ज्यं च शर्करा॥१७॥

Clarified butter in Āśvina, honey in Kārttika, coriander in Mārgaśīrṣa, sugar in Pauṣa should be avoided.

व्रतान्ते करकं पूर्णमेतेषां मासि मासि च।

दद्याद्विकालवेलायां पूर्णपात्रेण संयुताम्॥१८॥

On the completion of the ordinance, a Kamaṇḍalu, full of water, along with a full vessel, should be given away in charity, each month, in the afternoon.

लङ्कूकाञ्ज्वेतर्णांश्च संयावमथ पूरिकाः।

घारिकानप्यपूपांश्च पिष्टापूपांश्च मण्डकान्॥१९॥

क्षीरं शाकं च दध्यन्नमिण्डर्योऽशोकवर्तिकाः।

तद्वद्गोमिथुनं शुक्लं सुवर्णास्यं सिताम्बरम्।

सवस्त्रभाजनं दद्याद्भवानी प्रीयतामिति॥ २५॥

Again in the month of Māgha, sugar should be placed on the Kamaṇḍalu and after saying, "Goddess be pleased," should be given away to a Brāhmaṇa in charity— the golden image of Pārvatī, of the size of an inch, after decorating it with the five gems, rosary, sacred thread, Kamaṇḍalu, the figure of the moon with four arms, white eyes and white clothes; a pair of white cows, decorated with gold and covered with white cloth, along with a milking vessel.

अनेन विधिना यस्तु रसकल्याणिनीव्रतम्।

नवार्बुदसहस्रं तु न दुःखी जायते नरः।

सुवर्णकमलं गौरि मासि मासि ददन्नरः।

अग्निष्टोमसहस्रस्य यत्फलं तदवाप्नुयात्॥ २७॥

One who observes this Rasa Kalyaṇinī Tr̥tīyā ordinance, becomes instantly liberated from sins and never remains grieved for 9000001000 years. One who gives away an image of Pārvatī, with a golden lotus, each month, gets the benefit of performing a thousand agniṣṭoma sacrifices.

नारी वा कुरुते या तु कुमारी वा वरानने।

विधवा या तथा नारी सापि तत्फलमाप्नुयात्।

सौभाग्यारोग्यसम्पन्ना गौरीलोके महीयते॥ २८॥

The married woman, or the maid, or the widow who observes this ordinance, derives the same benefit and gets good luck and health and goes to the realm of Pārvatī.

इति पठति शृणोति श्रावयेद्यः प्रसङ्गात्

About the ordinance of Ārdrānandakārī tṛtīyā

ईश्वर उवाच

तथैवान्यां प्रवक्ष्यामि तृतीयां पापनाशिनीम्।
नाम्ना च लोके विख्यातामार्द्रानन्दकरीमिमाम्॥ १॥

Śiva said— Nārada! I shall now tell you about the ordinance known as Ārdrānandakārī tṛtīyā, which is the destroyer of all sins.

यदा शुक्लतृतीयायामाषाढर्क्ष भवेत्क्वचित्।
ब्रह्मर्क्षं वा मृगर्क्षं वा हस्तो मूलमथापि वा।

तावद्वर्षसहस्राणि शिवलोके महीयते॥ १३॥

Having worshipped in this way, he should make, according to rules, in front of image of Śiva and Pārvatī pictures of lotus, etc., with various coloured powders. He should also make pictures of conch, quoit, flags, tridents, (svastika, goad) and cāmara. As many grains of the coloured powder as fall on the ground, the devotee remains for the same number of thousands of years in the realm of Śiva.

चत्वारि घृतपात्राणि सहिरण्यानि शक्तिः।

दत्त्वा द्विजाय करकमुदकात्रसमन्वितम्।

प्रतिपक्षं चतुर्मासं यावदेतन्निवेदयेत्॥ १४॥

For four months, in the dark as well as in the bright fortnight, the devotee should give away to the Brāhmaṇas four kamaṇḍalus full of water, grain and gold and having a vessel of clarified butter and gold on top of them.

ततस्तु चतुरो मासान्पूर्ववत्करकोपरि।

चत्वारि सक्तुपात्राणि तिलपात्राण्यतः परम्॥ १५॥

Then, for another four months, the four kamaṇḍalus should be given away, after placing four pots of barley meal (Saktu), along with a vessel, full of sesamum on top of them and after that, for another four months, 4 pots of sesamum should be placed on top of the kamaṇḍalus and for one year from the month of Mārgaśira on the tṛtīyā tithi the devotee should offer the following eatables to the deities, one in each month (1) Incense : with water (2) flower, (3) sandal and water, (4) saffron and water, (5) curd, (6) unboiled milk, (7) washing of the cow's horns, (8) water and flour, (9) water mixed with powdered kuṣṭha (a kind of plant, called Costus speciosus), (10) Andropogan Muricatus, (11) water mixed with powdered barley, (12) cumin-seed, sesamum and water.

सर्वत्र शुक्लपुष्पाणि प्रशस्तानि सदार्चने।

दानकाले च सर्वत्र मन्त्रमेतमुदीरयेत्॥ १९॥

In the worship of this Goddess, white flowers are said to be the best; and at the time of giving away dāna (presents to the Brāhmaṇas), the following mantra should be uttered.

गौरी मे प्रीयतां नित्यमघनाशाय मङ्गला।

सौभाग्यायास्तु ललिता भवानी सर्वसिद्धये॥ २०॥

“O Goddess Gaurī, be pleased, O Goddess Maṅgalā, the giver of happiness, liberate me from sins, O Goddess Lalitā, promote my good luck, O Bhavānī, fulfil all my desires.”

इह लोके सदानन्दमाप्नोति धनसम्पदः।

आयुरारोग्यसम्पत्त्या न कश्चिच्छोकमाप्नुयात्॥ २४॥

One who observes this ordinance, called Ārdranandakarī tṛtīyā, goes to the region of Śiva and attains healthy longevity, wealth and happiness in this world, and never gets grief or woe.

नारी वा कुरुते या तु कुमारी विधवा च या।

The person, acquainted with the rites, duly observing this ordinance, goes to the realm of the Goddess Pārvatī.

य इदं शृणुयान्नित्यं श्रावयेद्वापि मानवः।

शक्रलोके स गन्धर्वैः पूज्यतेऽपि युगत्रयम्॥ २७॥

One, who hears or relates this ordinance to others, goes to the region of Indra, and is venerated by the Gandharvas for three ages.

CHAPTER 65

Vow of Akṣaya-tṛtīyā and its merit

ईश्वर उवाच

अथान्यामपि वक्ष्यामि तृतीयां सर्वकामदाम्।

यस्यां दत्तं हुतं जप्तं सर्वं भवति चाक्षयम्॥ १॥

Śiva said— I shall now explain to you about the Akṣayatṛtīyā (giver of all desires) vrata, on which day the performance of charity, sacrifice or Japa gives inexhaustible benefit to the devotee.

वैशाखशुक्लपक्षे तु तृतीया यैरुपोषिता।

अक्षयं फलमाप्नोति सर्वस्य सुकृतस्य च॥ २॥

One who keeps a fast on the third day of bright fortnight, in the month of Vaiśākha, derives inexhaustible fruit of all his good deeds.

सा तथा कृत्तिकोपेता विशेषेण सुपूजिता।

तत्र दत्तं हुतं जप्तं सर्वमक्षयमुच्यते॥ ३॥

If the asterism Kṛttika happens to fall on that day, it becomes still more sacred and charity, sacrifice or Japa performed then, begets inexhaustible benefits.

अक्षया सन्ततिस्तस्यास्तस्यां सुकृतमक्षयम्।

अक्षतेस्तु नराः स्नाता विष्णोर्दत्त्वा तथाक्षताम्॥ ४॥

विप्रेषु दत्त्वा तानेव तथा सक्तून्सुसंस्कृतान्।

यथान्नभुङ्क्ताभाग फलमक्षयमश्नुते॥ ५॥

The progeny of the devotee will be unlimited and her good deeds will have no end. Since Viṣṇu is worshipped on that day with Akṣata, it is called Akṣaya tṛtīyā. On that day, the devotee should bathe in water mixed with unhusked rice (Akṣata). He should also offer unhusked rice to Viṣṇu and to the Brāhmaṇas, or well-made barley meal (Śaktu) should be offered to the Brāhmaṇas as well as taken by the devotee himself. The devotee who does this, gets everlasting benefit.

एकामप्युक्तवत्कृत्वा तृतीयां विधिवन्नरः।

तृतीयायां समभ्यर्च्य सोपवासो जनार्दनम्।

राजसूयफलं प्राप्य गतिमग्रां च विन्दति॥७॥

One who keeps up, according to rules, this tṛtīyā ordinance even once, begets the benefit of having observed all the tṛtīyās, and one who keeps a complete fast on this tṛtīyā and worships Janārdana, gets the benefit of having performed a Rājasūya sacrifice, and attains bliss.

Description of Sārasvata ordinance

मनुरुवाच

मधुरा भारती केन व्रतेन मधूसूदन।

तथैव जनसौभाग्यं मतिं विद्यासु कौशलम्॥१॥

अभेदश्चापि दम्पत्योस्तथा बन्धुजनेन च।

आयुश्च विपुलं पुंसां तन्मे कथय माधव॥२॥

Vaivasvata Manu asked— O Lord! By what vrata does one get sweet speech, worldly prosperity, intelligence, skill in all arts and sciences, inseparable conjugal union, fast friendship and longevity. Please explain all this to me.

मत्स्य उवाच

सम्यक् पृष्ठं त्वया राजज्जृणु सारस्वतं व्रतम्।

यस्य संकीर्तनादेव तुष्यतीह सरस्वती॥३॥

The Lord answered— O King! You have put a very useful question to me. Now listen attentively to the description of Sārasvata ordinance, the mere recitation of which gives so much pleasure to the Goddess Sarasvatī.

यो यद्भक्तः पुमान्कुर्यादितद्व्रतमनुत्तमम्।

तद्वासरादौ सम्पूज्य विप्रानेतान्समाचरेत्॥४॥

The devotee should begin this vrata by adoring the Brāhmaṇas on the morning of the day which is most appropriate for the worship of the Goddess he usually worships.

अथवादित्यवारेण ग्रहताराबलेन च।

पायसं भोजयेद्विप्रान्कृत्वा ब्राह्मणवाचनम्॥५॥

Or, the fast should be observed on a Sunday and the Brāhmaṇas fed with rice, cooked in milk and sugar, after consulting the stars and determining an auspicious hour for the feast.

शुक्लवस्त्राणि दत्त्वा च सहिरण्यानि शक्तिः।

गायत्रीं पूजयेद्भक्त्या शुक्लमाल्यानुलेपनैः॥६॥

According to his means, the devotee should give away gold and cloth in charity, and should then worship Gāyatrī with garlands of white flowers, and with white sandal etc.

यथा न देवि भगवान्ब्रह्मलोके पितामहः।

त्वां परित्यज्य सन्निष्ठेत्तथा भव वरप्रदा॥७॥

And then pray, “O Goddess! as Brahmā, the father of the universe, never lives in the Brahmāloka separate from you; in the same way be pleased to give me boons.

वेदाःशास्त्राणि सर्वाणि गीतनृत्यादिकं च यत्।

न विहीनं त्वया देवि तथा मे सन्तु सिद्धयः॥८॥

“Goddess! The sacred Vedas, the Śāstras, the songs and the dances, are not apart from you; let by your grace success attend me.

लक्ष्मीर्मेधा धरा पुष्टिर्गौरी तुष्टिः प्रभा मतिः।

एताभिः पाहि अष्टाभिस्तनुभिर्मा सरस्वति॥९॥

“O Goddess Sarasvatī! Protect me with your eight-fold body, viz., Lakṣmī, Medhā, Dharā, Puṣṭi, Gaurī, Tuṣṭi, Prabhā and Mati.

एवं सम्पूज्य गायत्रीं वीणाक्षमालधारिणीम्।

 तथैव तण्डुलप्रस्थं घृतपात्रेण संयुतम्।
 क्षीरं दद्याद्विरण्यं च गायत्रीं प्रीयतामिति॥ ११॥

Gāyatrī with a Viṇā (a kind of harp), a rosary of Akṣa, a Kamaṇḍalu and a book in each hand, should be worshipped with devotion with white flowers and unhusked rice. The pious devotee should, then in silence, take his meals, morning and evening, without speaking a word at the time. He should worship the Brahmavāsini (Gāyatrī), on the fifth day of both the fortnights. He should also offer her a quantity of (Prastha) measure of rice, placed in a vessel and full of clarified butter and milk and gold, by invoking her in the following words: "Gāyatrī, be pleased with these."

सञ्ख्यायां च तथा मौनमेतत्कुर्वन् समाचरेत्।
 नांतरा भोजनं कुर्याद्वावन्मासास्त्रयोदश॥ १२॥

The devotee, following this rite, should observe the vow of silence in the evening, and should have in the day time no meal, till 13 months are over.

समाप्ते तु व्रते कुर्याद्भोजनं शुक्लतण्डुलैः।
 पूर्वं सवस्त्रयुग्मं च दद्याद्विप्राय भोजनम्॥ १३॥

On the completion of the ordinance (vrata), the devotee should take white rice and before doing so, should feed a Brāhmaṇa and give him couple of clothes.

देव्या वितानं घण्टां च सितनेत्रे पयस्विनीम्।
 चन्दनं वस्त्रयुग्मं च दद्याच्च शिखरं पुनः॥ १४॥
 तथोपदेष्टारमपि भक्त्या सम्पूजयेद्गुरुम्।
 वित्तशाठ्येन रहितो वस्त्रमाल्यानुलेपनैः॥ १५॥

Then he should give away, in honour of the Goddess, the flags, bells, a silver-eyed milch cow, sandal, a pair of clothes and a crest jewel. Afterwards, the preceptor should be worshipped with devotion, with garlands, cloths and sandal paste, without giving way to miserliness.

अनेन विधिना यस्तु कुर्यात्सारस्वतं व्रतम्।

 ब्रह्मलोके वसेद्राजन्यावत्कल्पायुतत्रयम्॥ १७॥

One who worships Sarasvatī in this way, becomes learned, wealthy and gets a melodious voice. Besides this, he goes to the region of Brahmā through the grace of the Goddess. The women folk, observing this ordinance, too, get the same benefit. Such devotee reside in the Brahmaloaka for three Ayuta Kalpas.

सारस्वतं व्रतं यस्तु शृणुयादपि यः पठेत्।
 विद्याधरपुरे सोऽपि वसेत्कल्पायुतत्रयम्॥ १८॥

One who reads or hears this, goes and enjoys in the region of Vidyādhara, for three Kalpas.

Merits of charity at the time of solar and lunar eclipses

मनुरुवाच

चन्द्रादित्योपरागे तु यत्स्नानभिधीयते।
 तदहं श्रोतुमिच्छामि द्रव्यमन्त्रविधानवित्॥ १॥

Manu said— O Lord! Knower of the rites, the mantras and of the things to be given away in charity at the time of solar and lunar eclipses, I wish to hear from you the method of bathing at those times.

मत्स्य उवाच

यस्य राशिं समासाद्य भवेद्ग्रहणसंप्लवः।

The Lord said— When the eclipse take place, at the time when the sun or the moon is in that particular sign of the zodiac under which a person is born, it is necessary that he should bathe in water mixed with herbs, according to the prescribed rituals, as mentioned below. When there is a lunar eclipse, the devotee should get blessings invoked by Brāhmaṇas and worship four of them with white flowers and sandal paste, and place four flawless pitchers, full of water and herbs, before the commencement of the eclipse, and consider these pitchers as representing oceans.

गजाश्वरथ्यावल्मीकसङ्गमादध्वदगोकुलात्।

Then the Devas should be invoked, after putting the following things in the pitchers:— The earth of the elephant ward, of the stable, of the chariot-house (or road) of the anthill, of the tank, of the confluence of two rivers, of the cattle-yard and of the king's gateway, as well as pañcagavya, good and genuine pearls, gorocana, lotus, conch-shell, pañcaratna (five jewels), quartz (crystal), white sandal, Gaṅgā water, mustard, andropogan, muricatus, Kumudinī (lotus), Rājadanta (ivory) and resin (guggula).

The Devas should be invoked with the following mantras— “All the sacred places, seas, rivers, tanks, rivulets, come here to wash off the sins of the devotee. May the God Indra, the wielder of the thunderbolt, known as sovereign of the Ādityas and having thousand eyes, come and remove my suffering caused by the (inauspicious) planet. May Agni, the mouth of the Devas, having seven flames, of immeasurable brightness, come and remove my suffering caused by the lunar eclipse.

May the living god Varuṇa, the ruler of all waters, the rider of the alligator, and wielder of the noose, consisting of sea serpents, come and remove my suffering caused by the lunar eclipse. May Vāyu, who nourishes all creatures in the shape of vital breath, who loves black antelope, come and remove my suffering caused by the lunar eclipse. May Kubera, the giver of wealth and master of riches, and armed with sword, trident, club, come and drive away my sin caused by the lunar eclipse.

May Śaṅkara, the rider of the bull and the wearer of the crescent and armed with the bow, called pināka, come and destroy the pain arising out of the lunar eclipse. May Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Arka as well as all mobile and immobile beings existing in the three worlds, come and burn up my sin."

एवमामन्त्र्य तैः कुम्भैरभिषिक्तो गुणान्वितैः।
ऋग्यजुःसाममन्त्रैश्च शुक्लमाल्यानुलेपनैः।
पूजयेद्वस्त्रगोदानैर्ब्राह्मणानिष्टदेवताः॥ १७॥

After thus invoking all Devas and other beings, the devotee should sprinkle upon himself the water of those medicated pitchers which are adorned with white garlands and sandal paste, and then worship the Brāhmaṇas and the family Deity by reciting the mantras laid down in the Ṛg, Sāma and Yajur Vedas, and then give away a cow, along with cloth to the Brāhmaṇas.

कृतस्नानाय तं पट्टं ब्राह्मणाय निवेदयेत्॥ २०॥

The mantras mentioned above, (in the verse 8-16), should be written on a piece of cloth or on a lotus leaf, and placed in an earthen dish with five jewels (gold, diamond, sapphire, ruby and pearl, or gold, silver, coral, pearl and rāgapatṭa). The Brāhmaṇas should place on the head of the devotee, the said dish and await the time of passing away of the eclipse. At the time of the eclipse, the devotee should turn his face towards the east and worship his family God. On the cessation of the eclipse, cows should be given away in charity, and then after a bath, the cloth, on which the above mantras are written, should be given away to the Brāhmaṇa.

अनेन विधिना यस्तु ग्रहस्नानं समाचरेत्।
न तस्य ग्रहपीडा स्यान्न च बन्धुजनक्षयः॥ २१॥

One who bathes according to these rites, after an eclipse, never gets any trouble through unlucky stars, and his family and kinsmen will also prosper.

प्रयच्छेच्च निशां पत्ये चन्द्रसूर्योपरागयोः॥ २३॥

The person following the above rites with devotion, attains highest bliss, free from rebirth. At the time of a solar eclipse, the mantras mentioned above should be recited by substituting the word Sūrya (the Sun) in the place of Candra or Moon. The additional gift in the case of solar eclipse must consist of rubies. A beautiful cow should be given away at the time of any eclipse (either solar or lunar), in honour of the moon.

य इदं शृणुयान्नित्यं श्रावयेद्वापि मानवः।

Rituals of bathing on the seventh day of a bright fortnight

नारद उवाच

किमुद्वेगाद्भुते कृत्यमलक्ष्मीः केन हन्यते।
मृतवत्साभिषेकादिकार्येषु च किमिष्यते॥ १॥

Nārada said— O Lord! What should be done to restore the equilibrium of mind in times of distress? How is poverty to be got over? What should be done at the time of the ablution of a woman whose offspring do not survive?

श्रीभगवानुवाच

पुरा कृतानि पापानि फलन्त्यस्मिस्तपोधन।
रोगदौर्गत्यरूपेण तथैवेष्टवदेन च॥ २॥

Lord said— The sins of the past fructify in one's present life. Disease, misery, loss of dear ones, are only the results of past sins.

तद्विधाताय वक्ष्यामि सदा कल्याणकारकम्।

शान्तये तत्र वक्ष्यामि मृतवत्साभिषेचनम्।
एतदेवाद्भुतोद्वेगचित्तभ्रमविनाशनम्॥ ५॥

I shall now describe to you the rituals of bathing on the seventh day of a bright fortnight, that washes off all the sins, which causes prosperity, and destroys all human troubles. I shall also describe to you the rituals of the ablution of a woman, whose offsprings do not survive, as well as for the longevity of old and diseased men as well of young men. This ablution which is done according to special rites, drives away the uneasiness of the mind.

भविष्यति च वाराहो यत्र कल्पस्तपोधन।

In a future Varāha Kalpa, O King, there will be a Vaivasvata Manu also.

Then in the 25th Satyayuga, of that Vaivasvata Manvantara, an illustrious and powerful king, Kṛtavīrya, the promoter of the Haiyahaya dynasty will be born and thrive.

स सप्तद्वीपमखिलं पालयिष्यति भूतलम्।

That king will rule the world, consisting of seven continents for seventy thousand years, O Nārada, with great statesmanship.

जातमात्रं च तस्यापि यावत् पुत्रशतं तथा।

He will have one hundred sons who will all die as soon as born, owing to the curse of the sage Cyavana.

सहस्रबाहुश्च यदा भविता तस्य वै सुतः।
कुरङ्गनयनः श्रीमान् सम्भूतो नृपलक्षणैः॥ १०॥

Sometime after that the King Kṛtavīrya will be blessed with a renowned son, named Sahasrabāhu (thousand-armed). He will have beautiful eyes like elephant, will be lucky and possess all the auspicious marks of a king.

कृतवीर्यस्तदाराध्य सहस्रांशुं दिवाकरम्।

His father, Kṛtavīrya will worship the thousand-rayed Sun according to the Vedic hymns with fasts and vows, in order to ward off the sage's curse, so that the son may not die in infancy. He will then come to know of the rituals of this particular ablution from the God Sun, who will relate to the king the ways of the ordinance that would wash off all sins and allay all misfortunes.

सूर्य उवाच

अलंक्लेशेन महता पुत्रस्तव नराधिप।
भविष्यति चिरञ्जीवी किन्तु कल्मषनाशनम्॥ १३॥

The God Sun will say— “O King Kṛtavīrya! I am very much pleased with your devotion and penances; there is no further need of them. I bless you that this son of yours will be long-lived.”

सप्तमीस्नपतं वक्ष्ये सर्वलोकहिताय वै।
जातस्य मृतवत्सायाः सप्तमे मासि नारद।
अथवा शुक्लसप्ताम्यामेतत् सर्वं प्रशस्यते॥ १४॥

I shall now explain to you about the rituals of ablution on the seventh day of a lunar fortnight, in order that all men may be benefited by it. The woman, whose offspring does not survive, ought to bathe on the seventh day of the lunar fortnight, or on the seventh month after the birth of the child.

ग्रहताराबलं लब्ध्वा कृत्वा ब्राह्मणवाचनम्।
बालस्य जन्मनक्षत्रं वर्जयेत् तां तिथिं बुधः।
तद्वद्वृद्धेतराणां च कृत्यं स्यादितरेषु च॥ १५॥

The worshipper should consult Brāhmaṇas about his lucky stars and then fix some auspicious day for the rituals, avoiding the birth asterism of the child. This ritual applies to old men and to others suffering from illness.

गोमयेनानुलिप्तायां भूमावेकाग्नित्तदा।
तण्डुलै रक्तशालीयैश्चरुं गोक्षीरसंयुतम्।
निर्वपेत् सूर्यरुद्राभ्यां तन्मन्त्राभ्यां विधानतः॥ १६॥

According to the rites of the Ekāgni fire ceremony, the devotee should locate the Fire on an altar, plastered over with cowdung, and cook on that fire pudding (caru), with red rice and cow's milk, and offer it to Sūrya and Rudra by reciting the mantras of Rudra and the God Sun.

कीर्तयेत् सूर्यदैवत्यं सप्तर्चं च घृताहुतीः।
जुहुयाद्भुद्रसूक्तेन तद्वदुद्राय नारद॥ १७॥

An offering of clarified butter should also be poured into the fire, after reciting the seven Rk mantras of the Sun, and similarly, he should offer to Rudra with hymn sacred to Rudra.

होतव्याः समिधश्चात्र तथैवार्कपलाशयोः।

व्याहृतीभिस्तथाज्येन तथैवाष्टशतं पुनः।
हुत्वा स्नानं च कर्तव्यं मङ्गलं येन धीमता॥ १९॥

In this sacrifice, the fuel of Calotropis gigantea and Butea frondosa should be used. An offering of barley and black sesamum should be made 108 times in this homa. In the same way, another 108 offerings of clarified butter should be made, after reciting Vyāhṛti mantras. Afterwards, the worshipper should bathe.

पञ्चमं च पुनर्मध्ये दध्यक्षतविभूषितम्।
स्थापयेदव्रणं कुम्भं सप्तर्चेनाभिमन्त्रितम्॥ २१॥

Four pitchers should be placed in four corners by a Brāhmaṇa versed in the Vedas, with a Kuśa grass in his hand, and a fifth one should be placed in the centre, after filling it in with curds, uncooked rice, etc., reciting the seven Rk verses, and then Agni should be invoked.

सौरेण तीर्थतोयेन पूर्णं रत्नसमन्वितम्।
सर्वान् सर्वौषधैर्युक्तान् पञ्चगव्यसमन्वितान्।
पञ्चरत्नफलैः पुष्पैर्वासोभिः परिवेष्टयेत्॥ २२॥

The central pitcher, which must have no flaw in it, should also be filled in with the sacred water of the Sūrya-tīrtha. All kinds of gems, and different kinds of herbs, pañcagavya, pañcaratna, fruits and flowers, should be placed in the corner pitchers. Afterwards, the pitchers should be covered with cloth, and then located at their respective places.

गजाश्वरथ्यावल्मीकात्सङ्गमाद्भुद्रगोकुलात्।
संशुद्धां मृदमानीय सर्वेष्वेव विनिक्षिपेत्॥ २३॥

The earth of the following places should also be put into those pitchers, along with the things mentioned above: stable, elephant, yard, chariot house, anthill, confluence of two rivers, tank, cattle-fold, royal palace gate.

चतुर्ध्वपि च कुम्भेषु रत्नगर्भेयु मध्यमम्।
गृहीत्वा ब्राह्मणस्तत्र सौरान्मन्त्रानुदीरयेत्॥ २४॥

The Brāhmaṇa touching the central pitcher, which is surrounded by four other pitchers, each containing precious stones within them, should recite the Vedic mantras relating to the God Sun.

नारीभिः सप्तसंख्याभिरव्यङ्गाङ्गीभिरत्र च।

पीडां कुर्वन्तु बालस्य मा मातुर्जनकस्य वै॥ २८॥

Seven Brāhmaṇa ladies, along with their husbands, should be worshipped with garlands, cloths, ornaments, etc., according to the means of the devotee. These women should have no bodily defect. Afterwards, the Brāhmaṇa women should perform the ablution ceremony of the woman whose children do not survive, and recite the following words: "May this child be long-lived, may this progeny of this woman be long-lived. O Sun, Moon, planets, Stars, Indra, Devas, Lokapālas, Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Śiva and other groups of Devas, always protect this child. O Mitra, O Saturn, O other Devas, O Agni, O Bālagraha, be leased and never injure the child and his parents."

ततः शुक्लाम्बरधरा कुमारपतिसंयुता।
सप्तकं पूजयेद्भक्त्या स्त्रीणामथ गुरुं पुनः॥ २९॥

Then this, the seven Brāhmaṇa women with their husbands and children and wearing white raiments, should be honoured along with the preceptor.

काञ्चनीं च ततः कुर्यात्ताम्रपात्रोपरिस्थिताम्।
प्रतिमां धर्मराजस्य गुरवे विनिवेदयेत्॥ ३०॥

Then the image of Dharmarāja, made in gold and placed on a copper vessel should be given away to the preceptor.

वस्त्रकाञ्चनरत्नौघैर्भक्ष्यैः सघृतपायसैः।
पूजयेद्ब्रह्मणांस्तद्वद्विज्ञातविवर्जितः॥ ३१॥

Afterwards with his mind free from jealousy and miserliness, gold, cloth, gems, clarified butter, milk, should be given to the Brāhmaṇas.

भुक्त्वा च गुरुणा चेयमुच्चार्या मन्त्रसन्ततिः।
दीर्घायुरस्तु बालोऽयं यावद्वर्षशतं सुखी॥ ३२॥

The Brāhmaṇas should be fed first and then the devotee should take his meals. After meals, the preceptor should pronounce his blessings in the following words: "This child may live for a century and may always remain prosperous.

यत्किंचिदस्य दुरितं तत्क्षिप्तं वडवानले।
ब्रह्मा रुद्रो वसुः स्कन्दो विष्णुः शक्रो हुताशनः॥ ३३॥
रक्षन्तु सर्वे दुष्टेभ्यो वरदाः सन्तु सर्वदा।
एवमादीनि वाक्यानि वदन्तं पूजयेद्गुरुम्॥ ३४॥

"All his sins be instantly consumed in the submarine fire. O Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Śiva, Vasu, Svāmikārtika, Indra, Agni, protect this child from all calamities and bless him." The preceptor pronouncing the above blessings should be worshipped."

शक्तिः कपिलां दद्यात्प्रणम्य च विसर्जयेत्।

हुतशेषं तदाश्नीयादादित्याय नमोऽस्त्विति।
इदमेवाद्भुतोद्वेगदुःस्वप्नेषु प्रशस्यते॥ ३६॥

Then a milch cow should be given away in charity to the preceptor who should then be dismissed with proper honours. Then the woman holding her child should salute the Sun and Śaṅkara and eat the remainder of the caru (Śākalya¹) and then pronounce "Ādityāya namaḥ". This is the way which should be followed to restore the peace of mind caused by evil dreams or calamities.

CHAPTER 69

Vow of Bhīma Dvādaśī

मत्स्य उवाच

पुरा रथन्तरे कल्पे परिपृष्टो महात्मना।

मन्दरस्थो महादेवः पिनाकी ब्रह्मणा स्वयम्॥ १॥

The Lord said— In the past, during the Rathantara Kalpa, Brahmā asked Śiva on the summit of the Mandarācala mountain.

ब्रह्मोवाच

कथमारोग्यमैश्वर्यमनन्तममरेश्वर।

स्वल्पेन तपसा देव भवेन्मोक्षोऽथवा नृणाम्॥ २॥

Brahmā said— “How one may with the performance of slight austerities get unending prosperity and health, O Lord of immortals? How may men attain emancipation by practising brief austerities?

किमज्ञातं महादेव त्वत्प्रसादादधोजक्ष।

स्वल्पकेनाथ तपसा महत्फलमिहोच्यताम्॥ ३॥

O Mahādeva, nothing is unknown to you. Through your grace one knows everything. Please, be pleased to explain to me how, by practising small austerities, one may get large reward.”

मत्स्य उवाच

एवं पृष्टः स विश्वात्मा ब्रह्मणा लोकभावनः।

Śiva said— After this 23rd Rathantara Kalpa, will again follow Vārāha Kalpa. In that Kalpa, also, there will be 14 manvantaras. The seventh of these will be Vaivasvata manvantara. In the 28th Dvāpara yuga of the Vaivasvata manvantara will be born the great God, Vāsudeva Janārdana. By the end of the same (28th Dvāpara) age, Lord Viṣṇu will manifest Himself in three different ways, to relieve the world of its burden.

द्वैपायनऋषिस्तद्वद्रौहिणेयोऽथ केशवः।

कंसादिदर्पमथनः केशवः क्लेशनाशनः॥ ८॥

He will manifest Himself as (1) Dvaipāyana Vyāsa, (2) Baladeva, (3) Keśava, and will bring relief to the world by crushing the pride of the wretches like Kamsa.

Vāsudeva said— the devotee who may not be able to fast on the eight, fourteenth and twelfth day of a bright fortnight, or on any other prescribed day, attains unification with Viṣṇu, by keeping a fast on this sacred day only.

माघमासस्य दशमी यदा शुक्ला भवेत्तदा।
घृतेनाभ्यञ्जनं कृत्वा तिलैः स्नानं समाचरेत्॥ २१॥

On the tenth day of the bright fortnight, in the month of Māgha, the devotee should bathe in water mixed with sesamum, after anointing his body with clarified butter.

तथैव विष्णुमभ्यर्च्य नमो नारायणेति च।

He should then worship Viṣṇu with the words, “Namaḥ Nārāyaṇaya.” The feet of the Lord should be worshipped with “Kṛṣṇāya namaḥ”, the head with “Sarvātmane namaḥ”, the throat with “Vaikunṭhāya namaḥ”, the breast with “Śrīvatsadharāya namaḥ”, the four arms with “Cakriṇe namaḥ”, “Gadāine namaḥ”, “Varadāya namaḥ”, “Śaṅkhine namaḥ”, the stomach with “Dāmodarāya namaḥ”, the region of Cupid with “Pañcaśarāya namaḥ”, the thighs with “Saubhāsyānāthāya namaḥ”, the knees with “Bhūvadharīṇe namaḥ”, the shanks with “Nilakanṭhāya namaḥ”, the feet with “Viśvasrije namaḥ”. Then the Goddess Lakṣmī should be worshipped with “Devyai namaḥ,” “Śāntyai namaḥ”, “Lakṣmyai namaḥ”, “Śrīyāyai namaḥ,” “Puṣṭyai namaḥ”. “Tuṣṭyai namaḥ”, “Dhr̥ṣṭyai namaḥ,” “Hṛṣṭyai namaḥ.”

नमो विहङ्गनाथाय वायुवेगाय पक्षिणे।

Having thus worshipped Govinda, Śiva and Gaṇeśa should be worshipped with sandal, incense, flowers and various kinds of victuals. Then the devotee should take, in silence, with ghee, the porridge made of nice sesamum and grain, cooked with cow's milk, sugar, and walk a hundred steps.

Afterwards, the devotee should brush his teeth with a stick of banyan or khādir and then rinse his mouth, facing the east or the north, and holding a kuśa in his hand. After sunset he should perform his sandhyā and then utter: “Om namonārāyaṇāya namaḥ, tvāmahaṁ śarṇaṅgataḥ. I salute Nārāyaṇa, I throw myself under your protect." On the Ekādaśī day, I shall keep a fast and worship Nārāyaṇa and keep a vigil at night; have a bath early in the morning (i.e., on the Dvādaśī) and make an oblation of clarified butter to Fire. Puṇḍarīkākṣa, I shall, with mind controlled, eat rice, cooked with milk, with a few good Brāhmaṇas. May that be fulfilled by your grace, without any obstruction. With these words, he should sleep on the bare earth. Then, on day-break, he should hear recitations from the Itihāsa, and go and bathe in a river, after rubbing earth on his body. At this time, he should avoid the company of wicked persons.

After that, he should perform his sandhyā prayers and offer libations of water to the manes of his deceased ancestors, and then salute Hṛṣīkeśa, the sole sovereign of the seven worlds. Then he should erect a maṇḍapa measuring ten or eleven hands, in front of his house.

चतुर्हस्तां शुभां कुर्याद्विदीमरिनिषूदन।
चतुर्हस्तप्रमाणं च विन्यसेत्तत्रतोरणम्॥ ३७॥

An altar, measuring four hands, should be made in the maṇḍapa and a portal of the same measurement should be made.

He should place there a pitcher of water and worship the Guardians of the quarters (Dikpāla). There the devotee should sit on a black deer skin and over his head place the pitcher of water, after making a hole in its centre. He should allow the water to trickle, drop by drop on his head, and, in the same way, should allow a stream of milk to fall on the head of the symbol of Viṣṇu.

चतुर्भिर्बहुचैर्होमस्तत्र कार्यं उदङ्मुखैः॥ ४३॥

There should be made a sacrificial pond, one hand deep, of the shape of a conical triangle and surrounded by three circles, and after that the Brāhmaṇas should be asked to make an offering of milk, clarified butter and sesamum to Lord Viṣṇu, after the rituals of Ekāgni, with mantras sacred to Viṣṇu, after which a stream of clarified butter, of half the size of a winnowing basket (Nispāva), should be poured into the fire as well as the caru, mixed with cow's milk. Thirteen pitchers, full of water, should be placed. The mouths of these pitchers should be covered with plates of fig leaves containing different kinds of eatables and five jewels and covered with white cloths. Four Ṛgvedī Brāhmaṇas should offer sacrifices to Fire, facing north.

रुद्रजापश्चतुर्भिश्च यजुर्वेदपरायणैः।
वैष्णवानि तु सामानि चतुरः सामवेदिनः।

 एवं क्षपातिवाह्या च गीतमङ्गलनिःस्वनैः॥४६॥

The twelve Brāhmaṇas thus employed should be honoured with garlands of flowers, sandal paste, bed sheets, gold rings, gold sacred threads, gold bangles and different kinds of cloths. Miserliness should not be exercised in this respect. That night should thus be passed in rejoicings, accompanied with singing and music.

Double of all these Dakṣiṇās should be given to the preceptor and O Bhīmasena," on the following morning thirteen quiet and good milch cows, with their horns covered with gold, hoofs with silver, covered with cloth and painted with sandal, should be given away in charity, along with milking pots of bell metal to Brāhmaṇas well fed with nice eatables.

कृत्वा वै ब्राह्मणान्सर्वानन्नैर्नानाविधैस्तथा।
 भुक्त्वा चाक्षारलवणमात्मना च विसर्जयेत्॥५०॥

Then the devotee should take his meal, without acid and salt. Afterwards, the Brāhmaṇas should be dismissed, after being satisfied with dainty dishes.

The devotee should follow the Brāhmaṇas for eight steps in company of his son, wife, and should say : "O Keśava! The destroyer of all evils, be pleased. Śiva is enthroned in the heart of Viṣṇu and the Viṣṇu in the heart of Śiva. As I do not see any difference between the two, so there may be long life and prosperity to me."

एवमुच्चार्य तान्कुम्भान्नाश्चैव शयनानि च।

O Valiant one! You will be the first to observe this ordinance (vrata) during this Vārāha Kalpa, having remembered all about it, you will be liberated from all sins and attain the rank of the Lord of Devas (Tridaśas). The public women of other Kalpas having observed this vrata, have become celestial nymphs (Apsarās). One dairy maid, of a previous Kalpa (Ābhīra Kanyā), having observed this vrata out of curiosity alone, has now become Urvaśī in the heaven of Indra. The daughter of a Vaiśya became the daughter of Pulomā and the queen of Indra, by virtue of this ordinance; and similarly, Satyabhāmā, the maid of that girl, has become My beloved.”

Similarly in days of gone, the Sun also having bathed on the Kalyāṇadvādaśī in a thousand torrents, got the body of bright splendour, surrounded by halos, and has become the thousand-rayed Vivasvān.

In former times, the same ordinance was observed by Mahendra and other gods, by the Vasus and by Asuras. No one, even with a thousand tongues, can adequately describe its effect.

Kṛṣṇa, the King of Yādavas, will describe this tithi which, when observed, dispels all the sins of the iron (Kali) age, and liberates all his manes from the region of Yama (Naraka).

One who devoutly hears about it which dispels all sins or reads it for the welfare of others, gets whatever he desires and attains the equality with Brahmā.

Vow of Anaṅgadāna, the method of worshipping Kāma

ब्रह्मोवाच

Brahmā said— O Śiva! I have heard of the efficacy of Varṇa Āśrama as well as of good conduct, as prescribed by the Dharma Śāstras. I am now desirous of hearing the practice and conduct of public women.

Śiva said— There will be 16,000 wives of Kṛṣṇa in the Yuga mentioned above. When once, in the spring time, those ladies, having decorated themselves with ornaments, would be drinking together on the banks of a pond studded with full-budded lotus flowers, dancing with the wind and resounding with the melodious notes of the cuckoo and musical tunes of the big black bee, they will see Lord Śāmba, beautiful like Cupid, having eyes handsome like those of a gazelle, and wearing the garlands of mālati, passing by.

अनङ्गशरतप्ताभिः साभिलाषमवेक्षितः।

They will cast on him amorous glances, their hearts being fired with lustful feelings and they being targets of the arrows of Cupid.

Lord Kṛṣṇa will come to know all that with his mental vision, and will curse them as follows: “Because you cherished the desire of amorous pastime during my absence, all of you will be taken away by bandits.”

ततः प्रसादितो देव इदं वक्ष्यति शार्ङ्गभृत्।

Then those ladies, overcome with grief on account of such a curse, will please Kṛṣṇa (by their prayers), when the Lord will say: “Dāl̥bhya Ṛṣi of eternal soul, the favourite of the Brāhmaṇas, will teach you a vrata, which will be the means of your liberation from the bondage and which will actually free you all. This vrata will be of great benefit of futurity. With these words, the Lord of Dvārāvātī left them.

Then, ages after, there will be a great slaughter, owing to the mūṣala affair; and Lord Kṛṣṇa, after relieving the universe of its great burden, will go to heaven. The Yādavas will have ceased to exist; and the ladies of Kṛṣṇa will be seized by robbers, a warrior, like Arjuna, being defeated (and unable to protect them). These robbers will take them to the seashore and enjoy with them there. When these ladies will bemoan their hard lot, the sage Dālbhya, will appear before them. Those ladies will worship the sage by offering him arghya and salute him again and again. They will then, with tearful eyes, remember their past enjoyments, use of garlands and sandal paste, and think of their Lord, the unconquerable master of the universe, as well as of flowers and the beautiful city of Dvārikā, glittering with its riches and gems, and of their respective abodes therein, the Divine forms of their sons dwelling in that sacred city. Then they will put the following question to the sage, standing before him.

Please explain, why we have been degraded to the status of concubines, we, who have been united with God. You have been ordained by the wise Kṛṣṇa to be our guide. Please explain to us the duties of concubines.” Thus questioned, the sage will say.

You did not salute the sage, but asked him how Nārāyaṇa, the Lord of the universe, would be your husband. Nārada blessed you with the boon asked for, but also cursed you for not saluting him. In consequence of the curses of Nārada and Kṛṣṇa you gave way to lustful feelings and have become prostitutes. Now listen to what I say.

Once upon a time thousands and thousands of the demons (Dānavas, Asuras, Daityas and Rakṣāsas) were killed in the war between the Devas and the demons. Indra told their numberless widows and those women who were forcibly seized and enjoyed, to lead the life of prostitutes and remain devoted to the kings and the Devas.

Indra continued, "you should look upon, with equal eye, the kings your masters and on Śūdra. All of you will attain prosperity, according to your fate. You should satisfy those who would come to you with adequate sum of money to enjoy your company, even if they be poor. But you should not give pleasure to proud men. You should give away cow, land, grain and gold, according to your means, in charity on the sacred day of worshipping the Devas or the ancestors. You should act as the Brāhmaṇas in work and speech.

Description of the ordinance known as Aśūnyaśayanādvitīyā

ब्रह्मोवाच

Brahmā said— “O Lord, Graceful to all! by delusion or pride if a man indulge illicit connection with other's wife, what is the ordinance for him to avert the sin. Be pleased to explain to me by the observance of which there may be no separation between husband and wife, nor should there be any grief, disease, fear, or pain.”

श्रीभगवानुवाच

Lord said— Keśava always reposes in company with Lakṣmī, in the ocean of milk, on the second day of the dark fortnight, in the month of Śrāvaṇa.

तस्यां सम्पूज्य गोविन्दं सर्वान्कामान्समश्नुते।
गोभूहिरण्यदानादि सप्त कल्पशतानुगम्॥४॥

By worshipping Govinda on that day all the desires are fulfilled, and by giving away cows, land, gold, the devotee goes and resides in the region of Viṣṇu for a period of 700 Kalpas.

अशून्यशयनं नाम द्वितीया सम्प्रकीर्तिता।
तस्यां सम्पूजयेद्विष्णुमेभिर्मन्त्रैर्विधानतः॥५॥

The ordinance is known under the name of Aśūnyaśayanādvitīyā, on which day Viṣṇu should be worshipped, according to the rituals and mantras mentioned hereafter.

श्रीवत्सधारिञ्छ्रीकान्त श्रीधामञ्छ्रीपतेऽव्यय।
गार्हस्थ्यं मा प्रणाशं मे यातु धर्मार्थकामदम्॥६॥

The devotee should pray— “O Śrīvatsadhāri, Śrīkānta, Śrīdhāmāna, Śrīpati, Avināśī, let this house-holder's life of mine which is the giver of trivarga (Dharma, Artha and Kāma) may never be destroyed.

अग्नयो मा प्रणश्यन्तु देवताः पुरुषोत्तम।

गीतवादित्रनिर्घोष देवदेवस्य कीर्तयेत्।
घण्टा भवेदशक्तस्य सर्ववाद्यमयी यतः॥१०॥

After this prayer, the hymns of Viṣṇu should be sung in accompaniment of various kinds of musical instruments; if that may not be feasible, then the mere ringing of the bell is sufficient, for a bell is an embodiment of all musical instruments.

एवं सम्पूज्य गोविन्दमश्नीयात्तैलवर्जितम्।

After thus worshipping Govinda, the devotee should have his meals at night, avoiding oil, salt and acids.

CHAPTER 72

The vow of Aṅgāraka, the dialogue between Pippalāda and Yudhiṣṭhira

Śiva said— “O Pitāmaha Brahmā! Now listen to the ordinance that will be the giver of wealth, and will come in vogue at the end of future Dvāpara. It is in the form of a conversation between Yudhiṣṭhira and the sages, Pippalāda.”

“Yudhiṣṭhira, the pious, will go to Naimiṣāranya before the sage Pippalāda, and put this question to him.”

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

अव्यङ्गता शिवे भक्तिर्वैष्णवो वा भवेत्कथम्॥ ३॥

Yudhiṣṭhira said, “O sage! How health, prosperity and firm faith in religion can be maintained, and how can unflinching devotion be centred in Śiva and Viṣṇu, and how may one be free from all bodily defect?"

ईश्वर उवाच

तस्योत्तरमिदं ब्रह्मन् पिप्पलादस्य धीमतः।

शृणुष्व यद्वक्ष्यति वै धर्मपुत्राय धार्मिकः॥४॥

Śiva said— "O Brahmā! I shall now tell you the reply of the sage Pippalāda to the queries of Yudhiṣṭhira."

पिप्पलाद उवाच

साधु पुष्टं त्वया भद्र इदानीं कथयामि ते।

अङ्गारव्रतमित्येतत्स वक्ष्यति महीपतेः॥५॥

Pippalāda said— "King! You have put a most useful question. I shall now tell you something about it." So saying, he will describe the Angāravrata.

अत्राप्युदाहरन्तीममितिहासं पुरातनम्।

विरोचनस्य संवाद भार्गवस्य च धीमतः॥६॥

About this, there is the following ancient story. There took place a dialogue between Virocana and Bhārgava.

प्रह्लादस्य सुतं दृष्ट्वा द्विरष्टपरिवत्सरम्।

रूपेणाप्रतिमं कान्त्या सोऽहसद्भृगुनन्दनः॥७॥

साधु साधु महाबाहो विरोचन शिवं तव।

तत्तथा हसितं तस्य पप्रच्छ सुरसूदनः॥८॥

Once upon a time, the mighty sage, Śukra, seeing Virocana, the handsome, sixteen-years old son of Prahlāda, laughed, and saying, Sādhu, Sādhu, addressed him, "O mighty armed Virocana! O prince! O may you be always prosperous." Then Virocana, the enemy of the Devas, wondering at the laughing of the sage, inquired.

ब्रह्मन्किमर्थमेतत्ते हास्यमाकस्मितं कृतम्।

साधु साध्विति मामेवमुक्तवांस्त्वं वदस्व मे॥९॥

O Brāhmaṇa! tell me the reason of your laughter without any apparent cause and why did you again say, Sādhu, Sādhu, to me?

तमेवंवादिनं शुक्र उवाच वदतां वरः।

विस्मयाद्ब्रतमाहात्म्याद्भास्यमेतत्कृतं मया॥१०॥

Śukra said— "I laughed on the sudden remembrance of the glory of the Vrata (which you had the good luck of witnessing in your past life and which gave you this handsome form).

पुरा दक्षविनाशाय कुपितस्य तु शूलिनः।

अथ तद्भीमवक्त्रस्य स्वेदबिन्दुर्ललाटजः॥११॥

In ancient times; a drop of perspiration trickled down the forehead of Śiva at the time of His getting into rage to annihilate Dakṣa.

भित्त्वा स सप्तपातालानदहत्सप्तसागरान्।

अनेकवक्त्रनयनो ज्वलज्ज्वलनभीषणः॥१२॥

कृत्वाऽसौ यज्ञमथनं पुनर्भूतलसम्भवः।

त्रिजगन्निर्दहन् भूयः शिवेन विनिवारितः॥१३॥

That drop penetrated into all the seven lower regions and dried up all the seven oceans. Afterwards, out of the same drop, Vīrabhadra, with many a mouth and eyes emitting flashes of fire from them, was born. He was endowed with myriads of hands and feet, and destroyed the sacrifice of Dakṣa. This Earth-born Vīrabhadra destroyed the sacrifice of Dakṣa and then attempted to burn up the three worlds. Whereupon, Śiva intervened, when He saw Vīrabhadra was going to consume the universe, and made him abstain from his campaign of destruction.

कृतं त्वया वीरभद्र दक्षयज्ञविनाशनम्।

शान्तिप्रदाता सर्वेषां ग्रहाणां प्रथमो भव।

प्रेक्षिष्यन्ते जनाः पूजां करिष्यन्ति वरान्मम॥१५॥

Śiva said— "O Vīrabhadra! You have destroyed the sacrifice of Dakṣa, and now you should not consume the universe. Be calm. You will be prime in the mansion of auspicious planets, and people will worship you through my favour.

अङ्गारक इति ख्यातिं गमिष्यसि धरात्मज।

देवलोकेऽद्वितीयं च तव रूपं भविष्यति॥ १६॥

“You will be known as Angāraka (the planet Mars), the son of the Earth, and your form in the Divine region will be a peerless one in beauty.

ये च त्वां पूजयिष्यन्ति चतुर्थ्यां त्वद्दिने नराः।

रूपमारोग्यमैश्वर्यं तेष्वनन्तं भविष्यति॥ १७॥

“On the fourth day of a bright fortnight, when it falls on a Tuesday, the people worshipping you will get everlasting beauty and prosperity and health.”

एवमुक्तस्तदा शांतिमगमत्कामरूपधृक्।

सञ्जातस्तक्षणाद्राजन् ब्रह्मत्वमगमत्पुनः॥ १८॥

Hearing such words of Śiva, that son of the Earth, instantly became placid and afterwards turned into a planet.

“Some Śūdra was worshipping that planet Mars, and you saw the ceremony, on account of which you are so handsome and renowned, O you son of Prahlāda. You are known as Virocana by the Devas and the Asuras, because you possess various (vi) far-reaching intelligence (Rochi), and hence you are called Virocana (far-reaching light). I was astonished to see the great beauty possessed by you simply by your looking at the ceremony of Angārakavrata and consequently I greeted you with the words Sādhu, Sādhu, thinking of the great mahātmya of that vrata. When, by merely looking at that ceremony, one gets beauty and lordliness as yours, I do not know what would be the case if a man were to observe this ordinance.”

ईश्वर उवाच

अथ तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा भार्गवस्य महात्मनः।

Śiva said— “On hearing those words of Śukra, Virocana was very much astonished and asked him.”

विरोचन उवाच

इति तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा पुनः प्रोवाच विस्तरात्॥ २६॥

“Please explain to me the glory and the rituals connected with that ordinance.” Hearing those words of Virocana, Śukra, began to explain it in detail.

शुक्र उवाच

चतुर्थ्यङ्गारकदिने यदा भवति दानव।

मृदा स्नानं तदा कुर्यात् पद्मसमविभूषितः॥ २७॥

Śukra said— O Dānava! if the 4th day of the bright fortnight fall on a Tuesday, the devotee should bathe after rubbing sand over his body, and then wear rubies.

अग्निर्मूर्द्धा दिवो मन्त्रं जपन्नास्ते उदङ्मुखः।

शूद्रस्तूष्णीं स्मरन्भौममास्ते भोगविवर्जितः॥ २८॥

He should mutter the mantras, “Agnimūrdhā divo,” by turning his face towards the north. If the devotee be a Śūdra, he should silently, without uttering any mantra, meditate over the form of Bhauma (Mars). The company of women should be avoided that day.

तथास्तमित आदित्य गोमयेनासु लेपयेत्।

At dusk, the courtyard of the house should be plastered with cow dung and adorned with floral wreaths, and uncooked rice should be placed all round.

अभ्यर्च्यार्थिलिखेत् पद्मं कुङ्कुमेनाष्टपत्रकम्।

Thereafter, worshipping Bhauma, a lotus of eight petals should be drawn in saffron. If saffron is not available, then it should be drawn by red-sandal.

चत्वारः करकाः कार्या भक्ष्यभोज्यसमन्विताः।

तण्डुलै रक्तशालीयैः पद्मरागैश्च संयुताः॥ ३१॥

Four pitchers, full of eatables, should be placed, and uncooked rice and rubies should be placed in them.

चतुष्कोणेषु तान् कृत्वा फलानि विविधानि च।

गन्धमाल्यादिकं सर्वं तथैव विनिवेदयेत्॥ ३२॥

The pitchers should be located in the four corners and fruits, flowers, incense, etc., should be placed over them.

Then a milch cow, with her horns covered with gold, and hoofs with silver, should be given away to a Brāhmaṇa in charity, along with a milking vessel of bell metal, and her calf. So also should be given an ox, and the seven kinds of grains tied in seven different pieces of cloths.

Afterwards, all that should be given away in charity to a Brāhmaṇa who is versed in the sacrificial rites, is able to restrain his passions, is clam and modest, is well-born and has large family. It should never be given to a Brāhmaṇa, who is a hypocrite. Then the devotee should recite the following mantras, with his hands folded.

भूमिपुत्र महाभाग स्वेदोद्भव पिनाकिनः।

रूपार्थी त्वां प्रपन्नोऽहं गृहाणार्घ्यं नमोऽस्तु ते॥ ३६॥

O Son of Earth, O blessed one, you have been born of the sweat drop of lord Śiva, I pray you for beauty and have taken shelter under you. Be pleased to accept this arghya, I salute you. Please accept this libation of water.

मन्त्रेणानेन दत्त्वा रक्तचन्दनवारिणा।

ततोऽर्चयेद्विप्रवरं रक्तमाल्याम्बरादिभिः॥ ३७॥

The libation of water (arghya) mingled with red sandal, should be made by reciting the above mantras, and the Brāhmaṇa should be worshipped with red sandal, red flowers and red cloths etc.

दद्यात्तेनैव मन्त्रेण भौमं गोमिथुनान्वितम्।

शय्यां च शक्तितो दद्यात् सर्वोपस्करसंयुताम्॥ ३८॥

By uttering the same mantra, a cow, with an ox, should be given away in charity in honour of Mars, and a bedstead, well-arranged with all its requisites, should also be given away.

यद्यदिष्टतमं लोके यच्चास्य दयितं गृहे।

ततद्गुणवते देयं तदेवाक्षयमिच्छता॥ ३९॥

All the nice things available or the things appreciated by the devotee wishing to acquire everlasting benefits, should be given away in charity to the Brāhmaṇa.

प्रदक्षिणं ततः कृत्वा विसर्ज्य द्विजपुङ्गवम्।

नक्तमक्षारलवणमग्नीयाद्धृतसंयुतम्॥ ४०॥

After this, the Brāhmaṇa should be circumambulated and dismissed, and the devotee should take his evening meal with clarified butter, avoiding salt and acid.

भक्त्या यस्तु पुनः कुर्यादेवमङ्गारकाष्टकम्।

चतुरो वाथ वा तस्य यत्पुण्यं तद्वदामि ते॥ ४१॥

I shall now describe to you the benefits that accrue to the devotee by observing this Aṅgāraka vrata for eight times or even four times with devotion.

रूपसौभाग्यसम्पन्नः पुनर्जन्मनि जन्मनि।

विष्णौवाथ शिवे भक्तः सप्तद्वीपाधिपो भवेत्॥ ४२॥

Pippalāda said— After thus describing the rituals, the sage Śukra went away and Virocana, the Prince of the Daityas, afterwards kept this observance, according to the prescribed rites, and O King Yudhiṣṭhira! You should also keep it. The knowers of Veda say that its fruit is inexhaustible.

Śiva said § Hearing all this from the sage Pippalāda, the King Yudhiṣṭhira, of the wonderful deeds and prowess, said – "Let it be so." He then performed this Vrata. One who hears about it, after pondering over the words of Pippalāda with attention, also gets the same benefit by the grace of the lord Mars.

Pippalāda said— “O King! now listen to the rituals pertaining to the pacification of the malignant aspect of the planet Śukra (Venus). On the beginning of a journey or its end, or on the occasions of the appearance and the disappearance of Śukra, a vessel of silver, gold or bell metal should be made and filled in with white flowers, white cloth and uncooked rice.

विधाय राजतं शुक्रं शुचिमुक्ताफलान्वितम्।
मन्त्रेणानेन तत् सर्वं सामगाय निवेदयेत्॥ ३॥

A silver image of Śukra should be made and given away to a Brāhmaṇa well-versed in the Sāmaveda, after decorating it with pearls and placing it on the top of the vessel.

नमस्ते सर्वलोकेश नमस्ते भृगुनन्दन।
कवे सर्वार्थसिद्ध्यर्थं गृहाणार्घ्यं नमोऽस्तु ते॥ ४॥

At the time of giving away the image, the following mantra should be uttered— “O master of all realms, O Bhṛgunandana, O Kavi, salutation to you. Accept this arghya for the fulfilment of my desires.”

एवमस्योदये कुर्वन्यात्रादिषु च भारत।
सर्वान्कामानवाप्नोति विष्णुलोके महीयते॥ ५॥

The person who thus gives away all the things mentioned above, in charity, according to the aforementioned rites, when undertaking a journey, etc., at the time of the appearance of Śukra, goes to the region of Viṣṇu, after getting all his desires fulfilled.

The devotee should not take his meals until he has finished his worship of Śukra by offering Him white flowers, fried cakes and cakes of urad pulse and things made of wheat and gram. The person who does so attains trivarga (religious merit, wealth and enjoyment).

Yudhiṣṭhira! the worship of Brhaspati (Jupiter) has been described in the same way, to which now listen. An image of Brhaspati should be made in gold and placed in a golden vessel, after being dressed in yellow cloth. The devotee then should bathe in water mixed with sesamum, or with water mixed with the juice of butea-frondosa or Pañcagavya.

पीताङ्गरागवसनो घृतहोमं तु कारयेत्।
प्रणम्य च गवा सार्द्धं ब्राह्मणाय निवेदयेत्॥ ९॥

He should then put on yellow raiments and paint his head with sandal mixed with saffron and then pour libations of clarified butter in the fire. Then, after saluting Brhaspati, the image should be given away to a Brāhmaṇa, along with a cow.

नमस्तेऽङ्गिरसां नाथ वाक्पते च बृहस्पते।
क्रूरग्रहैः पीडितानाममृताय नमो नमः॥ १०॥

Brhaspati should thus be saluted— “Salutations to Brhaspati, the giver of solace to those falling under the influence of evil stars.”

संक्रान्तावस्य कौन्तेय यात्रास्वभ्युदयेषु च।

Brahmā said— O Lord Śiva! You are the One, who sees all beings safely through the ocean of the world, please therefore describe some such ordinance, as may lead people to cross the sea of the world in safety and attain health, heaven and happiness.

ईश्वर उवाच

Śiva said to Brahmā! I shall describe to you the Saura dharma, consisting of the following vratas : (i) Kalyāṇa saptamī (ii) Viśokasaptamī. So also (iii) Phala Saptamī, the destroyer of sins and giver of great merit. Similarly, (iv) the sacred Śarkarā Saptamī (v) Kamala Saptamī (vi) Mandāra Saptamī, (vii) Śubha Saptamī, the giver of auspiciousness. These are the givers of endless merit. All these have been respected by the Devas and the Ṛṣis and I shall describe their rituals to you, one by one, in due order.

यदा तु शुक्लसप्तम्यामादित्यस्य दिनं भवेत्।

सा तु कल्याणिनी नाम विजया च निगद्यते॥५॥

When a Sunday falls on the 7th day of a bright fortnight, it is known as Kalyāṇinī or Vijayā Saptamī.

प्रातर्गव्येन पयसा स्नानमस्यां समाचरेत्।

ततः शुक्लाम्बरः पद्ममक्षताभिः प्रकल्पयेत्॥६॥

On that day the devotee should bathe in cow's milk, in the morning, and put on white clothes and then sit facing the east and draw the picture of an eight-petalled lotus flower, made of uncooked rice powder.

प्राङ्मुखोऽष्टदलं मध्ये तद्वद्वृत्तां च कर्णिकाम्।

पुष्पाक्षताभिर्देवेशं विन्यसेत् सर्वतः क्रमात्॥७॥

He should, then, draw a circle round that lotus, and in the centre of it draw its pericarp, with the same material. Then, on all sides of it, he should draw eight pictures of the Sun with flowers and rice.

पूर्वेण तपनायेति मार्तण्डायेति चानले।

पश्चिमे वरुणायेति भास्करायेति चानिले।

सौम्ये विकर्तनायेति रवये चाष्टमे दले॥९॥

The devotee should put a pinch of uncooked rice on each petal of the lotus, after reciting the following mantras— “Tapanāya namaḥ, Mārtanḍāya namaḥ, Divākarāya namaḥ, Vidhātre namaḥ, Varuṇāya namaḥ, Bhāskarāya namaḥ, Vikartanāya namaḥ and Ravaye namaḥ, respectively, beginning with the picture of the Sun on the Eastern petal and then on those on the South-Eastern, Southern, South-Western, Western, North-Western, Northern and lastly on the North-Eastern petals¹.

आदावन्ते च मध्ये च नमोऽस्तु परमात्मने।

मन्त्रैरेभिः समभ्यर्च्य नमस्कारान्तदीपितैः॥१०॥

1. Note— A pinch of uncooked rice should be placed on each petal after reciting one name each time, until it is placed on each eight petals, viz. on the petal in the eastern direction by reciting Tapanāya namaḥ, and so on.

At the commencement, as well as at the end, and so also in the middle, of placing rice, he should recite the Mantra Paramātmāne namaḥ. Then at the end, the God Sun should be saluted.

शुक्लवस्त्रैः फलैर्भक्ष्यैर्धूपमाल्यानुलेपनैः।

स्थण्डिले पूजयेद्भक्त्या गुडेन लवणेन च॥ ११॥

The Sun should be worshipped on the altar by being offered white cloth, fruits, incense, flowers, sandal paste, eatables and raw sugar, along with salt, all of which should be given away in charity to Brāhmaṇas.

ततो व्याहृतिमन्त्रेण विसर्ज्जेद्द्विजपुङ्गवान्।

शक्तितः पूजयेद्भक्त्या गुडक्षीरघृतादिभिः।

Afterwards, good Brāhmaṇas should be devotedly worshipped with raw sugar, clarified butter and milk and then they should be given gold placed on a dish, containing sesamum.

एवं नियमकृत् सुप्त्वा प्रातरुत्थाय मानवः।

कृतस्नानजपो विप्रैः सहैव घृतपायसम्॥ १३॥

Then the Brāhmaṇas should be dismissed with fees, after reciting the 'vyāhṛti' mantras. The devotee should then go to sleep and then, after getting up in the morning, he should bathe and finish his japa (prayers) and take rice cooked in clarified butter and sugar in company of the Brāhmaṇas.

भुक्त्वा च वेदविदुषे बिडालव्रतवर्जिते।

घृतपात्रं सकनकं सोदकुम्भं निवेदयेत्॥ १४॥

After meals, the devotee should give away to the Brāhmaṇas, who may be free from hypocrisy, a pot, full of clarified butter, and a piece of gold, along with a pitcher, full of water.

If one cannot afford such number of cows, he may give only one. The observer of the ordinance should not exercise miserliness or jealousy. Those who do so, go to hell.

अनेन विधिना यस्तु कुर्यात्कल्याणसप्तमीम्।

One who thus observes the Kalyāṇa Saptamī ordinance, goes to the region of the Sun, after being liberated from all sins, and obtains long life, health and prosperity on this earth.

सर्वपापहरा नित्यं सर्वदैवतपूजिता।

CHAPTER 75

The merits of the vow of Viśoka-saptamī

ईश्वर उवाच

विशोकसप्तमीं तद्वद्वक्ष्यामि मुनिपुङ्गव।

यामुपोष्य नरः शोकं न कदाचिदिहाश्नुते॥१॥

Śiva said— O sage! I shall now tell you about the Viśoka Saptamī (the sorrow-destroying fast) the observance of which fast frees the devotee from all grief.

माघे कृष्णतिलैः स्नात्वा षष्ठ्यां वै शुक्लपक्षतः।

कृताहारः कृसरया दन्तधावनपूर्वकम्।

उपवासव्रतं कृत्वा ब्रह्मचारी भवेन्निशि॥२॥

On the sixth day of the bright fortnight, in the month of Māgha, the devotee, after brushing his teeth in the morning and rubbing the body with black sesamum and bathing, should fast the whole day; and at night, again brushing his teeth, he should take kṛsarā pudding (consisting of rice, sesamum and a pulse cooked in milk and eaten with ghee and without salt). Then go to bed as a Brahmachārī.

ततः प्रभाथ उत्थाय कृतस्नानजपः शुचिः।

कृत्वा तु कांचनं पद्ममर्कायेति च पूजयेत्॥

On the following morning, after bathing and finishing his daily prayer and so being pure, he should have a lotus made of gold and worship it by pronouncing 'Arkāya namaḥ¹.'

करवीरेण रक्तेन रक्तवस्त्रयुगेन च॥३॥

यथा विशोकं भुवनं त्वयैवादित्य सर्वदा।

तथा विशोकता मेऽस्तु त्वद्भक्तिः प्रतिजन्म च॥४॥

The lotus should be worshipped with red kanera (Nereum Odorum) flowers and a piece of red cloth. The devotee should pray to the Sun with these words:— "O Āditya! as this world becomes free from all grief at your rising, in the same way, let me also be free from sorrow, in all my lives, and may I have always firm faith in you."

1. Salutation to the Sun.

तद्वस्त्रयुगं पद्मं च ब्राह्मणाय निवेदयेत्॥६॥

Thus, having performed Pūjā on the sixth day of the bright fortnight, the Brāhmaṇas should be worshipped with devotion. The worshipper, after taking cow's urine, should go to bed.² Then, on the following morning, rising from his bed, bathing and finishing his daily prayers, he should offer food to the Brāhmaṇas, in a vessel containing raw sugar. Then the golden lotus should be given away to a Brāhmaṇa, along with a pair of red clothes mentioned above.

अतैललवणं भुक्त्वा सप्तम्यां मौनसंयुतः।

ततः पुराणश्रवणं कर्तव्यं भूतिमिच्छता॥७॥

On the Saptamī (seventh) day, oil and salt should be avoided, and the devotee, wishing prosperity, should observe a vow of silence and listen to the Purāṇa.

अनेन विधिना सर्वमुभयोरपि पक्षयोः।

कृत्वा यावत् पुनर्माघशुक्लपक्षस्य सप्तमी॥८॥

The ordinance should then be continued on the seventh day of each fortnight, till the next month of Māgha.

व्रतान्ते कलशं दद्यात्सुवर्णकमलान्वितम्।

शय्यां सोपस्करां दद्यात्कपिलां च पयस्विनीम्॥९॥

On the conclusion of the ordinance, a pitcher of water, along with a golden louts, should be given away, and a bedstead, with all its requisites and a milch cow, should also be given away.

अनेन विधिना यस्तु वित्तशाठ्यविवर्जितः।

यं यं प्रार्थयते कामं तं तमाप्नोति पुष्कलम्।

One who keeps up the Viśoka Saptamī ordinance, according to the rites mentioned above, without giving way to miserliness, attains bliss, and never gets any sorrow for a period of ten padmas, and is also free from disease. He also attains his wishes and if he observes it without any desires, he becomes unified with Brahman.

यः पठेच्छृणुयाद्वापि विशोकाख्यं च सप्तमीम्।

One who reads, listens to, or relates this vrata of Viśoka Saptamī, goes to the realm of Indra and never gets any sorrow.

The ordinance of Phala-saptamī

ईश्वर उवाच

अन्यामपि प्रवक्ष्यामि नाम्ना तु फलसप्तमीम्।

यामुपोष्य नरः पापाद्विमुक्तः स्वर्गभागभवेत्॥१॥

Śiva said— “I shall now describe to you the Phala Saptamī (fruit-gift fast) the observance of which liberates the devotee from sins and leads him to heaven.

In the month of Mārgaśīra, on the seventh day of the bright fortnight, the devotee, after fasting, should give away a lotus of gold, along with sugar, to some Brāhmaṇa with a large family. A golden image of the Sun, weighing one pala in measure, should also be given away to a Brāhmaṇa in the afternoon, when the devotee should say, “O Sun; be pleased on me.”

भक्त्या तु विप्रान्सम्पूज्य चाष्टम्यां क्षीरभोजनम्।

दत्त्वा कुर्यात्फलयुतं यावत्स्यात्कृष्णसप्तमी॥४॥

On the following day, that is, on Aṣṭamī, the Brāhmaṇas should be worshipped with devotion and fed with milk and fruits; during that period of the day, so long as there is any portion of the Kṛṣṇa Saptamī remaining, and on every seventh day of the dark fortnight, fruits should be given away in charity.

In the same way, any fruit made of gold, and a lotus along with sugar, utensils, cloths and flowers should be given away on each seventh day of the dark and the bright fortnights in the month, for a full year.

उपोष्य दत्त्वा क्रमशः सूर्यमन्त्रमुदीरयेत्।

भानुरर्को रविर्ब्रह्मा सूर्यः शक्रो हरिः शिवः।

The following names should be recited, one after the other, each month— Bhānu, Arka, Ravi, Brahmā, Sūrya, Śukra, Hari, Śiva, Śrīmān, Vibhāvasu, Tvaṣṭā and Varuṇa.

प्रतिमासं च सप्तम्यामेकैकं नाम कीर्तयेत्।

प्रतिपक्षं फलत्यागमेतत्कुर्वन्समाचरेत्॥८॥

Out of the names mentioned above, one name, turn by turn, should be recited monthly, on the seventh day of the dark or bright fortnight. The desire of obtaining any fruit or merit, by the observance of this vrata, should be renounced by the devotee.

At the end of ordinance, a Brāhmaṇa and his wife should be adored, and then cloth as well as a pitcher, full of sugar, along with a lotus of gold, should be given, and the following prayer should be offered:— “O Ravi! As the wishes of your devotees never prove fruitless, so the attainment of endless fruits be mine, throughout my future seven lives.”

इमामनन्तफलदां यः कुर्यात्फलसप्तमीम्।

One who observes this Phala Saptamī, the giver of endless fruits, being liberated from all his sins, goes to the realm of the sun.

सुरापानादिकं किञ्चिदत्रामुत्र वा कृतम्।

In the month of Vaiśākha, on the seventh day of the bright fortnight, the devotee should bathe in water, mixed with white sesamum, and then put on white sandal paste and a garland of white flowers.

तस्मिन्नमः सवित्रे तु गन्धधूपौ निवेदयेत्॥३॥

Afterwards, a pitcher of water, with a vessel of sugar, should be placed on it. The pitcher should be covered with a pieces of white cloth and white flower, sandal paste, and gold should be put on it. Then the pūjā should be made with the following mantra—

विश्ववेदमयो यस्माद्वेदवादीति पठ्यसे।
सर्वस्यामृतमेव त्वमतः शान्तिं प्रयच्छ मे॥५॥

“O Pitcher, you are the Vedamaya¹, and consequently, you are praised as Vedavādī². You are like nectar to all, bring peace unto me.”

1. Full of all Vedas.

2. Knower of all Vedas.

पंचगव्यं ततः पीत्वा स्वपेत्तत्पार्श्वतः क्षितौ।

Afterwards, the devotee should drink pañcagavya and sleep on the floor, by the side of the pitchers, and should recite the Vedic mantras relating to the Sun and listen to the Purāṇas.

अहोरात्रे गते पश्चादष्टम्यां कृतनैत्यकः।
तत्सर्वं विदुषे तद्ब्रह्मणाय निवेदयेत्॥७॥

After the lapse of a day and night, on the 8th day of the fortnight, the devotee should give away all the things to the Brāhmaṇas after performing his daily prayers.

He should feed the Brāhmaṇas, according to his means, with sugar, clarified butter and rice cooked in milk and sugar, but should avoid oil and salt. He himself should take his meals in silence. The same rule should be observed each month for a year, after which a pitcher of water, with a vessel of sugar, a bedstead, with all its requisites, and a milch cow, and if means permit, then a house containing all the necessities of a householder's life as well as eatables, should be given away.

The devotee should, in addition to the things mentioned above, give away a horse of gold worth 1,000 Niṣkas, 100 Niṣkas, or 10 Niṣkas, or of even 5 Niṣkas,¹ according to his means, by reciting the mantras pertaining to the Sun. Miserliness should not be exercised, for it leads to sin.

The nectar fell from the mouth of the Sun, while He was quaffing it, out of which (Śāli) rice, mūṅga pulse and sugarcane were produced. Sugarcane is the best of all these three, because out of it sugar is prepared. Its juice is just like nectar; consequently, an offering of sugar to Devas and Pitṛs is dear to the Sun also.

This Śarkarā Saptamī is said to give the same benefit as Aśvamedha sacrifice. It removes all diseases and makes the sons and the grandsons thrive. One who observes this fast with unflinching devotion, gets bliss. He passes his days for one Kalpa in heaven, and then attains emancipation.

Birth of the daughters of Dakṣa and Kumāra Kārttikeya

ऋषय ऊचुः

देवानां दानवानां च गन्धर्वोरगरक्षसाम्।

उत्पत्तिं विस्तरेणैव सूत ब्रूहि यथातथम्॥१॥

Śaunaka and other sages asked, “O Sūta, how are the gods, Dānavas, Gandharvas, Nāgas and Rākṣasas were born? You kindly enlighten me on the subject exhaustively.

सूत उवाच

सङ्कल्पादर्शनात्स्पर्शात्पूर्वेषां सृष्टिरुच्यते।

दक्षात्प्राचेतसादूर्ध्वं सृष्टिर्मैथुनसम्भवा॥२॥

Sūta said, “O Excellent Brāhmaṇas, prior to the creation said, have been made by Dakṣa- the son of Pracetā, was made by mental resolve, sight, and the mere touch. But after Dakṣa, the creation went on with the sexual intercourse between the male and the female.

प्रजाः सृजेति व्यादिष्टः पूर्वं दक्षः स्वयम्भुवा।

यथा ससर्ज चैवादौ तथैव शृणुत द्विजाः॥३॥

In earlier times, when Brahmā, commanded Dakṣa for the creation of the living beings, then the initial creation of Dakṣa is being described by me; which should be listened by you.

यदा तु सृजतस्तस्य देवर्षिगणपन्नगान्।

न वृद्धिमगमल्लोकस्तदा मैथुनयोगतः।

दक्षः पुत्रसहस्राणि पाञ्चजन्यामजीजनत्॥४॥

When there was no expansion of the creation by mental resolve, sight or with the touch, there was no progress in the creation of the gods, the sages and the nāgas etc. Then Dakṣa produced a thousand sons from the womb of Pāñcajanī who were known by the name of Haryāśvas.

तांस्तु दृष्ट्वा महाभागः सिसृक्षुर्विविधाः प्रजाः।

नारदः प्राह हर्यश्वान्दक्षपुत्रान्समागतान्॥५॥

Finding that the Haryāśvas were ready to create several types of the living beings, Nārada said to them.

भुवः प्रमाणं सर्वत्र ज्ञात्वोर्ध्वमघ एव च।

ततः सृष्टिं विशेषेण कुरुष्वमृषिसत्तमाः॥६॥

Nārada said, “O Best of the sages, initially, you should roam about on earth and visualise its expansion, besides the parts lodged above and beneath the same. Thereafter you can create the universe in a special form.”

ते तु तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा प्रयाताः सर्वतो दिशम्।

अद्यापि न निवर्तन्ते समुद्रादिव सिन्धवः॥७॥

Listening to the words of Nārada, all of them proceeded on to different directions and could not return till date, in the same way as the rivers, after falling in the ocean, never return.

हर्यश्वेषु प्रणष्टेषु पुनर्दक्षः प्रजापतिः।

 भुवः प्रमाणं सर्वत्र ज्ञात्वा भ्रातृनथो पुनः।
 आगत्य चाथ सृष्टिं च करिष्यथ विशेषतः॥ १०॥

Then when the sons known as Haryāśvas, met with destruction, the influential Dakṣa Prajāpati again produced a thousand sons from the womb of Vīriṇī who became popular by the names of Sabalās. When those excellent Brāhmaṇas, collected before Nārada, for the purpose of creation, then Nārada spoke the same words to the new comers, "O Sages, all of you should first of all roam about on earth and examine its vastness and searching for your brothers, you return and engage yourself in the creation of the universe."

तेऽपि तेनैव मार्गेण जग्मुर्भ्रातृपथा तदा।
 ततः प्रभृति न भ्रातुः कनीयान्मार्गमिच्छति।

Then all of them proceeded on following the path on which their brothers had moved earlier, never to return. Since then the younger brother does not go in search of the elder brother. But in case he does so, he finds himself in a miserable position. Therefore, one should not do so.

ततस्तेषु विनष्टेषु षष्टिं कन्याः प्रजापतिः।
 वैरिण्यां जनयामास दक्षः प्राचेतसस्तथा॥ १२॥

As a result of the destruction of these sons as well, Prajāpati, the son of Pracetā, Dakṣa, produced sixty daughters from the womb of Pañcajanī - the daughter of Vīriṇī.

प्रादात्स दश धर्माय कश्यपाय त्रयोदश।

 द्वे चैव भृगुपुत्राय द्वे कृशाश्वाय धीमते।
 द्वे चैवाङ्गिरसे तद्वत्तासां नामानि विस्तरात्॥ १४॥

Out of those daughters, Dakṣa gave away, ten to Dharma, Thirteen to Kaśyapa, twenty seven to the moon, four to Ariṣṭanemi, two to Śukra, the son of Bhṛgu, two to the intelligent Kṛśāśva and two of them were given to Aṅgira. Now you listen to the names of the gods and the expansion of their progeny in detail.

Out of them Mārutvatī, Vasu, Yamī, Lambā, Bhānu, Arundhatī, Saṅkalpa, Muhūrtā, Sādhyā and the beautiful Viśvā, the ten in number, are said to be the wives of Dharma. Now you listen to the sons of those damsels.

Out of them, Viśvā gave birth to the ten Viśvedevas, Sādhyā gave birth to the twelve Ādityas, Muhūrtā gave birth to Muhūrtā, Lambā to Ghoṣa, Yamī to Yogavīthī, and Saṅkalpā gave birth to Saṅkalpa. Arundhatī, gave birth to all the living beings on earth.

Now you listen to the expansion of their creation. Āpa, Dhruva, Soma, Dharā, Anila, Anala, Pratyūṣa and Prabhāsa, are known as the eight Vasus.

The vow and merits of Kamala-saptamī

ईश्वर उवाच

अतः परं प्रवक्ष्यामि तद्वत्कमलसप्तमीम्।

Śiva said— I shall now describe to you that Kamala Saptamī vrata, by the mere mention of which the God Sun becomes pleased.

वसन्तामल सप्तम्यां स्नातः सन् गौरसर्षपैः।

तिलपात्रे च सौवर्णे विधाय कमलं शुभम्॥२॥

In the spring, on the 7th day of a bright fortnight, the devotee should bathe in water mixed with white mustard and should then make a golden lotus and lace it in a golden vessel, full of sesamum.

वस्त्रयुग्भावृतं कृत्वा गन्धपुष्पैः समर्चयेत्।

The lotus should be covered with a pair of cloths, and then the Lord Sun should be worshipped with incense, flowers etc. The following mantras should be recited at the time of worship. “Kamalahastāya namaḥ, Viśvadhārīṇe namaḥ, Divākarāya namaḥ, Prabhākarāya namaḥ” and he should then give away the golden lotus in the evening, along with the pitcher of water adorning it, with ornaments, cloths and garlands, and then give it to a Brāhmaṇa. So, also, according to his means, he may give away a milch cow after adorning her well.

अहोरात्रे गते पश्चादष्टम्यां भोजयेद्विजान्।

On the following day i.e., on the aṣṭamī the Brāhmaṇas should be fed according to the means of the devotee, but he himself should not take flesh and oil.

अनेन विधिना शुक्लसप्तम्यां मासि मासि च।

In this way, the devotee, without giving way to miserliness, should observe the same rituals, on the 7th day of a bright fortnight each month.

On the conclusion of the ordinance, a bedstead along with the golden lotus, should be given away and a cow with its horns plaited with gold as well as utensils, āsana (seats) and candle sticks should also be given away, along with other necessary articles. One, who observes this ordinance, according to the prescribed rites, becomes possessed of inexhaustible wealth and goes to the kingdom of the Sun.

He also goes to all the seven lokas, in each kaipa, where he enjoys in the company of the nymphs and gets bliss.

CHAPTER 79

The vow and merits of Mandāra-saptamī

ईश्वर उवाच

अथातः सम्प्रवक्ष्यामि सर्वपापप्रणाशिनीम्।

सर्वकामप्रदां रम्यां नाम्ना मन्दारसप्तमीम्॥१॥

Śiva said— I now relate to you about the Mandāra Saptamī, the giver of all desires, the most excellent and the destroyer of all sins.

माघस्यामलपक्षे तु पंचम्यां लघुभुङ्क्ष्वः।

दन्तकाष्ठं ततः कृत्वा षष्ठीमुपवसेदुधः॥२॥

The devotee should take some light food on the fifth day of the bright fortnight in the month of Māgha, and having arisen from his bed in the morning and brushing his teeth and bathing, should keep fast on that day viz., on the Ṣaṣṭhī day.

विप्रान् संपूजयित्वा तु मन्दारं प्राशयेन्निशि।

ततः प्रभात उत्थाय कृत्वा स्नानं पुनर्द्विजान्॥३॥

भोजयेच्छक्तितः कृत्वा मन्दारकुसुमाष्टकम्।

सौवर्णं पुरुषं तद्वत्पद्महस्तं सुशोभनम्॥४॥

That day he should honour a few Brāhmaṇas and feed them with delicious food at night. Mandāra¹ prāśana should be offered to the Deva. On the following morning, that is, the saptamī day, he should feed the Brāhmaṇas again, according to his means, after his morning ablutions. Then procure eight Mandāra flowers and prepare a golden image of the Sun carrying a lotus in his hand and place it in a copper vessel containing sesamum, and prepare also on eight petalled lotus and invoke the God Sun, thus. He should offer one mandāra flower on each petal.

पद्मं कृष्णतिलैः कृत्वा ताम्रपात्रेऽष्टपत्रकम्।

हैममन्दारकुसुमैर्भास्करायेति पूर्वतः॥५॥

नमस्कारेण तद्वच्च सूर्यायेत्यानले दले।

पश्चिमे वेदधाम्ने च वायव्ये चण्डभानवे।

पूष्णेत्युत्तरतः पूज्यमानन्दायेत्यतः परम्॥७॥

He should then salute the Sun and put some flowers and uncooked rice on the lotus leaf, in the Eastern direction by saying “Bhāskarāya namaḥ”, in the south-east by saying “Sūryāya namaḥ” in the south, by saying “Arkāya namaḥ” in the south-west, by saying “Aryamne namaḥ”, in the west by saying “Veda dhāmne namaḥ”, in the north-west direction by saying “Caṇḍa Bhānave namaḥ”, in the north by saying “Pūṣṇe namaḥ”, in the north-east by saying “Ānandāya namaḥ.”

कर्णिकायां च पुरुषं स्थाप्य सर्वात्मनेति च।

शुक्लवस्त्रैः समावेष्ट्य भक्ष्यैर्माल्यफलादिभिः॥८॥

The devotee should place the image of the Male Puruṣa on the pericarp of the lotus, and after saying “Sarvātmāne namaḥ”, white cloth should be put on the image, and eatables, flowers and fruits should be offered.

एवमभ्यर्च्य तत्सर्वं दद्याद्देविदे पुनः।

भुञ्जीतातैललवणं वाग्यतः प्राङ्मुखो गृही॥९॥

Then all these things should be given away to a Brāhmaṇa versed in the Vedas. He himself should take his meals, but then oil and salt should be avoided. He should observe the vow of silence while eating and take his meals facing the east.

अनेन विधिना सर्वं सप्तम्यां मासि मासि च।

कुर्यात्संवत्सरं यावद्विज्ज्ञातविवर्जितः॥१०॥

This ordinance should be observed, according to the prescribed rites for a year, on

1. Mandāra is the name given to several species of plants, viz., Calotropis gigantea, Erythrina Indica and thorn-apple.

the seventh day of a fortnight, each month, without giving way to miserliness.

एतदेव व्रतान्ते तु निधाय कलशोपरि।

गोभिर्विभवतः सार्द्धं दातव्यं भूतिमिच्छता॥११॥

On the conclusion of the ordinance, the lotus of gold should be given away after being placed on a pitcher of water. One wishing to acquire prosperity, should give away a cow in addition to it.

नमो मन्दारनाथाय मन्दारभवनाय च।

त्वं रवे तारयस्वास्मान्संसारभयसागरात्॥१२॥

The following prayer should then be offered "I salute Mandāranātha and Mandārabhavana, O Lord Sun! see me through this worldly ocean of troubles."

अनेन विधिना यस्तु कुर्यान्मन्दारसप्तमीम्।

One who observes this Mandāra Saptamī fast in this way is freed from all sins and goes to heaven where he resides for a kalpa. This ordinance is like a torch that dispels all the sins like pitched darkness. One who keeps it up gets his desires fulfilled. One who reads or listens about this ordinance becomes freed from all sins.

CHAPTER 80

The ordinance of Śubha-saptamī

श्रीभगवानुवाच

अथान्यामपि वक्ष्यामि शोभनां शुभसप्तमीम्।

यामुपोष्य नरो रोगशोकदुःखैः प्रमुच्यते॥१॥

Śrī Bhagavān said— I shall now explain to you about the excellent Śubha saptamī fasting, which frees the devotee from all disease, sorrows and troubles.

पुण्ये चाश्वयुजे मासि कृतस्नानजपः शुचिः।

वाचयित्वा ततो विप्रानारभेच्छुभसप्तमीम्॥२॥

The devotee should observe this ordinance on the seventh day of the bright fortnight, in the month of Āśvina, after ablutions and morning prayers, when the Brāhmaṇas have done the svastivācana.

कपिलां पूजयेद्भक्त्या गन्धमाल्यानुलेपनैः।

नमामि सूर्यसम्भूतामशेषभुवनालयाम्।

त्वामहं शुभकल्याणशरीरां सर्वसिद्धये॥३॥

A milch cow should be worshipped with incense, flowers and sandal paste and the devotee should say, "O, One who has been born of the Sun and one who resides in the various climes, whose body is goodness itself, I salute you for the fulfilment of my desires."

अथ कृत्वा तिलप्रस्थं ताम्रपात्रेण संयुतम्।

After this, a quantity (of the Prastha measure) of sesamum put in a vessel of copper, an ox of gold with incense, garland, molasses, various kinds of fruits, eatables and dishes made of milk and clarified butter, should be given away in the evening by reciting the mantra, "Aryamā Priyatām."

सोपधानकविश्रामं भाजनासनसंयुतम्॥८॥

The devotee should offer Pañcagavya as Prāśana. He should be free from all pride and sleep on the floor. On the following morning, he should get up and worship the Brāhmaṇas with devotion. Thus men should give away each month a couple of cloths, a golden ox and a golden cow, and at the end of the year, sugarcane, molasses, bedding, pillows, utensils and mattresses.

ताम्रपात्रे तिलप्रस्थं सौवर्णं वृषभं तथा।

दद्याद्देदविदे सर्वं विश्वात्मा प्रीयतामिति॥१॥

Afterwards, a quantity (of the Prastha measure) of sesamum placed in a vessel of copper and a golden ox, should be given to a Brāhmaṇa versed in the Vedas, with the words, “Visvātmā Prīyatām.”

अनेन विधिना विद्वान् कुर्याद्यः शुभसप्तमीम्।

He is also honoured by the nymphs (i.e. Apsarās and Gandharvas), and resides in heaven as the Lord of Hosts (i.e. Gaṇas) till the end of the kalpa, after which he is born as a king.

ब्रह्महत्यासहस्रस्य भूणहत्याशतस्य च।

Thousands of the sins accruing by the killing of Brāhmaṇas and by wilful abortion, are expiated by the reading of this sacred vrata of Saptamī.

Manu asked— O Lord! which is that ordinance, by the observance of which, separation from the dear ones ceases to be painful and which confers prosperity on the devotee and which saves men from the evils of this life?

मत्स्य उवाच

परिपृष्टमिदं जगत्त्रियं ते विबुधानामपि दुर्लभं महत्त्वात्।

The Lord said— The question put by you, O Manu! is beneficial to the world, and owing to the sublimity of the subject-matter, is beyond the reach of heaven even; and though kept secret from Suras and Asuras, now, I shall relate it to you on account of your intense devotion.

पुण्यमाश्वयुजे मासि विशोकद्वादशीव्रतम्।

दशम्यां लघुभुग्विद्वानारभेत्रियमेन तु॥३॥

The Viśokadvādaśī ordinance falls in the month of Āśvina. On the tenth day of the fortnight, the devotee should take some light food and commence the ordinance by observing the prescribed rites.

उदङ्मुखो प्राङ्मुखो वा दन्तधावनपूर्वकम्।

एकादश्यां निराहारः समभ्यर्च्य तु केशवम्।

स्नानं सर्वौषधैः कुर्यात् पञ्चगव्यजलेन तु।

शुक्लमाल्याम्बरधरः पूजयेच्छ्रीशमुत्पलैः॥५॥

On the Ekādaśī day, he should brush his teeth by turning his face towards the north or the east. Then he should worship the Lord Keśava and the Goddess Lakṣmī and fast the day. "I shall take my meal consisting of many dishes next day." With this thought, he should go to sleep, and on getting up in the morning, he should bathe in Pañcagavya water, mixed with various medicines, and put on white clothes and garlands of white flowers. Afterwards, the worship of Lakṣmī and Nārāyaṇa should be commenced with white lotus flowers.

अलकान्माधवायेति किरीटं विश्वरूपिणे।

नमः सर्वात्मने तद्वच्छिर इत्यभिपूजयेत्॥११॥

The feet should be worshipped, after reciting 'Viśokāya namaḥ,' the legs after reciting 'Varadāya namaḥ,' the knees after reciting 'Śrīsāya namaḥ,' the thighs after reciting 'Jalaśāyine namaḥ,' the private parts after reciting 'Kandarpāya namaḥ,' the waist after reciting 'Mādhavāya namaḥ,' the stomach after reciting 'Dāmodarāya namaḥ,' the ribs after reciting 'Vipulāya namaḥ,' the navel after reciting 'Padmanābhāya namaḥ,' the heart after reciting 'Manmathāya namaḥ,' the breasts after reciting 'Śrīdharāya namaḥ,' the hands after reciting 'Madhujite namaḥ,' the left arm after reciting 'Cakriṇe namaḥ,' the right arm after reciting 'Gadine namaḥ,' the throat after reciting 'Vaikuṇṭhāya namaḥ,' the mouth after reciting 'Yajñyamukhāya namaḥ,' the nose after reciting 'Aśokanidhaye namaḥ,' the eyes after reciting 'Vāsudevāya namaḥ,' the forehead after reciting 'Vāmanāya namaḥ,' the eye brows after reciting 'Haraye namaḥ,' the locks of hair after reciting 'Mādhavāya namaḥ,' the crown after reciting 'Viśvarūpiṇe namaḥ,' the head after reciting 'Sarvātmane namaḥ.'

एवं सम्पूज्य गोविन्दं फलमाल्यानुलेपनैः।

ततस्तु मण्डलं कृत्वा स्थण्डिलं कारयेन्मुदा॥१२॥

Thus worshiping Viṣṇu with sandal, fruits and flowers, an altar should be made on the ground after making a circle.

चतुरस्रं समन्ताच्च रत्निमात्रमुदक्प्लवम्।

श्लक्ष्णं हृद्यं च परितो वप्रत्रयसमावृतम्॥१३॥

The altar should be a square in shape, and of the dimensions of a cubit, and should slant towards the north. It must be smooth and soft, surrounded by three small mud-walls.

अङ्गुले नोच्छ्रिता वप्रास्तद्विस्तारस्तु द्व्यङ्गुलः।

स्थण्डिलस्योपरिष्ठाच्च भित्तिरष्टाङ्गुला भवेत्॥१४॥

The upper surface should be eight fingers high from the ground; and the mud walls one finger¹ high and two fingers thick.

1. One finger is a little less than one inch.

नदीवालुकया शूर्पे लक्ष्म्याः प्रतिकृतिं न्यसेत्।
स्थण्डिले शूर्पमारोप्य लक्ष्मीमित्यर्घ्येद्बुधः॥१५॥

On it should be placed an image of Lakṣmī, made of river sand, and placed in a winnowing basket, and worshipped according to the rites hereafter mentioned.

नमो देव्यै नमः शान्त्यै नमो लक्ष्म्यै नमः श्रियै।
नमः पुष्ट्यै नमस्तुष्ट्यै वृष्ट्यै हृष्ट्यै नमो नमः॥१६॥

Lakṣmī should be worshipped, after reciting the following mantra— Devyai namaḥ, Śāntyai namaḥ, Lakṣmyai namaḥ, Śrīyai namaḥ, Puṣṭyai namaḥ, Tuṣṭyai namaḥ, Vṛṣṭyai namaḥ, Hrṣṭyai namaḥ.

विशोका दुःखनाशाय विशोका वरदाऽस्तु मे।
विशोका चास्तु सम्पत्तयै विशोका सर्वसिद्धये॥१७॥

The devotee should also say, “O Viśokā goddess, destroy all grief, grant some boon, give wealth, and fulfil all desires’.

ततः शुक्लाम्बरैः शूर्पं वेष्ट्य सम्पूजयेत्फलैः।
वस्त्रैर्नानाविधैस्तद्वत्सुवर्णकमलेन च॥१८॥

After this, he should wrap up the winnowing basket in a piece of cloth and worship Lakṣmī with fruits and various kinds of clothes and with a golden lotus.

रजनीषु च सर्वासु पिबेद्दर्भोदकं बुधः।
ततस्तु गीतनृत्यादि कारयेत् सकलां निशाम्॥१९॥
यामत्रये व्यतीते तु सुप्त्वाप्युत्थाय मानवः।
अभिगम्य च विप्राणां मिथुनानि तदार्घ्येत्॥२०॥

The devotee should drink the water purified by the Kuśa grass and carry on music and singing throughout the night; and on the lapse of three quarters of the night thus past in vigil and prayer, the devotee should sleep in the last quarter, and then waking up, go and worship them, along with three couples of Brāhmaṇas and Brāhmaṇīs according to his means; if not there, at least, one couple should be worshipped.

शक्तितस्त्रीणि चैकं वा वस्त्रमाल्यानुलेपनैः।

भुक्त्वा श्रुत्वा पुराणानि तद्दिनं चाति वाहयेत्॥२३॥

He should offer them sandal, flowers and cloths as well as bedsteads, with the mantra, “Namastu Jalaśāyine.” The night thus passed with watching, music and songs, the devotee, after bathing in the morning, should worship the Brāhmaṇa couples, as mentioned above. They should be fed according to his means, free from niggardliness. And then, after taking his meals, he should pass that day in listening to the Purāṇas.

अनेन विधिना सर्वं मासिमासि समाचरेत्।

व्रतान्ते शयनं दद्याद्गुडधेनुसमन्विताम्।

सोपधानकविश्रामं सास्तरावरणं शुभम्॥२४॥

The devotee should observe the same rituals every month till the ordinance is over; after which, he should give away a bedstead, along with the guḍa dhenu¹ (sugar cow), pillows, bedding, sheets and cloths.

यथा न लक्ष्मीर्देवेश त्वां परित्यज्य गच्छति।

तथा सुरूपतारोग्यमशोकश्चास्तु मे सदा॥२५॥

Then he should say, “O Lord! as Lakṣmī does not forsake you similarly, beauty, health and pleasure may always be mine.’

यथा देवेन रहिता न लक्ष्मीर्जायते क्वचित्।

तथा विशोकता मेऽस्तु भक्तिरग्न्या च केशवे॥२६॥

“As Lakṣmī does not go without Viṣṇu, let there always be happiness with me. Let my devotion always remain centred in Viṣṇu.”

मन्त्रेणानेन शयनं गुडधेनुसमन्वितम्।

शूर्पं च लक्ष्म्या सहितं दातव्यं भूतिमिच्छता॥२७॥

1. Guḍa dhenu has been explained in the next chapter.

With the above words, the devotee should give away the bedstead and guḍa dhenu, the image of Lakṣmī and the winnowing basket, to the Brāhmaṇa.

उत्पलं करवीरं च बाणमम्लानकुङ्कुमम्।

The merits of gift of Guḍadhenu and other symbolic images of the cow

मनुरुवाच

गुडधेनुविधानं मे समाचक्ष्व जगत्पते।

किंरूपं केन मन्त्रेण दातव्यं तदिहोच्यताम्॥१॥

मत्स्य उवाच

गुडधेनुविधानस्य यद्रूपमिह यत्फलम्।

तदिदानीं प्रवक्ष्यामि सर्वपापविनाशनम्॥२॥

The Lord Matsya answered— O King! I shall explain to you the form of Guḍa dhenu, and the fruits of its gift, as well as the mantras, according to which it should be given away. It is the destroyer of all sins.

कृष्णाजिनं चतुर्हस्तं प्रागग्रं विन्यसेद्भुवि।

The floor should be plastered with cowdung, the Kuśa grass should be spread on all sides, and then over it should be placed a black antelope skin of four hands in length with its neck towards the east. This is meant for the cow. A smaller deer skin should be spread on the floor, near the first, and it should be meant for her calf. The cow should be made to face the east and the calf the north.

उत्तमा गुडधेनुः स्यात्सदा भारचतुष्टयम्।

अर्द्धभारेण वत्सः स्यात्कनिष्ठा भारकेण तु।

चतुर्थांशेन वत्सः स्याद्बृहवित्तानुसारतः॥६॥

The image of Guḍa dhenu (Sugar cow) should be made of 4 maunda of raw sugar, and the calf of one maunds of raw sugar, which is considered to be the first class; the image of the cow made of two maunds and the calf of half a maund of raw sugar is considered to be the next best. The image of the cow made of one maund and the calf of ten seers of raw sugar is considered to be the last best. The devotee is to choose between the three, according to his means.

धेनुवत्सौ घृतास्यौ च सितसूक्ष्माम्बरावृतौ।

शुक्तिकर्णाविक्षुपादौ शुचि मुक्ताफलेक्षणौ॥७॥

The mouths of the images of the cow and the calf should be made of clarified butter, and both should be covered with five silk cloths. Their ears should be made of mother-of-pearl and legs of sugarcane and the eyes of good pearls.

सितसूत्राशिरालौ तौ सितकम्बलकम्बलौ।

ताम्रगण्डकपृष्ठौ तौ सिचचामररोमकौ॥८॥

The tendons, nerves, etc., of these images should be made of white threads, white blankets to represent their dewlaps, cheeks and backs should be made of copper, the white hair trimmed from a cāmara (antelope hair) should represent the hair of the body.

विदुमभूयुगोपेतौ नवनीतस्तनावुभौ।

 इत्येवं रचयित्वा तौ धूपदीपैरर्घयेत्॥१०॥

The eyebrows should be made of corals, the udders of fresh butter, the tail of silk cloth, a vessel of bell metal should be placed to represent the milking vessel, the horns should be made of gold, the pupils of the eyes of sapphire, the hoofs of silver, the scented fruits in place of the nostrils. After thus making the images of the cow and the calf, the devotee should worship them with incense, lights, with the following prayer.

या लक्ष्मीः सर्वभूतानां या च देवेष्ववस्थिता।
 धेनुरूपेण सा देवी मम शान्तिं प्रयच्छतु॥११॥
 देहस्था या च रुद्राणी शङ्करस्य सदा प्रिया।

“The Goddess, who is inherent in all beings, in the form of Lakṣmī and who also resides among the Devas, let that Goddess, in the symbol of a cow, may confer peace upon me. The Goddess who is known as Rudrāṇī, the favourite of the Lord Śiva, in whose form she resides, may that very same Goddess in the symbol of the cow, dispel all my sins. The Goddess, who reclines on the breast of Viṣṇu, as Lakṣmī, who is present in the form of Svāhā, in the fire, and is called the power and the energy of the sun and the moon and Indra, the same Goddess, in the symbol of the cow may grant me wealth. She who is the Lakṣmī (wealth) of Brahmā, Kubera, Lokapālas may grant me boons in the symbol of the cow. She who is Svadhā, of the highest Pitṛs, is Svāhā of the Devās, may she remove all my sins and bring me peace in the symbol of the cow.’

एवमामन्त्र्य तां धेनुं ब्राह्मणाय निवेदयेत्।
 विधानमेतद्धेनूनां सर्वासामभिपठ्यते॥१६॥

The guḍadhenu, thus invoked by the above prayer should be given away to the Brāhmaṇa. The same ritual is observed in giving away all sorts of cows.

यास्ताः पापविनाशिन्यः पठ्यन्ते दश धेनवः।
 तासां स्वरूपं वक्ष्यामि नामानि च नराधिप॥१७॥

O King! There are ten sorts of cows that are said to remove all sins, and I shall enumerate them to you.

प्रथमा गुडधेनुः स्याद्घृतधेनुस्तथापरा।
 तिलधेनुस्तृतीया तु चतुर्थी जलसंज्ञिता॥१८॥
 क्षीरधेनुश्च विख्याता मधुधेनुस्तथापरा।
 सप्तमी शर्कराधेनुर्दधिधेनुस्तथाष्टमी।
 रसधेनुश्च नवमी दशमी स्यात्स्वरूपतः॥१९॥

They are— 1. Cow made of raw sugar (guḍa dhenu). 2. Cow made of clarified butter (ghṛta dhenu). 3. Cow made of sesamum (Tila dhenu), 4. Cow made of water (jala dhenu), 5. Cow made of milk (Kṣīra dhenu), 6. Cow made of honey (Madhu dhenu), 7. Cow made of sugar (Śarkarā dhenu), 8. Cow made of curds (dadhi dhenu), 9. Cow made of syrup (Rasa dhenu) and 10. The real, that is, the living cow.

कुम्भाः स्युर्द्रव धेनूनामितरासां तु राशयः।
 सुवर्णधेनुमप्यत्र केचिदिच्छन्ति मानवाः॥२०॥

The symbols of cows made of liquid should be placed in pitchers filled to the brim, and the symbols of the cow made of other substances should be arranged in a heap. In this matter of gift, some also like to make a symbol of the cow of gold.

नवनीतेन रत्नैश्च तथान्ये तु महर्षयः।

मन्त्रावाहनसंयुक्ताः सदा पर्वणि पर्वणि।

यथाश्रद्धं प्रदातव्या भुक्तिमुक्तिफलप्रदाः॥२२॥

Some sages have also said that the symbol of the cow made of fresh butter and gems should be given away. The above mentioned rituals should be observed in giving away all sorts of cows (described above). The devotee should give away, with faith, these cows to attain prosperity and emancipation, on occasions of different festivals, accompanied with the invocation of mantras.

गुडधेनुप्रसङ्गेन सर्वास्तावन्मयोदिताः।

अशेषयज्ञफलदाः सर्वाः पापहराः शुभाः॥२३॥

I have explained in connection with this guḍa dhenu gift, the gift of other symbolical cows. These gifts are destroyers of all sins, the givers of the fruits of innumerable sacrifices, and are very auspicious.

व्रतानामुत्तमं यस्माद्विशोकद्वादशीव्रतम्।

तदङ्गत्वेन चैवात्र गुडधेनुः प्रशस्यते॥२४॥

Of all the ordinances the one of Aśokadvādaśī is the best, and the gift of guḍa dhenu, as being an ingredient of that vrata, is, therefore, praised as the best.

अयने विषुवे पुण्ये व्यतीपातेऽथवा पुनः।

गुडधेन्वादयो देयास्तूपरागादिपर्वसु॥२५॥

It is most appropriate to give away the guḍa dhenu, on the days of equinoxes and solstices, on the occasion of an eclipse and Vyatīpāta (i.e. when the Sun and the Moon are in opposite Ayana and have the same declination, the sun of their longitude being equal to 180°).

विशोकद्वादशी चैषा पुण्या पापहरा शुभा।

यामुषोष्य नरो याति तद्विष्णोः परमं पदम्॥२६॥

This Viśokadvādaśī is most sacred and dispeller of all sins and is auspicious. He who fasts on this Dvādaśī goes to Viṣṇu's highest seat.

इह लोके च सौभाग्यमायुरारोग्यमेव च।

वैष्णवं पुरमाप्नोति मरणे च स्मरन्हरिम्॥२७॥

He attains prosperity, longevity and health in this world, and after death, he goes to the city of Viṣṇu, remembering him always at that critical moment.

नवार्बुदसहस्राणि दश चाष्टौ च धर्मवित्।

न शोकदुःखदौर्गत्यं तस्य सञ्जायते नृप॥२८॥

The virtuous devotee never gets grief or pain for a period of nine arbuda and eighteen thousand years.

नारी वा कुरुते या तु विशोकद्वादशीव्रतम्।

नृत्यगीतपरा नित्यं सापि तत्फलमाप्नुयात्॥२९॥

A married woman, observing this Viśokadvādaśī vrata, with music and dance, obtains also the same benefits.

तस्मादग्रे हरेर्नित्यमनन्तं गीतवादनम्।

कर्तव्यं भूतिकामेन भक्त्या तु भया नृप॥३०॥

Consequently, one, full of faith, should always have music and songs in honour of Hari, on the occasions of this vrata, for, thereby, he gets prosperity.

Thus who reads, listens to, or sees the adoration of enemy of Madhu, Mura and Naraka demons (Viṣṇu) or gives advice to others for this ordinance, attains the realm of Indra, where he is venerated by the Devas for a period of one Kalpa.

The benefits and greatness of all gifts

नारद उवाच

भगवञ्छ्रोतुमिच्छामि दानमाहात्म्यमुत्तमम्।
यदक्षयं परे लोके देवर्षिगणपूजितम्॥१॥

Nārada said— O Lord of the Universe! I wish to hear the benefits of that best of all gifts, that may be the giver of everlasting benefits in the next life and that may also be venerated by the Devas and Ṛṣis.

उमापतिरुवाच

मेरोः प्रदानं वक्ष्यामि दशधा मुनिपुङ्गव।
यत्प्रदानान्नरो लोकानाप्नोति सुरपूजितान्॥२॥

Śiva said— O Sage! I shall explain to you the ten ways of the gift of dāna known as the Sumeruparvata gift, by virtue of which, the devotee attains the highest of the climes and is respected by the Devas.

पुराणेषु च वेदेषु यज्ञेष्वायतनेषु च।
न तत्फलमधीतेषु कृतेष्विह यदश्नुते॥३॥

The blessings conferred by this form of charity cannot be attained otherwise, not even by the reading of, or listening to, the Purāṇas, Vedas, performing sacrifices and worshipping, or erecting temples to the Devas.

तस्माद्विधानं वक्ष्यामि पर्वतानामनुक्रमात्।

सप्तमो घृतशैलश्च रत्नशैलस्तथाष्टमः।
राजतो नवमस्तद्वदशमः शर्कराचलः॥६॥

Consequently, I shall relate to you the ways of this form of charity serially. The following ten hills should be made and given away viz. 1. The hill of grain, 2. The hill of salt, 3. The hill of raw sugar, 4. The hill of gold, 5. The hill of sesamum, 6. The hill of cotton, 7. The hill of clarified butter, 8. The hill of jewels, 9. The hill of silver, 10. The hill of sugar.

शुक्लायां पञ्चदश्यां वा पुण्यर्क्षे वा विधानतः।
धान्यशैलादयो देया यथाशास्त्रं विधानतः॥९॥

Now I shall explain to you the ways of giving away the different hills enumerated above. The hills made of grain, salt, etc., should be given away on the following occasions— on the day of the sacred equinoctia and solstitial sankrāntis, at the time of Vyatipāta, on the day of the conjunction of three tithis (tryahasparśa), on the third day of the bright fortnight, on the occasion of an eclipse, on the amāvasyā day, on the occasion of the sacrificial rites connected with the marriage ceremonies and other festivals, on the 12th day of the bright fortnight, on the full moon day, and on the day of the moon being in a sacred asterism.

गोमयेनानुलिप्तायां भूमावास्तीर्य वै कुशान्।
तन्मध्ये पर्वतं कुर्याद्विष्कम्भपर्वतान्वितम्॥११॥

A four-cornered (square) maṇḍapa should be erected with devotion, within a temple yard, in a sacred place, within the limits of a cattle-shed or in the devotee's own courtyard. It should face the north and be slightly slanting towards east and north, and the floor should be plastered with cowdung and covered with Kuśa grass. In the centre should be made the hill, surrounded by posts as props. (Four hills should be made in the corners, with Sumeru in the centre). The hill of (1,000 droṇas or) 16,000 seers of grain is the first best, of 8,000 seers of grain is the second best, and of 4,800 seers of grain the last best.

The Sumeru hill in the centre should be made of rice (vr̥hi), three trees of gold should be in it. Pearls and diamonds should be studded in the east side of the hill, cat's eye and topaz in the south, emerald and sapphire in the west and lapis lazuli and ruby in the north. Pieces of sandal wood should be placed on all sides. So also a creeper of corals should surround it, and the surface and the bottom of the rock should be bedecked with oyster shells.

The four peaks should be made of silver, and silver should also be plaited at the bottom. Sugarcane should be put in place of bamboos, the caves should be made of butter, and the streams, of clarified butter.

Fruits of different kinds, fine garlands of flowers and sandal should be put on all the sides. Eight silver Lokapālas representing 1. Indra (east), 2. Agni (south-east), 3. Yama (south), 4. Sūrya (south-west), 5. Varuṇa (west), 6. Vāyu (north-west), 7. Kuvera, (north) and 8. Candra (north-east), should be made and located in their ascribed places. The hill in this way should be decorated.

The canopy should be made of five colours, and it should be garlanded with white unfading flowers. The Sumeru hill should thus be located in the centre, and its four spurs decorated with flowers, and sandal should be located in their proper places. Then the Mandarācala hill should be erected with barley in the east and adorned with the row of fruits and on the top, should be planted a tree of gold, representing the Madra Kadamba tree.

That hill should be adorned with a golden image of Cupid, arrayed with beautiful dresses, garlands of flowers and sandal. There should be on one side of it a vessel, containing milk, representing the sea of milk and on the opposite side, another vessel, representing the sea called Aruṇodha. The forests of the hill should be represented by silver trees, according to the means of the devotee.

On the south, the Gandhamadana hill should be made of wheat, putting some gold in it; on the top of which should be placed a golden image of Yajñapati and the lake Mānasarovara, of clarified butter and a garden of white cloth and silver should adorn it.

On the north, the Supārśva hill, of urad pulse (Phaseolus radiatus) should be made. A golden vaṭa tree and a cow of gold, should be placed on the top of the hill. A pond of honey, representing Bhadra sarovara, and a garden of silver trees, should also be made at the bottom of it. The Brāhmaṇas, versed in the Vedas and Purāṇas and able to control their passions and of blameless character and sound bodies, should be made Hotās performing Homa. The sacrificial pond should measure one cubit square in size and east of Sumeru hill. Sacrificial offerings should be made of sesamum, barley, clarified butter, sacrificial fuel and Kuśa grass. The devotee should keep himself awake during the night and blow conches, etc., and sing. Now I shall describe to you the way of invoking the hills.

त्वं सर्वदेवगणधामनिधे विरुद्ध-

मस्मद्गृहेष्वमरपर्वतनाशयाशु।

क्षेमं विधत्स्व कुरु शान्तिमनुत्तमां नः

सम्पूजितः परमभक्तिमता मया हि॥२७॥

In invoking the Sumeru hill, the devotee should say, "O hill! You are the best resort of all the Devas. O hill of immortals! Destroy quickly all ill-luck in our houses and confer all prosperity on us as well as the highest peace. I have commenced worship with unalloyed devotion.

त्वमेव भगवानीशो ब्रह्मा विष्णुर्दिवाकरः।

You are the adorable Śiva, Brahmā, Viṣṇu and the Sun. You are formless, with and beyond all forms. You are the seed of all, protect me, therefore, O Eternal One. You are the temple of the Lokapālas and of Viśvamūrti, the Great Omnipresent, as well as of Rudra, the Ādityas and Vasus, therefore give me peace.

यस्मादशून्यममरैर्नारीभिश्च शिवेन च।
तस्मान्मामुद्धराशेषदुःखसंसारसागरात्॥३०॥

Since you are never bereft of the Devas or Devīs or by Śiva, therefore take me across the mundane ocean of sufferings in safety.'

After thus worshipping the Sumeru hill, the Mandarācala should also be worshipped with the following words— "O Mandarācala! You are embellished with the forest called Caitra-ratha, and the continent, called Bhadrāśva, therefore, soon bring happiness unto me. O Gandhamādana! You are the crest jewel of the continent, Jambūdvīpa, and are adorned with Gandharvavana, therefore, grant me high renown.

O, Hiraṇmaya hill, you are adorned by the Ketumāla continent as well as by the garden called Vaibhrāja. The golden fig tree is on your summit, let my power therefore be everlasting. O Supārśva hill, you stand majestic, beautified by the northern Kuru country and the Sāvitrī forest, therefore, let my prosperity be inexhaustible.' After thus invoking those hills, the devotee should bathe in the morning and give away the best central hill, to the guru (preceptor).

विष्कम्भपर्वतान् दद्यादृत्विग्भ्यः क्रमशो मुने॥३६॥
गाश्च दद्याच्चतुर्विंशत्यथवा दश नारद।
नव सप्त तथाष्टौ वा पञ्च दद्यादशक्तिमान्॥३७॥

The four corner hills should be given away, in due order, to the four Ṛtvijas, and O Nārada! Twenty-four or ten cows should also be given away. Nine, eight, seven, five or even one milch cow should be given away to the preceptor (guru), according to the means of the devotee.

एकापि गुरवे देया कपिला च पयस्विनी।

विधानं सर्वशैलानां क्रमशः शृणु नारद।
दानकाले च ये मंत्राः पर्वतेषु च यत्फलम्॥४१॥

This is the way of the worship of all the hills. The same mantras and materials for worship should be employed in worshipping them all. The sacrificial offerings to the different asterisms, Lokapālas, Brahmā and other Devas should also be offered by applying their respective mantras. Diurnal fasts should be observed. In case the devotee cannot do so, he may take his meals in the night. O Nārada! Now listen to the Dāna mantras of all hills serially.

अन्नं ब्रह्म यतः प्रोक्तमन्त्रे प्राणाः प्रतिष्ठिताः।
अन्नाद्भवन्ति भूतानि जगदन्नेन वर्तते॥४२॥
अन्नमेव ततो लक्ष्मीरन्नमेव जनार्दनः।
धान्यपर्वतरूपेण पाहि तस्मान्नगोत्तम॥४३॥

Hear also the rituals of their being given away. "The (Anna) grain is Brahmā and is known as the giver of life. The grain nourishes the universe; consequently, it is Viṣṇu and Lakṣmī. O, Supreme of all the hills! Protect me in the form of a hill of grain."

One who gives away the hill of grain in this way, resides in Devaloka during the reign of a hundred Manus and traverses through the skies seated in an aerial chariot in company of the nymphs and the Gandharvas. On the exhaustion of his merit, he is reborn in the family of a great king.

The first best mount of salt is of 256 seers (of the measure of 16 droṇas), the next best is of 128 seers (eight droṇas) and the last is of 64 seers (i.e. 4 droṇas).

The poor may make it of any weight rising from 16 seers (one droṇa) onwards. The four corner mounts (viṣkambha) should be of the quarter measurement of this main mount.

विधानं पूर्ववत्कुर्याद्ब्रह्मादीनां च सर्वदा।
तद्वद्धेममयान् सर्वाल्लोकपालान्निवेशयेत्॥४॥

And Brahmā, along with the other Devas, should be arranged in the same way as mentioned before, and the golden Lokapālas should also be so located.

The ponds and Kāmadeva and others should be made as before. The devotee should keep up all the night. I now explain to you the mantra of giving it away. "O Salt! You have been born of the ocean of fortune, in consequence of which you are styled as the best of all the flavours. Hence this gift of the mount of salt may protect me from the evils of this mundane world.

यस्मादन्नरसाः सर्वे नोत्कटा लवणं विना।

The mount of 50 maunds (10 bhāras) of molasses is the first best, of 25 maunds (5 bhāras) the second best, and of 15 maunds (3 bhāras) the last best. The poor may make it of 7½ maunds even.

The invocation, worship, the golden tree, the worship of the Devas, the four corner mounts (viṣkambha), the ponds, the forest, the Devas, and the sacrifice, the keeping up of the night and the Lokapālas and the preliminary ceremonies, all these should be done according to the rituals connected with the mount of grain, and the following mantras should be pronounced.

यथा देवेषु विश्वात्मा प्रवरोऽयं जनार्दनः।

After seven Kalpas, he becomes the sovereign of the seven Dvīpas. He remains also always healthy and never gets defeat from his enemies.

The rituals prescribed for the mount of grain should be observed. The four corner mounts (viṣkambha) should be given away to the sacrificing priests, as before, with the following words : "I salute you, O Mount of gold, you are the seed, the womb of Brahmā, you are the giver of unbounded fruits. The gold is most sacred on account of its being born of Fire; therefore, O Nāgottama! Protect me'.

The description of mount of sesamum

ईश्वर उवाच

अतः परं प्रवक्ष्यामि तिलशैलं विधानतः।

यत्प्रदानान्नरो याति विष्णुलोकं सनातनम्॥ १॥

Now I proceed to explain to you about the giving away of the mount of sesamum, by the virtue of which the devotee goes to the realm of Viṣṇu.

उत्तमो दशभिर्द्रोणैर्मध्यमः पञ्चभिः स्मृतः।

त्रिभिः कनिष्ठो विप्रेन्द्र तिलशैलः प्रकीर्तितः॥ २॥

The sesamum mount of 160 seers (10 droṇas) is the first best, of 80 seers (5 droṇas) second best, and of 48 seers (3 droṇas) is the last.

पूर्ववच्चापरान् सर्वान् विष्कम्भानभितो गिरीन्।

दानमन्त्रान् प्रवक्ष्यामि यथावन्मुनिपुङ्गव॥ ३॥

The four corner mounts (viṣkambha) should be located as before, and I am now telling you the mantra to be recited at the time of offering, O Nārada.

यस्मान्मधु वधे विष्णोर्देहस्वेदसमुद्भवाः।

तिलाः कुशाश्च माषाश्च तस्माच्छान्त्यै भवन्त्विह॥ ४॥

हव्ये कव्ये च यस्माच्च तिला एवाभिरक्षणम्।

भवादुद्धर शैलेन्द्र तिलाचल नमोऽस्तु ते॥ ५॥

Sesamum, kuśa and māṣa were produced from the sweat of Viṣṇu, at the time of His killing the demon, Madhu; therefore, O mount of sesamum grant me happiness. In Havya and Kavya, (in the Deva as well as in Pitṛ worship), sesamum is considered to be the best, therefore, O mount of sesamum, I salute you.'

इत्यामन्त्र्य च यो दद्यात् तिलाचलमनुत्तमम्।

One who thus gives away the mount of sesamum, attains similarity with Viṣṇu, and is never born in this world.

दीर्घायुष्यं समाप्नोति पुत्रपौत्रैश्च मोदते।

पितृभिर्देवगन्धर्वैः पूज्यमानो दिवं व्रजेत्॥ ७॥

He gets long life, children and grandchildren and goes to heaven, where he is honoured by the Devas, Pitṛs, Gandharvas.

The description of gift of cotton-hill

ईश्वर उवाच

अथातः संप्रवक्ष्यामि कार्पासाचलमुत्तमम्।

यत्प्रदानान्नरो नित्यमाप्नोति परमं पदम्॥ १॥

The Lord Śiva said— I shall now fully relate the method of the gift of the cotton-hill. By this gift, one attains the highest state.

दशभिस्त्वधमः प्रोक्तः पञ्चभिस्त्वधमः स्मृतः।

भारेणाल्पधनो दद्याद्विंशत्तथाविवर्जितः॥ २॥

It is best to make the mount of cotton for 100 maunds (20 bhāras), of 50 maunds (10 bhāras) is the next best, of 25 maunds (5 bhāras) is the last best. The devotee, if in straitened circumstances, may make one of 5 maunds (one bhāra) even, without exercising miserliness.

धान्यपर्वतवत् सर्वमासाद्य मुनिपुंगव।

प्रभातायां तु शर्वर्या दद्यादिदमुदीरयेत्॥ ३॥

O Nārada! the rites prescribed for the giving away of the hill of grain should be observed in this also. On the lapse of the night of prayers, the devotee should recite the following mantra in giving away the hill of cotton.

त्वमेवावरणं यस्माल्लोकानामिह सर्वदा।

कार्पासाद्रे नमस्तुभ्यमघौघध्वसनो भव॥ ४॥

“O Hill of cotton! You cover everyone in the shape of cloth, I salute you, kindly dispel my sins.”

The description of mount of clarified butter

ईश्वर उवाच

अतः परं प्रवक्ष्यामि घृताचलमनुत्तमम्।

तेजोऽमृतमयं दिव्यं महापातकनाशनम्॥ १॥

Now I shall describe to you about the gift of the mount of clarified butter. It is like nectar, and its charity is the destroyer of all ills.

विंशत्या घृतकुम्भानामुत्तमः स्याद्घृताचलः।

दशभिर्मध्यमः प्रोक्तः पञ्चभिस्त्वधमः स्मृतः॥ २॥

The mount of clarified butter, consisting of 20 pitchers, full of it, is the first best, of ten pitchers is the second best, and of five pitchers is the last best.

अल्पवित्तोऽपि यः कुर्याद्द्विभ्यामिह विधानतः।

विष्कम्भपर्वतांस्तद्वच्चतुर्भागेन कल्पयेत्॥ ३॥

People with limited resources may make it of two pitchers even. The corner spurs should be duly located in the four sides, like the previous ones.

शालितण्डुलपात्राणि कुम्भोपरि निवेशयेत्।

कारयेत् संहतानुच्चान्यथाशोभं विधानतः॥ ४॥

Vessels of uncooked rice should be neatly placed on the mouth of the pitchers, touching each other, and rising up into the form of a peak like a pyramid, and should be adorned, according to rules.

वेष्टयेच्छुक्लवासोभिरिक्षुदण्डफलादिकैः।

धान्यपर्वतवच्छेषं विधानमिह पठ्यते॥ ५॥

They should be surrounded with sugarcane, fruit and cloth, etc.. The rest of the rituals are the same as those described for the hill of grain.

प्रभातायां तु शर्वर्या गुरवे तन्निवेदयेत्।

विष्कम्भपर्वतांस्तद्वद्विग्नैः शान्तमानसः॥ ६॥

The devotee should keep himself awake during the night, perform Homa offerings and worship the Deities, and give away everything to the preceptor (guru) in the morning.

The spurs of the hillock (viṣkambha corner mounts) should be given away to the Rtvika priests, as before, after which the devotee should say with a peaceful mind: "The clarified butter has been produced by the confluence of the fire and nectar, therefore, O Śaṅkara, the Lord of the universe, be pleased. Brilliancy is Brahmā which is present in the clarified butter, therefore, let there always be my protection, by virtue of this charity of the clarified butter hill."

चतुर्थांशेन विष्कम्भपर्वताः स्युः समन्ततः॥२॥

I am now going to explain to you about the mount of gems. The mount of one thousand pearls is the first best; of 500 pearls the second best, and of 300 pearls the last best. The spurs (viṣkambha) in the corners should be made and located in their proper places, the quantity consisting of one-fourth of the main mount.

पूर्वेण वज्रगोमेदैर्दक्षिणेनेन्द्रनीलकैः।
पद्मरागयुतः कार्यो विद्वद्भिर्गन्धमादनः॥३॥

The eastern spurs of the mount, should be made with diamonds and cat's eyes. The southern spur (Gandhamādana mount) should be made of sapphires and topazes.

तद्वदावाहनं कुर्याद्वृक्षान्देवांश्च काञ्चनान्॥५॥

The western spur, called the Vimalācala, should be made with corals and laips lazulis, the northern spur to be made with topazes and gold. The rest of the rituals should be observed as laid down for the hill of grain. The trees and the images of gold should be made and invoked in the same way and worshipped with incense and flowers.

पूजयेत्पुष्पगन्धाद्यैः प्रभाते च विमत्सरः।
पूर्ववद्गुरु ऋत्विग्भ्य इमान्मन्त्रानुदीरयेत्॥६॥

After the night is passed, the devotee should give everything away to the preceptor (guru), priests, by uttering the following mantras.

यदा देवगणाः सर्वे सर्वरत्नेष्ववस्थिताः।
त्वं च रत्नमयो नित्यं नमस्तेऽस्तु सदाऽचल॥७॥

"When all the Devas are dominant in the jewels, and you are the mountain of gems, you are of immortal stability. I salute you.

यस्माद्रत्नप्रदानेन तुष्टिं प्रकुरुते हरिः।

The description of the mount of silver

ईश्वर उवाच

अतः परं प्रवक्ष्यामि रौप्याचलमनुत्तमम्।
यत्प्रदानान्नरो याति सोमलोकमनुत्तमम्॥ १॥

Now I shall explain to you about the mount of silver, by the gift of which the devotee goes to the realm of the Moon.

दशभिः पलसाहस्रैरुत्तमो रजताचलः।
पञ्चभिर्मध्यमः प्रोक्तस्तदूर्ध्वेनाधमः स्मृतः॥ २॥

The first best silver mount is of 40,000 tolās (10,000 palās) of silver, the second best of 20,000 tolās (5,000 palās) and the last best of 10,000 tolās (2,500 palās).

अशक्तो विंशतेरूर्ध्वं कारयेच्छक्तितस्तदा।
विष्कम्भपर्वतांस्तद्वत् तुरीयांशेन कल्पयेत्॥ ३॥

The devotee, in less favourable circumstances, should make a mount from 80 tolās (20 palās) of silver and upwards, as much as he can afford, and, as before, the four corner spurs should be one-fourth in dimension of the main central mount.

पूर्ववद्राजतान्कुर्वन्मन्दरादीन्विधानतः।
कलधौतमयांस्तद्वल्लोकेशानर्चयेद्बुधः॥ ४॥

According to the rites mentioned before, the mounts should be made of silver and the Lokapālas of gold.

ब्रह्मविष्णवर्कवान्कार्यो नितम्बोऽत्र हिरण्मयः।
राजतं स्याद्यदन्येषां सर्वं तदिह काञ्चनम्॥ ५॥

Separate images of Brahmā, Viṣṇu and the Sun (Arka) should be made and placed at the bottom of the hill; whatever has been ordained to be made of silver in other places, should be made of gold here.

शेषं तु पूर्ववत् कुर्याद्धोमजागणादिकम्।

विष्कम्भशैलानृत्विग्भ्यः पूज्य वस्त्रविभूषणैः।
इमं मन्त्रं पठन्दद्याद्दर्भपाणिर्विमत्सरः॥ ७॥

The rest of the rituals, like Homa, vigil, etc., should be observed, as before. The devotee should keep himself awake during the night and give away the silver mount to the preceptor (guru) and the corner mounts, after being decorated with cloths, etc., and worshipped, should be given away to the priests (Rtvijas). Afterwards, the devotee, holding a blade of kuśa grass in his hand, should recite the following mantra, with a peaceful mind—

पितॄणां वल्लभो यस्माद्धरीन्द्राणां शिवस्य च।
पाहि राजत तस्मात्त्वं शोकसंसारसागरात्॥ ८॥

“The silver is pleasing to the Pitṛs, and so it is to Viṣṇu, Indra and Śiva, therefore, O mount of silver! Protect me from the ocean of sorrows of this world.”

The description of the sugar-hill

ईश्वर उवाच

अथातः सम्प्रवक्ष्यामि शर्कराशैलमुत्तमम्।
 यस्य प्रदानाद्विष्णुर्वर्करुद्रास्तुष्यन्ति सर्वदा॥ १॥

I now relate to you the ways of giving away the mountain of sugar in gift, by the virtue of which Viṣṇu, Śiva and the Sun always remain pleased.

अष्टाभिः शर्कराभारैरुत्तमः स्यान्महाचलः।
 चतुर्भिर्मध्यमः प्रोक्तो भाराभ्यामधमः स्मृतः॥ २॥

The first best mount of sugar is of 8 bhāras of sugar, the second best of 4 bhāras and the last best of 2 bhāras.

भारेण वार्द्धभारेण कुर्याद्यः स्वल्पवित्तवान्।
 विष्कम्भपर्वतान् कुर्यात् तुरीयांशेन मानवः॥ ३॥

If a man is having limited money, he may make it from one or half bhāra, and the four corner spurs should be made one-fourth of the central mount.

धान्यपर्वतवत् सर्वमासाद्यामरसंयुतम्।
 मेरोरुपरि तद्वच्च स्थाप्य हेमतरुत्रयम्॥ ४॥

मन्दारः पारिजातश्च तृतीयः कल्पपादपः।
 एतद्वृक्षत्रयं मूर्ध्नि सर्वेष्वपि नियोजयेत्॥ ५॥

The rituals connected with the mount of grain should be observed here as well. The hills should be made with the images of Gods settled on them, and, as before, the three golden trees of Mandāra, Pārijāta and Kalpadruma, should be located on the Sumeru peak. These three trees should always be located on the gift of every kind of hill.

हरिचन्दनसन्तानौ पूर्वपश्चिमभागयोः।
 निवेश्यौ सर्वशैलेषु विशेषाच्छर्कराचले॥ ६॥

Haricandana and Santāna¹ trees should be located on the east and the west, respectively. This should be done in the case of the gift of every hill, and particularly in the instance of the one made of sugar.

मन्दरे कामदेवस्तु प्रत्यग्वक्त्रः सदा भवेत्।
 गन्धमादनशृङ्गे तु धनदः स्यादुदङ्मुखः॥ ७॥
 प्राङ्मुखो वेदमूर्तिस्तु हंसः स्याद्विपुलाचले।
 हैमी सुपार्श्वे सुरभिर्दक्षिणाभिमुखी भवेत्॥ ८॥

The image of Cupid should be located on the Mandarācala peak facing the west, that of Kāmadeva facing the north, on the top of the Gandhamādana, on Vipulācala, the incarnation of the Veda, in the form of the Swan, facing the east; facing the south, the (Surabhi) cow of gold on the Supārśva hill.

धान्यपर्वतवत्सर्वमावाहनविधानकम्।
 कृत्वा तु गुरवे दद्यान्मध्यमं पर्वतोत्तमम्।
 ऋत्विग्यश्चतुरः शैलानिमान्मन्त्रानुदीरयन्॥ ९॥

The invocation, etc., should be done, as before, in the case of the mount of grain, after which the central hill should be given away to the Preceptor (guru), and the corner spurs should be given away to the priests (R̥tvijas),

1. Two names among five trees of Indra's heaven, Other three are Pārijāta, Mandāra, and Kalpa.

while reciting the following mantras :

सौभाग्यामृतसारोऽयं पर्वतः शर्करायुतः।

मनोभवधनुर्मध्यादुद्भूता शर्करा यतः।
तन्मयोऽसि महाशैल पाहि संसारसागरात्॥ १२॥

“This hill of sugar is known as the essence of prosperity and nectar; therefore, let you be the source of everlasting bliss to me, O Lord of hills, O, mount of sugar! The drops of nectar that fell from the Devas when they were quaffing it, produced you, O sugar, therefore, protect me. The sugar has also been generated from the floral arrows of Cupid, you are the mount of the very same sugar; therefore, save me from this sea of troubles in the world.’

यो दद्याच्छर्कराशैलमनेन विधिना नरः।
सर्वपापैर्विनिर्मुक्तः स याति परमं पदम्॥ १३॥

One who gives away the hill of sugar, according to these rites, is liberated from all sins, and attains bliss.

चन्द्रतारार्कसङ्काशमधिरुहानुजीविभिः।
सहैव यानमातिष्ठेत् तत्र विष्णुप्रचोदितः॥ १४॥
ततः कल्पशतान्ते तु सप्तद्वीपाधिपो भवेत्।
आयुरारोग्यसम्पन्नो यावज्जन्मार्बुदत्रयम्॥ १५॥

By the grace of Viṣṇu, the devotee traverses through the sky seated in an aerial chariot, shedding lustre like the moon and the stars, after which he becomes the lord of the seven dvīpas at the end of a hundred kalpās and enjoys health and wealth for three arbuda of lives.

In observing the rites of giving away these different hills, the devotee should feed as many Brāhmaṇas as he can, according to his means; and, then, with their permission, should take his meals without salt and acid. He should send away the materials of the hills to the houses of the Brāhmaṇas.

ईश्वर उवाच

Vasiṣṭha said— “Some time in the past, there was a public woman, named Līlāvatī, who was devoted to Śiva. She gave to her preceptor (guru), a mount of salt, along with the trees of gold, as prescribed in the rituals, on the fourteenth day of the bright fortnight.

One, who himself cannot perform, but merely touches, hears or even advises others to give these gifts, is liberated from sins and goes to the region of Viṣṇu. So, also, one who is poor, but who, full of faith, sees this Pūjā performed by others.

CHAPTER 93

The performance of Śānti and Puṣṭi (Oblation to the nine planets)

सूत उवाच

वैशम्पायनमासीनमपृच्छच्छौनकः पुरा।

सर्वकामाप्तये नित्यं कथं शान्तिकपौष्टिकम्॥१॥

Sūta said— In the days gone by, Śaunaka asked Vaiśampāyana, who was seated at his leisure, to explain to him the ways of the acquirement of all desires by the performance of Śānti¹ and Puṣṭi² rites.

वैशम्पायन उवाच

श्रीकामः शान्तिकामो वा ग्रहयज्ञं समारभेत्।

वृद्ध्यायुःपुष्टिकामो वा तथैवाभिचरन् पुनः।

येन ब्रह्मन्विधानेन तन्मे निगदतः शृणु॥२॥

Vaiśampāyana said— I shall now relate to you, listen to it attentively what should be done by persons desirous of acquiring wealth, peace, longevity and of freeing themselves from malignant influences and how the offerings to the planets should be made by a person desirous of Śānti and Puṣṭi?

सर्वशास्त्राण्यनुक्रम्य संक्षिप्य ग्रन्थविस्तरम्।

ग्रहशान्तिं प्रवक्ष्यामि पुराणश्रुतिचोदिताम्॥३॥

I shall explain to you, in brief, on the basis of all Śāstras, the ways of propitiating the planets.

पुण्येऽहि विप्रकथिते कृत्वा ब्राह्मणवाचनम्।

ग्रहान्यहाधिदेवांश्च स्थाप्य होमं समारभेत्॥४॥

On an auspicious day as pointed out by almanacs and Brāhmaṇas, and after inviting the Brāhmaṇas, the different planets and their rulers should be located in their proper places, through a Brāhmaṇa, and homa sacrifice should be

1. Those which pacify or neutralize the malignant influences are called Śāntika rites.

2. Those which strengthen and augment the beneficent tendencies, are called Puṣṭika rites.

performed.

ग्रहयज्ञस्त्रिधा प्रोक्तः पुराणश्रुतिकोविदैः।
प्रथमोऽयुतहोमः स्यल्लक्षहोमस्ततः परम्॥५॥
तृतीयः कोटिहोमस्तु सर्वकामफलपदः।

तस्य तावद्विधिं वक्ष्ये पुराणं श्रुतिभाषितम्।
गर्तस्योत्तरपूर्वेण वितस्तिद्वयविस्तृताम्॥७॥

The knowers of the Purāṇas and Śrutis have described the planetary offerings as being of three kinds viz., 1. of the thousand homas (fire oblations); 2. of a lac or a hundred thousand homas; 3. of ten millions of homas, that fulfil all desires. Hear the ways of performing the homa with a thousand offerings, as told in the Purāṇas. This is called Navagraha yajña, or the sacrifice to the Nine Planets. An altar, measuring two vitasti wide, within the sacrificial pond, should be made in the direction of north-east of the fire pit.

वप्रद्वयावृतां वेदिं वितस्त्युच्छ्रयसम्पिताम्।

अग्निप्रणयनं कृत्वा तस्यामावाहयेत्पुरान्।
देवतानां ततः स्थाप्या विंशतिर्द्वादशाधिका॥९॥

The vedī (altar) should be one vitasti in height and square, facing the north. It should have two buttresses on which the Devas should be located. Afterwards fire should be lighted in the fire pit and the thirty-two Devas should be invoked in that fire.

सूर्यः सोमस्तथा भौमो बुधजीवसितार्कजाः।
राहुकेतुरिति प्रोक्ता ग्रहा लोकहितावहाः॥१०॥

The following are the nine planets, viz.,—The Sun, the Moon, the Mars, the Mercury, the Jupiter, the Venus, the Saturn, the Rāhu and the Ketu. They always bring good to all creatures (to call some of them malignant, is a mere mode of speech).

मध्ये तु भास्करं विद्याल्लोहितं दक्षिणेन तु।

पश्चिमेन शनिं विद्याद्राहुं पश्चिमदक्षिणे।
पश्चिमोत्तरतः केतुं स्थापयेच्छुक्लतण्डुलैः॥१२॥

(1) The Sun should be located in the centre, (2) the Mars in the south, (3) the Mercury in the north-east, (4) the Jupiter in the north, (5) the Venus in the east, (6) the Moon in the south-east, (7) the Saturn in the west, (8) the Rāhu in the south-west and (9) the Ketu in north-west. All the planets should be drawn with uncooked rice powder.

आवाहयेद्व्याहृतिभिस्तैथवाश्विकुमारकौ॥१६॥

(10) Śiva is the Presiding Deity (adhidevatā) of the Sun, (11) the Goddess Pārvatī of the Moon, (12) Skanda (Kārtika) of the Mars, and (13) Hari of the Mercury, (14) Brahmā of the Jupiter, (15) Indra of the Venus, (16) Yama (Dharmarāja) of the Saturn, (17) Kāla of the Rāhu, (18) Citragupta of the Ketu, (19) Agni, (20) Water, (21) Earth, (22) Viṣṇu, (23) Indra, (24) Aindri (wife of Indra), (25) Prajāpati, (26) Sarpa, (27) Brahmā, (28) Gaṇeśa, (29) Durgā, (30) Vāyu and (31) Ākāśa are the secondary presiding Deities (Pratyadhidevatā). All these make up 31, to which number adding the Twin Aśvinīkumāras, the group becomes of 32. All of them should be invoked in the sacrificial fire by Vyāhrtis¹.

1. Vyāhrti means utterance. A mystic word, viz., the Syllables, Bhuvah, Svah, Mahah, Janah, tapah, Satyam and Om.

संस्मरेद्रक्तमादित्यमङ्गारकसमन्वितम्।
सोमशुक्रौ तथाश्वेतौ बुधजीवौ च पिङ्गलौ।
मन्दराहू तथा कृष्णौ धूम्रं केतुगणं विदुः॥ १७॥

The colours of these planets should be as follows— The Sun should be drawn in red, the Moon in white, the Mars in red, the Mercury and the Jupiter in yellow, the Venus in white, the Saturn and the Rāhu in black and the Ketu in smoke colour.

ग्रहवर्णानि देयानि वासांसि कुसुमानि च।
धूपामोदोऽत्र सुरभिरुपरिष्ठाद्वितानिकम्।
शोभनं स्थापयेत्प्राज्ञः फलपुष्पसमन्वितम्॥ १८॥

Their forms are of the same colour as indicated above. They should be dressed in the same colour of cloth and offered the same colour of flowers. Incense, highly fragrant, should be offered to them, and a nice canopy should be placed over the altar, which must be well decorated, by hanging flowers and fruits.

पंचरत्नसमायुक्तं पंचभङ्गसमन्वितम्।
स्थापयेदव्रणं कुम्भं वरुणं तत्र विन्यसेत्॥ २२॥

To the north-east of that altar, a flawless pitcher of water painted with rice and curds (five powders) and decorated with pañcaratna (five gems), the leaves of the mango tree, fruit and cloth, should be placed, and Varuṇa should be located on it.

The earth of the elephant ward, stable, chariot-house, ant-hill, tank, cattle-shed should be mixed with water, along with the different herbs and Ganges water, and the devotee should bathe in it, after reciting the following mantras: "All the rivers, seas, tanks and rivulets, come to wipe out the sins of the devotee."

एवमावाहयेदेतानमरान्मुनिसत्तम।
होमं समारभेत् सर्पिर्यवव्रीहितिलादिना॥ २६॥

O, sages! The Deities should be, similarly, invoked and afterwards Homa offerings of clarified butter, barley, uncooked rice and sesamum should be made to the fire.

अर्कः पालाशखदिरावपामार्गोऽथ पिप्पलः।

The wood of Arka (Calotropis gigantea), Palāśa (Buteafrondosa), Khadira (Catechu), Apāmārga (Achyranthes-spera), Aśvatha (the holy fig tree), Uḍambara (the fig tree), Śami (Prosopis spicigera), Kuśa and Dūrvā grasses are to be used for lighting the sacrificial fire. The Homa offerings, consisting of honey, ghee and curds of milk, should be made either 101 times or only 28 times to each planet.

प्रादेशमात्रा अशिफा अशाखा अपलाशिनीः।
समिधः कल्पयेत्प्राज्ञः सर्वकर्मसु सर्वदा॥ २९॥

The sacrificial twigs (of the plants named above), in all homas, should each measure a span in length (prādeśamātra¹) and should not contain roots, branches and leaves. Such a kind of fuel should be used by the wise in all sacrificial offerings.

देवानामपि सर्वेषामुपांशु परमार्थवित्।

स्वेन स्वेनैव मन्त्रेण होतव्याः समिधः पृथक्॥ ३०॥

Particular kind of sacrificial fuel should be used for the particular Deity (named above) and offerings should be made, after uttering the particular mantras in low voice, with the name of the Deity for whom it is intended.

होतव्यं च घृताभ्यक्तं चरुभक्षादिकं पुनः।

मन्त्रैर्दशाहुतीहुत्वा होमं व्याहृतिभिस्ततः॥ ३१॥

The sacrificial twigs should be soaked in clarified butter and then thrown into the fire. Afterwards, the eatables, like Caru etc., should also be put into the fire. Ten offerings should be made at first to one's own particular mantra. The completion of the sacrifice should be performed by the vyāhṛti mantras.

उदङ्मुखाः प्राङ्मुखा वा कुर्युर्ब्राह्मणपुङ्गवाः।

मन्त्रवन्तश्च कर्तव्याश्चरवः प्रतिदैवतम्॥ ३२॥

The learned Brāhmaṇas should be placed either facing the North or the East, and the cooked rice, caru (pudding) should be placed in front of each Devatā, with recitation of the proper mantras.

A milch cow should be given away in the name of the Sun, a conch in the name of the Moon, a red ox in the name of the Mars, gold in the name of the Mercury, a pair of yellow garments in the name of the Jupiter, a white horse in the name of the Venus, a black cow in the name of the Saturn, iron in the name of the Rāhu, goat in the name of the Ketu. The fee in each case must be a piece of gold, called suvarṇa (a golden coin), or cows adorned with gold, in the case of every one of these planets, or a suvarṇa coin in the case of each planet. If he cannot do that, then, he may give whatever may appeal to the fancy of the preceptor (guru). Everything should be given away, after reciting the prescribed mantras with fees, as noted below.

यस्तु पीडाकरो नित्यमल्पवित्तस्य वा ग्रहः।
तं च यत्नेन सम्पूज्य शेषानप्यर्चयेद्बुधः॥७९॥

The particular unlucky planet should be worshipped with great care, according to the prescribed full rites. Other planets should, then, be worshipped with abridged rites. This is for a man of limited means; otherwise all planets should be worshipped with full rites.

ग्रहा गावो नरेन्द्रश्च ब्राह्मणाश्च विशेषतः।
पूजिताः पूजयन्त्येते निर्दहन्त्यवमानिताः॥८०॥

The planets, cows, King and Brāhmaṇas, especially, are worthy of being worshipped. Those, who worship them, are nourished by them, and those, who insult them, are destroyed.

यथा बाणप्रहाराणां कवचं भवति वारणम्।
तद्वद्वैवोपघातानां शान्तिर्भवति वारणम्॥८१॥

As the armour shields the warrior from the blows of arrows, similarly, the propitiation ceremony (śānti) protect them from the effects of the bad destiny.

तस्मान्न दक्षिणाहीनं कर्त्तव्यं भूतिमिच्छता।

सम्पूर्णया दक्षिणया यस्माद्देवोऽपि तुष्यति॥ ८२॥

The person desirous of acquiring prosperity should not perform any sacrifice without giving away the fees (Dakṣiṇā), since by the giving of handsome fees, even the Deva is propitiated.

सदैवायुतहोमोऽयं नवग्रहमखे स्थितः।

विवाहोत्सवयज्ञेषु प्रतिष्ठादिषु कर्मसु॥ ८३॥

Homa sacrifice with ten thousand offerings is prescribed, in the ceremony of the propitiation of the Nine Planets. The same number of Homa offerings should be made in connection with the nuptial, festive, yajña ceremonies as well as with the ceremonies of the installation of sacred images.

निर्विघ्नार्थं मुनिश्रेष्ठ तथोद्देगाद्भुतेषु च।

कथितोऽयुतहोमोऽयं लक्षहोममतः शृणु॥ ८४॥

O Sage! the ways of performing the sacrifice of ten thousand offerings to ward off obstacles, caused by one's past karmas, as well as the dangers arising from evil spirits, have been described. Now I shall explain to you the ways of performing the Homa sacrifice of a hundred thousands of offerings.

सर्वकामाप्तये यस्माल्लक्षहोमं विदुर्बुधाः।

पितॄणां वल्लभं साक्षाद्भुक्तिमुक्तिफलप्रदम्॥ ८५॥

The learned have said that a sacrifice of a lac of offerings should be performed for the fulfilment of all desires. It is very pleasing to the Pitṛs, and is the giver of prosperity and emancipation.

ग्रहताराबलं लब्ध्वा कृत्वा ब्राह्मणवाचनम्।

गृहस्योत्तरपूर्वेण मण्डपं कारयेद्बुधः॥ ८६॥

रुद्रायतनभूमौ वा चतुरस्रमुदङ्मुखम्।

दशहस्तमथाष्टौ वा हस्तान्कुर्याद्विधानतः॥ ८७॥

The devotee should get the blessings invoked by Brāhmaṇas, after selecting an auspicious day, according to the benign influences of planets and stars, and then make a maṇḍapa to the north-east of the house, or a square maṇḍapa, measuring 10 or 8 hands, should be made to the north-east of a temple of Śiva.

प्रागुदक्प्लवनां भूमिं कारयेद्यत्नतो बुधः।

प्रागुत्तरं समासाद्य प्रदेशं मण्डपस्य तु॥ ८८॥

शोभनं कारयेत्कुण्डं यथावल्लक्षणान्वितम्।

चतुरस्रं समन्तात्तु योनिवक्त्रं समेखलम्॥ ८९॥

The altar should have a slant towards north-east, and it should be made with great care. the same north-east corner of the maṇḍapa, should be selected for the purpose of digging the fire pit. This pit should be a square, beautiful and according to rules. The pit should have girdles round it and of the form of the mouth of a yoni.

चतुरङ्गुलविस्तारा मेखला तद्वदुच्छ्रिता।

प्रागुदक्प्लवना कार्या सर्वतः समवस्थिता॥ ९०॥

The girdle should be 4 fingers in breadth and of the same height, slanting from east to north. It should be even in other directions.

शान्त्यर्थं सर्वलोकानां नवग्रहमखः स्मृतः।

मानहीनाधिकं कुण्डमनेकभयदं भवेत्।

यस्मात्तस्मात्सुसंपूर्णं शान्तिकुण्डं विधीयते॥ ९१॥

The sacrifice for the propitiation of the nine planets has been laid down for the peace of all. It is dangerous to make the sacrificial pond of more or less dimensions than prescribed. Therefore, it should be made carefully, as described above.

अस्माद्दशगुणः प्रोक्तो लक्षहोमः स्वयम्भुवा।

आहुतीभिः प्रयत्नेन दक्षिणाभिस्तथैव च॥ ९२॥

Brahmā has said that the sacrificial pit in the ceremony of a hundred thousands of Homa, should be ten times the dimensions given above. The dakṣiṇā to the priests should be ten times that given in the ordinary ten thousand homas.

द्विहस्तविस्तृतं तद्वच्चर्तुहस्तायतं पुनः।

लक्षहोमे भवेत्कुण्डं योनिवक्त्रं त्रिमेखलम्॥९३॥

To perform the sacrifice of a lac of offerings, a sacrificial pond of 4 hands in length and 2 in breadth should be made. Its mouth should be made of the shape of a conical triangle. Three girdles should also be made to surround the pit.

तस्य चोत्तरपूर्वेण वितस्तित्रयसंस्थितम्।

प्रागुदक्प्लवनं तच्च चतुरस्रं समन्ततः॥९४॥

To the north-east of the pandal, after leaving a space of three vitastis,¹ the sacrificial pond should be dug. On the land selected for it, a square altar slanting north-east should be erected.

विष्कम्भार्थोच्छ्रितं प्रोक्तं स्थण्डिलं विश्वकर्मणा।

संस्थापनाय देवानां वप्रत्रयसमावृतम्॥९५॥

Viśvakarmā has said that the buttress of the altar should be 1½ vitasti, that is, half of the above measurement, and should have three girdles. The Deities should be located on this buttress.

द्व्यङ्गुलेह्युच्छ्रितो वप्रः प्रथमः स उदाहृतः।

अङ्गुलोच्छ्रयसंयुक्तं वप्रद्वयमथोपरि॥९६॥

The first girdles should be 2 fingers high and the remaining two should be only one finger high.

त्र्यङ्गुलस्य च विस्तारः सर्वेषां कथ्यते बुधैः।

दशाङ्गुलोच्छ्रिता भित्तिः स्थण्डिले स्यात्तथोपरि।

तस्मिन्नावाहयद्देवान्पूर्ववत्पुष्पतण्डुलैः॥९७॥

The breadth of all the three girdles should be three fingers and the wall round the altar should be ten fingers high. The Devas should be invoked on it, with flowers and uncooked rice.

1. Defined either as a long span between the extended thumb and little finger, or as the distance between the wrist and the tip of the fingers, = 12 Angulas or about 9 inches.

आदित्याभिमुखाः सर्वाः साधिप्रत्यधिदेवताः।

स्थापनीया मुनिश्रेष्ठ नोत्तरेण पराङ्मुखाः॥९८॥

O Sage! the presiding (Adhi-devatā) and the minor (Pratyadhi devatās) Deities should all face the east, and not the north or the west.

गरुत्मानधिकस्तत्र सम्पूज्यः श्रियमिच्छता।

सामध्वनिशरीरस्त्वं वाहनं परमेष्ठिनः।

विषपापहरो नित्यमतः शान्तिं प्रयच्छ मे॥९९॥

Persons, desirous of acquiring wealth, should worship Garuḍa also in addition, by reciting the following mantra— 'the chanting of the Sāmaveda, is your body; you are the vehicle of Viṣṇu and the destroyer of poison and sins, therefore grant me śānti.

पूर्ववत्कुम्भमामन्त्र्य तद्वद्धोमं समाचरेत्।

सहस्राणां शतं हुत्वा समित्संख्याधिकं पुनः।

घृतकृम्भवसोर्धारां पातयेदनलोपरि॥१००॥

In the former manner, the pitcher of water should be placed, and then the homa should be performed. The sacrifice of a lac of offerings being finished, if there remain some more sacrificial fuels, then these should be thrown into the fire, with the pouring of ghī on the pitcher, in the form of a continuous stream known as Vasordhārā.

औदुम्बरी तथाद्रा च ऋज्वीं कोटरवर्जिताम्।

बाहुमात्रां सुचं कृत्वा ततः स्तम्भद्वयोपरि।

घृतधारां तथा सम्यग्गग्नेरुपरि पातयेत्॥१०१॥

The sacrificial ladle should be made of the fig tree. It should be of fresh, sappy wood, and straight, and free from rot. It should be one hand in length. This ladle should be placed on two supports, and clarified butter should be poured through it in a continuous stream into the fire.

श्रावयेत् सूक्तमाग्नेयं वैष्णवं रौद्रमैन्दवम्।

महावैश्वानरं साम ज्येष्ठसाम च वाचयेत्॥१०२॥

The hymns of the Āgneya-sūkta, Vaiṣṇavasūkta, Raudra-sūkta, Candra-sūkta, Mahāvaisvānara-sūkta, Sāma and Jyeṣṭha Sāma should be recited, while so pouring.

स्नानं च यजमानस्य पूर्ववत् स्वस्तिवाचनम्।

दातव्या यजमानेन पूर्ववदक्षिणाः पृथक्॥ १०३॥

The bathing of the devotee with the holy waters and the Svastivācana should be done as before, and the devotee should also give Dakṣiṇā separately, as before.

कामक्रोधविहीनेन ऋत्विभ्यः शान्तचेतसा।

नवग्रहमखे विप्राश्चत्वारो वेदवेदिनः॥ १०४॥

अथवा ऋत्विजौ शान्तौ द्वावेव श्रुतिकोविदौ।

कार्यावयुतहोमे तु न प्रसज्येत विस्तरे॥ १०५॥

The Dakṣiṇā to the sacrificial priests should be given free from anger and bias, and with a calm mind. There should be four Brāhmaṇas well-versed in the Vedas, to officiate on the occasion of the sacrifice of the Nine Planets or only two such Brāhmaṇas, of peaceful disposition and versed in the Vedas, should be made officiating priests. This is in case of the sacrifice of ten thousand Homa offerings. The number of Brāhmaṇas need not be greater than those mentioned above.

तद्वच्च दश चाष्टौ च लक्षहोमे तु ऋत्विजः।

कर्तव्याः शक्तितस्तद्वच्चत्वारो वा विमत्सरः॥ १०६॥

In the sacrifice of a lac of offerings, there may be eight or ten priests, or even four, according to one's means.

नवग्रहमखात् सर्वं लक्षहोमे दशोत्तरम्।

भक्ष्यान् दद्यान्मुनिश्रेष्ठ भूषणान्यपि शक्तितः॥ १०७॥

शयनानि सवस्त्राणि हैमानि कटकानि च।

कर्णाङ्गुलिपवित्राणि कण्ठसूत्राणि शक्तिमान्॥ १०८॥

The sacrificial materials should be ten times more for the sacrifice of a lac of offerings, than what it is in the sacrifice in connection with the worship of Nine Planets. Eatables, ornaments, bedsteads, necklaces, sacred threads, rings, etc., should be given away, according to the means of the devotee.

न कुर्यादक्षिणाहीनं वित्तशाठ्येन मानवः।

अददल्लोभतो मोहात् कुलक्षयमवाप्नुते॥ १०९॥

Dakṣiṇā should be given according to the means of the devotee. It should not be reduced through miserliness. If he does not give any dakṣiṇā, through avarice or delusion, his family becomes extinct.

अन्नदानं यथाशक्त्या कर्तव्यं भूतिमिच्छता।

अन्नहीनः कृतो यस्माददुर्भिक्षफलदो भवेत्॥ ११०॥

The devotee, anxious for prosperity, should give away also grain in charity, according to his means, because the ceremony without the gift of grain brings famine on the sacrificer and his country.

अन्नहीनो दहेद्राष्ट्रं मन्त्रहीनस्तु ऋत्विजः।

यष्टारं दक्षिणाहीनं नास्ति यज्ञसमो रिपुः॥ १११॥

There is no greater enemy of mankind than an ill-conducted sacrifice; for the priests, if not versed in the rituals, are destroyed, and the devotee is destroyed by not giving Dakṣiṇā, and the country is destroyed where food grain is not given in charity.

न वाप्यल्पधनः कुर्याल्लक्षहोमं नरः क्वचित्।

यस्मात् पीडाकरो नित्यं यज्ञे भवति विग्रहः॥ ११२॥

A man in narrow circumstances should never perform a sacrifice of a lac of offerings, for the spending of even a small fortune in that case leads to disease and distress.

तमेव पूजयेद्भक्त्या द्वौ वा त्रीन् वा यथाविधि।

एकमप्यर्चयेद्भक्त्या ब्राह्मणं वेदपारगम्।

दक्षिणाभिः प्रयत्नेन न बहूनल्पवित्तवान्॥ ११३॥

The sacrificer, with devotion, according to prescribed rites, should engage even one, two, or three Brāhmaṇas, and the man in straitened circumstances may employ only one Brāhmaṇa, well versed in the Vedas whom he should properly honour and give full Dakṣiṇā.

लक्षहोमस्तु कर्तव्यो यथा वित्तं भवेद्बहु।
 यतः सर्वानवाप्नोति कुर्वन् कामान् विधानतः॥ ११४॥
 पूज्यते शिवलोके च वस्वादित्यमरुद्गणैः।
 यावत्कल्पशतान्यष्टावथ मोक्षमवाप्नुयात्॥ ११५॥

The sacrifice of a lac of offerings should be performed only by that man who possesses a large fortune; for the man performing such a sacrifice accurately, according to the prescribed rites, attains all his desires. The man who does so, is venerated by Vasu, Ādityas and Marutgana, in the realm of Śiva, and attains emancipation after eight hundred kalpas.

सकामो यस्त्विमं कुर्याल्लक्षहोमं यथाविधि।
 स तं काममवाप्नोति पदमानन्त्यमश्नुते॥ ११६॥

The man who performs this sacrifice of a lac of homas, with any object in view, attains his desires and goes to heaven, where he gets bliss.

पुत्रार्थी लभते पुत्रान् धनार्थी लभते धनम्।
 भार्यार्थी शोभनां भार्या कुमारी च शुभं पतिम्॥ ११७॥

The man desirous of sons, obtains sons, one desirous of riches, gets riches, the devotee, eager for a wife, gets a beautiful wife and if a maiden performs this sacrifice, she gets a good husband by virtue of it.

भ्रष्टराज्यस्तथा राज्यं श्रीकामः श्रियमाप्नुयात्।
 यं यं प्रार्थयते कामं स वै भवति पुष्कलः।
 निष्कामः कुरुते यस्तु स परं ब्रह्म गच्छति॥ ११८॥

Further more, by the virtue of this sacrifice, a dethroned sovereign gets back his realm, the man hankering after prosperity gets prosperity, infact, the devotee, desirous of anything, gets that thing. But the one, who performs it without any object in view, attains the Supreme Brahman.

अस्माच्छतगुणः प्रोक्तः कोटिहोमः स्वयम्भुवा।
 आहुतीभिः प्रयत्नेन दक्षिणाभिः फलेन च॥ ११९॥

Koṭihoma is described by Lord Brahmā a hundred times more efficacious than the sacrifice of a lac of offerings. The money given away in Dakṣiṇā, and the effect and the result are a hundred times more than the last.

पूर्ववद्ग्रहदेवानामावाहनविसर्जने।
 होममन्त्रास्त एवोक्ताः स्नाने दाने तथैव च।
 कुण्डमण्डपवेदीनां विशेषोऽयं निबोध मे॥ १२०॥

In performing this bigger sacrifice, invocation and dismissal of Devas should be done as before. The same mantras are to be used in ablutions, offering libations and giving charity. I shall now describe the special mode of preparing sacrificial pond, altar and maṇḍapa; listen to my words carefully.

कोटिहोमे चतुर्हस्तं चतुरस्रं तु सर्वतः।
 योनिवक्रद्वयोपेतं तदप्याहुस्त्रिमेखलम्॥ १२१॥

In the sacrifice of a crore of offerings, the receptacle should measure four hands and should be made of a conical shape, on a square base, and surrounded by three girdles; while the pond should have two openings.

द्व्यङ्गुलाभ्युच्छ्रिता कार्या प्रथमा मेखला बुधैः।
 त्र्यङ्गुलाभ्युच्छ्रिता तद्वद्वितीया परिकीर्तिता॥ १२२॥
 उच्छ्रायविस्तराभ्यां च तृतीया चतुरङ्गुला।
 द्व्यङ्गुलश्चेति विस्तारः पूर्वयोरेव शस्यते॥ १२३॥

A wise man should make the first girdle two fingers high, the second three fingers, and the height as well as the thickness of the third one, should be four fingers. The thickness of the first and the second girdles should also be two fingers.

वितस्तिमात्रा योनिः स्यात् षट्सप्ताङ्गुलविस्तृता।
 कूर्मपृष्ठोन्नता मध्ये पार्श्वयोश्चाङ्गुलोच्छ्रिता॥ १२४॥

The receptacle should be one vitasti (half a cubit, or 12 fingers) in extent, but the height should be of six or seven fingers. It should be raised in the centre as the back of a tortoise, and one finger high on the sides.

गजोष्ठसदृशी तद्वदायता छिद्रसंयुता।
 एतत् सर्वेषु कुण्डेषु योनिलक्षणमुच्यते॥ १२५॥

It should resemble the lips of an elephant in extent and in having a hole. Such will be the receptacle as regards all kinds of sacrificial ponds.

मेखलापरि सर्वत्र अश्वत्थदलसन्निभम्।

वेदी च कोटिहोमे स्याद्वितस्तीनां चतुष्टयम्॥१२६॥

Over the girdles everywhere, an altar of 4 vitasti in measurement (i.e. 2 cubits or 1 yard) and of the shape of a peepal leaf, should be made. This is in the case of the sacrifice of a crore of offerings.

चतुरस्रा समन्ताच्च त्रिभिर्वप्रेस्तु संयुता।

वप्रप्रमाणां पूर्वोक्तं वेदीनां च तथोच्छ्रयः॥१२७॥

In this form of sacrifice the altar should be made square, measuring four vitasti and having three girdles. Their height and extent should be as indicated before.

तथा षोडशहस्तः स्यान्मण्डपश्च चतुर्मुखः।

पूर्वद्वारे च संस्थाप्य बह्वचं वेदपारगम्॥१२८॥

The maṇḍapa should be made of sixteen cubits in extent and should have 4 doorways. On the eastern gate, a Brāhmaṇa, proficient in the Ṛgveda, should be located.

यजुर्विदं तथा याम्ये पश्चिमे सामवेदिनम्।

अथर्ववेदिनं तद्वदुत्तरे स्थापयेद्बुधः॥१२९॥

A Brāhmaṇa, versed in the Yajurveda, should be located in the south, one versed in the Sāmaveda in the west, one knowing the Atharvaveda in the north.

अष्टौ तु होमकाः कार्या वेदवेदाङ्गवेदिनः।

एवं द्वादश विप्राः स्युर्वस्त्रमाल्यानुलेपनैः।

पूर्ववत् पूजयेद्भक्त्या वस्त्राभरणभूषणैः॥१३०॥

Eight more Brāhmaṇas, well up in the Vedas and Vedāṅgas, should be made to officiate as Homa-offering priests. These twelve Brāhmaṇas should be sincerely honoured with cloths, sandal, garlands and ornaments, as before.

रात्रिसूक्तं च रौद्रं च पावमानं सुमङ्गलम्।

पूर्वथो बह्वचः शान्तिं पठन्नास्ते ह्युदङ्मुखः॥१३१॥

In the east, hymns from the Rātri-sūkta, Raudra and Pavamāna and Sumaṅgala mantras, for the peace of the universe, should be chanted by one Brāhmaṇa versed in the Ṛgveda and facing north.

शाक्तं शाक्रं च सौम्यं च कौष्माण्डं शान्तिमेव च।

पाठयेदक्षिणद्वारि यजुर्वेदिनमुत्तमम्॥१३२॥

A Brāhmaṇa, versed in Yajurveda seated in the south, should recite the mantras relating to Śānti, God Indra, Saumya, Kauṣmāṇḍa.

सुपर्णमथ वैराजमाग्नेयं रुद्रसंहिताम्।

ज्येष्ठसाम तथा शान्तिं छन्दोगः पश्चिमे जपेत्॥१३३॥

The Sāmavedī Brāhmaṇa, sitting in the west, should sing the hymns of Śuparṇa Vairāja, Āgneya, Rudrasaṁhitā, Jyeṣṭhasāma and peace chant.

शान्तिसूक्तं च सौरं च तथा शाकुनकं शुभम्।

पौष्टिकं च महाराज्यमुत्तरेणाप्यथर्ववित्॥१३४॥

The Atharvavedī Brāhmaṇa, seated in the north, should read the following mantras— Śānti Sūkta, Saura, Śākunaka, Pauṣṭika, Mahārājya.

पंचभिः सप्तभिर्वापि होमः कार्योऽत्र पूर्ववत्।

स्नाने दाने च मन्त्राः स्युस्त एव मुनिसत्तम॥१३५॥

Five or seven Brāhmaṇas should perform the homa sacrifice as before, (the remaining Homakas helping them). The mantras relating to bath and the gift are the same as before.

वसोर्धाराविधानं च लक्षहोमे विशिष्यते।

अनेन विधिना यस्तु कोटिहोमं समाचरेत्।

सर्वान् कामानवाप्नोति ततो विष्णुपदं व्रजेत्॥१३६॥

The Vasordhārā or the way of letting the stream of clarified butter fall in the fire from a vase is the only peculiar rite of the sacrifice of a lac of offerings (as mentioned before. That should be done here also). One who performs this sacrifice of a crore of offerings, according to the prescribed rites, attains all his wishes and becomes united with Viṣṇu.

यः पठेच्छृणुयाद्वापि ग्रहयज्ञत्रयं नरः।

सर्वपापविशुद्धात्मा पदमिन्द्रस्य गच्छति॥१३७॥

He who reads or hears this description of these three sacrifices of the Grahas (Planets) becomes purified of all sins and attains the rank of Indra.

अश्वमेधसहस्राणि दश चाष्टौ च धर्मवित्।

कृत्वा यत् फलमाप्नोति कोटिहोमात् तदश्नुते॥१३८॥

The benefits of this sacrifice are similar to those derived by the performance of 18,000 Aśvamedha sacrifices.

ब्रह्महत्यासहस्राणि भूणहत्यार्बुदानि च।

कोटिहोमेन नश्यन्ति यथावच्छिवभाषितम्॥१३९॥

Śiva has said that the sin of killing a crore of Brāhmaṇas and of making 10 crores of abortions, is washed off by the performance of this sacrifice.

वश्यकर्माभिचारादि तथैवोद्याटनादिकम्।

नवग्रहमखं कृत्वा ततः काम्यं समाचरेत्॥१४०॥

The sacrifice relating to the worship of the nine planets should be performed before the performance of the rites of Abhicāra (sorcery), Uccāṭana¹ and Vāśya Karma².

अन्यथा फलदं पुंसां न काम्यं जायते क्वचित्।

तस्मादयुतहोमस्य विधानं पूर्वमाचरेत्॥१४१॥

Otherwise, no rite has the desired effect; so this sacrifice of ten thousand offerings to the planets should necessarily be performed as a preliminary.

वृत्तं वोद्याटने कुण्डं तथा च वश्यकर्मणि।

त्रिमेखलं चैकवक्त्रमरत्निर्विस्तरेण तु॥१४२॥

पलाशसमिधः शस्ता मधुगोरोचनान्विताः।

चन्दनागुरुणा तद्वत् कुङ्कुमेनाभिषिञ्चिताः॥१४३॥

In the sacrifice connected with Vāśikaraṇa and Uccāṭana, the sacrificial pond should be made of the measure of a handful; it should be surrounded with three girdles, be circular in shape, and have one mouth, and the offering of the wood of Butea frondosa, sprinkled with honey, camphor, gorocana and agara, dissolved in water, mixed with saffron, should be made.

होमयेन्मधुसर्पिर्भ्यां बिल्वानि कमलानि च।

सहस्राणि दशैवोक्तं सर्वदैव स्वयम्भुवा॥१४४॥

An offering of woodapple (Bael) and lotuses, mixed with honey and clarified butter should be made. Brahmā has said that ten thousand offerings should be made in such sacrifices.

वश्यकर्मणि बिल्वानां पद्मानां चैव धर्मवित्।

सुमित्रिया न आप ओषधय इति होमयेत्॥१४५॥

In a sacrifice for Vāśikaraṇa, the offerings of woodapple (Bael) and lotuses should be made, and the Śumitriyāna Āpa oṣadha mantra should be recited in offering Homa.

न चात्र स्थापनं कार्यं न च कुम्भाभिषेचनम्।

स्नानं सर्वौषधैः कृत्वा शुक्लपुष्पाम्बरो गृही॥१४६॥

कण्ठसूत्रैः सकनकैर्विप्रान् समभिपूजयेत्।

सूक्ष्मवस्त्राणि देयानि शुक्ला गावः सकाञ्चनाः॥१४७॥

No sprinkling with holy waters or location of a pitcher of water should be made in these forms of sacrifices. A householder should bathe in the water mixed with herbs, dress in white, put on white flowers, worship the Brāhmaṇas with gold threads. They should also be given fine costumes and Dakṣiṇā of gold. A white cow should also be given.

अवशानि वशीकुर्यात् सर्वशत्रुबलान्यपि।

अमित्राण्यपि मित्राणि होमोऽयं पापनाशनः॥१४८॥

This sacrifice subdues the worst of enemies, endears those who have no love and dispels ills.

विद्वेषणेऽभिचारे च त्रिकोणं कुण्डमिष्यते।

त्रिमेखलं कोणमुखं हस्तमात्रं च सर्वशः॥१४९॥

1. A magical incantation that causes a man to go away out of disgust.

2. A magical spell that fascinates and subdues a foe.

The sacrificial pond for the performance of the sacrifice intended for Abhicāra and Vidveṣaṇa¹, should be triangular in shape, measuring one hand, surrounded by two girdles, and having openings towards the vertices.

होमं कुर्युस्ततो विप्रा रक्तमाल्यानुलेपनाः।

निवीतलोहितोष्णीषा लोहिताम्बरधारिणः॥१५०॥

Then the Brāhmaṇas wearing red garland, red sandal, red sacred thread, red turban and red raiments, should perform the sacrifice.

नववायसरक्ताढ्यपात्रत्रयसमन्विताः।

समिधो वामहस्तेन श्येनास्थिपलसंयुताः।

होतव्या मुक्तकेशैस्तु ध्यायद्भिरशिवं रिपौ॥१५१॥

With three vessels containing the blood of the young crows before them, bones of the hawks in their left hand and sacrificial fuel in the other, and their hair loose, the Brāhmaṇas should perform the sacrifice, all the while thinking ill of the enemies at the time of making these offerings.

दुर्मित्रियास्तस्मै सन्तु तथा हुंफडितीति च।

श्येनाभिचारमन्त्रेण क्षुरं समभिमन्त्र्य च॥१५२॥

प्रतिरूपं रिपोः कृत्वा क्षुरेण परिकर्तयेत्।

रिपुरूपस्य शकलान्यथैवाग्नौ विनिःक्षिपेत्॥१५३॥

With the śyenamantra, 'durmitriyāstasmai santu humphata', the razor should be sanctified; with this the image of the enemy should be cut piecemeal and offered to the fire.

ग्रहयज्ञविधानान्ते सदैवाभिचरन्मुनः।

विद्वेषणं तथा कुर्वन्नेतदेव समाचरेत्॥१५४॥

Having performed the sacrifice of the Grahas, the proper Abhicāra sacrifice should be performed. Such is the rule for "Vidveṣaṇa" sacrifice as well.

इहैव फलदं पुंसामेतन्नामुत्र शोभनम्।

तस्माच्छान्तिकमेवात्र कर्तव्यं भूतिमिच्छता॥१५५॥

Such deeds only bear fruit in the present life and do not beget good results in the next, so a man, desirous of ultimate good, should not indulge in such deeds.

ग्रहयज्ञत्रयं कुर्याद्यस्त्वकाम्येन मानवः।

स विष्णोः पदमाप्नोति पुनरावृत्तिदुर्लभम्॥१५६॥

One who performs the worship of the stars, along with the prescribed sacrifices, without any object in view, goes to the clime of Viṣṇu, from where he never returns to this world.

य इदं शृणुयान्नित्यं श्रावयेद्वापि मानवः।

न तस्य ग्रहपीडा स्यान्न च बन्धुजनक्षयः॥१५७॥

One who hears or relates this to others, never suffers from any pain, owing to the evil influence of the planets or to the destruction of friends.

ग्रहयज्ञत्रयं गेहे लिखितं यत्र तिष्ठति।

न पीडा तत्र बालानां न रोगो न च बन्धनम्॥१५८॥

The children of the house in which these sacrifices are written down, never suffer from any ill, mental or physical, or any other calamity.

अशेषयज्ञफलं निःशेषाघविनाशनम्।

कोटिहोमं विदुः प्राज्ञा भुक्तिमुक्तिफलप्रदम्॥१५९॥

अश्वमेधफलं प्राहुर्लक्षहोमं सुरोत्तमाः।

द्वादशाहमखस्तद्वन्नवग्रहमखः स्मृतः॥१६०॥

The sages are of opinion that this sacrifice of a crore of offerings begets fruits of many a sacrifice and dispels all ills; it is the giver of worldly prosperity and final emancipation. The sacrifice of a lac of offerings gives the benefit of the Aśvamedha sacrifice. The sacrifice performed in course of a twelve days and the sacrifice connected with the worship of stars, give equal benefits.

Thus I have told the mode of the sacrifices of the Nine Grahas and the Abhiṣeka in divine sacrifices (the sprinkling of the devotee with the holy waters). These are to be done to dispel all ills and hindrances to ceremonies of rejoicing. These purge all sins. One who reads or listens to it subdues all his foes and gets longevity and health.

Śiva said— The image of the God Sun who causes the lotus to bud, should be made as seated on a lotus (Padmāsana),¹ with colour like that of a lotus, with two hands, with a lotus in one hand and the other hand raised in the posture of giving blessings, and having seven horses in His chariot, drawn by seven reins.

श्वेतः श्वेताम्बरधरः श्वेताश्रः श्वेतवाहनः।

गदापाणिर्द्विबाहुश्च कर्तव्यो वरदः शशी॥२॥

The image of the Moon, the giver of boons, should be made in white colour, dressed in white robes, seated on a white chariot, having a white horse for His conveyance, having two hands, one holding a club and the other raised in the posture of giving blessings.

रक्तमाल्याम्बरधरः शक्तिशूल गदाधरः।

चतुर्भुजः श्वेतरोमा वरदः स्याद्धरासुतः॥३॥

The image of the Mars should be made, having white hair, four hands, armed with a spear, a lance and club, with the fourth hand raised in the posture of giving blessings, wearing red robes and garland.

पीतमाल्याम्बरधरः कर्णिकारसमद्युतिः।

खड्गचर्मगदापाणिः सिंहस्थो वरदो बुधः॥४॥

The image of the Mercury should be made yellow, dressed in yellow robes and wearing a yellow garland, with four hands armed with a sword, shield and club, and the fourth hand raised in the posture of giving blessings, and having a lion for his conveyance.

देवदैत्यगुरु तद्वत्पीतश्चेतौ चतुर्भुजौ।

दण्डिनौ वरदौ कार्यौ साक्षसूत्रकमण्डलू॥५॥

The Venus and the Jupiter should be made in white and yellow respectively. They should have four hands, holding staff, rosary and kamaṇḍalu, and the fourth hand raised in the posture of giving blessings.

इन्द्रनीलद्युतिः शूली वरदो गृध्रवाहनः।

बाणबाणासनधरः कर्तव्योऽर्कसुतस्तथा॥६॥

The Saturn should be of the colour and the lustre of an emerald, having a vulture for His conveyance and four hands armed with a lance, bow and arrow, and the fourth hand raised in the posture of giving blessings.

2. The ascending node; in mythology the son of Sinhikā, a Daitya, with the tail of a dragon whose head was severed from his body by Viṣṇu, but being immortal the head and tail retained their separate existence and being transferred to the stellar sphere, became authors of eclipse the first specially, by endeavouring at various times to swallow the sun and the moon.

with a sword, a leather shield, a spear, and the fourth hand raised in the posture of giving blessings. The image of Ketu should be made of smoky colour, with a vulture for His conveyance and having two hands— one hand holding a mace and the other raised in the posture of giving blessings, and having a distorted face.

All the planets should be made with a crown on their head, and the images should be two fingers high (or, of the height of one's own finger). The mantras relating to the planets should be recited on the rosary 108 times each. (It may also mean that the size of the planets should be 108 fingers or digits in height. If the aṅguli be one inch in length, the images will be nine feet high; if the measure of the aṅguli be 3/4th of an inch, then the height will be 4.5 feet. The sense is obscure).

Hearing the above words of the sage, Lord Śiva, the knower of all things, understood the inclination of Nārada and said— “O Nārada! This sacred bull, who is my principal attendant and who has become unified with me on account of his asceticism and knowledge of the Śruti and the Purāṇas, will explain to you the rituals connected with my ordinance (Māheśvara Dharma).

In the month of Mārgaśīrā, on the thirteenth day of the bright fortnight, the devotee should take his meals once and pray to Śiva with this Saṅkalpa mantra, “O Lord of all the Deities! I take refuge in you. Tomorrow, the Caturdaśī day, I shall observe a complete fast, without eating anything, and worship Śiva. I shall also give away a bull, made of gold, and then take my meals the next day.”

Sūta said, "O Śaunaka and other Ṛṣis, now I shall narrate the sons and the grandsons born of the wives of Kaśyapa. Kaśyapa had thirteen wives known by the names of Aditi, Diti, Danu, Ariṣṭā, Surasā, Surabhi, Vinatā, Tāmrā, Krodhavaśā, Irā, Kadru, Viśvā and Muni. Now you listen to the details of their sons.

During the life time of Cākṣusa Manu, there were the gods known as Tuṣitā. They came to be known as the twelve Ādityas in the Vaivasvata Manvantara.

इन्द्रो धाता भगस्त्वष्टा मित्रोऽथ वरुणो यमः।

They were known by the names of Indra, Dhātā, Bhaga, Tvaṣṭā, Mitra, Varuṇa, Yama, Vivasvān, Savitā, Pūṣā, Aṅśumān and Viṣṇu.

All of them have a thousand rays each and are known as the twelve Ādityas. Aditi gave birth to the best of the sons, in union with Kaśyapa, the son of Marīci.

The sons of the sage Kṛśāśva came to be known as Devapraharanas. These gods emerged in each kalpa² of the Manvantara and vanished at the same time.

We have heard Diti, in union with the great sage Kaśyapa, gave birth to Hiranyakaśipu and Hiranyākṣa, the two great sons. Hiranyakaśipu had four sons who were valorous like him and were known by the names of Prahlāda, Anuhlāda, Sanhlāda and Hlāda.

Out of them Prahlāda had four sons known as Āyusmān, Śibi, Bāṣkala and Virocana, the fourth one. The said Virocana had achieved Bali as his son. Bali had a hundred sons and Bāṇa was the eldest of all.

Besides that, he had several other sons like Dhṛtarāṣṭra, Sūrya, Candra, Candrānśu- tāpana, Nikumbhanābha, Gurvakṣa, Kuṣi- bhīma, Vibhīṣaṇa and many others sons like him, who were younger to Bāṇa but possessed all the best

1. The complete series of the different dynasties is found elsewhere only in the Vāyu, the Brahmāṇḍa, (which is the same), and the Bhāgavata Purāṇas. The Brahma Purāṇa and the Hari Vamśa, the Agni, Liṅga, Kūrma and Garuḍa Purāṇas have lists of various extent, but none beyond the families of Pāṇḍu and Kṛṣṇa. The Mārkaṇḍeya contains an account of a few of the kings of the solar dynasty alone; and the Padma, of a part of the solar and lunar princes only, besides accounts of individuals.

One who observes the Śiva Caturdaśī ordinance, according to these rites, gets the benefit of a thousand Aśvamedha sacrifices.

O Sage! the ordinance (vrata) should be commenced on any one of the following days, in the month of Mārgaśīrṣa; the third, the twelfth, the eight or the fourteenth day of the bright fortnight, after invoking the Brāhmaṇas.

अन्येष्वपि हि मासेषु पुण्येषु मुनिसत्तम।

The articles (to be given away) should be given to the Brāhmaṇa, having first decorated him. The devotee may also give a bedding, with all its requisites, if he had the means to do so, otherwise he may only give away the fruits mentioned before. The golden images of Śiva and Dharmarāja being given to the Brāhmaṇa, with the pitchers of water, he should feed himself on food devoid of oil, by observing the vow of silence, and should also feed the Brāhmaṇas, according to his means.

CHAPTER 97

The method of Sunday ordinance

नारद उवाच

यदारोग्यकरं पुंसां यदनन्तफलप्रदम्।

यच्छान्तये च मर्त्यानां वद नन्दीश तद्भूतम्॥१॥

Nārada said— O Nandikeśvara! Please describe to me the ordinance that may be the giver of peace, health and everlasting benefits to the people.

नन्दिकेश्वर उवाच

यत्तद्विश्वात्मनो धाम परं ब्रह्म सनातनम्।

तदाराध्य पुमान् विप्र प्राप्नोति कुशलं सदा।

तस्मादादित्यवारेण सदा नक्ताशनो भवेत्॥३॥

Nandikeśvara said— That which is the eternal abode of the soul of the universe, is known as the Sun, the Fire and the Moon, in this world; by the worship of these a man attains happiness. The devotee observing it should always take his meals at night time only on Sundays.

यदा हस्तेन संयुक्तमादित्यस्य च वासरम्।

तदा शनिदिने कुर्यादिकभक्तं विमत्सरः॥४॥

In the case of the asterism Hasta falling on Sunday, the devotee should take his meals only once on Saturday, purging his heart of all vanity.

नक्तमादित्यवारेण भोजयित्वा द्विजोत्तमान्।

पत्रैर्द्वादशसंयुक्तं रक्तचन्दनपंकजम्॥५॥

On Sunday night, the devotee, after feeding good Brāhmaṇas, should draw a lotus of twelve petals with red sandal.

विलिख्य विन्यसेत्सूर्यं नमस्कारेण पूर्वतः।

दिवाकरं तथाग्नेये विवस्वन्तमतः परम्॥६॥

भगं तु नैर्ऋते देवं वरुणं पश्चिमे दले।

दक्षिणेऽर्यमनामानं मार्तण्डं पश्चिमे दले।

उत्तरे तु रविं देवं कर्णिकायां च भास्करम्॥९॥

To the east of it he should place, after after salutations, the Sun (Sūrya), to the south-east east Divākara, to the south Vivasvāna, to the south-uth-west Bhaga, to the west Varuṇa, to the north-orth-west Mahendra, to the north Āditya, to the the north-east Śānta. In the forepart of the lotus, the the horses of the Sun should be inscribed, in the the south the Āryamā Devas, in the west Mārtaṇḍa, nda, and on the northern petal Ravi Bhāskara on the the pericarp of the lotus.

रक्तपुष्पोदकेनार्घ्यं सतिलारुणचन्दनम्।

तस्मिन्पद्मे ततो दद्यादिमं मन्त्रमुदीरयेत्॥१०॥

Afterwards, red flowers, red sandal, idal, sesamum, mixed with water, should be poured ured on the lotus, and the following mantra should be d be recited at the time.

कालात्मा सर्वभूतात्मा वेदात्मा विश्वतोमुखः।

यस्मादग्नीन्द्ररूपस्त्वमतः पाहि दिवाकर॥११॥

“O Divākara (the giver of day)! You are the the soul of time, creation and the Vedas. You have have your face turned to each direction. You are of e of the form of Indra and Agni: therefore shelter elter me.”

अग्निमीले नमस्तुभ्यमिषेत्वोर्जं च भास्कर।

भुञ्जीत वत्सरान्ते तु काञ्चनं कमलोत्तमम्।

पुरुषं च यथाशक्त्या कारयेद्द्विभुजं तथा॥१३॥

“Agnimīle namastubhyamiṣetvorjje ca ca bhāskara.” “Agnā āyāhi varada namaste laste jyotiṣāmpate.” With this mantra Arghya should ould be offered, and the Deity dismissed. He should ould take his meals at night free from oil. When a en a year has elapsed in this way, he should make a ke a lotus of gold and an image with two hands.

सुवर्णशृङ्गीं कपिलां महाध्यां
 रौघैः खुरैः कांस्यदोहां सवत्साम्।
 पूर्णे गृडस्योपरि ताम्रपात्रे
 निधाय पद्मं पुरुषं च दद्यात्॥१४॥

He should then give away in charity a milch cow, with her horns covered with gold, the hoofs with silver, along with her calf, and a milking vessel of bell metal, while the lotus and image should be placed in a pot of copper completely full of molasses.

सम्पूज्य रक्ताम्बरमाल्यधूपैर्द्विजं च रक्तैरथ हेमशृङ्गैः।
 सङ्कल्पयित्वा पुरुषं सपद्मं दद्यादनेकव्रतदानकाय।
 अव्यंगरूपाय जितेन्द्रियाय कुटुम्बिने देयमनुद्धताय॥१५॥

The devotee, after worshipping the Brāhmaṇa with red cloth, sandal, garland, incense, etc., should bestow his gifts, viz.— the lotus and the image, etc., on him, he having a large family, and being free from deformity and pride, and able to restrain his passions and the object of charity in many other vratas.

नमो नमः पापविनाशनाय
 विश्वात्मने सप्ततुरङ्गमाय।
 सामर्ग्यजुर्धामनिधे विधात्रे
 भवाब्धिपोताय जगत्सवित्रे॥१६॥

At that time, the devotee should utter the following words:— “O Dispeller of sins, the Soul of the universe, your chariot drawn by seven horses, the vase of Ṛk, Yaju and Sāma Vedas, the boat of the ocean of universe, I salute you oft and often.”

इत्यनेन विधिना समाचरे-
 दब्दमेकमिह यस्तु मानवः।
 सोऽधिरोहति विनष्टकल्मषः

One who observes these rituals and keeps up this vrata for a year, is freed from all sins and goes to the solar region fanned by cāmara.

धर्मसंक्षयमवाप्य भूपतिः शोकदुःखभयरोगवर्जितः।
 द्वीपसप्तकपतिः पुनः पुनर्धर्ममूर्तिरमितौजसा युतः॥१८॥

On the consumption of his store of piety he becomes the sovereign of the seven Dvīpas, and never gets pain, suffering or disease. He becomes most powerful and virtuous.

या च भर्तृगुरुदेवतत्परा

The Saṁkrānti ordinance should be observed on the day of equinoxes or solstices. The day, prior to Saṁkrānti, the devotee should have his meals only once; and on the following day, he should bathe in water mixed with sesamum, after brushing his teeth.

रविसंक्रमणे भूमौ चन्दनेनाष्टपत्रकम्।
पद्मं सकर्णिकं कुर्यात्तस्मिन्नावाहयेद्रविम्॥३॥

On the day of the Saṁkrānti, the devotee should draw on the earth a lotus of eight petals with sandal, in the centre of which pericarps should be made, where the presence of the Sun should be invoked.

The Sun should be located in the pericarp, Āditya in the east and salutations should be made in the south, after reciting 'Ūṣṇārīṣe namaḥ, R̥ṅgmaṇḍalāya namaḥ', "Savitre namaḥ" in the south-west, "Tapanāya namaḥ" in the west, Bhaga in the north-west should be located and worshipped constantly. Mārtaṇḍa should be located in the north and Viṣṇu in the north-east. These should be adored with incense, flowers, fruits and eatables, on an altar.

द्विजाय सोदकुम्भं च घृतपात्रं हिरण्यम्।
कमलं च यथाशक्त्या कारयित्वा निवेदयेत्॥७॥

A golden vessel of clarified butter, with a pitcher of water, should be given away to the Brāhmaṇa; and the lotus should also be made of gold, according to the means of the devotee, and given away to the Brāhmaṇa.

Then libations of rice cooked in milk and sugar, should be poured into the fire and Brāhmaṇas should be satisfied with eatables. On that occasion, twelve pitchers of water, with a few gems, twelve golden lotus flowers and twelve milch cows of gentle disposition or only 8, 7 or 4 such cows (in the last case, the cows being dressed and garlanded), according to the means of the devotee, should be given to a poor and deserving Brāhmaṇa, after their horns being covered with gold, their hoofs with silver, along with milking pots of bell metal. In case, the devotee be a very poor man, he may give only one milch cow. Afterwards, an image of earth, along with that of the serpent Śeṣa, should be made in gold, silver, copper or even of kneaded flour, according to the means of the devotee, and given away to the Brāhmaṇa, along with a golden image of the Sun. As far as possible, no miserliness should be exercised in this ritual; for the man doing so, inspite of having riches undoubtedly goes to hell.

CHAPTER 100

Description of the vow of Viṣṇu-vratam

नन्दिकेश्वर उवाच

पुरा रथन्तरे कल्पे राजासीत् पुष्पवाहनः।

नाम्ना लोकेषु विख्यातस्तेजसा सूर्यसन्निभः॥१॥

Nandikeśvara said— In the days gone by, during the Rathantara Kalpa, there lived a mighty king, as illustrious the Sun, who was known by the name of Puṣpavāhana.

तपसा तस्य तुष्टेन चतुर्वक्त्रेण नारद।

कमलं काञ्चनं दत्तं यथाकामगमं मुने॥२॥

O Nārada! Brahmā, being pleased with his asceticism, presented him with a lotus of gold that could move about at will.

लोकैः समस्तैर्नगरवासिभिः सहितो नृपः।

द्वीपानि सुरलोकं च यथेष्टं व्यचरत्तदा॥३॥

(With its help) the king began to wander about at his pleasure in the seven dvīpas as well as in the abode of the gods, in company of his citizens.

कल्पादौ सप्तमं द्वीपं तस्य पुष्करवासिनः।

लोके च पूजितं यस्मात् पुष्करद्वीपमुच्यते॥४॥

At the beginning of the kalpa, the kingdom of this king, who lived in the lotus, was the seventh dvīpa:— on account of the great praise and honour given to it by the people, it came to be known as Puṣkara dvīpa.

देवेन ब्रह्मणा दत्तं यानमस्य यतोऽम्बुजम्।

पुष्पवाहनमित्याहुस्तस्मात् तं देवदानवाः॥५॥

The king was called Puṣpavāhana by the Devas and the Dānavas on account of his having received the lotus for his conveyance.

Owing to his powers, acquired by the practice of penances, no place in the three worlds was inaccessible to him, seated on his lotus given by Lord Brahmā. His queen, Lāvanyavatī, was worthy to be honoured by thousands of ladies. In beauty and womanly virtues, she had no equal. She was like the Goddess Pārvatī, the noble Consort of the Lord Śiva.

The king became the father of ten thousand virtuous princes, who all were renowned in archery. The king began to wonder at his incomparable prosperity. One day, seeing the great sage Prāceta, approaching, he addressed him thus:

राजोवाच

O Sage! how is it that there is such an abundance of prosperity in my house? How have I got a queen who is venerated even by the Devas, and who has no equal even among the goddesses? Why has Brahmā become so much pleased with my little asceticism as to present me with such a lotus, (vast wonderful), that when myriads of kings, with ministers, elephants, people and chariots entered into it, they appear small indeed, like so many galaxies of twinkling stars with the moon herself in the immeasurable expanse of the firmament.

“Hence, O Lord, what is the use of being born in the separate womb of the mother? To obtain endless (good) results, I have performed many a religious rite. Now please tell us what is of ultimate good to me, my wife and sons.”

Hearing the above words of the king, the sage, after meditation, spoke the following words, about the wonderful former lives of the king: “King! Previously you are were born in the house of a hunter, and you led a life of sin from day to day.

Your body was hard, rough and also offensively stinking. Snakes coiled all over it. You had no friend, nor sons; neither kinsmen, nor sisters, nor parents. All were abused and cursed by you. This beloved consort of yours was also against you.

Then the land was visited by a terrible drought, when you were over-whelmed with hunger, but could not get grain, fruits, flesh or any kind of eatables to quench it, though you searched for them everywhere.

On that occasion you came to a tank, full of muddy banks, but which was abundantly full of lotus flowers. You called a heap of lotuses out of that tank and carried them home to Vaidīśa the city in which you lived.

You wandered about the whole city to sell those lotuses, but could not find a purchaser. Eventually you were overpowered with hunger and fatigue.

And you went and sat with your wife in the courtyard of some one where in the night you heard some nice and auspicious sound.

 तत्र मण्डपमध्यस्थां विष्णोर्घ्रावलोकिता॥१७॥

You went to the spot where the sound was heard with your wife. There you saw the worship of Lord Viṣṇu conducted in a maṇḍapa.

वेश्याऽनंगवती नाम विभूतिद्वादशीव्रतम्।

The worship in question was the concluding chapter of Vibhūti-dvādaśī ordinance, in the month of Māgha, which was kept up by a courtesan, named Anangavati.

निवेदयन्ती गुरवे शय्यां चोपस्कारान्विताम्।

At that time, she was giving away the mount of salt, the bedstead along with other things, the decorated image of the merciful Lord Viṣṇu and the golden Kalpa tree, to her preceptor.

तां तु दृष्ट्वा ततस्ताभ्यामिदं च परिचिन्तितम्।
 किमेभिः कमलैः कार्यं वरं विष्णुरलंकृतः॥२०॥

On seeing all that, you said to yourself, “What would I now do with these lotus flowers, I should better offer them to Viṣṇu.

 तत्प्रसङ्गात्समभ्यर्च्य केशवं लवणाचलम्।
 शय्या च पुष्पप्रकरैः पूजिता भूश्च सर्वतः॥२१॥

O King! Thus devotion came to the hearts of both of you; and you worshipped the Lord as well as the mount of salt, the bedding, and even the earth with your lotus flowers.

अथानङ्गवती तुष्टा तयोर्धनशतत्रयम्।

The courtesan was very much pleased with your devotion and offered you 300 gold coins which both of you did not accept, as you were both then filled with sattvaguna (i.e. your hearts became pure), at which the courtesan became still more pleased with you, had four kinds of delicious foods brought and asked you to eat. You again declined to partake of her hospitality and said— “We shall have food at some other time. We are exceedingly glad today with your acquaintance and the keeping fast.

जन्मप्रभृति पापिष्ठौ कुकर्माणौ दृढव्रते।

In that way, you kept up all the night with that courtesan and, on the following morning, she gave the mount of salt and the bedding as well as villages to her preceptor and to a dozen Brāhmaṇas, garments, ornaments, kamaṇḍalu and cows.

भोजनं च सुहृन्मित्रदीनान्धकृपणैः समम्।

After that, she fed her friends, poor men, blind men, misers, compeers and kinsmen, and at the same time she also honoured in the same way and dismissed you both.

स भवौलुब्धको जातः सपत्नीको नृपेश्वरः।

King! Owing to this worship of Keśava by lotus flowers, the same hunter and his wife have been now born in the persons of yourself and your consort.

You have been freed of all your sins by the virtue of your little self-denial and purity of heart. Hence this wonderful lotus moving at will. This has been given to you by Janārdana, the Lord of creation in the person of four faced Brahmā, because he was pleased with you.

That courtesan is now the rival of Rati, the wife of Cupid, and is known as Prīti. She is the giver of happiness to the womanfolk, and is venerated by the Devas.

नन्दिकेश्वर उवाच

O Nārada! The devotee, observing this ordinance, should keep up the penance and perform the rites with molasses of any kind whatsoever, as prescribed, for 12 months, and give alms to the Brāhmaṇas, without any feeling of miserliness. Keśava is pleased with devotion alone.

CHAPTER 102

Method of taking bath and the performing of tarpaṇa

नन्दिकेश्वर उवाच

नैर्मल्यं भावशुद्धिश्च विना स्नानं न विद्यते।
तस्मान्मनोविशुद्ध्यर्थं स्नानमादौ विधीयते॥१॥

अनुद्धतैरुद्धतैर्वा जलैः स्नानं समाचरेत्।
तीर्थं च कल्पयेद्विद्वान् मूलमन्त्रेण मन्त्रवित्।
नमो नारायणायेति मूलमन्त्र उदाहृतः॥२॥

Nandikeśvara said- “O Nārada, without taking the bath, the body cannot become clean nor does the mind get purified. Therefore for the purification of the mind, in all the Vratas provision for taking of the bath, has been made. One should take bath with the water drawn out of the well or the water from a tank or the river. A person well-versed with the mantras, should imagine the water of the sacred place in the water with which he is going to take bath. Om-namo-Nārāyaṇāya— this is called the mūla mantra.

दर्भपाणिस्तु विधिना आचान्तः प्रयतः शुचिः।
चतुर्हस्तसमायुक्तं चतुरस्रं समन्ततः।
प्रकल्यावाहयेद्गङ्गामेभिर्मन्त्रैर्विचक्षणः॥३॥

A person should initially perform ācamana holding Kuśā in hand. Then with a pure mind, controlling all the sense organs, one should draw a square diagram around himself and should imagine a sacred place therein. Then the Gaṅgā should be invoked reciting the mantras.

विष्णोः पादप्रसूतासि वैष्णवी विष्णुदेवता।
ब्रह्मि नस्त्वेनसस्तस्मादाजन्ममरणान्तिकात्॥४॥
तिस्रः कोट्योऽर्द्धकोटी च तीर्थानां वायुरब्रवीत्।
दिवि भूम्यन्तरिक्षे च तानि ते सन्ति जाह्नवि॥५॥

“O Goddess you have appeared from the feet of lord Viṣṇu. You are called Vaiṣṇavī and Viṣṇu happens to be your lord. Therefore you protect us from the sins starting from the birth to death. O Daughter of Jāhnu, Vāyudeva has spoken of three and a half crores of sacred places in the heaven, earth and the space. All of them reside in you.

नन्दिनीत्येव ते नाम देवेषु नलिनीति च।
दक्षा पृथ्वी च विहगा विश्वकायाऽमृता शिवा॥६॥

विद्याधरी सुप्रशान्ता तथा विश्वप्रसादिनी।
क्षेमा च जाह्नवी चैव शान्ता शान्तिप्रदायिनी॥७॥

You are known as Nalinī and Nandinī among the gods. Besides these, you are also known by the names of Dakṣā, Pṛthvī, Vihagā, Viśvakāyā, Amṛtā, Śivā, Vidyādhari, Supraśāntā, Viśvaprasādinī, Kṣemā, Jāhnavī, Śāntā and Śāntipradāyinī.

एतानि पुण्यनामानि स्नानकाले प्रकीर्तयेत्।
भवेत्सन्निहिता तत्र गङ्गा त्रिपथगामिनी॥८॥

At the time of taking the bath, these auspicious names should be recited and by doing so, the Gaṅgā will be present there.

सप्तवाराभिजसेन करसम्पुटयोजितः।
मूर्ध्नि कुर्याज्जलं भूयस्त्रिचतुःपञ्चसप्तकम्।
स्नानं कुर्यान्मृदा तद्वदामन्त्र्य तु विधानतः॥९॥

Closing the hands, one should utter these names seven times. Thereafter one should sprinkle water over his head thrice, four, five or seven times. Thereafter the earth should be invoked appropriately and then applying the earth over the body one should take bath with water.

अश्वक्रान्ते रथक्रान्ते विष्णुक्रान्ते वसुन्धरे।
मृत्तिके हर मे पापं यन्मया दुष्कृतं कृतम्॥१०॥
उद्धृतासि वराहेण कृष्णेन शतबाहुना।
मृत्तिके ब्रह्मदत्तासि काश्यपेनाभिमन्त्रिता।
आरुह्य मम गात्राणि सर्वं पापं प्रचोदय॥११॥
मृत्तिके देहि नः पुष्टिं त्वयि सर्वं प्रतिष्ठितम्।
नमस्ते सर्वलोकानां प्रभववारणि सुव्रते॥१२॥

The mantra for invoking her is as follows— O Earth, you are purified at the time of collecting of the fire, you are purified by the horse. You have been purified with the chariot of Śiva, and with the foot of Viṣṇu during his boar incarnation. All the riches are enshrined in your womb. Therefore whatever sins have been committed by me, you kindly wash them out. O

Earth, Lord Viṣṇu with a hundred hands, taking to the form of Varāha (boar) of dark complexion, had redeemed you from Pātāla. Again the sage Kaśyapa, after invoking you gave you over to the Brāhmaṇas. Therefore, you riding over my limbs remove all my sins. O Earth, all the articles of the world are enshrined in you. Therefore you grant us the progress. O Suvrata, you are the cause of the birth of all the living beings. You are the form of Araṇi, salutation to you.

एवं स्नात्वा ततः पश्चादाचम्य च विधानतः।
उत्थाय वाससी शुक्ले शुद्धे तु परिधाय वै।
ततस्तु तर्पणं कुर्यात् त्रैलोक्याप्यायनाय वै॥१३॥

Thus applying the earth over the body, one should take bath and thereafter, one should perform the ācamana appropriately. Then getting out of the water, he should wear two pieces of clothes of white colour.

देवा यक्षास्तथा नागा गन्धर्वाप्सरसोऽसुराः।
क्रूराः सर्पाः सुपर्णाश्च तरवो जम्बुकाः खगाः॥१४॥
वाय्वाधारा जलाधारास्तथैवाकाशगामिनः।
निराधाराश्च ये जीवाः पापे धर्मे रताश्च ये॥१५॥
तेषामाप्यायनायैतद्दीयते सलिलं मया।
कृतोपवीती देवेभ्यो निवीति च भवेत्ततः॥१६॥
मनुष्यांस्तर्पयेद्भक्त्या ब्रह्मपुत्रानृषींस्तथा।

कपिलश्चासुश्चैव वोढुः पञ्चशिखस्तथा।
सर्वे तु तृप्तिमायान्तु महत्तेनाम्बुना सदा॥१८॥

Thereafter for the satisfaction of the three worlds, one should perform oblation thus. Then he wearing the sacred thread, should initially perform oblation for Pitṛs and should recite these mantras— the Gods, Yakṣas, Nāgas, Gandharvas, Apsarās, Demons, horrible serpents, Garuḍa and other birds, trees, jackals, other besides the creatures living on air, or the water, those which roam in the sky or without support, and the beings engaged in sin and dharma, I am offering the water for the satisfaction of the same. Thereafter the yajñopavīta should be worn like a garland. Thereafter he should aspire for performing of tarpaṇa for the ṛṣis, like Sanaka, Sanandana, Sanātana, Kapila, Āsurī, Pañcaśikhā, Voḍhu, who should accept the water given by me.

मरीचिमव्यङ्गिरसं पुलस्त्यं पुलहं क्रतुम्।
प्रचेतसं वसिष्ठं च भृगुं नारदमेव च।
देवब्रह्मऋषीन्सर्वास्तर्पयेदक्षतोदकैः॥१९॥

Thereafter, there is a provision for offering oblation of Marīci, Atri, Aṅgirā, Pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu, Pracetā, Vasiṣṭha, Bhṛgu and Nārada, who happen to be Brahmaṛṣis or Devaṛṣis. Oblation should be offered to them with water.

Thereafter placing the yajñopavīta over the right shoulder, and kneeling with the left knee, oblations should be offered to Agniṣvāta, Saumya, Haivṣmān, Uṣmapa, Sukāli, Barhiṣad, Ajyapa and other Pitṛs. The water mixed with sandal paste, etc., should be offered to them.

Again, a person with wisdom, holding kuśā in hand, oblation should be offered to the divine Pitṛs, who happen to be fourteen in number. They are Yama, Dharmarāja, Mṛtyu, Antaka, Vaivasvata, Kāla, Sarvabhūtakṣaya, Audumbara, Daṇḍa, Nīla, Parameṣṭhī, Vṛkodara, Citrā and Citragupta. After offering these fourteen Pitṛs, one should offer his salutation to them.

Thereafter reciting the names of his father and maternal grandfather, oblation should be offered to them with devotion, reciting the mantra— “Those who had been my relatives, during this birth, or those who had been born in the same family, or had been related to me in earlier births, or anyone else who would be expecting the water from me, let them all be completely satisfied.

सहस्ररश्मये नित्यं नमस्ते सर्वतेजसे॥२७॥

Thereafter performing the ācamana appropriately drawing a sketch of lotus on the ground, one should adore the sun appropriately, reciting the names of the sun at the same time. Then he should offer the water mixed with red sandal paste to the sun. He should then offer prayer to him thus— “O Sūryadeva, you are the form of Viṣṇu, salutation to you. You are the face of Viṣṇu, salutation to you. You have the thousand rays, you are the abode of all the lustres, I always offer my salutation to you.

O Lord of all, you are adorned with the divine sandal paste. You are the form of Rudra Śiva. You bestow welfare on all the living beings and have the fatherly affection for them. Salutation to you again and again. O

Padmāsana, you are always decorated with kuṇḍalas and the armlets. Salutation to you. You are the lord of all the lokas. You are responsible for awakening the entire universe, salutation to you.

O Satyadeva, you move everywhere. You are the witness of the good or bad deeds of all the living beings. Salutation to you. O Bhāskara, be pleased with me. O Divākara salutation to you.” Thus after offering prayer to the sun, circumambulating thrice, one should offer his salutation to the sun. Thereafter, touching the Brāhmaṇa, cow and the gold, one should go to his abode.

CHAPTER 103

Anxiety of Yudhiṣṭhira, his meeting with the sage Mārkaṇḍeya

नन्दिकेश्वर उवाच

वासुदेवं समाश्रित्य पञ्च शेषास्तु पाण्डवाः॥४॥

Nandikeśvara said— “O Nārada, hereafter, I am going to narrate the glory of Prayāga, which in earlier times was narrated by Maharṣi Mārkaṇḍeya to Yudhiṣṭhira the son of Pāṇḍu. After the end of the Mahābhārata war, Yudhiṣṭhira—the son of Kuntī became the king, in the mean time Yudhiṣṭhira, feeling grieved of the death of his brothers, repeatedly lamented about them—“Alas! The king Duryodhana, who had at his command eleven akṣauṇi-army, who put all of us variously in precarious situations, has gone to the jaws of death with all his associates. Taking refuge in Vāsudeva, only five Pāṇḍavas have escaped death.

O Govinda, we have the great warriors like Bhīṣma, Droṇa, immensely valorous Karna, besides Duryodhana with his sons and brothers, have been killed by other valorous kings. Under these circumstances, what have we to do with the kingdom. Now what is the use of pleasure and the life?

धिक् कष्टमिति संचिन्त्य राजा वैक्लव्यमागतः।
निर्विचेष्टो निरुत्साहः किञ्चित्तिष्ठत्यधोमुखः॥७॥

Alas! what a disgrace, we have been placed in a precarious condition.” Thus thinking Yudhiṣṭhira was upset. He became motionless and was devoid of enthusiasm. He kept on sitting there lowering his head for sometime.

Then the king Yudhiṣṭhira after regaining consciousness, started thinking thus. “what is the type of repentance, vrata or the holy place serving which, I could atonce be relieved of the grave sin or which is the place visiting which a person could achieve the best of Viṣṇuloka.

कथं पृच्छामि वै कृष्णं येनेदं कारितोऽस्म्यहम्।
धृतराष्ट्रं कथं पृच्छे यस्य पुत्रशतं हतम्॥१०॥

For this purpose, I should consult Kṛṣṇa, because it is he who has made me to move in this way. I cannot enquire of Dhṛtarāṣṭra—the grand-sire, because a hundred of his sons have been killed already.”

एवं वैक्लव्यमापन्नो धर्मराजो युधिष्ठिरः।

Thus thinking Dharmarāja Yudhiṣṭhira was upset completely. All the five Pāṇḍavas started crying at the grief of their brother.

ये च तत्र महात्मानः समेताः पाण्डवाः स्मृताः।
कुन्ती च द्रौपदी चैव ये च तत्र समागताः।

All the noble people, who had arrived there to meet Yudhiṣṭhira including Kuntī, Draupadī and others surrounded Yudhiṣṭhira while crying and fell on the ground.

वाराणस्यां मार्कण्डेयस्तेन ज्ञातो युधिष्ठिरः।
यथा वैक्लव्यमापन्नो रोदमानस्तु दुःखितः॥१३॥

At that point of time the sage Mārkaṇḍeya was stationed at Vārāṇasī. He came to know, the way Yudhiṣṭhira was upset and crying.

अचिरेणैव कालेन मार्कण्डेयो महातपाः।

Then Mārkaṇḍeya the great sage reached Hastināpura rapidly and stood at the royal entrance.

On his arrival, the gate-keeper atonce went to the king and informed him—“Mārkaṇḍeya—the great sage is waiting at the gate to meet you.” On hearing this Yudhiṣṭhira at once reached the gate.

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

Yudhiṣṭhira said— “O Excellent one, You are welcome here. O Great sage, you are welcome. O Great sage, By meeting you my life has met with success. Today my entire race has been redeemed. My manes have been pleased today. By having an audience with you my body has been purified.”

नन्दिकेश्वर उवाच

Nandikeśvara said— “O Nārada, thereafter, Yudhiṣṭhira— the great, made the sage Mārkaṇḍeya to occupy a lion-throne. Then he washed his feet and adored him appropriately.

Having been satisfied with the adoration, Mārkaṇḍeya— the great sage, asked the king Yudhiṣṭhira, “Why are you crying, O Great King? Who has made you upset? Which one of the obstruction is causing pain to you? What type of misfortune has befallen on you? You speak out to me atonce.”

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

Yudhiṣṭhira said— “O Great sage, I feel anxious for the way we have conducted ourselves, for the gaining of the kingdom.

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “O Immensely valorous one, you better listen to the duties of the kṣatriyas. According to the same, while fighting in the battlefield, no sin has been prescribed for an intelligent person. Then according to the Rājadharmā and especially for the kṣatriyas fighting in the battle-field, there is no question of committing of a sin. Thus thinking in your mind, relieve yourself of the feeling of having committed a sin in the battlefield.” Thereafter the king Yudhiṣṭhira bowed in reverence to the sage Mārkaṇḍeya and then questioned him quite humbly about the means to get himself relieved of the sins so earned.

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

Yudhiṣṭhira asked— “O Intelligent one, you are always omniscient, therefore I am asking you. You kindly tell me in brief such of the means, following which, I could be relieved of the sins.”

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

Mārkaṇḍeya said— O Warrior with great arms, O King, you please listen, for the sinless people, a pilgrimage to Prayāga, relieves them of all the sins.

इति श्रीमात्स्ये महापुराणे प्रयागमाहात्म्ये

CHAPTER 104

The glory of Prayāga and description of various sacred places

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

Yudhiṣṭhira said— “O Fortunate sage, in the ancient kalpa, what was the position of Prayāga-kṣetra, and the way Brahmā the best of gods, had described about it, I would like to listen to the same. O Sage, how should the pilgrimage of Prayāga be performed? What is the method for the sages to conduct themselves there? What type of position is achieved by a person meeting with his death there?

ये वसन्ति प्रयागे तु ब्रूहि तेषां च किं फलम्।
एतन्मे सर्वमाख्याहि परं कौतूहलं हि मे॥ ३॥

What type of merit is achieved by taking a bath there. The people who always live in Prayāga, what type of reward is received by them. You kindly explain the whole of it to me, because I am anxious to learn about the same.

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

कथयिष्यामि ते वत्स यच्छ्रेष्ठं तत्र यत्फलम्।

कम्बलाश्वतरौ नागौ नागश्च बहुमूलकः।
एतत्प्रजापतेः क्षेत्रं त्रिषु लोकेषु विश्रुतम्॥ ५॥

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “Whatever are the sacred places in Prayāga and the type of reward are achieved by visiting those places, I have heard about the same from the sages and the Brāhmaṇas. I am going to speak out the same. The region at Prayāga from Pratiṣṭhānapura to the region of Vāsuki which is inhabited by the serpents like Kambala, Aśvatara, Bahumūlaka, is known as the Prajāpati-kṣetra.

तत्र स्नात्वा दिवं यान्ति ये मृतास्तेऽपुनर्भवाः।
ततो ब्रह्मादयो देवा रक्षां कुर्वन्ति सङ्गताः॥ ६॥

By taking a bath there, people, achieve the heaven. Those who meet with their death there they are never reborn. The gods like Brahmā and others protect the people who live there, collectively.

अन्ये च बहवस्तीर्थाः सर्वपापहराः शुभाः।

षष्टिधनुःसहस्राणि यानि रक्षन्ति जाह्नवीम्।
यमुनां रक्षति सदा सविता सप्तवाहनः॥ ८॥

O King, besides this, there are several sacred places, which are auspicious and remove all the sins of the people, which cannot be described even in hundreds of years. Therefore I am going to describe Prayāga in brief. Sixty thousand armed warriors protect the Gaṅgā here. The sun mounted over a chariot driven by seven horses, looks after the river Yamunā.

प्रयागं तु विशेषेण सदा रक्षति वासवः।
मण्डलं रक्षति हरिर्देवतैः सह सङ्गतः॥ ९॥

Indra particularly is engaged in the protection of Prayāga. Accompanied with other gods, Śrī Hari, protects the entire region of Prayāga.

तं वटं रक्षति सदा शूलपाणिर्महेश्वरः।
स्थानं रक्षन्ति वै देवाः सर्वपापहरं शुभम्॥ १०॥
अधर्मेणावृतो लोके नैव गच्छति तत्पदम्।
स्वल्पमल्पतरं पापं यदा ते स्यान्नराधिप।
प्रयागं स्मरमाणस्य सर्वमायाति संक्षयम्॥ ११॥
दर्शनात्तस्य तीर्थस्य नामसंकीर्तनादपि।
मृत्तिकालम्भनाद्वापि नरः पापात्प्रमुच्यते॥ १२॥

Lord Maheśvara, holding a trident in his hand, always guards the banyan tree. The gods remain engaged in the protection of the auspicious place, therefore, a person having been overpowered with sins fails to enter the region of Prayāga. In case one has the smallest of the sin or even smaller than that, it vanishes merely with the reciting of the name of Prayāga, because it has been prescribed that with the mere look at Prayāga or by reciting its name, or with the touch of its dust, a person is relieved of his sins.

पंच कुण्डानि राजेन्द्र तेषां मध्ये तु जाह्नवी।

प्रयागस्य प्रवेशे तु पापं नश्यति तत्क्षणात्॥ १३॥

O Indra among the kings, there are five kundās (Enclosed space for the sacrificial fire) in the Prayāga region, through which flows the Gaṅgā. Therefore the sins of a person are washed out with the mere entry of a person in Prayāga.

योजनानां सहस्रेषु गङ्गायाः स्मरणान्नरः।

अपि दुष्कृतकर्मा तु लभते परमां गतिम्॥ १४॥

कीर्त्तनान्मुच्यते पापाद्दृष्ट्वा भद्रामि पश्यति।

अवगाह्य च पीत्वा तु पुनात्यासप्तमं कुलम्॥ १५॥

Irrespective of one's being a grave sinner, in case he remembers Gaṅgā thousands of yojanas away, he attains the highest position. With the mere mention of the name of the Gaṅgā, one is relieved of all the sins. By having a look at the Gaṅgā, one comes across many auspicious occasions in the life. By having a bath in the Gaṅgā, one redeems and purifies his seven generations.

सत्यवादी जितक्रोधो ह्यहिंसायां व्यवस्थितः।

धर्मानुसारी तत्त्वज्ञो गोब्राह्मणहिते रतः॥ १६॥

गङ्गायामुनयोर्मध्ये स्नातो मुच्यते किल्बिषात्।

ततो गत्वा प्रयागं तु सर्वदेवाभिरक्षितम्।

ब्रह्मचारी वसेन्मासं पितृन्देवांश्च तर्पयेत्।

ईप्सिताँल्लभते कामान्यत्र यत्राभिजायत॥ १८॥

तपनस्य सुता देवी त्रिषु लोकेषु विश्रुता।

समागता महाभागा यमुना तत्र निम्नगा।

तत्र सन्निहितो नित्यं साक्षाद्देवो महेश्वरः॥ १९॥

A truthful person, being free of anger, follower of ahimsā (non-violence), religious minded, well-versed in tattvas, always engaged in the welfare of the Brāhmaṇas, when takes bath at the confluence of the Gaṅgā and Yamunā, he gets relieved of all the sins and the one who mentally thinks of the same, the maximum of his desires are fulfilled. Therefore by visiting the Prayāga kṣetra which is guarded by all the gods, following Brahmacarya the one should live there for a month, offering oblation to the Pitrs, while staying there, wherever a person goes, he gets the desired things. The auspicious Yamunā— the daughter of Sūrya and well known in the three worlds has arrived there in the form of a river. Lord Śiva, always resides there.

दुष्प्राप्यं मानुषैः पुण्यं प्रयागं तु युधिष्ठिर।

देवदानवगन्धर्वा ऋषयः सिद्धचारणाः।

तदुपस्पृश्य राजेन्द्र स्वर्गलोकमुपासते॥ २०॥

Therefore, O Yudhiṣṭhira, the auspicious Prayāga is inaccessible for the human beings. O Indra among the kings, with the mere touch of the water of the Gaṅgā, the gods, demons, Gandharvas, ṛsis, siddhas, cāraṇas and others reach the heaven.

CHAPTER 105

Position of those who die at Prayāga and the importance of giving a cow in charity

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

शृणु राजन्प्रयागस्य माहात्म्यं पुनरेव तु।

यच्छ्रुत्वा सर्वपापेभ्यो मुच्यते नात्र संशयः॥ १॥

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “O King, you again listen to the glory of Prayāga, listening to which all the sins are washed out, there is no doubt about it.

आर्त्तानां हि दरिद्राणां निश्चितव्यवसायिनाम्।

स्थानमुक्तं प्रयागं तु नाख्येयं तु कदाचन॥ २॥

For the people suffering variously, the poor and for the welfare of those engaged in various types of trades, the region of Prayāga is said to be the best. This fact should not be revealed to anyone.

व्याधितो यदि वा दीनो वृद्धो वापि भवेन्नरः।

गन्धर्वाप्सरसां मध्ये स्वर्गे क्रीडति मानवः।

ईप्सिताल्लभते कामान्वदन्ति ऋषिपुङ्गवाः॥ ४॥

It is said by the best of the Rṣis that when an ailing person, a miserable one or the one having been overpowered by old age, ends his life at the confluence of the Gaṅgā and Yamunā, he mounting over the glittering planes having the lustre of the sun, reach the heaven and enjoys all the pleasures with the Gandharvas and apsarās in the heaven. While living there he achieves all his desires. This is the statement of the great rṣis.

सर्वरत्नमयैर्दिव्यैर्नानाध्वजसमाकुलैः।

वराङ्गनासमाकीर्णैर्मोदते शुभलक्षणैः॥ ५॥

गीतवाद्यविनिर्घोषैः प्रसुप्तः प्रतिबुध्यते।

यावन्न स्मरते जन्म तावत्स्वर्गे महीयते॥ ६॥

There in the heaven, he boarding the divine plane studded with gems, having flag of different colours, crowded by the apsarās, having auspicious symbols, enjoys all the pleasures and is woken up from sleep with the playing of the auspicious and sweet music. Thus he remains in the heaven till he remembers his earlier birth.

ततः स्वर्गात्परिभ्रष्टः क्षीणकर्मा दिवश्च्युतः।

हिरण्यरत्नसम्पूर्णे समृद्धे जायते कुले।

तदेव स्मरते तीर्थं स्मरणात्तत्र गच्छति॥ ७॥

Thereafter with the decline of his merits, he falls from the heaven. Thus having been relieved of the heaven, the jīva, is born in a prosperous race possessing enough of gold and gems. In due course of time he is reminded of the same birth as a result of which has again to travel to the Prayāga region.

देशस्थो यदि वारण्ये विदेशस्थोऽथवा गृहे।

प्रयागं स्मरमाणोऽपि यस्तु प्राणान्परित्यजेत्।

ब्रह्मलोकमवाप्नोति वदन्ति ऋषिपुङ्गवाः॥ ८॥

The excellent sages say, that irrespective of a person being in the foreign land or in his own country, in the house or in the forest, incase he remembers Prayāga, while meeting his end, he surely achieves Brahmaloka.

सर्वकामफला वृक्षा मही यत्र हिरण्मयी।

ऋषयो मुनयः सिद्धास्तत्र लोके स गच्छति॥ ९॥

“He proceeds to such a region, where the land is of gold, where the trees yield fruits as per the desires of the people, and which happens to be the dwelling place of the rṣis, sages and the Siddhas.

स्त्रीसहस्रावृते रम्ये मन्दाकिन्यास्तटे शुभे।

मोदते ऋषिभिः सार्द्धं सुकृतेनेह कर्मणा॥ १०॥

He, with the influence of the deeds performed by him during this birth, enjoys all the pleasures over the bank of the Mandākinī river getting associated with thousands of damsels.

ततः शुभानि कर्माणि चिन्तयानः पुनः पुनः।

He, in the heaven is adored by the gods, Siddhas, Cāraṇas and Gandharvas. Then at the decline of his merits, falling from the heaven, he becomes the lord of Jambūdvīpa on earth.

During this birth he is reminded again and again of his auspicious deeds, as a result of which he surely becomes meritorious and possesses all the riches. Such a person follows the truthful dharma with his action, thought and behaviour.

कर्मणा मनसा वाचा धर्मसत्यप्रतिष्ठितः।

गङ्गायमुनयोर्मध्ये यस्तु गां सम्प्रयच्छति॥ १३॥

A person who gives away a cow in charity, while performing the welfare ceremonies, at the confluence of the Gaṅgā and Yamunā, or does something for the pleasure of the Pitṛs or after the adoration of the god, he remains in the heaven for the number of years, comparable with the hair on the body of the cow.

सुवर्णमणिमुक्ताश्च यदिवान्यत्परिग्रहम्।

एवं तीर्थे न गृहीयात्पुण्येष्वायतनेषु च।

निमित्तेषु च सर्वेषु ह्यप्रमत्तो भवेद्द्विजः॥ १५॥

In case a person receive a cow in charity, receives gold, gems, beads, or any other materials, as charity, then till such time the relevant riches remain with him, his tīrtha upto that time becomes infructuous. In this way it would not be appropriate for a pilgrim to accept charities in the place of pilgrimage, the auspicious temple of a god, or one auspicious occasions. A Brāhmaṇa in this connection should remain especially alert.

A person who at Prayāga intends to donate a tawny coloured milching cow, with the horns covered with gold and hoofs covered with silver sheets, with a milking pot of bronze, at the confluence of Gaṅgā and Yamunā, then such a cow should be given to such a Brāhmaṇa, who should be śrotriya, having noble temperament, wearing white costumes, peaceful, religious minded and is well-versed in all the Vedas. The precious costumes, several types of gems and diamonds should also be given with the cow.

यावद्गोमाणि तस्या गोः सन्ति गात्रेषु सत्तम।

तावद्वर्षसहस्राणि स्वर्गलोके महीयते॥ १९॥

O Best of the kings, one remains lodged in the heaven for the number of years, equivalent to the hair on the body of the cow.

यत्रासौ लभते जन्म सा गौस्तस्याभिजायते।

न च पश्यति तं घोरं नरकं तेन कर्मणा।

उत्तरान् स कुरुन्प्राप्य मोदते कालमक्षयम्॥ २०॥

गवां शतसहस्रेभ्यो दद्यादेकां पयस्विनीम्।

पुत्रान्दारांस्तथा भृत्यान्गौरेका प्रति तारयेत्॥ २१॥

Thereafter, wherever, he is born, the cow is also born with him. With the influence of the auspicious deed, a person does not have even to look at the hell. On the contrary he enjoys all the pleasures in the Uttarakuru country. The giving of a milch cow is far better than the giving away of the lakhs of cows because such a cow redeems, the sons, women and even the servants.

तस्मात्सर्वेषु दानेषु गोदानं तु विशिष्यते।

दुर्गमे विषमे घोरे महापातकसम्भवे।

गौरेव रक्षां कुरुते तस्माद्देयां द्विजोत्तमे॥ २२॥

This is the reason, that of all the charities, the giving away in charity of a cow, has the special significance. It is the cow alone, which can protect a person, at the inaccessible places, in terrific situations, or at the time of the committing of a grave sin. Therefore a person should give away in charity a cow to the best of Brāhmaṇa.

CHAPTER 106

Glory of Prayāga and description of various auspicious places

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

यथायथा प्रयागस्य माहात्म्यं कथ्यते त्वया।

तथातथा प्रमुच्येऽहं सर्वपापैर्न संशयः॥ १॥

भगवन्केन विधिना गन्तव्यं धर्मनिश्चयैः।

प्रयागे यो विधिः प्रोक्तस्तन्मे ब्रूहि महामुने॥ २॥

Yudhiṣṭhira said— “With the narration of the glory of Prayāga, I am getting relieved, gradually of my sins. O Great sage, how should a person having deep faith in dharma go on pilgrimage to Prayāga. You kindly speak out the method prescribed in the scriptures for the purpose.”

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

कथयिष्यामि ते राजस्तीर्थयात्राविधिक्रमम्।

आर्षेण विधिनानेन यथादृष्टं यथाश्रुतम्॥ ३॥

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “O King, I am speaking out the method of visiting Prayāga, as has been seen or heard by me about visiting Prayāga-tīrtha.

प्रयागतीर्थयात्रार्थी यः प्रयाति नरः क्वचित्।

बलीवर्द्धसमारूढः शृणु तस्यापि यत्फलम्॥ ४॥

A person from whichever place proceeds on pilgrimage, riding over a bull, you listen the merit that is received by him for the purpose.

नरके वसते घोरे गवां क्रोष्टा हि दारुणे।

सलिलं न च गृह्णन्ति पितरस्तस्य देहिनः॥ ५॥

यस्तु पुत्रांस्तथा बालान्नापयेत्पाययेत्तथा।

यथात्मना तथा सर्वं दानं विप्रेषु दापयेत्॥ ६॥

Such a person is the destroyer of the bred of cows and as such the Pitrs do not accept the oblation of water, offered by such a person. Because the anger of the cows is quite terrific. A person who appropriately makes his sons and grandsons to take bath at Prayāga, consumes the water of the Gaṅgā, and gives away the charities to the Brāhmaṇas like himself, he enjoys the merits of visiting the sacred place.

ऐश्वर्यलोभमोहाद्वा गच्छेद्यानेन यो नरः।

निष्फलं तस्य तत्सर्वं तस्माद्यानं विवर्जयेत्॥ ७॥

A person for the sake of greed, or out of delusion, sitting over vehicle takes to pilgrimage in Prayāga, for him that pilgrimage is destroyed or becomes infructuous. Therefore the use of the vehicle should be discarded.

गङ्गायमुनयोर्मध्ये यस्तु कन्यां प्रयच्छति।

आर्षेणैव विवाहेन यथाविभवसम्भवम्॥ ८॥

न स पश्यति तं घोरं नरकं तेन कर्मणा।

उत्तरान्स कुरुन्वात्वा मोदते कालमक्षयम्।

पुत्रान्दारांश्च लभते धार्मिकान् रूपसंयुतान्॥ ९॥

A person who donates a daughter as prescribed in the scriptures or by the Rṣis, according to his own means, he does not have to face the hell because of the merit of the same. On the other hand, he reaching the country of Uttarakuru, enjoys all the pleasures for all times to come. Besides this, he also achieves the religious minded sons and besides a beautiful wife.

तत्र दानं प्रकर्तव्यं यथाविभवसम्भवम्।

तेन तीर्थफलं चैव वर्द्धते नात्र संशयः।

स्वर्गे तिष्ठति राजेन्द्र यावदाभूतसंस्लवम्॥ १०॥

Therefore, O Lord of kings! one should give away the charities in Prayāga according to one's own means and by doing so, the merit of the visit to the sacred place is increased. The donor lives in the heaven upto the time of dissolution.

वटमूलं समासाद्य यस्तु प्राणान्विमुञ्चति।

सर्वलोकानतिक्रम्य रुद्रलोकं स गच्छति॥ ११॥

A person, who meets with his death under the Akṣaya-vāṭa at Prayāga, he discarding all the auspicious lokas reaches the abode of Rudra.

तत्र ते द्वादशादित्यास्तपन्ति रुद्रसंश्रिताः।

निर्दहन्ति जगत्सर्वं वटमूलं न दह्यते॥ १२॥

At the time of dissolution twelve Ādityas taking refuge in Rudra, start issuing lustre, they all reduce the entire universe to ashes. But they are unable to cause any harm to Akṣayaṇa.

नष्टचन्द्रार्कभुवनं यदा चैकार्णवं जगत्।

स्थीयते तत्र वै विष्णुर्यजमानः पुनः पुनः॥ १३॥

When at the time of dissolution, the sun, moon and all the fourteen Bhuvanas, get destroyed, and the entire universe is drowned in water, at that time also lord Viṣṇu, remains present at Prayāga, keeps on performing the yajña again and again.

देवदानवगन्धर्वा ऋषयः सिद्धचारणाः।

सदा सेवन्ति तत्तीर्थं गङ्गायमुनसङ्गमम्॥ १४॥

All the gods, Gandharvas, Ṛṣis, Siddhas and cāraṇas, always serve at the confluence of the Gaṅgā and Yamunā.

ततो गच्छेत राजेन्द्र प्रयागं संस्तुवंश्च यत्।

यत्र ब्रह्मादयो देवा ऋषयः सिद्धचारणाः॥ १५॥

लोकपालाश्च साध्याश्च पितरो लोकसम्पताः।

सनत्कुमारप्रमुखास्तथैव परमर्षयः॥ १६॥

अङ्गिरःप्रमुखाश्चैव तथा ब्रह्मर्षयः परे।

तथा नागाः सुपर्णाश्च सिद्धाश्च खेचराश्च ये॥ १७॥

सागराः सरितः शैला नागा विद्याधराश्च ये।

हर्षिश्च भगवानास्ते प्रजापतिपुरःसरः॥ १८॥

गङ्गायमुनयोर्मध्ये पृथिव्या जघनं स्मृतम्।

प्रयागं राजशार्दूल त्रिषु लोकेषु विश्रुतम्।

ततः पुण्यतमं नास्ति त्रिषु लोकेषु भारत॥ १९॥

Therefore, O Indra among the kings! the place where reciting the praise of Prayāga, the gods like Brahmā and others, Ṛṣis, siddhas, cāraṇas, Lokapālas, Sādhyagaṇas, the manes, Sanatkumāras and other Ṛṣis, like Aṅgirā, Maharṣis and other Brahmarṣis, Nāgas, Garuḍa and other birds, siddhas, the creatures flying in the sky, the oceans, rivers, mountains, serpents, vidyādhara and Śrī Hari with Brahmā, always reside here, therefore one should always visit Prayāga. O Bharata, Prayāga is quite famous in the three lokas. Therefore, there is no other merit bigger than visiting Prayāga in the three worlds.

श्रवणात् तस्य तीर्थस्य नामसङ्कीर्तनादपि।

वृत्तिकालम्भनाद्वापि नरः पापात् प्रमुच्यते॥ २०॥

तत्राभिषेकं यः कुर्यात् सङ्गमे शंसितव्रतः।

तुल्यं फलमवाप्नोति राजसूयाश्चमेधयोः॥ २१॥

With the mere uttering of the name of Prayāga, by reciting its name, or with the mere touch of its dust, a person is relieved of all his sins. A person performing the vratas, where has a dip in the confluence, he earns the merits of performing the Rājasūya or Aśvamedha sacrifices.

न देववचनात् तात न लोकवचनात् तथा।

मतिरुत्क्रमणीया ते प्रयागगमनं प्रति॥ २२॥

O Dear one, therefore, neither because of any prescription of the Vedas, nor because of the pressure from the people, you should not change your ideas about the death in Prayāga.

दश तीर्थसहस्राणि षष्टि कोट्यस्तथापराः।

तेषां सान्निध्यमत्रैव ततस्तु कुरुनन्दन॥ २३॥

The ten thousand prominent sacred places on earth, dwell in Prayāga alone, O Son of the Kuru dynasty.

या गतिर्योगयुक्तस्य सत्यस्थस्य मनीषिणः।

सा गतिस्त्यजतः प्राणान् गङ्गायमुनसङ्गमे॥ २४॥

A person who meets with his death at the confluence of the Gaṅgā and the Yamunā, he achieves beatitude as is achieved by a truthful person well-versed in yoga.

न ते जीवन्ति लोकेऽस्मिन् तत्र युधिष्ठिर।

ये प्रयागं न सम्प्राप्तास्त्रिषु लोकेषु वंचिताः॥ २५॥

O Yudhiṣṭhira, the persons who have not made a pilgrimage to Prayāga, they seem to have been cheated in the three worlds and their life in this world is of no consequence.

एवं दृष्ट्वा तु तत् तीर्थं प्रयागं परमं पदम्।
मुच्यते सर्वपापेभ्यो शशांक इव राहुणा॥ २६॥

Thus by having a look at this tīrtha resembling the final emancipation, a person is relieved of all the sins in the same way as the moon is redeemed after the eclipse.

कम्बलाश्वतरौ नागौ विपुले यमुनातटे।
तत्र स्नात्वा च पीत्वा च सर्वपापैः प्रमुच्यते॥ २७॥

The two serpents known by the name of Kambala and Aśvatara, live on the eastern bank of Yamunā. Therefore, a person, by taking a bath there is relieved of all the sins.

तत्र गत्वा च संस्थानं महादेवस्य विश्रुतम्।
नरस्तारयते सर्वान् दश पूर्वान् दशापरान्॥ २८॥

By making a pilgrimage to the place of Mahādeva at Prayāga, a person redeems his ten past and ten future generations.

कृत्वाभिषेकं तु नरः सोऽश्वमेधफलं लभेत्।
स्वर्गलोकमवाप्नोति यावदाभूतसंलवम्॥ २९॥
पूर्वपार्श्वे तु गङ्गायास्त्रिषु लोकेषु भारत।
कूपं चैव तु सामुद्रं प्रतिष्ठानं च विश्रुतम्॥ ३०॥

A person who takes a bath there, he enjoys the merit for performing an Aśvamedha sacrifice and he lives in the heaven till the time of dissolution. O Bharata, on the eastern Bank of the Gaṅgā, there is an oceanic well which is well known in the three worlds, besides Pratiṣṭhānapura (Jhansi).

ब्रह्मचारी जितक्रोधस्त्रिरात्रं यदि तिष्ठति।
सर्वपापविशुद्धात्मा सोऽश्वमेधफलं लभेत्॥ ३१॥

In case a person spends three nights there, performing Brahmacarya controlling all the senses, his soul is freed from all the sins, and he gets purified and attains the reward for the performing of the Aśvamedha sacrifice.

उत्तरेण प्रतिष्ठानाद्वागीरथ्यास्तु पूर्वतः।
हंसप्रपतनं नाम तीर्थं त्रैलोक्यविश्रुतम्॥ ३२॥

अश्वमेधफलं तस्मिन् स्नानमात्रेण भारत।
यावच्चन्द्रश्च सूर्यश्च तावत् स्वर्गे महीयते॥ ३३॥

O Bharata, on the eastern bank of Bhāgirathī, to the north of Pratiṣṭhānapura (Jhansi), there is a sacred place known by the name of Hansaprapatana, well known in the three worlds. By merely taking a bath there, one achieves the merit of performing the Aśvamedha sacrifice and the person concerned is established in the heaven, till the sun and the moon last.

उर्वशीरमणे पुण्ये विपुले हंसपाण्डुरे।
परित्यजति यः प्राणान् शृणु तस्यापि यत्फलम्॥ ३४॥

Similarly a person who ends his life at Urvaśīramana or Haṁsapāṇḍura— the auspicious places, you listen about the merits earned by him.

षष्टिवर्षसहस्राणि षष्टिवर्षशतानि च।
सेव्यते पितृभिः सार्द्धं स्वर्गलोके नराधिप॥ ३५॥
उर्वशीं तु सदा पश्येत् स्वर्गलोके नरोत्तम।
पूज्यते सततं पुत्र ऋषिगन्धर्वकिन्नरैः॥ ३६॥

He is served with the Pitṛs for sixty six thousand years and in the heaven, he always looks at Urvaśī. O Son, at the same time, the sage Yudhiṣṭhira, Gandharvas and Kinnaras, adore him.

ततः स्वर्गात्परिभ्रष्टः क्षीणकर्मा दिवश्च्युतः।
उर्वशीसदृशीनां तु कन्यानां लभते शतम्॥ ३७॥
मध्ये नारीसहस्राणां बहूनां च पतिर्भवेत्।
दशग्रामसहस्राणां भोक्ता भवति भूमिपः॥ ३८॥

After the decline of his merits, he becomes the ruler of ten thousand villages. He remaining with thousands of damsels, serves as a husband to them. A hundred daughters resembling Urvaśī are born to them.

काञ्चीनूपुरशब्देन सुप्तोऽसौ प्रतिबुद्ध्यते।
भुक्त्वा तु विपुलाभोगांस्तत्तीर्थं भजते पुनः॥ ३९॥

He is woken up with gingling sound of the anklets and waistbands. Thus enjoying enormous pleasures, he again makes a pilgrimage to Prayāga.

शुक्लाम्बरधरो नित्यं नियतः संयतेन्द्रियः।

एकं कालं तु भुञ्जानोमासं भूमिपतिर्भवेत्॥४०॥

A person who lives at Prayāga, clad in white costumes, controlling all the senses and following all the rules, consuming food once in a day, he becomes a king in many births.

सुवर्णालंकृतानां तु नारीणां लभते शतम्।

पृथिव्यामासमुद्रायां महाभूमिपतिर्भवेत्॥४१॥

धनधान्यसमायुक्तो दाता भवति नित्यशः।

भुक्त्वा तु विपुलाश्वोगांस्तत्तीर्थं लभते पुनः॥४२॥

He becomes an emperor of the land upto the ocean. He achieves hundreds of damsels decorated with gold ornaments. Then he achieving all the riches and cereals, performs charities daily. Thus enjoying all the worldly pleasures for long, he again makes a pilgrimage to Prayāga.

अथ सन्ध्यावटे रम्ये ब्रह्मचारी जितेन्द्रियः।

उपवासी शुचिः सन्ध्यां ब्रह्मलोकमवाप्नुयात्॥४३॥

Thereafter he remaining without food, observing Brahmacarya, performs sandhyā. Ultimately he attains the region of Brahmā.

कोटितीर्थं समासाद्य यस्तु प्राणान्परित्यजेत्।

कोटिवर्षसहस्राणां स्वर्गलोके महीयते॥४४॥

One who meets the end of his life at Koṭi-tīrtha he remains in the heaven for thousands of crores of years.

ततः स्वर्गात्परिभ्रष्टः क्षीणकर्मा दिवश्च्युतः।

सुवर्णमणिमुक्ताढ्यकुले जायेत रूपवान्॥४५॥

After the decline of the merits, he falls from the heaven and then taking to a beautiful form, adorned with gold ornaments studded with gems, is reborn in a high family.

ततो भोगवतीं गत्वा वासुकेरुत्तरेण तु।

दशाश्वमेधकं नाम तीर्थं तत्रापरं भवेत्॥४६॥

Thereafter, to the north of Vāsukihrada, and to the north of Bhogavatī-tīrtha, he comes across another tīrtha of the name of Daśāśvamedha.

कृताभिषेकस्तु नरः सोऽश्वमेधफलं लभेत्।

धनाढ्यो रूपवान् दक्षो दाता भवति धार्मिकः॥४७॥

A person who takes his bath there, he earns the merit of performing the Aśvamedha sacrifice. He possessing all the riches and beauty, becomes a donor, clever and a religious minded one.

चतुर्वेदेषु यत्पुण्यं यत्पुण्यं सत्यवादिषु।

अहिंसायां तु यो धर्मो गमनादेव तत्फलम्॥४८॥

The merit one earns with the study of all the Vedas, as well as with the speaking of the truth, and the following of the ahimsā-vrata, all the said reward is achieved with the merit of making a pilgrimage to Prayāga.

कुरुक्षेत्रसमा गङ्गा यत्र यत्रावगाह्यते।

कुरुक्षेत्रादशगुणा यत्र विन्ध्येन सङ्गता॥४९॥

Wherever a person takes a bath in the Gaṅgā, the Gaṅgā there yields reward like Kurukṣetra. But when it is associated with the Vindhya mountain, the Gaṅgā then bestows merit ten times greater than Kurukṣetra.

यत्र गङ्गा महाभागा बहुतीर्था तपोधना।

सिद्धक्षेत्रं हि तज्ज्ञेयं नात्र कार्या विचारणा॥५०॥

The most auspicious and meritorious Gaṅgā flows through the several sacred places, such places should be treated as siddha-kṣetras. There is no scope of thinking otherwise.

क्षितौ तारयते मर्त्यान्नागांस्तारयतेऽप्यधः।

दिवि तारयते देवांस्तेन त्रिपथगा स्मृता॥५१॥

The Gaṅgā redeems the humans on earth, the serpents in the nether world and the gods in the heaven. Because of this, she is called Tripathagā.

यावदस्थोनि गंगायां तिष्ठन्ति हि शरीरिणः।
तावद्वर्षसहस्राणि स्वर्गलोके महीयते॥५२॥

The period upto which the bones of the dead remain lodged in the Gaṅgā, for the same number of years the person remains lodged in the heaven.

ततः स्वर्गात्परिभ्रष्टो जम्बूद्वीपपतिर्भवेत्।
तीर्थानां तु परं तीर्थं नदीनां तु महानदी।
मोक्षदा सर्वभूतानां महापातकिनामपि॥५३॥

Thereafter falling from the heaven with the decline of the merit, he becomes the lord of Jambūvīpa. Gaṅgā happens to be the best of all the holy places, the great (auspicious) river of all the rivers and washes away the gravest of the sins, besides the bestower of the mokṣa.

सर्वत्र सुलभा गंगा त्रिषु स्थानेषु दुर्लभा।
गंगाद्वारे प्रयागे च गंगासागरसंगमे।
तत्र स्नात्वा दिवं यान्ति ये मृतास्तेऽपुनर्भवाः॥५४॥

Though the Gaṅgā is found at several places, but it is inaccessible at Haridvāra, Prayāga as well as the confluence of Gaṅgāsāgara. By having a bath at these places, the people reach the heaven and those who meet with their end here, they are freed from rebirth.

सर्वेषामैव भूतानां पापोपहतचेतसाम्।
गतिमन्विष्यमाणानां नास्ति गङ्गासमा गतिः॥५५॥

Those, whose minds have been overpowered with sins, and are struggling for redemption, for all of them there is no other go, except the Gaṅgā.

पवित्राणां पवित्रं च मङ्गलानां च मङ्गलम्।
महेश्वरशिरोभ्रष्टा सर्वपापहरा शुभा॥५६॥

Having fallen from the locks of hair of lord Śiva, the auspicious Gaṅgā, washes away all the sins. She is the most auspicious one out of all the auspicious rivers, and is the form of welfare.

CHAPTER 107

Description of the various sacred places of Prayāga

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

शृणु राजन्प्रयागस्य माहात्म्यं पुनरेव तु।
यच्छ्रुत्वा सर्वपापेभ्यो मुच्यते नात्र संशयः॥१॥

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “O King, you listen once again the glory of the sacred places of Prayāga, listening to which, a person is surely relieved of all the sins. There is no doubt about it.

मानसं नाम तत् तीर्थं गंगाया उत्तरे तटे।
रात्रोपोषितो भूत्वा सर्वकामानवाप्नुयात्॥२॥

Over the northern bank of the Gaṅgā, there is a tīrtha known as Mānasa. By fasting there for three nights, a person who lives there, gets all his desires fulfilled.

गोभूहिरण्यदानेन यत्फलं प्राप्नुयान्नरः।
स तत्फलमवाप्नोति तत्तीर्थं स्मरते पुनः॥३॥

The reward a person gets by giving away in charity, the cow, land and the earth, the same reward is achieved by merely remembering that Mānasa tīrtha.

अकामो वा सकामो वा गंगायां योऽभिपद्यते।
मृतस्तु लभते स्वर्गं नरकं च न पश्यति॥४॥

A person who dies in the current of the Gaṅgā, with or without any desire, he proceeds to the heaven and he does not have to look at the hell.

अप्सरोगणसंगीतैः सुप्तोऽसौ प्रतिबुद्ध्यते।
हंससारसयुक्तेन विमानेन स गच्छति।
बहुवर्षसहस्राणि स्वर्गं राजेन्द्र भुञ्जति॥५॥

He proceeds on to Devaloka boarding plane driven by swans and cranes. He is woken up there with the sweet songs of the apsarās. O King thus he enjoys the comforts of the heaven for thousands of years.

ततः स्वर्गात्परिभ्रष्टः क्षीणकर्मा दिवश्च्युतः।
सुवर्णमणिमुक्ताढ्ये जायते विपुले कुले॥६॥

Then with the decline of his merits, he falls from the heaven and is reborn in a high race possessing enough of gems, jewels and beads.

षष्टितीर्थसहस्राणि षष्टिकोट्यस्तथापगाः।
माघमासे गमिष्यन्ति गंगायमुनसंगमम्॥७॥

In the month of Māgha sixty six thousand tirthas assemble at the confluence of the Gaṅgā and the Yamunā.

गवां शतसहस्रस्य सम्यग्दत्तस्य यत्फलम्।
प्रयागे माघमासे तु त्र्यहस्मानात्तु तत्फलम्॥८॥

Therefore a person who achieves the merit by giving away in charity a lakh of cows, the same merit is achieved by a person by taking a bath at the confluence of the Gaṅgā and Yamunā at Prayāga.

गंगायमुनयोर्मध्ये कर्षाग्निं यस्तु साधयेत्।
अहीनांगो ह्यरोगश्च पंचेन्द्रियसमन्वितः॥९॥

A person who performs tapas at the confluence of the Gaṅgā and Yamunā with the burning of the cow dung cakes, his all the five sense organs become healthy and the five organs of activity are well grown.

यावन्ति रोमकूपाणि तस्य गात्रेषु देहिनः।
तावद्वर्षसहस्राणि स्वर्गलोके महीयते॥१०॥

He lives in the heaven for the number of years equivalent to the number of hairpits over his body.

ततः स्वर्गात् परिभ्रष्टो जम्बूद्वीपपतिर्भवेत्।
स भुक्त्वा विपुलान् भोगांस्तत्तीर्थं स्मरते पुनः॥११॥

With the decline of the merits, he falling from the heaven, becomes the lord of Jambūdvīpa, where, he, enjoying all the comforts, again remember the holy place of Prayāga and then he reaches there.

जलप्रवेशं यः कुर्यात् संगमे लोकविश्रुते।
राहुग्रस्ते तथा सोमे विमुक्तः सर्वकिल्बिषैः॥१२॥

सोमलोकमवाप्नोति सोमेन सह मोदते।
षष्टिवर्षसहस्राणि स्वर्गलोके महीयते॥१३॥
स्वर्गे च शक्रलोकेऽस्मिन्नुषिगन्धर्वसेविते।
परिभ्रष्टस्तु राजेन्द्र समृद्धे जायते कुले॥१४॥

At the time of the lunar eclipse, a person who enters the water of the confluence of the Gaṅgā and Yamunā, he getting relieved of all the sins, achieves the abode of the moon and enjoys all the pleasures with the moon. Again he lives in the heaven for sixty thousand years, served by the Rṣis and the Gandharvas. He is then established in the Indraloka. O Indra among the rulers, after falling from the heaven, he is reborn in a high family.

अधःशिरास्तु यो ज्वालामूर्ध्वपादः पिबेन्नरः।
शतवर्षसहस्राणि स्वर्गलोके महीयते॥१५॥

O Rājendra, the one who, inhales the fire at Prayāga, raising his feet upwards and the head on the ground, he gets established in the heaven for a lakh of years.

परिभ्रष्टस्तु राजेन्द्र सोऽग्निहोत्री भवेन्नरः।
भुक्त्वा तु विपुलाभोगांस्तत्तीर्थं भजते पुनः॥१६॥

Then falling from the heaven he becomes an Agnihotri on earth. Then, he, enjoying enormous pleasures here, again goes to Prayāga tirtha.

यः स्वदेहं तु कर्त्तित्वा शकुनिभ्यः प्रयच्छति।
विहगैरुपभुक्तस्य शृणु तस्यापि यत्फलम्॥१७॥

A person who removing the flesh out of his body, feeds the birds with it, then you listen to the merit such a person earns because of his so doing.

शतं वर्षसहस्राणां सोमलोके महीयते।
तस्मादपि परिभ्रष्टो राजा भवति धार्मिकः॥१८॥
गुणवान् रूपसम्पन्नो विद्वांश्च प्रियवाचकः।
भुक्त्वा तु विपुलाभोगांस्तत्तीर्थं भजते पुनः॥१९॥

He is established in the abode of the moon for a lakh of years. After his fall from there, he becomes a meritorious king with a religious mind, possessing enough of beauty and the intelligence besides being sweet tongued. Thereafter enjoying enough of pleasures there, he again visits the sacred place of Prayāga.

यामुने चोत्तरे कूले प्रयागस्य तु दक्षिणे।

ऋणप्रमोचनं नाम तत्तीर्थं परमं स्मृतम्॥ २०॥

There is a place known as Rṇaprmocana-tīrtha to the right of Prayāga and to the north of the Yamunā, which is treated to be the best.

एकरात्रोषितः स्नात्वा ऋणैः सर्वैः प्रमुच्यते।

स्वर्गलोकमवाप्नोति अनृणश्च सदा भवेत्॥ २१॥

By staying there for a night and by taking a bath there, a person is relieved of all the debts. Having being relieved of all the debts, he proceeds to the heaven.

इति श्रीमात्स्ये महापुराणे प्रयागमाहात्म्ये

CHAPTER 108

The glory of Prayāgatīrtha

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

एतच्छ्रुत्वा प्रयागस्य यत्त्वया परिकीर्तितम्।

विशुद्धं मेऽद्य हृदयं प्रयागस्य तु कीर्तनात्॥ १॥

Yudhiṣṭhira said— O Lord, “You have narrated the glory of Prayāga and by listening to the same and by reciting its name, my heart has been purified.

अनाशकफलं ब्रुहि भगवंस्तत्र कीदृशम्।

यं च लोकमवाप्नोति विशुद्धः सर्वकिल्बिषैः॥ २॥

Now you tell me, as to what type of merit one earns by fasting at Prayāga and with the influence of the same, one getting free from all the sins, which one of the loka is achieved by a person?

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

शृणु राजन्प्रयागे तु अनाशकफलं विभो।

प्राप्नोति पुरुषो धीमान् श्रद्धधानो जितेन्द्रियः॥ ३॥

अहीनांगोऽप्यरोगश्च पंचेन्द्रियसमन्वितः।

अश्वमेधफलं तस्य गच्छतस्तु पदे पदे॥ ४॥

कुलानि तारयेद्राजन् दश पूर्वान् दशापरान्।

मुच्यते सर्वपापेभ्यो गच्छेत्तु परमं पदम्॥ ५॥

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “O King possessing all the fortunes, a wise and faithful person, who controlling all the senses, observes the fasting, you listen to the merit earned by him. He has all the well developed limbs of the body and free of ailments. All his five organs of senses remain healthy. He achieves the merit of an Aśvamedha sacrifice, by walking every step. He redeems his ten earlier and an equivalent number of future generations. Then, he getting relieved of all the sins, achieves the highest position.

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

महाभाग्यं हि धर्मस्य यत्त्वं वदसि मे प्रभो।

अल्पेनैव प्रयत्नेन बहून्धर्मानवाप्नुते॥ ६॥

Yudhiṣṭhira asked— “O Lord, you are narrating to me the glory of dharma and according to the same, by making small efforts, one achieves enormous merits in dharma. On the other hand the same dharma can be achieved with the performing of the best of vratas and anuṣṭhānas.

(I have developed confusion in my mind because of this controversy). Therefore, you kindly remove this doubt of my mind because my mind is filled with doubt.

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

शृणु राजन्महावीर यदुक्तं ब्रह्मयोनिना।

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “O King in earlier times, I have heard the speech of Brahmā, which had been made by him before the ṛṣis and the sages.

(I am repeating the same).

पंचयोजनविस्तीर्णं प्रयागस्य तु मण्डलम्।
प्रविष्टमात्रे तद्भूमावश्वमेधः पदे पदे॥ ९॥

The region of Prayāga has been spread over an area of five yojanas. With the mere entry in that land, one achieves merit for performing the Asvamedha sacrifice at each and every step.

व्यतीतान्पुरुषान् सप्त भविष्यांश्च चतुर्दश।

A person who meets with his end at Prayāga tirtha, he, redeems his seven past and an equivalent number of future generations. Realising this a person should always remain engaged in serving Prayāga. O Rājendra, a person, who is devoid of faith, whose mind has been overpowered with the sins, such a person can never reach the scared place of Prayāga.

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

Yudhiṣṭhira said— “O Grandsire, the people, who reaching Prayāga are overpowered by passions or the greed for riches, what type of reward is achieved by them at the tirtha and what type of merit is achieved by them? What happens to the persons who are unaware of their duties and the deeds which are prohibited, trade in various types of commodities. You please tell me the same in detail.

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

मासमेकं तु यः स्नायात्प्रयागे नियतेन्द्रियः।

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “O King, the matter is quite secret and is the remover of all the sins. I am going to speak out the same. You listen, a person, who controlling all the senses, becoming non-violent, having been filled with faith, with humility and auspicious intentions takes a bath at Prayāga for a month, he is relieved of all the sins and earns the highest position.

विश्रम्भवातकानां तु प्रयागं शृणु यत्फलम्।
त्रिकालमेव स्नायीत आहारं भैक्ष्यमाचरेत्।
त्रिभिर्मासैः स मुच्यते प्रयागे तु न संशयः॥ १५॥

Hear what Prayāga does to a man who treacherously kills another. He undoubtedly frees himself from his sins by living on alms and bathing three times a day, for a period of three months.

अज्ञानेन तु यस्येह तीर्थयात्रादिकं भवेत्।
सर्वकामसमृद्धे तु स्वर्गलोके महीयते।

One who repairs to a holy place unintentionally, goes to heaven, and, after spending all his store of virtue there, is born in a well-to-do family.

एवं ज्ञानेन सम्पूर्णः सदा भवति भोगवान्।
तारिताः पितरस्तेन नरकात्प्रपितामहाः॥ १७॥

One who goes to a sacred place intentionally, always remains happy and rescues all his ancestors from hell.

धर्मानुसारि तत्त्वज्ञः पृच्छतस्ते पुनः पुनः।
त्वत्प्रियार्थं समाख्यातं गुह्यमेतत्सनातनम्॥ १८॥

O incarnation of Dharma and knower of all, in compliance with your repeated enquiries, I have unfolded to you the ancient virtue for your benefit.

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

अद्य मे सफलं जन्म अद्य मे तारितं कुलम्।
प्रीतोऽस्म्यनुगृहीतोऽस्मि दर्शनादेव ते मुने॥ १९॥

Yudhiṣṭhira said— O Sage, I was not born in vain, my family has been redeemed, I have become delighted by meeting you. Indeed, you have shown me very great kindness.

त्वद्दर्शनात्तु धर्मात्मन् मुक्तोऽहं चाद्य किल्बिषात्।

O Pious one! I have been liberated from my sins by meeting you; and I now feel myself sinless.

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

दिष्ट्या ते सफलं जन्म दिष्ट्या ते तारितं कुलम्।
कीर्तनाद्बद्धते पुण्यं श्रुतात्पापप्रणाशनम्॥ २१॥

Mārkaṇḍeya said— By your own destiny your soul has become elevated and your family has been redeemed. By the narration of the greatness of Prayāga one's store of virtue is increased, and his sins are decreased by listening to it.

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

यमुनायां तु किं पुण्यं किं फलं तु महामुने।
एतन्मे सर्वमाख्याहि यथादृष्टं यथाश्रुतम्॥ २२॥

Yudhiṣṭhira said— O Great Sage, please tell me, as seen or heard by you, the greatness of the Yamunā.

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

तपनस्य सुता देवी त्रिषु लोकेषु विश्रुता।
समाख्याता महाभागा यमुना तत्र निम्नगा॥ २३॥

Mārkaṇḍeya said— The Yamunā, the daughter of the Sun, renowned in all the three worlds is known as the great river of that name.

येनैव निःसृता गंगा तेनैव यमुनागता।
योजनानां सहस्रेषु कीर्तनात् पापनाशिनी॥ २४॥

The Yamunā has come from the same source as Gaṅgā, and she also dispels all sins by the mere utterance of her name, from a distance of 1000 yojanas.

तत्र स्नात्वा च पीत्वा च यमुनायां युधिष्ठिर।
कीर्तनाल्लभते पुण्यं दृष्ट्वा भद्राणि पश्यति॥ २५॥

The virtue is attained by bathing in, drinking the waters and relating the greatness of the Yamunā. The sight of her gives happiness.

अवगाह्य च पीत्वा च पुनात्यासप्तमं कुलम्।
प्राणांस्त्यजति यस्तत्र स याति परमां गतिम्॥ २६॥

His seven generations are purified by once plunging into and sipping the holy waters and emancipation is obtained by dying there.

अग्नितीर्थमितिख्यातं यमुनादक्षिणे तटे।
पश्चिमे धर्मराजस्य तीर्थं तु नरकं स्मृतम्॥ २७॥

On the south of the Yamunā lies the Agnitīrtha and Dharmarāja-tīrtha. Naraka is situated on her western bank.

तत्र स्नात्वा दिवं याति ये मृतास्तेऽपुनर्भवाः।
एवं तीर्थसहस्राणि यमुनादक्षिणे तटे॥ २८॥
उत्तरेण प्रवक्ष्यामि आदित्यस्य महात्मनः।
तीर्थं निरञ्जनं नाम यत्र देवाः सवासवाः॥ २९॥
उपासते स्म सन्ध्यां ये त्रिकालं हि युधिष्ठिर।
देवाः सेवन्ति तत् तीर्थं ये चान्ये विवृधा जनाः॥ ३०॥

One goes to heaven by bathing there; by dying there he is not born again. Similarly, there are thousands of tīrthas on the southern bank of the Yamunā. I am now describing the Tīrtha on the northern bank known as the Nirañjana tīrtha of Āditya, where the Devas, along with Indra, perform sandhyā three times a day and worship the tīrtha; otherwise men do the same.

श्रद्धधानपरो भूत्वा कुरु तीर्थाभिषेचनम्।
अन्ये च बहवस्तीर्थाः सर्वपापहराः स्मृताः।
तेषु स्नात्वा दिवं याति ये मृतास्तेऽपुनर्भवाः॥ ३१॥
गङ्गा च यमुना चैव उभे तुल्यफले स्मृते।
केवलं ज्येष्ठभावेन गङ्गा सर्वत्र पूज्यते॥ ३२॥

You should also get yourself devoutfully sprinkled with its holy water. There are many other tīrthas, by bathing into which a man goes to heaven. Those who die there are not re-born. The Yamunā, too, has been described to be sacred like the holy Gaṅgā, but the latter is held more in veneration as the older of the two, by all classes everywhere.

एवं कुरुष्व कौन्तेय सर्वतीर्थाभिषेचनम्।

यावज्जीवकृतं पापं तत्क्षणादेव नश्यति॥३३॥

Yudhiṣṭhira! you should sprinkle yourself with the holy waters of each tīrtha, by doing which all the sins of life will be consumed.

यस्त्विमं कल्य उत्थाय पठते च शृणोति च।

मुच्यते सर्वपापेभ्यः स्वर्गलोकं स गच्छति॥३४॥

One who reads or hears this Mahātmya, in the morning, is freed from all his sins and goes to heaven.

Glory of Prayāga in preference to other tīrthas

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

श्रुतं मे ब्रह्मणा प्रोक्तं पुराणे ब्रह्म सम्भवे।

तीर्थानां तु सहस्राणि शतानि नियुतानि च।

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “O Rājendra, I have listened to the Purāṇas which were composed by Brahmā and which emerged out of his mouth that the number of the sacred places has been spelt out as hundreds, thousands and sometimes the lakhs.

सोमतीर्थं महापुण्यं महापातकनाशनम्।

तस्मात्सर्वप्रयत्नेन तत्र स्नानं समाचरेत्॥२॥

All of them are auspicious and sacred. (By taking a bath in each one of them) a person is said to achieve salvation. Out of all these the Soma tīrtha is extremely auspicious and is the remover of all the sins. By merely taking a bath in the soma, a person redeems a hundred generations. Therefore one should always take a bath there, making all the efforts.

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

Yudhiṣṭhira said— “O Great sage, two places, i.e. Naimiṣāranya on earth and Puṣkara in space have been considered to be sacred. Besides Kurukṣetra has been known to be of special importance in all the three worlds. But why do you praise Prayāga alone, leaving aside Kurukṣetra. At the same time you also claim that by visiting these places, one has his desires fulfilled in entirety. This statement made by you seems to me without any evidence, devoid of faith and improper. Why are you, for the sake of achieving little dharma, praising the same? Therefore whatever you might have heard or seen, on the basis of the same, you remove our doubt.

क्लिश्यत चापरस्तत्र नैव योगमवाप्नुयात्।

जन्मान्तरसहस्रेभ्यो योगो लभ्येत मानवैः॥१०॥

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “O King, a person without faith, or the one whose mind has been overpowered with the sin, and the event which happens in front of such a person, it should not be taken as without faith. The people who are devoid of faith, unclean, evil minded and are devoid of welfare activities are called the sinners. (It appears that you are being overpowered by some sin) as a result of which you have spoken such words. Now listen about the glory of Prayāga, as has been seen or listened by me. I am going to repeat the same. You listen from me. Whatever things have been seen clearly or unclearly, or have been heard about, they should be put in use with the evidence of the scriptures for your own welfare. One who does not do so, he has to suffer and he fails to meet with success in yoga.

यथा योगसहस्रेण योगो लभ्येत मानवैः।

तेन दानेन दत्तेन योगं नाभ्येति मानवः।

प्रयागे तु मृतस्येदं सर्वं भवति नान्यथा॥ १२॥

You can achieve it in thousands of yogas and sometimes it cannot be achieved even in the thousands of yogas. A person who donates all types of gems to the Brāhmaṇas, but he cannot achieve yoga even with the merit of the same. But a person who meets with the end of his life at Prayāga, he gets everything so easily. Nothing happens to the contrary. O Bharata, I am going to speak out the main reason for it. You listen to it with faith.

प्रधानहेतुं वक्ष्यामि श्रद्धात्स्व च भारत।

यथा सर्वेषु भूतेषु ब्रह्म सर्वत्र दृश्यते॥ १३॥

As the Brahman remains present in all the living-beings and a special part of the same remains present in a Brāhmaṇa, because of which all of them are called Brahman.

ब्राह्मणे वाऽस्ति यत्किञ्चिद्ब्राह्मणमिति वोच्यते।

एवं सर्वेषु भूतेषु ब्रह्म सर्वत्र पूज्यते॥ १४॥

ब्रह्मापि स्मरते नित्यं प्रयागं तीर्थमुत्तमम्।

तीर्थराजमनुप्राप्य न चान्यत्किञ्चिदर्हति॥ १६॥

As Brahman is adored conceiving him to be present in all the living beings (and the Brahman is adored particularly) similarly, the people with wisdom, consider Prayāga to be of special significance, of all the holy places. O Yudhiṣṭhira, Prayāga— the king of the Tīrthas is really adorable. Because Brahmā also thinks of the same holy place everyday, that is why wise men after attaining the sacred Prayāga do not feel inclined for anything else.

O Yudhiṣṭhira! whoever wishes to be classed among the mortals after becoming one with the Devās? You will surely understand by these examples why I have described Prayāga to you as the most sacred and a ready dispeller of sins among the various tīrthas.

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

Having been pleased with his tapas, lord Śiva dwelt in his capital city. By the grace of Śiva, he had achieved the position of Mahākāla, which was comparable to the position of Śiva himself.

Indrajit, Saptajit, Vajranābha, Ekacakra, Mahābāhu, Vajrākṣa, Tāraka, Asiloma, Puloma, Bindu, Bāṇa, the great asura, Svarabhānu and Vṛṣaparvā besides several others were the sons of Danu.

In earlier times, Kaśyapa, the son of Marīci, had produced the Dānavas known as Paulomas and Kālakeyas, who dwelt in Hiraṇyapura and receiving boons from Brahmā, became infallible from the gods. But they were killed by Vijaya (Arjuna). Vipracitti on the other hand produced from the womb of Sindhikā the demons known as Sainhakeyas, who were thirteen in number.

All of them spreaded the Danu dynasty. The sons of Daitya Samhlāda, came to be known as Nivātakavacas.

Out of them, Śukī in union with Dharma, produced Śukas and Ulūkas (parrots and owls). Śyenī produced the eagles, while Bhāsī produced the Cuckoo birds and Gṛdhri gave birth to vultures, ducks and the pigeons. Śuci gave birth to swans, cranes and Krauñca as well as the water fowls.

Garuḍa and Aruṇa, the two sons of Vinatā, happen to be the lords of the birds who fly in the sky. (Their third generation) happens to be the girl named Saudāmanī, who is well known in the region of the sky. Aruṇa got two sons named Sampāti and Jaṭāyu. The sons of Sampāti were known as Babhru and Śighraga. Jaṭāyu had two sons named Karṇikāra and Śatagāmī. Besides them Jaṭāyu had three more sons named Sārasa, Rajjupāla, and Bheruṇḍa. The number of sons and grandsons of these birds is beyond counting.

एवं योगस्य सम्प्राप्तिस्थानं परमदुर्लभम्।

Similarly the attainment of Yoga has been said to be very difficult. Those who follow a sinful life go to the worst region in hell.

Dwelling of all the auspicious tīrthas at Prayāga

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

शृणु राजन्प्रयागस्य माहात्म्यं पुनरेव तु।

नैमिषं पुष्करं चैव गोतीर्थं सिन्धुसागरम्॥ १॥

गया च चैत्रकं चैव गङ्गासागरमेव च।

एते चान्ये च बहवो ये च पुण्याः शिलोच्चयाः॥ २॥

दश तीर्थसहस्राणि त्रिंशत्कोट्यस्तथा पराः।

प्रयागे संस्थिता नित्यमेवमाहुर्मनीषिणः॥ ३॥

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “O King, you listen again about the glory of Prayāga. The people with wisdom say, that all the ten thousand sacred places, the auspicious mountains besides Naimiṣāranya, Puṣkara, Gotīrtha, Sindhusāgara, Gayātīrtha, Dhenuka (a place located close to Gayā) and Gaṅgāsāgara reside at Prayāga.

त्रीणि चाप्यग्निकुण्डानि येषां मध्ये तु जाह्नवी।

प्रयागादभिनिष्क्रान्ता सर्वतीर्थनमस्कृता॥ ४॥

There are three fire altars, through which the auspicious Gaṅgā which is adored by all the tīrthas flows through Prayāga.

तपनस्य सुता देवी त्रिषु लोकेषु विश्रुता।

यमुना गङ्गा सार्द्धं संगता लोकभाविनी॥ ५॥

गङ्गायमुनायोर्मध्ये पृथिव्या जघनं स्मृतम्।

प्रयागं राजशार्दूल कलां नार्हन्ति षोडशीम्॥ ६॥

तिस्रः कोट्योऽर्द्धकोटिश्च तीर्थानां वायुरब्रवीत्।

दिवि भुव्यन्तरिक्षे च तत्सर्वं जाह्नवी स्मृता॥ ७॥

Similarly Yamunā— the daughter of Sūrya which is well known in the three worlds joins the Gaṅgā at Prayāga. The centre of the Gaṅgā and the Yamunā is considered to be the hip of the earth. O lion among the rulers, there are three and a half crores of tīrthas in the heaven, space and the earth, but all of them cannot equate even the sixteenth part of the Gaṅgā at Prayāga. This has been declared by the wind god.

प्रयागं समधिष्ठानं कम्बलाश्वतरावुभौ।

भोगवत्यथ या चैषा वेदिरेषा प्रजापतेः॥ ८॥

Therefore Gaṅgā has been considered to be the supreme. There is Jhunsi at Prayāga which is the abode of the serpents named Kambala and Aśvatara. The Bhogavati tīrtha here, happens to be the pedestal of Prajāpati Brahmā.

तत्र वेदाश्च यज्ञाश्च मूर्तिमन्तो युधिष्ठिर।
प्रजापतिमुपासन्ते ऋषयश्च तपोधनाः॥१॥

O Yudhiṣṭhira, the Vedas in human form, besides the ṛṣis, perform the yajñas there.

यजन्ते क्रतुभिर्देवास्तथा चक्रधरा नृपाः।

ततः पुण्यतमं नास्ति त्रिषु लोकेषु भारत॥१०॥

O Bharata, the gods and the Cakravartī kings, besides the emperors, perform the yajñas there.

प्रभावात्सर्वतीर्थेभ्यः प्रभवत्यधिकं विभो।

दश तीर्थसहस्राणि तिस्रः कोट्यस्तथापराः॥११॥

O Excellent one, there are no other tīrtha more auspicious than the sacred place of Prayāga. The most influential of all is the Gaṅgā which flows at that place. The country is like the tapas filled with the best of Sattvas.

यत्र गंगा महाभागा स देशस्तत्तपोधनम्।

सिद्धक्षेत्रं च विज्ञेयं गंगातीरसमन्वितम्॥१२॥

इदं सत्यं विजानीयात्साधूनामात्मनश्च वै।

सुहृदश्च जपेत्कर्षे शिष्यस्यानुगतस्य च॥१३॥

इदं धन्यमिदं स्वर्ग्यमिदं सत्यमिदं सुखम्।

इदं पुण्यमिदं धर्म्यं पावनं धर्ममुत्तमम्॥१४॥

The zone contiguous to the banks of the Gaṅgā is known as the siddhakṣetra. The glory of the same should be treated as truthful and it is there quite appropriate to speak out the same by whispering in the ears of the mendicants, one's friends, besides the pupils. The glory of Prayāga is graceful, bestower of the heaven, truthful, bestower of comfort, auspicious, quite religious one, pure, form of the best of dharma as well as the destroyer of all the sins. This is quite secret for the great sages.

महर्षीणामिदं गुह्यं सर्वपापप्रणाशनम्।

अधीत्य च द्विजोऽप्येतन्निर्मलः स्वर्गमाप्नुयात्॥१५॥

य इदं शृणुयान्नित्यं तीर्थं पुण्यं सदा शुचिः।

जातिस्मरत्वं लभते नाकपृष्ठे च मोदते॥१६॥

By reciting its glory daily the Brāhmaṇas, Kṣatriyas and Vaiśyas, getting relieved of the sins, achieve the heaven. One who, with a pure heart, listens everyday to the greatness of this tīrtha, remembers his past lives and enjoys heaven.

प्राप्यन्ते तानि तीर्थानि सद्भिः शिष्टानुदर्शिभिः।

स्नाहि तीर्थेषु कौरव्य न च वक्रमतिर्भव॥१७॥

त्वया च सम्यक् पृष्टेन कथितं वै मया विभो।

पितरस्तारिताः सर्वे तथैव च पितामहाः॥१८॥

The good only attain this tīrtha, therefore, O Yudhiṣṭhira, you should also bathe in these tīrthas after discarding all misgiving. O King! I have explained all this as asked by you, you have saved your ancestors by putting all these questions to me.

प्रयागस्य तु सर्वे ते कलां नार्हन्ति षोडशीम्॥१९॥

एवं ज्ञानं च योगश्च तीर्थं चैव युधिष्ठिर।

बहुक्लेशेन युज्यन्ते तेन यान्ति परां गतिम्।

त्रिकालं जायते ज्ञानं स्वर्गलोकं गमिष्यति॥२०॥

O Yudhiṣṭhira! The tīrthas enumerated before do not reach even 1/16th the sanctity of Prayāga. The pilgrimage to these tīrthas removes all adverse tensions and one attains knowledge and go to the upper region by virtue of bathing in these tīrthas.

CHAPTER 111

Stay of Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva at Prayāga

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

कथं सर्वमिदं प्रोक्तं प्रयागस्य महामुने।

एतन्नः सर्वमाख्याहि यथा हि मम तारयेत्॥१॥

Yudhiṣṭhira said— “O Great sage, you have spoken all about the glory of Prayāga. What is the reason for it? You speak out the same to enable me and my family get salvation.

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

शृणु राजन् प्रयागे तु प्रोक्तं सर्वमिदं जगत्।
ब्रह्मा विष्णुस्तथेशानो देवताः प्रभुरव्ययः॥२॥

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “You listen to the cause of the same. It is stated that the entire universe lives at Prayāga. The most competent and eternal Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva, besides all the gods live here.

ब्रह्मा सृजति भूतानि स्थावरं जङ्गमं च यत्।
तान्येतानि परं लोके विष्णुः संवर्द्धते प्रजाः॥३॥
कल्पान्ते तत् समग्रं हि रुद्रः संहरते जगत्।
तदा प्रयाग तीर्थं न कदाचिद्विनश्यति॥४॥

Whatever moveable and immovable creatures are created by Brahmā, are maintained here on earth by Viṣṇu. At the end of the kalpa Śiva destroys the entire universe. But the place of Prayāga never gets destroyed.

ईश्वरः सर्वभूतानां यः पश्यति स पश्यति।
यत्नेनानेन तिष्ठन्ति ते यान्ति परमां गतिम्॥५॥

The one who is lord of all the living beings and takes care of them, and the people who live here with this idea, they achieve salvation.”

युधिष्ठिर उवाच

आख्याहि मे यथातथ्यं यथैषा तिष्ठति श्रुतिः।
केन वा कारणेनैव तिष्ठन्ते लोकसत्तमाः॥६॥

Yudhiṣṭhira said— “O Sage, how do the best of the gods live in Prayāga? You tell me about the same, as provided in the scriptures.”

मार्कण्डेय उवाच

प्रयागे निवसन्त्येते ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः।
कारणं तत् प्रवक्ष्यामि शृणु तत्त्वं युधिष्ठिर॥७॥

Mārkaṇḍeya said— “The purpose for which Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Maheśvara, live at Prayāga, I am going to reveal the same. You listen from me the relevant tattvas.

पञ्च योजनविस्तीर्णं प्रयागस्य तु मण्डलम्।
तिष्ठन्ति रक्षणायात्र पापकर्मनिवारणात्॥८॥
उत्तरेण प्रतिष्ठानाच्छङ्गना ब्रह्म तिष्ठति।
वेणीमाधवरूपी तु भगवांस्तत्र तिष्ठति॥९॥

The region of Prayāga is spread over an area of five yojanas. The aforesaid gods reside here for the removal of the sins and for the protection of the people. Brahmā lives to the north of Pratiṣṭhānapura. Lord Viṣṇu is present in Prayāga in the form of Beni-Mādhava.

महेश्वरो वटो भूत्वा तिष्ठते परमेश्वरः।
ततो देवाः सगन्धर्वाः सिद्धाश्च परमर्षयः।
रक्षन्ति मण्डलं नित्यं पापकर्मनिवारणात्॥१०॥

Then lord Śiva is lodged at Prayāga in the form of Akṣaya-vaṭa. Besides them, all the gods, with Gandharvas, Siddhas and the groups of the great sages, protect Prayāga for the removal of the sins.

यस्मिन् जुह्वन् स्वकं पापं नरकं च न पश्यति।
एवं ब्रह्मा च विष्णुश्च प्रयागे स महेश्वरः॥११॥
सप्तद्वीपाः समुद्राश्च पर्वताश्च महीतले।
रक्षमाणाश्च तिष्ठन्ति यावदाभूतसंलवम्॥१२॥

A person, who performing homa with his sins, does not have to cast a glance at the hell, similarly all the gods like Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Maheśvara, the seven islands, the seven oceans, all the mountains on earth, stay at Prayāga till the time of dissolution, protecting it.

ये चान्ये बहवः सर्वे तिष्ठन्ति च युधिष्ठिर।
पृथिवीं तत्समाश्रित्य निर्मिता दैवतैस्त्रिभिः॥१३॥

O Yudhiṣṭhira, besides them such of the gods, who, taking refuge in the land, live here, the dwelling places for them were built by these gods.

प्रजापतेरिदं क्षेत्रं प्रयागमिति विश्रुतम्।
एतत् पुण्यं पवित्रं वै प्रयागं च युधिष्ठिर।

स्वराज्यं कुरु राजेन्द्र भ्रातृभिः सहितोऽनघ॥ १४॥

Prayāga is the region of Prajāpati Brahmā. This is well known. O Yudhiṣṭhira, the place of Prayāga is quite auspicious and sacred. O sinless Rājendra, you better take care of your brothers and the kingdom.

CHAPTER 112

Glory of Prayāga as described by Vāsudeva

नन्दिकेश्वर उवाच

भ्रातृभिः सहितः सर्वैर्द्रौपद्या सह भार्याया।
ब्राह्मणेभ्यो नमस्कृत्य गुरुन् देवानतर्पयत्॥ १॥

Nandikeśvara said— “O Nārada, then the king Yudhiṣṭhira together with his brother and Draupadī, offered his salutation to the Brāhmaṇas and pleased the gods as well as the preceptors with the oblations.

वासुदेवोऽपि तत्रैव क्षणेनाभ्यागतस्तदा।
पाण्डवैः सहितैः सर्वैः पूज्यमानस्तु माधवः॥ २॥

At the same time lord Vāsudeva also reached there. Then all the Pāṇḍavas collectively adored lord Kṛṣṇa.

कृष्णेन सहितैः सर्वैः पुनरेव महात्मभिः।
अभिषिक्तः स्वराज्ये च धर्मपुत्रो युधिष्ठिरः॥ ३॥
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे चैव मार्कण्डेयो महामुनिः।
ततः स्वस्तीति चोक्त्वा तु क्षणादाश्रममागमत्॥ ४॥

Thereafter, Lord Kṛṣṇa, enthroned Yudhiṣṭhira over the kingdom. In the mean time, the sage Mārkaṇḍeya, uttering “welfare on you, you may meet with all the pleasures.” Thus speaking, the sage Mārkaṇḍeya suddenly left for his abode.

युधिष्ठिरोऽपि धर्मात्मा भ्रातृभिः सहितोऽवसत्।
महादानं ततो दत्त्वा धर्मपुत्रो महामनाः॥ ५॥

Thereafter the great king Yudhiṣṭhira gave away enormous charities and started living there with his brothers.

यस्त्विदं कल्य उत्थाय माहात्म्यं पठते नरः।
प्रयागं स्मरते नित्यं स याति परमं पदम्।
मुच्यते सर्वपापेभ्यो रुद्रलोकं स गच्छति॥ ६॥

A person, who getting up early in the morning recites this māhātmya, he achieves the salvation. Getting relieved of all the sins he proceeds on to the abode of Rudra.

वासुदेव उवाच

मम वाक्यं च कर्तव्यं महाराज ब्रवीम्यहम्।
नित्यं जपस्व जुह्वस्व प्रयागे विगतज्वरः॥ ७॥
प्रयागं स्मर वै नित्यं सहास्माभिर्युधिष्ठिर।
स्वयं प्राप्स्यसि राजेन्द्र स्वर्गलोकं न संशयः॥ ८॥

Lord Vāsudeva said— “O Yudhiṣṭhira— the great king, you follow the words which are being spoken by me. You go to Prayāga, where you should free yourself from grief, recite the name of the lord daily, perform homa and discuss with us about Prayāga daily. O Rājendra, by doing so you would yourself achieve the heaven. There is no doubt about it.

प्रयागमनुगच्छेद्वा वसते वापि यो नरः।
सर्वपापविशुद्धात्मा रुद्रलोकं स गच्छति॥ ९॥

A person who goes on pilgrimage to Prayāga, or lives there, his soul is relieved of all the sins and he proceeds on to the abode of Rudra.

प्रतिग्रहादुपावृत्तः सन्तुष्टो नियतः शुचिः।
अहङ्कारनिवृत्तश्च स तीर्थफलमश्नुते॥ १०॥

The one who becoming unmindful of receiving charities, remains contented, controlling all his senses, gets purified and freed himself from pride, he achieves the reward for visiting the sacred place.

अकोपनश्च सत्यश्च सत्यवादी दृढव्रतः।
आत्मोपमश्च भूतेषु स तीर्थफलमश्नुते॥ ११॥

The one becoming free from anger, remains honest, truthful, firm and treats all the people like himself he gets entitled to receive the merits of visiting the tīrtha.

ऋषिभिः क्रतवः प्रोक्ता देवैश्चापि यथाक्रमम्।
न हि शक्या दरिद्रेण यज्ञाः प्राप्तुं महीपते॥ १२॥
बहूपकरणा यज्ञा नानासम्भारविस्तराः।
प्राप्यन्ते पार्थिवैरेतैः समृद्धैर्वा नरैः क्वचित्॥ १३॥

O Lord of the earth, the yajñas, which have been prescribed by the gods and the sages, these yajñas cannot be performed by the poor people, because a large number of materials and parapherneia are required for the purpose. Such yajñas can be performed by rich people or by the kings.

यो दरिद्रैरपि विधिः शक्यः प्राप्तुं नरेश्वर।
तुल्यो यज्ञफलैः पुण्यै स्तन्निबोध युधिष्ठिर॥ १४॥

O Yudhiṣṭhira, the king, the method by which a yajña can be performed by a poor people and the method by which a person could achieve the merit of performing a yajña, I am going to speak out the same.

ऋषीणां परमं गुह्यमिदं भरतसत्तम।
तीर्थानुगमनं पुण्यं यज्ञेभ्योऽपि विशिष्यते॥ १५॥

O Best of Bharatas, the auspicious pilgrimage is quite secretive even from the sages and yields rewards better than the performing of the yajña.

दश तीर्थसहस्राणि तिस्रः कोट्यस्तथाऽऽपगाः।
माघमासे गमिष्यन्ति गङ्गायां भरतर्षभ॥ १६॥

O King! ten thousand tīrthas and three crores of rivers go and dwell in the Gaṅgā during the month of Māgha.

स्वस्थो भव महाराज भुङ्क्व राज्यमकण्टकम्।
पुनर्द्रक्ष्यसि राजेन्द्र यजमानो विशेषतः॥ १७॥

O King! you will also repeat visiting Prayāga, after performing sacrifices and ruling over your dominions with a balanced disposition.

नन्दिकेश्वर उवाच

इत्युक्त्वा स महाभागो मार्कण्डेयो महातपाः।

ततस्तत्र समाप्लाव्य गात्राणि सगणो नृपः।
यथोक्तेनाथ विधिना परां निर्वृतिमागमत्॥ १९॥

Nandikeśvara said— After having described the glory of Prayāga, that great seer Mārkaṇḍeya disappeared then and there; then the King Yudhiṣṭhira attained great happiness by going to, and bathing at, Prayāga along with his retinue following the prescribed rules.

तथा त्वमपि देवर्षे प्रयागाभिमुखो भव।
अभिषेकं तु कृत्वाद्य कृतकृत्यो भविष्यसि॥ २०॥

O Nārada! you are also in Prayāga. Sanctify yourself by sprinkling the holy waters.

सूत उवाच

एवमुक्त्वाथ नन्दीशस्तत्रैवान्तरधीयत।
नारदोऽपि जगामाशु प्रयागाभिमुखस्तथा॥ २१॥

Sūta said— O Ṛṣis! After thus narrating the whole thing to Nārada, Nandikeśvara vanished at the spot, and the former instantly went to Prayāga.

तत्र स्नात्वा च जप्त्वा च विधिदृष्टेन कर्मणा।
दानं दत्त्वा द्विजाश्रेभ्यो गतः स्वभवनं तदा॥ २२॥

Thereafter, bathing and giving alms to the Brāhmaṇas, he returned to his abode.

CHAPTER 113

The description of Jambūdvīpa and its mountains and varṣas

ऋषय ऊचुः

कति द्वीपाः समुद्रा वा पर्वता वा कति प्रभो।
कियन्ति चैव वर्षाणि तेषु नद्यश्च काः स्मृताः॥ १॥

महाभूमिप्रमाणं च लोकालोकस्तथैव च।

एतद्ब्रवीहि नः सर्वं विस्तरेण यथार्थवित्।
त्वदुक्तमेतत्सकलं श्रोतुमिच्छामहे वयम्॥ ३॥

The Rṣis asked— “O Lord, what is the number of islands in this world? What is the number of mountains and oceans? What is the number of varṣas (regions on earth?) What is the number of prominent rivers? What is the vastness of this earth? What is the type of Lokaloka mountain? What is the nature of the sun and the moon besides their size? You kindly speak out the same to us exhaustively because you are quite knowledgeable. We intend to be enlightened on the subject from your mouth.

सूत उवाच

द्वीपभेदसहस्राणि सप्त चान्तर्गतानि च।

सप्तैव तु प्रवक्ष्यामि चन्द्रादित्यग्रहैः सह।
तेषां मनुष्यतर्केण प्रमाणानि प्रचक्षते॥ ५॥

Sūta said— “O Rṣis, there are thousands of types of the islands but they come under the purview of the main seven islands. It is not possible to describe the entire universe in detail. Therefore, I am going to speak out the seven islands with the relative planets. At the same time, I am going to speak out about their size as per the human imagination.

अचिन्त्याः खलु ये भावास्तांस्तु तर्केण साधयेत्।
प्रकृतिभ्यः परं यच्च तदचिन्त्यस्य लक्षणम्॥ ६॥

Because that what is unthinkable, one should not try to estimate the same by intelligence, jñāna and estimation. The one which is beyond the Prakṛti it denotes the symptom of unthinkable.

सप्त वर्षाणि वक्ष्यामि जम्बूद्वीपं यथाविधम्।
विस्तरं मण्डलं यच्च योजनैस्तन्निबोधत॥ ७॥

Now I am starting the description of the seven varṣas. First of all Jambūdvīpa is the biggest of all in size. I am going to speak about it, which should be listened by you.

योजनानां सहस्राणि शतं द्वीपस्य विस्तरः।
नानाजनपदाकीर्णं पुरैश्च विविधैः शुभैः॥ ८॥

Jambūdvīpa is spread in a lakh of yojanas and has a large number of beautiful countries and cities.

सिद्धचारणसङ्कीर्णं पर्वतैरुपशोभितम्।
सर्वधातुपिन्द्वैस्तैः शिलाजालसमुद्गतैः॥ ९॥

The siddhas and cāraṇas reside here. It has many metals enshrined in its land and a large number of mountains with (different types of) rocks are lodged therein.

पर्वतप्रभवाभिश्च नदीभिस्तु समन्ततः।
प्रागायता महापार्श्वः षडिमे वर्षपर्वताः॥ १०॥

The rivers issuing from these mountains are spread on all the sides. There are six vast and gigantic munitions known as varṣas. The Himavān mountain which spreads from east to west extends upto the seashore. Its peaks always remain covered with snow.

अवगाह्य ह्युभयतः समुद्रौ पूर्वपश्चिमौ।
हिमप्रायश्च हिमवान् हेमकूटश्च हेमवान्॥ ११॥
चातुर्वर्ण्यस्तु सौवर्णो मेरुश्चोल्बमयः स्मृतः।
चतुर्विंशत्सहस्राणि विस्तीर्णं च चतुर्दिशम्॥ १२॥

Thereafter there is the Hemakūṭa mountain which is covered with gold. Thereafter there is a vast Niṣadha mountain, which looks beautiful from all the sides. There is a mountain peak on one side. On the side of it is lodged the Meru mountain, the back of which is of four colours and is considered to be like a womb. It is spread upto twenty four thousand yojanas on all the four sides.

वृत्ताकृतिप्रमाणश्च चतुरस्रः समाहितः।

नानावर्णैः समः पार्श्वे प्रजापतिगुणान्वितः॥ १३॥

The top of it is circular in shape and the lower part is quadrangular. The rear part of it has plains of different colours. As a result of which it looks like possessing the qualities of Prajāpati.

नाभीबन्धनसम्भूतो ब्रह्मणोऽव्यक्तजन्मनः।

पर्वतःश्वेतवर्णस्तु ब्राह्मण्यं तस्य तेन वै॥ १४॥

It has emerged out of the navel of Brahmā. Its eastern part is of white colour, which reflects its association with Brahmā.

पीतश्च दक्षिणेनासौ तेन वैश्यत्वमिष्यते।

भृङ्गिपत्रनिभश्चैव पश्चिमेन समन्वितः।

तेनास्य शूद्रता सिद्धा मेरोर्नामार्थकर्मतः॥ १५॥

Its southern part is of yellow colour which reflects the quality of Vaiśyatva possessed by it. Its western region is black like the wing of the black wasp, which represents the quality of its being Sūdra. From the point of view of artha and kāma, it is comparable with the Meru mountain.

पार्श्वमुत्तरतस्तस्य रक्तवर्णं स्वभावतः।

तेनास्य क्षत्रभावः स्यादिति वर्णाः प्रकीर्त्तिताः॥ १६॥

Its northern quadrant is naturally of red colour, therefore it has the properties of Kṣatriyas. Thus the four colours and castes have been enumerated.

नीलश्च वैदूर्यमयःश्वेतः पीतो हिरण्यमयः।

मयूरबर्हवर्णश्च शातकौम्भः स शृङ्गवान्॥ १७॥

The mountain Nīla is studded with lapis-lazuli. The mountain Śveta is yellow and full of gold. The mountain Śṛṅgavān is made of gold (Śātakaumbha) and has the colour of the tail of a peacock.

एते पर्वतराजानः सिद्धचारणसेविताः।

तेषामन्तरविष्कम्भो नवसाहस्रमुच्यते॥ १८॥

These mountains are the kings among their kind, and are the abode of Siddhas and Cāraṇas. Their inner diameter is 9,000 yojanas.

मध्ये त्विलावृतं नाम महामेरोः समन्ततः।

चतुर्विंशत्सहस्राणि विस्तीर्णो योजनैः समः॥ १९॥

The varṣa Ilāvrata stands in the middle and encircles the Mahā Meru on all sides. Its expanse is 24,000 yojanas.

मध्ये तस्य महामेरुर्विधूम इव पावकः।

वेद्यर्द्धं दक्षिणं मेरोरुत्तरार्द्धं तथोत्तरम्॥ २०॥

In the centre of this (Ilāvrata) stands the Great Meru, shining in its majestic glory, like the fire blaze, devoid of smoke. Its southern portion is called the Dakṣiṇa Meru and the northern the Uttara Meru.

वर्षाणि यानि सप्तात्र तेषां वै वर्षपर्वताः।

द्वे द्वे सहस्रे विस्तीर्णा योजनैर्दक्षिणोत्तरम्॥ २१॥

Each of these seven varṣas (zones) has a boundary mountain of its own, which from north to south extends to 2,000 yojanas, and the southern ones are 2,000 yojanas in circumference.

जम्बूद्वीपस्य विस्तारस्तेषामायाम उच्यते।

नीलश्च निषधश्चैव तेषां हीनाश्च ये परे॥ २२॥

The sum of breadths of these varṣas and mountain ranges is breadth of the Jambūdvīpa, as mentioned above. Of these Nīla, Niṣadha are the longest and those that come after them diminish in length.

श्वेतश्च हेमकूटश्च हिमवाच्छृंगवांश्च यः।

जम्बूद्वीपप्रमाणेन ऋषभः परिकीर्त्यते॥ २३॥

So are Śveta, Hema Kūṭa, Himavān and Śṛṅgavān. Rṣabha (Meru) is said to have the same extent as Jambūdvīpa.

तस्माद् द्वादशभागेन हेमकूटोऽपि हीयते।

हिमवान्विंशभागेन तस्मादेव प्रहीयते।

अष्टाशीतिसहस्राणि हेमकूटो महागिरिः॥ २४॥

Hema-kūṭa is shorter (than Meru) by 12,000 yojanas, and Himavān is shorter (than Meru) by 20,000 yojanas. The great Hema-kūṭa is 88,000 yojanas.

अशीतिर्हिमवाञ्छैल आयतः पूर्वपश्चिमे।

द्वीपस्य मण्डलीभावाद्व्यासवृद्धी प्रकीर्तिते॥ २५॥

The mount Himavān is 80,000 yojanas, from east to west. The dvīpa (Jambūdvīpa) being spherical, this difference in extent of the mountains has sprung up.

वर्षाणां पर्वतानां च यथाभेदं तथोत्तरम्।

तेषां मध्ये जनपदास्तानि वर्षाणि सप्त वै॥ २६॥

As there is a distribution of the mountains, so there is a distribution of the Varṣas (along with them) one after another. Many peopled districts are in them. These varṣas are seven in number.

प्रपातविषमैस्तैस्तु पर्वतैरावृतानि तु।

सप्त तानि नदीभेदैरगम्यानि परस्परम्॥ २७॥

They (the varṣas) are surrounded by precipitous and insurmountable mountains. All the seven are mutually inaccessible by different rivers.

वसन्ति तेषु सत्त्वानि नानाजातीनि सर्वशः।

इमं हैमवतं वर्षं भारतं नाम विश्रुतम्॥ २८॥

In those regions, various species of animals are found everywhere. This varṣa of the Himavat is known as Bhārata.

हेमकूटं परं तस्मान्नाम्ना किम्पुरुषं स्मृतम्।

हेमकूटाच्च निषधं हरिवर्षं तदुच्यते॥ २९॥

Beyond that, up to Hema-kūṭa, is the land (varṣa) of the Kimpuruṣas¹ and from the borders of Hema-kūṭa up to Niṣadha² is the Harivarṣa³.

हरिवर्षात्परं चापि मेरोऽस्तु तदिलावृतम्।

इलावृतात्परं नीलं रम्यकं नाम विश्रुतम्॥ ३०॥

The other limit of Harivarṣa is Meru, and further on is Ilāvṛata, beyond which extends is Ramyaka to the Nīla mountain.

रम्यकादपरं श्वेतं विश्रुतं तद्विरण्यकम्।

हिरण्यकात्परं चैव शृङ्गाशकं सुरं स्मृतम्॥ ३१॥

Next to Ramyaka stands the Śveta mountain in whose region is Hiranyaka (varṣa) and next to it, is Śṛṅgaśāka, which is also known as Kuru.

धनुः संस्थे तु विज्ञेये देवर्षे दक्षिणोत्तरे।

दीर्घाणि तस्य चत्वारि मध्यमं तदिलावृतम्॥ ३२॥

On the north and south there are two bow-shaped continents, extending over 400 yojanas as and Ilāvṛata stands in the middle of them.

पूर्वतो निषधस्येदं वेद्यर्द्धं दक्षिणं स्मृतम्।

परन्विलावृतं पश्चाद्वेद्यर्द्धं तु तदुत्तरम्॥ ३३॥

In the east of Niṣadha mountain, half of it is is Dakṣiṇa Vedī and the western side of Ilāvṛta is is called Uttaravedī.

तयोर्मध्ये तु विज्ञेयो मेरुर्यत्र त्विलावृतम्।

दक्षिणेन तु नीलस्य निषधस्योत्तरेण तु॥ ३४॥

Between them is Meru in Ilāvṛta, to the 1e south of Nīla mountain and to the north of of Niṣadha.

उदगायतो महाशैलो माल्यवान्नाम पर्वतः।

द्वात्रिंशता सहस्रेण प्रतीच्यां सागरानुगः॥ ३५॥

The Mount Mālyavān, stretching north to to south, which is 32,000 yojanas in length enters rs the sea on the west.

माल्यवान्वै सहस्रैक आनीलनिषधायतः।

द्वात्रिंशत्त्वेवमप्युक्तः पर्वतो गन्धमादनः॥ ३६॥

Mālyavān is a thousand yojanas from Nīla to to

1. Low man. A mythical being, with a human head and the form of a horse.

2. Hard. Name of a mountain. Name of a country governed by Nala.

3. One of the nine divisions of Jambūdvīpa.

Niṣadha and Gandhamādana is 32 yojanas.

परिमण्डलयोर्मध्ये मेरुः कनकपर्वतः।

चातुर्वर्ण्यसमो वर्णैश्चतुरस्रः समुच्छ्रितः॥ ३७॥

Within their circumferences is the square and lofty golden Sumeru mountain, which is of fourfold colour, like the four castes.

नानावर्णः स पार्श्वेषु पूर्वान्ते श्वेत उच्यते।

पीतं तु दक्षिणं तस्य भृंगिपत्रनिभं परम्।

उत्तरं तस्य रक्तं वै इति वर्णसमन्वितः॥ ३८॥

There are different colours on its sides; on the east it is white, on the south, it is yellow, on the west, it is like the wing of the black-bees, on the north, it is red. These are the different colours.

मेरुस्तु शुशुभे दिव्यो राजवत्स तु वेष्टितः।

आदित्यतरुणाभासो विधूम इव पावकः॥ ३९॥

The Mount Meru shines out like the rising sun or the blaze of fire without smoke, in the heart of those Mountains, like a divine king.

योजनानां सहस्राणि चतुराशीतिसूच्छ्रितः।

प्रविष्टः षोडशाधस्तादष्टाविंशतिविस्तृतः॥ ४०॥

That Sumeru is 84,000 yojanas high, 16,000 yojanas deep underground and 28,000 yojanas broad.

विस्तराद्विगुणश्चास्य परीणाहः समन्ततः।

स पर्वतो महादिव्यो दिव्यौधधिसमन्वितः॥ ४१॥

Its circumference is double its breadth. It is a great divine mountain, abounding in celestial medicines.

भुवनैरावृतः सर्वैर्जातरूपपरिष्कृतैः।

तत्र देवगणाश्चैव गन्धर्वासुरराक्षसाः।

शैलराजे प्रमोदन्ते सर्वतोऽप्सरसां गणैः॥ ४२॥

It is surrounded on all sides by lands of golden effulgence. On this king of mountains, the Devas, the Gandharvas and the Rākṣasas enjoy and carry on their pastimes in the company of Apsāras.

स तु मेरुः परिवृतो भुवनैर्भूतभावनैः।

भद्राश्च भारतं चैव केतुमालं च पश्चिमे।

उत्तराश्चैव कुरवः कृतपुण्यप्रतिश्रयाः॥ ४४॥

That Sumeru is adorned by the Bhūta and Bhāvana worlds, and has four realms on its sides, viz.— Bhadrāśva (in the east), Bhārata (in the south) and Ketumāla in the west and the sacred Kuru on the north.

विष्कम्भपर्वतास्तद्वन्मन्दरो गन्धमादनः।

विपुलश्च सुपार्श्वश्च सर्वरत्नविभूषिताः॥ ४५॥

The subjacent hill are— Mandara, Gandhamādana, Vipula and Śupārśva, all full of precious stones.

अरुणोदं मानसं च सितोदं भद्रसंज्ञितम्।

तेषामुपरि चत्वारि सरांसि च वनानि च॥ ४६॥

And on these mountains there are four lakes and forests known as Aruṇoda, Mānasa, Sitoda and Bhadra.

तथा भद्रकदम्बस्तु पर्वते गन्धमादने।

जम्बूवृक्षस्तथाश्वत्थो विपुलोऽथ वटः परम्॥ ४७॥

And there are big trees of turmeric, rose-apple, Aśvattha on the Gandhamādana and banyan on the Vipula.

गन्धमादनपार्श्वे तु पश्चिमेऽमरगण्डिकः।

द्वात्रिंशतिसहस्राणि योजनैः सर्वतः समः॥ ४८॥

Amaragaṇḍaka is west of Gandhamādana which is 32,000 yojanas, equally on all sides.

तत्र ते शुभकर्माणः केतुमालाः परिश्रुताः।

तत्र कालानलाः सर्वे महासत्त्वा महाबलाः॥ ४९॥

There reside the well-known Ketumālās, the doers of blessed deeds— there everybody is like the destructive Fire of high spirit and great strength.

स्त्रियश्चोत्पलवर्णाभाः सुन्दर्यः प्रियदर्शनाः।

तत्र दिव्यो महावृक्षः पनस पत्रभासुरः॥ ५०॥

The ladies of that place are beautiful like the lotus and lovely. On that mountain there is a divine jackfruit tree, looking effulgent through its leaves.

तस्य पीत्वा फलरसं सञ्जीवन्ति समायुतम्।
तस्य माल्यवतः पार्श्वे पूर्वे पूर्वा तु गण्डिका।
द्वात्रिंशच्च सहस्राणि तत्रापि शतमुच्यते॥५१॥

The people of that region live up to 10,000 years by drinking the juice of those fruits. To the east of Mālyavān flows the river Gaṇḍaki which is 32,000 yojanas in length.

भद्राश्वस्तत्र विज्ञेयो नित्यं मुदितमानसः।
भद्रमालवनं तत्र कालाम्रश्च महादुमः॥५२॥

The inhabitants of Bhadrāśva (khaṇḍa) always remain happy and the Bhadramālā forest lies in the same clime, where there is a huge and black mango tree.

तत्र ते पुरुषाः श्वेता महासत्त्वा महाबलाः।
स्त्रियः कुमुदवर्णाभाः सुन्दर्यः प्रियदर्शनाः॥५३॥

The people of that place are white in complexions and very sturdy and strong. The womenfolk are the most beautiful, like white lily and very agreeable to look at.

चन्द्रप्रभाश्चन्द्रवर्णाः पूर्णचन्द्रनिभाननाः।
चन्द्रशीतलगात्राश्च स्त्रियो ह्युत्पलगन्धिकाः॥५४॥

They possess the radiance and colour of the moon, their faces are like the full moon, and their body cool, as the moon, smells like lotus.

दशवर्षसहस्राणि आयुस्तेषामनामयम्।
कालाम्रस्य रसं पीत्वा ते सर्वे स्थिरयौवनाः॥५५॥

They live upto 10,000 years in good health. By drinking the kālā mango juice, they always remain in full bloom of youth.

सूत उवाच

इत्युक्तवानृषीन् ब्रह्मा वर्षाणि च निसर्गतः।
पूर्वं ममानुग्रहकृद्भूयः किं वर्णयामि वः॥५६॥

Sūta said— O Ṛṣis! Brahmā has thus described the nature of the continents to the Ṛṣis, and the same Brahmā who had previously favoured me (with describing the same). Now, what am I to narrate to you next?

एतच्छ्रुत्वा वचस्ते तु ऋषयः संशितव्रताः।
जातकौतूहलाः सर्वे प्रत्यूचुस्ते मुदान्विताः॥५७॥

All the self-restrained seers, hearing these words of Sūta, became curious, and said with great joy.

ऋषय ऊचुः

पूर्वापरौ समाख्यातौ यौ देशौ तौ त्वया मुने।
उत्तराणां च वर्षाणां पर्वतानां च सर्वशः॥५८॥
आख्याहि नो यथातथ्यं ये च पर्वतवासिनः।
एवमुक्तस्तु ऋषिभिस्तेभ्यस्त्वाख्यातवान्पुनः॥५९॥

“O Sage! Be pleased to say all about the two countries, eastern and western, which have been already mentioned by you and of the northern varṣas and mountains, besides which, we are also desirous of hearing the account of the men living on those mountains.” On being thus urged by the seers, Sūta again resumed the string of his narration.

सूत उवाच

शृणुष्वं यानि वर्षाणि पूर्वोक्तानि च वै मया।
दक्षिणेन तु नीलस्य निषधस्योत्तरेण तु॥६०॥

Sūta said— Listen to (the account of) the varṣas which have been already referred to by me to the south of the Nīla and to the north of Niṣadha.

वर्षं रमणकं नाम जायन्ते यत्र वै प्रजाः।
रतिप्रधाना विमला जायन्ते यत्र मानवाः।
शुक्लाभिजनसम्पन्नाः सर्वे ते प्रियदर्शनाः॥६१॥

That is Ramanaka (varṣa) and the inhabitants of that place are very handsome and given to amicable delights, and of pure birth.

तत्रापि च महावृक्षो न्यग्रोधो रोहिणो महान्।
तस्यापि ते फलरसं पिबन्तो वर्तयन्ति हि॥६२॥

There, too, is a huge banyan tree and the people of that place, live by drinking the juice of the fruits of it.

दशवर्षसहस्राणि दशवर्षशतानि च।

जीवन्ति ते महाभागाः सदा हृष्टा नरोत्तमाः॥६३॥

These best of men of great parts live happy for ten thousands of years and ten thousands of centuries.

उत्तरेण तु श्वेतस्य पार्श्वे शृङ्गस्य दक्षिणे।

वर्षं हिरण्यवतं नाम यत्र हैरण्यवती नदी॥६४॥

To the north of Śveta mountain and to the south of Śṛṅga (Śṛṅgin) is the Hiranyavat continent (varṣa) where flows the river Hiraṇvatī.

महाबला महासत्त्वा नित्यं मुदितमानसाः।

शुक्लाभिजनसम्पन्नाः सर्वे च प्रियदर्शनाः॥६५॥

The people of Hiranyavat are very strong and of high spirit. They are of pure and noble birth and are a good-looking and happy lot.

एकादश सहस्राणि वर्षाणां ते नरोत्तमाः।

आयुष्प्रमाणं जीवन्ति शतानि दश पञ्च च॥६६॥

These first class men live up to the age of 11 thousand and 1,500 years.

तस्मिन्वर्षे महावृक्षो लकुचः पत्रसंश्रयः।

तस्य पीत्वा फलरसं तत्र जीवन्ति मानवाः॥६७॥

In that continent, there is a great bread-fruit tree of nice foliage, by drinking the juice of the fruits of which men live on.

शृङ्गसाहस्य शृङ्गाणि त्रीणि तानि महान्ति वै।

एकं मणियुतं तत्र एकं तु कनकान्वितम्।

सर्वरत्नमयं चैकं भुवनैरुपशोभितम्॥६८॥

The Mount Śṛṅga (Śṛṅgin) has three lofty peaks. One of them is full of precious stones, the other one is studded with gold and the third one, full of all gems, is adorned with the worlds.

उत्तरे चास्य शृङ्गस्य समुद्रान्ते च दक्षिणे।

कुरवस्तत्र तद्वर्षं पुण्यं सिद्धनिषेवितम्॥६९॥

The country situated to the north of this Śṛṅga, to the south of the sea, is the renowned Kuru varṣa where the saints (siddhas) have fixed their abode.

तत्र वृक्षा मधुफला दिव्यामृतमयाऽऽपगाः।

वस्त्राणि ते प्रसूयन्ते फलैश्चाभरणानि च॥७०॥

It also has trees producing sweet fruits, and the water of the rivers is like divine nectar. Those beautiful trees produce raiments and ornaments by their fruits.

सर्वकामप्रदातारः केचिद्वृक्षा मनोरमाः।

अपरे क्षीरिणो नाम वृक्षास्तत्र मनोरमाः।

ये रक्षन्ति सदा क्षीरं षट्पञ्चाभृतोपमम्॥७१॥

Some of those beautiful trees are the givers of all the fruits of one's desires, and the others are called Kṣīriṇa, always beautiful to look at, produce milk (juice) with the six tastes and sweet as pañcāmṛta (the five best products of cow's milk), productive of nectar like milk.

सर्वा मणिमयी भूमिः सूक्ष्मा काञ्चनवालुका।

सर्वत्र सुखसंस्पर्शा निःशब्दाः पवनाः शुभाः॥७२॥

The whole land of that place is full of gems and is inlaid with fine gold dust. There, the wind is most pleasant and salubrious and noiseless.

देवलोकच्युतास्तत्र जायन्ते मानवाः शुभाः।

शुक्लाभिजनसम्पन्नाः सर्वे ते स्थिरयौवनाः॥७३॥

The people falling down from Devaloka are born there. They are of pure and noble descent, having permanent youth.

मिथुनानि प्रजायन्ते स्त्रियश्चाप्सरसोपमाः।

तेषां ते क्षीरिणां क्षीरं पिबन्ति ह्यमृतोपमम्॥७४॥

There, the daughter and the son are born as twins, and husband and wife like the manifestations of Gandharva and Apsarā. There, they drink nectar like milk of trees overflowing with them.

एकाहाज्जायते युग्मं समं चैव विवर्द्धते।
समं रूपं च शीलं च समं चैव प्रियन्ति वै॥७५॥

The twins are born in a day. They grow together and are possessed of like beauty and character. They die together.

एकैकमनुरक्ताश्च चक्रवाकमिव ध्रुवम्।
अनामया ह्यशोकाश्च नित्यं मुदितमानसाः॥७६॥

They are attached to each other with the fondness of the ruddy geese. They are healthy, without bereavement and happy.

दशवर्षसहस्राणि दशवर्षशतानि च।
जीवन्ति च महासत्त्वा न चान्या स्त्री प्रवर्तते॥७७॥

These great souls live for 11,000 years, and are ever devoted to their own wives.

सूत उवाच

एवमेव निसर्गो वै वर्षाणां भारते युगे।

Sūta said— O Ṛṣis! The nature of these continents of the Bhārata-varṣa has been brought to your notice. O greatly pious ones! What more do you wish to hear now?

आख्यातास्त्वेवमृषयः सूतपुत्रेण धीमता।
उत्तरश्रवणे भूयः पप्रच्छुः सूतनन्दनम्॥७९॥

The Ṛṣis, being thus asked by the enlightened son of Sūta again questioned him, being desirous of hearing something more in answer.

CHAPTER 114

Description of Bhārata-varṣa, Kimpuruṣa and Harivarṣa

ऋषय ऊचुः

यदिदं भारतं वर्षं यस्मिन्स्वायम्भुवादयः।
चतुर्दशैव मनवः प्रजासर्गं ससर्जिरे॥१॥

एतद्वेदितुमिच्छामः सकाशात्तव सुव्रत।
उत्तरश्रवणं भूयः प्रब्रूहि वदतांवर॥२॥

The Ṛṣis asked— “O Suvrata, Bhārata-varṣa, where Svayambhuva and other Manus have appeared, who created the people, we would like to know about them from your mouth. At the same time, O Sūta— the best of orators, after this, you also speak out about Bhārata-varṣa and other varṣas.

एतच्छ्रुत्वा ऋषीणां तु प्राब्रवील्लौमहर्षणिः।
पौराणिकस्तदा सूत ऋषीणां भावितात्मनाम्॥३॥
बुद्ध्या विचार्य बहुधा विमृश्य च पुनः पुनः।
तेभ्यस्तु कथयामास उत्तरश्रवणं तदा॥४॥

Listening to the auspicious words of the Ṛṣis, Sūta— the son of Lomaharṣaṇa, repeatedly thinking with his wisdom, he started speaking about the varṣas of the north.

सूत उवाच

अथाहं वर्षयिष्यामि वर्षेऽस्मिन् भारते प्रजाः।
भरणात्प्रजनाच्चैव मनुर्भरत उच्यते॥५॥

Sūta said— “O Ṛṣis, presently I am going to speak about the people who are born in Bhārata-varṣa. Because of the feeding of these people, Manu has been designated as Bharata.

निरुक्तवचनैश्चैव वर्षं तद्भारतं स्मृतम्।
यतः स्वर्गश्च मोक्षश्च मध्यमश्चापि हि स्मृतः॥६॥

On the basis of the unspoken words, this Bhārata-varṣa has been given the name accordingly. A person living in Bhārata-varṣa, achieves the heaven, mokṣa and the position between the two.

न खल्वन्यत्र मर्त्यानां भूमौ कर्मविधिः स्मृतः।
भारतस्यास्य वर्षस्य नव भेदान्निबोधत॥७॥

Except in the land of Bhārata-varṣa, the prescription of the performing of karmas has not been commanded anywhere. There are nine parts of Bhārata-varṣa.

इन्द्रद्वीपः कशेरुश्च ताम्रपर्णी गभस्तिमान्।
नागद्वीपस्तथा सौम्यो गन्धर्वस्त्वथ वारुणः॥ ८॥
अयं तु नवमस्तेषां द्वीपः सागरसंवृतः।
योजनानां सहस्रं तु द्वीपोऽयं दक्षिणोत्तरः॥ ९॥

They are known by the names of Indradvīpa, Kaśerumān, Tāmraparṇa, Gabhastimān, Nāgadvīpa, Saumyadvīpa, Gandharvadvīpa and Varuṇadvīpa. These are the eight dvīpas and ninth is the Bhāratavarṣa, which is surrounded by the ocean. This continent is spread from south to north by a thousand yojanas.

आयतस्तु कुमारीतो गङ्गायाः प्रवहावधिः।
तिर्यगूर्ध्वं तु विस्तीर्णः सहस्राणि दशैव तु॥ १०॥

Its expansion starts from the place of origin of the Gaṅgā to the Cape Kumārī. It has been spread above upto ten thousand yojanas in a slanting way.

द्वीपो ह्युपनिविष्टोऽयं म्लेच्छैरन्तेषु सर्वशः।
यवनश्च किरातश्च तस्यान्ते पूर्वपश्चिमे॥ ११॥

The boundaries of this dvīpa, are inhabited by the Mleccha dynasties. On its eastern and western sides Kirātas and Yavanas are dwelling.

ब्राह्मणः क्षत्रिया वैश्या मध्ये शूद्राश्च भागशः।
इज्यायुतवणिज्यादि वर्तयन्तो व्यवस्थिताः॥ १२॥

In the central region of this varṣa, there live the Brāhmaṇas, Kṣatriyas, Vaiśyas and the Śūdras, and they live on their respective occupations.

तेषां स व्यवहारोऽयं वर्त्तनं तु परस्परम्।
धर्मार्थकामसंयुक्तो वर्णानां तु स्वकर्मसु॥ १३॥

The mutual dealings of these castes are based on the dharma, artha and kāma. They remain engaged in their respective professions.

सङ्कल्पपञ्चमानां तु आश्रमाणां यथाविधि।
इह स्वर्गापवर्गार्थं प्रवृत्तिरिह मानुषे॥ १४॥

Together with the kalpas, all the five varṇas, (Brahmacarya, house-hold, vānaprastha, yogis and Sanyāsīs are followed appropriately. The activities of the people are meant for achieving the heaven or mokṣa.

यस्त्वयं मानवो द्वीपस्तिर्यग्यामः प्रकीर्तितः।
य एनं जयते कृत्स्नं स सम्राडिति कीर्तितः॥ १५॥

This dvīpa which has been spread in a triangular manner, when conquered by someone, he is called the emperor.

अयं लोकस्तु वै सम्राडन्तरिक्षजितां स्मृतः।
स्वराडसौ स्मृतो लोकः पुनर्वक्ष्यामि विस्तरात्॥ १६॥

This loka is known as the conqueror of Antarikṣa, which in its turn is known as Svarāḍa. I shall explain this at full length.

सप्त चास्मिन्महावर्षे विश्रुताः कुलपर्वताः।

विन्ध्यश्च पारियात्रश्च इत्येते कुलपर्वताः।
तेषां सहस्रशश्चान्ये पर्वतास्तु समीपतः॥ १८॥

There are seven principal mountains in this continent, viz., Mahendra, Malaya, Sahya, Śaktimān, Rkṣavān, Vindhya and Pāriyātra; and there are thousands of smaller ones adjacent to each of these.

अभिज्ञातास्तत्तश्चान्ये विपुलाश्चित्रसानवः।
अन्ये तेभ्यः परिज्ञाता ह्रस्वा ह्रस्वोपजीविनः॥ १९॥

Some of these are known to have fine peaks and tablelands, covered with many kinds of trees, etc. The smaller ones are less productive and are distinguished from the bigger ones by contrast.

इक्षुलौहितमित्येता हिमवत्पार्श्वनिःसृताः॥ २२॥

The Mlecchas and the Aryan reside there mingling with each other without distinction and they drink the waters of many rivers, such as the Gaṅgā, the Sindhu, the Sarasvatī, the Sutlej, the Candrabhāgā, the Yamunā, the Sarayū, the Airāvātī, the Vitatsā, the Devikā, the Kuhu, the Gomatī, the Dhautapāpā, the Vāhudā, the Driṣadvatī, the Kauśikī, the Tṛtīyā, the Nīscalā, the Gaṇḍakī, the Ikṣu, the Lauhitā (all these having their source in the snow-clad mountains of the Himālayas).

तुंगभद्रा सुप्रयोगा वाह्या कावेरी चैव तु।

दक्षिणापथनद्यस्ताः सह्यपादाद्विनिःसृताः॥ २९॥

The Godāvarī, the Bhīmarathī, the Kṛṣṇavenī, the Vanjulā, the Tuṅgabhadrā, the Suprayogā, the Vāhyā, the Kāverī (these rivers in the south having their source in the Sahya mountains).

कृतमाला ताम्रपर्णी पुष्पजा ह्युत्पलावती।

मलयप्रसूता नद्यस्ताः सर्वाः शीतजलाः शुभाः॥ ३०॥

The Kṛtamālā, the Tāmraparṇī, the Puṣpajā, the Utpalāvatī (these rivers of the cool water having their source in the Malayācala mountain).

त्रिभागा ऋषिकुल्या च इक्षुदा त्रिदिवाचला।

काशिका सुकुमारी च मन्दगा मन्दवाहिनी।

कृपा च पाशिनी चैव शक्तिमन्तात्मजास्तु ताः॥ ३२॥

The Tribhāgā, the Ṛṣikulyā, the Ikṣudā, the Tridivā, the Calātāmraparṇī, the Mūlī, the Śaravā, the Vimalā (these having come from the Mahendra mountain), the Kāśikā, the Sukumārī, the Mandagā, the Mandavāhinī, the Kṛpā, the Pāśinī (these having come from Śāktimanta).

सर्वाः पुण्यजलाः पुण्याः सर्वगाश्च समुद्रगाः।

विश्वस्य मातरः सर्वाः सर्वपापहराः शुभाः॥ ३३॥

All the rivers named above are sacred, and fall into the sea and their waters are pure and sacred; and every one drinks from them. They are the mothers of the universe and purge the sin of the world.

तासां नद्युपनद्यश्च शततोऽथ सहस्रशः।

 मध्यदेशा जनपदाः प्रायशः परिकीर्त्तिताः॥ ३६॥

From these rivers thousands of rivers are branched off, and into them thousands of tributaries fall. On their banks are situated the following (janapadas) places : Pāñcāla, Kuru, Śālva, Jāṅgala, Śūrasena¹, Bhadrakāra, Vāhya, Paṭṭacara, Matsya², Kirāta, Kulya, Kuntala³, Kāśī, Kośala, Avanti, Kalinga⁴, Muka and Andhaka⁵. Thus I have described almost all the countries of Madhyadeśa⁶.

8.State of Orissa.

9.The country through which the Daśan river flows.

10.A city in the Deccan.

11.The country along the banks of river Sarayu.

12.Modern Tevur.

13.Country to the north of the Narmadā.

14.The duration of each age respectively is 1,728,000; 1,296,000, 864,000 and 482,000 years of men, the four together comprising 4,320,000 years which is equal to a Mahāyuga. The regularly descending length of the Yugas represents a corresponding physical and moral deterioration in the people living in each age, the present age being Kaliyuga— the Iron Age.

1. Modern Tinnevely.

2. Modern Malabar, i.e., the strip of land between western Ghats and the sea north of the Kāverī.

3. Modern Tanjore.

4. A district in the Deccan between the Narmadā and the Godāvarī.

5. Modern Kathiawar in south Gujarat.

6. Abu in Rajasthan.

7. Modern Malwa belt in Madhya Pradesh.

ऋषय ऊचुः

The seers said— O Sūta! You have told us about Bhāratavarṣa, now be pleased to tell us something about Kimpuruṣa varṣa and Hari varṣa; besides this, be good enough to tell us about the Jambūdvīpa, etc., as well as about their people and the trees that grow there.

पृष्टस्त्वेवं तदा विप्रैर्यथाप्रश्नं विशेषतः।

उवाच ऋषिभिर्दृष्टं पुराणाभिमतं तथा॥६१॥

Thus exhorted by the Brāhmaṇas, Sūta began to relate to them what was in accordance with the Purāṇas and approved by the Ṛṣis.

सूत उवाच

शुश्रूषवस्तु यद्विप्राः शुश्रूषध्वमतन्द्रिताः।

जम्बूवर्षः किम्पुरुषः सुमहान्नन्दनोपमः॥६२॥

Sūta said— O Ṛṣis! As you desire to hear these things, listen to me attentively. The Kimpuruṣa of Jambūdvīpa is as great in magnitude as the Nandana-vana.

दश वर्षसहस्राणि स्थितिः किम्पुरुषे स्मृता।

जायन्ते मानवास्तत्र सुतप्तकनकप्रभाः॥६३॥

The people of Kimpuruṣa-khaṇḍa have a complexion like that of heated gold, and they live up to 10,000 years.

सुवर्णवर्णाश्च नराः स्त्रियश्चाप्सरसः स्मृताः॥६५॥

On account of which they remain so healthy, without any grief and happy, and cheerful in their minds. The people have a yellow complexion like shining gold, and the womenfolk are known as Apsarās.

ततः परं किंपुरुषाद्धरिवर्षं प्रचक्षते।

देवलोकच्युताः सर्वे बहुरूपाश्च सर्वशः।

हरिवर्षे नरः सर्वे पिबन्तीक्षुरसं शुभम्॥६७॥

Beyond Kimpuruṣa is Harivarṣa, the inhabitants of which are silvery white in complexion. They are the fallen people of Devaloka. They all drink the juice of the sugarcane.

न जरा बाधते तत्र तेन जीवति ते चिरम्।

एकादश सहस्राणि तेषामायुः प्रकीर्तितम्॥६८॥

They do not get old and consequently they live for a very long time. Their average age is 11,000 years.

मध्यमं तन्मया प्रोक्तं नाम्ना वर्षमिलावृतम्।

न तत्र सूर्यस्तपति न च जानन्ति मानवाः॥६९॥

Ilāvṛta Khaṇḍa is the middle, where there is no strong sunshine and of which men have little knowledge.

चन्द्रसूर्यौ सनक्षत्रावप्रकाशाविला वृते।

देवलोकच्युताः सर्वे महारजतवाससः।

त्रयोदश सहस्राणि वर्षाणां ते नरोत्तमाः॥७२॥

The sun, the moon, as well as the stars are seldom seen in Ilāvṛta. The people of that place are handsome like the lotus and their eyes are like the same, and their body, too, emits a scent like that of the lotus. They seldom get excited and drink the juice of the rose-apple, (jambuphala). They, too, are the fallen people of Svarga and wear silvery white garments, and live upto 13,000 years.

आयुष्प्रमाणं जीवन्ति ये तु वर्षं इलावृते।

सुदर्शनो नाम महाजम्बूवृक्षः सनातनः।

नित्यपुष्पफलोपेतः सिद्ध चारणसेवितः॥७४॥

To the south of Meru and north of Niṣadha stands the roseapple tree (jambuvṛkṣa), which is called Sudarśana. It is a huge tree, and always abounds in flowers and fruits, and is frequented by the Siddhas and Cāraṇās.

तस्य नाम्ना समाख्यातो जम्बूद्वीपो वनस्पतेः।

योजनानां सहस्रं च शतधा च महान्युनः॥७५॥

Jambūdvīpa is so called after this huge tree. It rises to a height of thousands of yojanas.

उत्सेधो वृक्षराजस्य दिवमावृत्य तिष्ठति।

तस्य जम्बूफलरसो नदी भूत्वा प्रसर्पति॥७६॥

The tree is so high and big that it seems to cover all the heavens, and the juice of its fruits flows in the form of a river.

मेरुं प्रदक्षिणं कृत्वा जम्बूमूलगता पुनः।

तं पिबन्ति सदा हृष्टा जम्बूरसमिलावृते॥७७॥

It flows round Sumeru, and then waters the root of the tree, and people of Ilāvṛta drink it with great pleasure.

जम्बूफलरसं पीत्वा न जरा बाधतेऽपि तान्।

न क्षुधा न क्लमो वापि न दुःखं च तथाविधम्॥७८॥

By drinking it, they neither get infirm, nor do they ever feel hungry, tired or miserable.

सर्वेषां वर्षवृक्षाणां शुभः फलरसस्तु सः।

स्कन्नं तु काञ्चनं शुभ्रं जायते देवभूषणम्॥८०॥

There is to be found a kind of gold, called the Jāmbūnada, which is the ornament of the Devas. It is red like the Indragopa (insect). The fruits of this tree produce the best juice of all the fruits of trees of other varṣas. This tree exudes a gummy sap, like gold, which is also the ornament of the Devas.

तेषां मूत्रं पुरीषं वा दिक्ष्वष्टासु च सर्वशः।

ईश्वरानुग्रहाद्भूमिर्मृतांश्च ग्रसते तु तान्॥८१॥

By the grace of God, the soil of that place swallows the excreta of the people and the dead.

रक्षःपिशाचा यक्षाश्च सर्वे हैमवतास्तु ते।

हेमकूटे तु विज्ञेया गन्धर्वाः साप्सरोगणाः॥८२॥

The Rākṣasas, and the Piśācas live (in the dales) of Himavata. The Gandharvas and the Apsarās are the inhabitants of Hemakūṭa.

सर्वे नागा निषेवन्ते शेषवासुकितक्षकाः।

नीलवैदूर्ययुक्तेऽस्मिन् सिद्धा ब्रह्मर्षयोऽवसन्।

दैत्यानां दानवानां च श्वेतः पर्वत उच्यते॥८४॥

Śeṣa, Vāsuki, Takṣakas and the Nāgas, all haunt the Niṣadha mountain, and the 33 blessed Yājñiyas (Devas) sport on Mahāmeru. On the Nīla mountain, where sapphires abound, live the Siddhas, Maharṣis and Dānavas. The Śveta range is said to be the resort of Daityas.

अशक्या परिसंख्यातुं श्रद्धेया च बुभूषता॥८६॥

Śṛṅgavān, the best of the mountains, is the haunt of the Pitṛs. These are the nine continents in the world. The changeable (plains) and the fixed (mountains) are inhabited by various creatures. Men and Devas see numerous increase in them. They cannot be counted, but should be taken on trust, by one who wishes his own good.

Story of the earlier birth of Purūravā

Manu asked— “O Janārdana, I have heard from your mouth the story of Purūravā, the son of Buddha and also heard about merits of the auspicious performing of the śrāddhas, besides the donation of the cows with calves, or the black buck skin, besides the releasing of a bull, but, O Keśava, by listening to the story of Purūravā the son of Buddha, I have become desirous of listening further about it. Because of that I am asking you. Therefore you kindly tell me the deed with the performing of which Purūravā achieved such a beautiful form and the fortunes, which attracted Urvaśī to him, discarding the Gandharvas and the gods, and was united with the king Purūravā.”

मत्स्य उवाच

शृणु कर्मविपाकेन येन राजा पुरुरवाः।
 अवाप तादृशं रूपं सौभाग्यमपि चोत्तमम्॥ ६॥

Lord Matsya said— “I am going to speak out to you the reason because of which the king Purūravā achieved the best of beauty and the fortunes. You please listen.

अतीते जन्मनि पुरा योऽयं राजा पुरुरवाः।

चाक्षुषस्यान्वये राजा चाक्षुषस्यान्तरे मनोः।

स वै नृपगुणैर्युक्तः केवलं रूपवर्जितः॥ ८॥

The king Purūravā was also known by the same name in his earlier birth. He was born in Cākṣuṣa Manvantara in the family of Cākṣuṣa Manu and was the ruler of Madradeśa (North west of Punjab). (Śalya was the king of that place and Mādrī was the wife of Pāṇḍu). At that point of time he had all the qualities of a king no doubt but he was ugly¹.

ऋषय ऊचुः

पुरुरवा मद्रपातः कर्मणा केन पार्थिवः।

बभूव कर्मणा केन रूपवांश्चैव सूतज॥ ९॥

Rṣis said— “O Sūta, with the reward of which one of his merits, the king Purūravā became the lord of Mādra country and because of what action did he become beautiful. You please tell me.

सूत उवाच

द्विजग्रामे द्विजश्रेष्ठा नाम्ना चासीत्पुरुरवाः।

नद्याः कूले महाराजः पूर्वजन्मनि पार्थिवः॥ १०॥

Sūta said— “O Sages, in earlier birth Purūravā was an excellent Brāhmaṇa and lived in the village located over the bank of the river. At that point of time also he was known by the same name of Purūravā.

स तु मद्रपती राजा यस्तु नाम्ना पुरुरवाः।

तस्मिञ्जन्मन्यसौ विप्रो द्वादश्यां तु सदाऽनघ॥ ११॥

O Sinless one, the king of the country of Madra was known by the name of Purūravā. He as a Brāhmaṇa, with the desire of achieving kingship, used to perform fasting on the day of Dvādaśī and adore lord Viṣṇu.

उपोष्य पूजयामास राज्यकामो जनार्दनम्।

चकार सोपवासश्च स्नानमभ्यङ्गपूर्वकम्॥ १२॥

1. (The context in which lord Matsya had to speak is being spoken by Sūta at the instance of the rṣis. Therefore the same story has been repeated thereafter.)

उपवासफलात्प्राप्तं राज्यं मद्रेश्वकण्टकम्।
उपोषितस्तथाभ्यङ्गनद्रूपहीनो व्यजायत॥ १३॥

Once, he observing fast applying oil over the body, took his bath, as a result of which he achieved the unobstructed kingdom of the country of Madra, no doubt, but because of his applying oil over the body while fasting, he was born ugly.

उपोषितैर्नरैस्तस्मात्स्नानमभ्यङ्गपूर्वकम्।

Therefore, a person observing the fast, should make all the efforts not to use oil while fasting because it destroys beauty.

एतद्वः कथितं सर्वं यद्वृत्तं पूर्वजन्मनि।

Thus I have repeated the story of his earlier birth. Now you listen from me the subsequent story relating to his becoming the lord of Madra country.

तस्य राजगुणैः सर्वैः समुपेतस्य भूपतेः।

Inspite of his royal qualities, he was not loved by his subjects, on account of his ugliness.

He then decided to go and practise penances for the attainment of personal beauty, in the Himālaya, after making over charge of his realm to his ministers.

That far-famed king, with his own enterprising spirit as the only companion, went on foot to that home of all the tīrthas (i.e., Himālayas), and at the end saw the renowned and beautiful river Airāvati.

Sūta said— O Sages, the auspicious and sacred river Airāvati issues from the Himālaya mountain. It is over crowded with the Gandharvas who collect there for the taking of the bath. It is served by Indra and it looks graceful having been anointed by the fluid of the elephant Airāvata, it was glittering in the centre like the rainbow.

The hermitages of the sages had been made over its bank. It was being served by the best of Brāhmaṇas and was glittering like the molten gold. Such a type of river was spotted by Pururavā. It was covered with lines of white swans which appeared like the chowries of the flowers of long reeds and was being bathed by the noble people. The king was pleased by looking at it. The auspicious river was filled with cool water, attracted the mind and increased the delight of the mind, had the decline and the overflow of water, pleasant, appeared bright like the second moon, extremely cool, flowed with force, filled with water, served by the Brāhmaṇas and the birds, like the best of the daughters of the Himālaya, looking graceful with the unstable waves, having the sweet water resembling the nectar, graced by the ascetics, like the step for reaching the heaven, remover of all the sins, the chief queen of the best of oceans, served by the Maharṣis, one which caused anxiety in the minds of all the people, extremely pleasant, one which bestowed welfare on all, bestower of the path to the heaven, having the herds of cows over the bank, extremely beautiful, free from aquatic plants.

The water of this river is not disturbed by the Devas, Pulindas, (kings) and tigers, etc., is decked with lotus flowers, illumined by the reflection of the moon and stars. The king continued his journey while seeing this river, which satisfies the desire of the sages. On her banks, the groups of Devas and Brāhmanas were sitting under the branches of trees, whose kāśa flowers look like the rays of the moon.

The king, who is famous like the moon, saw that the river was inundated with many rivulets and was the dispeller of sins of the devotees and worshipped by many sages, which gives nourishment to the people, as a mother does to her sons, and which is surrounded by the Devas, and by other people, seeking their own benefit, which is sported by the lions and the elephants, whose waters are full of Pārijāta trees, and which is never increased or decreased by the heat of the sun.

Sūta said- "The fatigue of the king Pururavā was removed with the touch of the wind blowing through the water of the river Airāvati. He was moving forward looking at the said sacred river and at the same time he spotted a great mountain known as Himavān.

It had a number of high peaks, of yellow colour and quite bright almost touching the sky.

These peaks were inaccessible to the sages but not the birds.

Besides this, the Himālayas echoed with the thundering sound of the rivers falling down in cascades and which rendered all the other sounds inaudible. The Himālayas looked quite charming with the lakes of cold water.

The blue forests of Devadāru trees, appeared like its lower costume, while the clouds appeared as the upper garment, then while clouds appeared as a turban, and the sun and the moon represented the diadem. Its body was covered with snow, which served the purpose of necklace while the minerals enshrined therein scattered here and there looked like serving the sandal paint. It provided coolness even during the hot weather. It was decorated with massive rocks, at places imprinted red with the foot prints of apsarās. Some of the places were lit up with the sun and others were covered with darkness. The drinking water could be found somewhere through the deep chasms, adorned with the multitude of playful Vidyādhars, and the prominent Kumāras at places looking beautiful with flowers of the heaven, fallen from the Gandharvas, the apsarās, while they engaged themselves in drinking and elsewhere covered with flowers, pressed down by the Gandharvas while rising from their slumber and thus they looked charming.

At places, the mountain was covered with blue grass, without a breath of wind. This mountain happens to be the refuge of ascetics and is beyond the reach of lovers. Herds of deer gaze at the foot of the rocks, whose trees are broken down by the tusks of the elephants, who are disturbed with lion roars and make noisy uproar. They are never restful.

The hermits accomplish their course of asceticism in short duration. All the sins vanish merely by the sight of this mountain. The wind makes the landscape pleasant by blowing the sprays of water of its water-falls.

The king also beheld the following wild beasts— The dog, the deer, the leopard, the lion, the tiger, the elephant, the rhinoceros, the wolf, the bear, the ape, the monkey, the rabbit, the agile cat, the buffalo, the cow, the bull, the Camara, the Śrīvara (a species of deer), the white mule, the Urabhra, the ram, the antelope, the blue ox, the doe, the sāmbara, the wild boar, the horse, the ass, the donkey. Besides them, he also saw the beasts, which are naturally hostile to one another, living in mutual friendship. He was very much amazed to see this. Sometime ago, the sage Atri had his hermitage there.

There all carnivorous beasts lived on fruits and milk. In such ways their character was built up by the influence of the Great sage Atri.

King Pūruravā himself passed several days on the slopes of those mountains, where cow-buffaloes and she-goats gave out milk, and where even the thorns had the flavour of ambrosia. Everywhere, O king, the rocks are full of streams of milk and curds.

Sūta said— O Ṛṣis, there were two peaks of different colours which were covered with snow. There was another peak in between them, which was very high and had no clouds over it, as a result of which its slabs always remained hot. At the bed of that peak, to the west, there were the clusters of trees. In their centre, there was a beautiful cave, which was covered with the Jasmine creepers, looking at the same, the king Purūravā was surprised and he entered the cave.

It was quite high, quite deep and circular and was spread in an area of a kosa. Though the sun and the moon never rose there but it remained illuminated like the day. There was a lake there, which looked graceful with the trees of gold, silver and coral colours. The flowers of different spices were blossoming over them with beautiful lustre. The pedestals of stone slabs had been built around the serial lake. O King the lotuses of various species were blossoming in the lake, which looked like the rubies and diamonds with sweet scents and their pericarps were made of gold. Not only was the bed of the lake, made of diamond, but it was also full of various gems. The cowrie shells, oysters and conches were found there, besides the terrific crocodiles, fishes and tortoises.

In the centre of the pond, the sage Atri, by virtue of his austerities, has built a palace, which can be reached by a golden bridge, studded with precious stones.

The palace was of silver, white like the rays of the moon; its stairs are of beautiful Vaidūryamaṇi (lapis lazuli); its pillars of the coral and sapphire, its altars (or quadrangles) are studded with emeralds Markaṭamaṇi. The reflection of the diamonds made it very beautiful and pleasant to the sight. In this (enchanting) palace, the Lord of all, the serene Janārdana, decorated with every ornament, reposed in the midst, all the luxuries of the luxurious, with one of his knees drawn up and the foot placed on the King of Serpents, the other (foot) resting on the lap of Lakṣmī (the Goddess of wealth). While thus sleeping on the coils of Śeṣa, the Lord had one of His hands, adorned with bracelets, on the hood of the Snake, another, stretched out, supported His sacred head (laid) on the back of his fingers, the third one resting on the knee-cap of the half raised leg, touched his navel. Now hear how the fourth hand was placed. It held a celestial (santāna) flower and was raising to the nose.

He was adorned with the garland of santāna (kalpa) flowers, and with necklace, bracelets, rings, (Hāra, Keyura, Aṅgada, Aṅgulaka); while His head, glittering with the decorations of precious stones, rested on the hood of Śeṣa.

King Purūravā went in front of the God, and made his salutation to the One, who was of mysterious character, consecrated there by Atri, worshipped by the seers, adored by the ascetics, always offered the Kalpa santāna flowers, covered with divine sandals, offered the incense, his right side covered with the best sappy fruits, offered by the anchorites (Siddhas) and having a bed of lotus flowers for His pillow.

The king saluted the Sacred One with his knees and head touching the ground, and pleased the Lord by his recitations of the hymns in His praises, containing his thousand names, and repeatedly circumambulated Him. He rested a little in that hermitage. Then, taking his residence in a beautiful cavern, outside the entrance to the cave, commenced his austerities and worship of Madhusūdana.

The king, in process of time, gave up every kind of food, engaging himself only in the worship of Fire to whom he offered various kinds of fruits, flowers, incense, roots and cow's milk, after bathing thrice a day and sustaining himself on the water of the pond.

Sūta said— "O Ṛṣis, in this way the king Purūravā, discarding the royal paraphernalia and the food, started living in that charming hermitage. He also enjoyed the opportunity of observing the sports of Gandharvas and apsarās.

The king used to make the garland after plucking of many flowers, and offered them to lord Viṣṇu first together with the arghya and then handed them over to the Gandharvas.

Some one of the apsarās while collecting the flowers was caught up on the creepers and her maids left her in the same condition and departed. Her husband then arrived there and freed her. Fragrance of a lotus flower was emerging out of the body of an apsarā as a result of which the black wasps were hovering over her because of the fragrance in her breath. Her face had almost been covered with the black wasps. She was somehow saved by her husband.

head with the flower garland made by her husband.

At that time the lake with its water full of garlands of the nymphs fallen in it and mixed with the saffron washed out of their breasts, looked beautiful like a maiden after amorous enjoyment with her lover.

Purūravā saw the group of Devas, Gandharvas and the consorts of the Devas worshipping Viṣṇu after their bath.

Purūravā also saw some of the nymphs sitting on the blue grass amidst nicely smelling flowers and drinking wine there; some of these beautiful nymphs made their lovers drink from their own hands, while others drank the wine offered by their lords.

Some while drinking water saw the reflection of her lotus eyes in it and afterwards began to enquire from her lord where her two lotuses disappeared, and on being told by him that they were undoubtedly drunk by herself became bashful as she realised with pleasure his meaning.

And as the night advanced they coming out of that cave began to retire into their beautiful caverns where they pass the night in the pleasant company of their husbands, reclining on the plushy mattresses strewn with various kinds of sweet flowers and decorated with lovely sweet scented creepers.

King Purūravā thus saw all the pastimes of those nymphs on that mountain, went on with his devotion, his mind firmly fixed on Viṣṇu.

The train of the Gandharvas in company of their consorts went to the king, and said- “O King! You have come to this region resembling the heaven, we shall grant you the boons of your desire after which it would be left to your pleasure either to stay here or to go back to your country.”

The King Purūravā said- “All of you have superhuman powers, your presence is never in vain. I therefore beseech you to give me the boon that I may please Viṣṇu.”

एवमस्त्वित्यथोक्तस्तैः स तु राजा पुरुरवाः।

They all unanimously gave the desired boon and the king stayed there for another month, worshipping Janārdana in a happy mind.

प्रिय एव सदैवासीद्गन्धर्वाप्सरसां नृपः।
तुतोष स जनो राजस्तस्यालौल्येन कर्मणा॥४०॥

He became a great favourite of the Gandharvas and their consorts, who were pleased with his firm devotion (to Viṣṇu).

तेन राजन्समागम्य कृतकृत्यो भविष्यसि॥४३॥

After a month, that king entered a lovely hermitage, decorated with innumerable gems, where he lived on water alone till the end of the bright fortnight in the month of Phālguna, when he heard the following words of Viṣṇu in a dream- “At the close of the night you will find the Sage Atri, in whose company you will get your desire.”

स्वप्नमेवं स राजर्षिर्दृष्ट्वा देवेन्द्रविक्रमः।

That king, powerful as Indra, having thus dreamt, got up early in the morning and with his senses under control, had his bath, and having performed daily duties worshipped Janārdana, after which he came across the great sage Atri.

स्वप्नं तु देवदेवस्य न्यवेदयत धार्मिकः।
ततः शुश्राव वचनं देवतानां समीरितम्॥४६॥

He then told him of his dream and heard the following words of the Devas.

एवमेतन्महीपाल नात्र कार्या विचारणा।

कृतदेवार्चनो राजा तथा हुतहुताशनः।
सर्वान्कामानवाप्तोऽसौ वरदानेन केशवात्॥४८॥

“O King! It is just what it should be; there is not the least doubt about it.” Thus getting the boons of his desire from Lord Viṣṇu, he worshipped the Lord and poured his oblations in the Fire and attained his object.

Sūta said— “O Ṛṣis, to the north of the hermitage, in the middle of the back of the Himālaya, the mountain Kailāśa is lodged, where lord Śiva, the destroyer of Tripura resides. Its peaks possess enormous gems and the Kalpavṛkṣas are also grown there. Kubera lives there with Guhyakas.

Thus Kubera, the lord of Alkapurī, being followed by the apsarās remains delightful. A lake named Mandolaka has emerged out of the valley at the foot of the mountain, having the pure water which is clean and spotless besides being cool.

The water is bright like the curd. The divine and auspicious Mandākinī river issues from the same lake.

There is a great forest over the bank of the river, which is known as Nandanavana. To the north east of Kailāśa, there is a mountain known as Candraprabhā, which shines like the heap of gems. It is decorated with all types of metals. The same is spreading upto the divine Subala mountain.

The auspicious Mandākinī and the Acchodā— the bestower of welfare, both the rivers flowing through the middle part of the earth fall in the great ocean. To the south east of the Kailāśa mountain, there is a vast mountain known as Hemaśṛṅga possessing all the auśadhis and facing the Candraprabhā mountain. The mountain, Hemaśṛṅga, near it shines red like the sun, below which there is a large lake of the red water out of which comes a big river called the Lauhitya, (Brahmaputra) on the banks of which is located a great heavenly forest known as Viśoka. The Yakṣa Maṇidhara resides there. He remains there with his well behaved and auspicious attendants. To the north west of Kailāśa, lies the Mount Kukudmān, where there are plenty of herbs, because of the birth of the great bull of Rudra there. In front of this the Trikaṇḍa mount is the mount of Añjana of three peaks.

There is the Mount Vaidyuta, full of all kinds of ores, below which is the most lovely Mānasarovara lake which is resorted to by the siddhas. The sacred Sarayū runs from that lake and purifies the people. On its bank is the Vaibhrāja forest.

Next comes the great inaccessible Śṛṅgavān (full of peaks) Mount. Hundreds of its lofty golden peaks touch the sky. It is the abode of Dhūmrālocana, lord of the mountain and below it is the lake Śailoda.

To the north of Kailāśa is the blessed Mount Sarvausadha near which is a majestic snow clad mountain full of yellow orpiment (Haritāla).

There is mountain with golden peaks teeming with herbs below which is the lake of golden (coloured) sand and known as beautiful Bindu lake. Here King Bhagīratha remained for a long time for the advent of the river Gaṅgā.

दिवं यास्यन्तु मे पूर्वं गङ्गातोयाप्लुतास्थिकाः।
तत्र त्रिपथगा देवी प्रथमं तु प्रतिष्ठिता॥२७॥

He said— “May my ancestors attain heaven, their bones being drenched with the Gaṅgā water.” The Gaṅgā which goes three ways made her first appearance on that very spot.

The Gaṅgā coming out of Somapāda divided Herself into seven streams. There are sacrificial posts (yūpa) of precious stones and vimānas (heavenly cars) of gold.

Indra attained bliss by performing sacrifices on that spot along with the Devas. Here is the milky way of heaven, the centre of the starry nebula. The Gaṅgā appears to shed splendid lustre there at night. She has descended on the earth, having purified the Heaven and sky (Antarikṣa).

She first descended on the head of the mighty Lord Śiva, who curbed Her force by His glory. Her waters falling on the Earth, owing to Śiva's anger, formed the Bindu lake. When she was thus suddenly stopped by Śiva, she became angry as she understood his unkind motive and made an attempt to force Herself into the lower regions, having engulfed Śiva in her tumultuous current.

अथावलोपं तं ज्ञात्वा तस्याः क्रुद्धस्तु शङ्करः।
तिरोभावयितुं बुद्धिरासीदङ्गेषु तां नदीम्॥ ३४॥

Realising this proud attitude of the Gaṅgā, the Lord thought of absorbing Her within Himself.

एतस्मिन्नेव काले तु दृष्ट्वा राजानमग्रतः।
धमनीसन्ततं क्षीणं क्षुधाव्याकुलितेन्द्रियम्॥ ३५॥

But, at the same moment, He perceived King Bhagīratha standing in front of Him. He appeared lean, his veins becoming visible, troubled and hungry.

अनेन तोषितश्चाहं नद्यर्थे पूर्वमेव तु।
बुद्धास्य वरदाने तु ततः कोपं न्ययच्छत॥ ३६॥

The Lord then remembered that the king had first pleased Him by his austerities to get the sacred river— Gaṅgā— which boon He had already granted to him. He therefore suppressed His wrath.

ब्रह्मणो वचनं श्रुत्वा यदुक्तं धारयन्नदीम्।
ततो विसर्जयामास संरुद्धां स्वेन तेजसा॥ ३७॥

Moreover, as He was absorbing the sacred stream, He heard the entreaties of Brahmā. He, therefore, freed the current from His hold.

त्रीणि प्राचीमभिमुखं प्रतीची त्रीण्यथैव तु।

Being pleased with the devotion of Bhagīratha, the Lord, for his sake, let the river loose into seven branches, three of which went to the East, three to the West (and one near Himself), thus the three-wayed Gaṅgā become flowed in seven streams.

Nalinī, Hlādinī and Pāvanī flow in the East, Sītā, Sindhu and Cakṣu in the West, and the seventh followed the King Bhagīratha to the South. Hence the name Bhāgīrathī which falls into the Dakṣiṇa Samudra (southern waters) washing the Himavarṣa. Seven holy rivers trace their origin from the Bindu Sarovara.

The Surabhi forest stands on the banks of the river Vanśaukasārā. There resides Hiraṇyaśṛṅga the most powerful and learned follower of Kubera who has been forbidden to take any part in the sacrifices. Surrounded by the learned (progeny of Atri) and the Brāhmarākṣasas, the four attendants of Kubera reside there. The residents of the hills and the mountains attain double powers (by practice) as compared to other folks.

The grass, trees, creepers as well as the shrubs were produced by her. Similarly Viśvā produced crores of Yakṣas, and the Rākṣasas, while Diti, in union with Kaśyapa produced forty-nine Maruts who were quite religious and devoted to the gods.

1. The mythological account of this war between the gods and the demons or the Suras and Asuras is as follows :

Viṣṇu, the lord of the creation, wanted to make his favourites the gods, immortal and powerful. He asked them to churn the ocean of milk so that ambrosia might be provided. The demons offered their services to the gods which they did not decline. When ambrosia was produced Viṣṇu, assuming the form of a beautiful damsel, distributed the whole amongst the Suras. Hence the quarrel arose. It continued for thousands of years. “The demons were very powerful and some of them became invincible and unconquerable by the grace of their god Śiva. Though they could not exterminate the gods, yet they defeated them often, drove them from the celestial region and took possession of it.

There were supposed to be thirty three millions of gods and goddesses but Indra was their king and Lord. After the defeat of the Dānavas on the shore of the churned ocean the gods lived in happiness for several years till a great Dānava was born, who was known by the name of Vitrāsura. He collected all the demons under his banner and declared war against the Devas. It went on for years and the gods were greatly assailed. Indra then went to Brahmā for help who advised him to go to Dadhīci for his bones to make an weapon with them. Dadhīci agreed and Indra drove the demons away with that dreadful weapon.

Many years passed in peace when the demons again gathered round a leader named Taraka. Śiva helped them and the gods grew weakened gradually. The celestials, after holding a council, thought of arousing Śiva from his Yoga-Sleep through the help of her sons and the grandsons, at the hand of Viṣṇu. Then she went to the earth in the Syamantakakṣetra at the bank of the river Sarasvatī, and started attending her husband Kaśyapa who was engaged in tapas there. She also performed hard tapas herself as well. At that point of time, she conducting herself like the ascetic, lived on fruits and roots like the sages and performed Kṛchhra-cāndrāyana vrata.

यावद्वर्षशतं साग्रं जराशोकसमाकुला।

ततः सा तपसा तप्ता वसिष्ठादीनपृच्छत॥५॥

In this way Diti felt disturbed because of the old age and grief and performed severe tapas, for a hundred years. Feeling upset with the tapas, she asked Vasiṣṭha and other sages.

कथयन्तु भवन्तो मे पुत्रशोकविनाशनम्।

व्रतं सौभाग्यफलदमिहलोके परत्र च॥६॥

“O Ṛṣis, you kindly speak out to me about a vrata by which I could be relieved of the grief of the sons and could achieve fortunes in this as well as the other world.

ऊचुर्वसिष्ठप्रमुखा मदनद्वादशीव्रतम्।

यस्याः प्रभावादभवत्सुत शोकविवर्जिता॥७॥

Then Vasiṣṭha and other sages enlightened her about the glory of Madana-dvādaśī, with the influence of which, she was relieved of the grief of her son.

of Madana, the god of love. Mahādeva awoke and beget Kartikeya or Umā. He became the commander-in-chief of the celestial army and defeated the demons.

Again the demons grew powerful under two Dānava-chiefs named Śumbha and Niśumbha. At this time Durgā went to the battlefield and destroyed the Dānavas.

There is however a spiritual significance about the story. The war between the gods and demons going on eternally means the struggle between good and evil that we find in this world. The gods are the representatives of good spirit and the demons those of the evil. The final triumph of the gods means the ultimate victory of good over evil in this world.

The Ṛṣis asked, “O Sūta, we would like to listen about Madana-dvādaśī vrata, performing which Diti again gave birth to the forty nine sons.

सूत उवाच

Sūta said, “O Sages, in the ancient time, the best of vrata, which Vasiṣṭha and other sages, narrated to Diti, you better listen about it in an exhaustive manner.

The performer of the vrata, in the month of Caitra, on the twelfth bright moon-day, should consecrate a pitcher filled with white rice. It should be plastered with the sandal paste. It should be covered with two pieces of cloth. It should be surrounded by seasonal fruits as well as the pieces of sugarcane.

Different types of food items should be placed there. The gold pieces according to one's own means should be placed in the pitcher. Thereafter a copper vase filled with sugarcane balls should be placed over it.

Above it should be placed a banana leaf bearing an image of Kāmadeva, and to its left should be placed an image of Rati which should be made of sugar.

Between the Mounts Cakra and Maināka in the southern portion of the heaven is the Samvartaka Agni (volcanic mountain) which drinks the water of the seas. The Agni (volcanic) mountains Aurva, Vadhava mukha too are submerged into the Lavaṇa Samudra. These four mountains merged into the ocean (for safety) when Indra began to destroy their wings (by His thunderbolt) and they are still visible on particular days in the bright and dark fortnights.

The more northern (one of those mountains) the region, the better it is. The people residing there are healthy, pious, longlived and possessed of the sterling qualities (Dharma, Artha, Kāma, etc.). Various classes of people live in those khaṇḍas. The universe thus holding the various regions on her is known as Pṛthvī or Jagat (Earth).

CHAPTER 122

Description of Śakadvīpa, Kuśadvīpa and Śālmalidvīpa

सूत उवाच

शाकद्वीपस्य वक्ष्यामि यथावदिह निश्चयम्।

कथ्यमानं निबोधध्वं शाकं द्वीपं द्विजोत्तमाः॥१॥

Sūta said— “O Brāhmaṇas, now I am going to speak about Śakadvīpa, in a realistic manner. All of you should collect information about Śakadvīpa, as spoken by me.

जम्बूद्वीपस्य विस्ताराद्विगुणस्तस्य विस्तरः।

विस्तारात्त्रिगुणश्चापि परिणाहः समन्ततः॥२॥

Śakadvīpa is double in the area as compared with the Jambudvīpa and has an expansion on all the four sides measuring three times.

तेनावृतः समुद्रोऽयं द्वीपेन लवणोदधिः।

तत्र पुण्या जनपदा चिराच्च प्रियते जनः॥३॥

कुत एव च दुर्भिक्षं क्षमातेजोयुतेष्विह।

Śakadvīpa is surrounded with the ocean of salt. There are several auspicious Janapadas in Śakadvīpa. The people of that country enjoy long life. How could there be a possibility of famine where the people are illustrious, large hearted and compassionate?

तत्रापि पर्वताः शुभ्राः सप्तैव मणिभूषिताः॥४॥

शाकद्वीपादिषु त्वेषु सप्त सप्त नगास्त्रिषु।

ऋज्वायताः प्रतिदिशं निविष्टा वर्षपर्वताः॥५॥

रत्नाकराद्रिनामानः सानुमन्तो महाचिताः।

There are seven mountains in this Dvīpa which are decorated with gems. These mountains are of white colour. In the three Dvīpas including Śakadvīpa, there are seven mountains in each one of them, which are spreading in all the four directions. All these mountains are called Varṣa mountains. The Varṣaparvatas have the names like Ratnākaras and others, have high peaks and the trees.

समोदिताः प्रतिदिशं द्वीपविस्तारमानतः॥६॥

उभयत्रावगाढौ च लवणक्षीरसागरौ।

शाकं द्वीपे तु वक्ष्यामि सप्त दिव्यान् महाचलान्॥७॥

These Dvīpas are spread vastly equally in all the four directions, extending upto the ocean of milk as well as the ocean of salt. Now I am going to describe the seven divine mountains of the Śakadvīpa.

देवर्षिगन्धर्वयुतः प्रथमो मेरुरुच्यते।

प्रागायतः स सौवर्ण उदयो नाम पर्वतः॥८॥

Meru happens to be the first of all the mountains, which is served by the gods, Rṣis and the Gandharvas. It is a gold like mountain and spreads to the east. Udaigiri is its other name.

तत्र मेघास्तु वृष्ट्यर्थं प्रभवन्त्यपयान्ति च।

तस्यापरेण सुमहान् जलधारो महागिरिः॥९॥

The clouds reach there for the pouring of the rain and disappear after pouring the rain. To the west of the same, there is a vast mountain, possessing all the auśadhis and is known by the name of Jaladhārā.

स वै चन्द्रः समाख्यातः सर्वौषधिसमन्वितः।

तस्मान्नित्यमुपादत्ते वासवः परमं जलम्॥१०॥

It is known by the name of Candra. Indra extracts the maximum of water from that river.

नारदो नाम चैवोक्तो दुर्गशैलो महाचितः।

तत्राचलौ समुत्पन्नौ पूर्वं नारदपर्वतौ॥११॥

There is a great mountain known by the name of Nārada, which is also known as Durgāśaila. Both the mountains known as Nārada and Durgāśaila, were born here.

तस्यापरेण सुमहान् श्यामो नाम महागिरिः।

यत्र श्यामत्वमापन्नाः प्रजाः पूर्वमिमाः किल॥१२॥

There is another mountain known as Śyāma, which is quite vast, where all the people became dark complexioned.

स एव दुन्दुभिर्नाम श्यामपर्वतसन्निभः।

शब्दमृत्युः पुरा तस्मिन् दुन्दुभिस्ताडितः सुरैः॥१३॥

There is a mountain named Dundubhi having the black colour, where in earlier times the gods resorted to the beating of the big drums, the sound of which caused death to the enemies.

रत्नमालान्तरमयः शाल्मलश्चान्तरालकृत्।

तस्यापरेण रजतो महानस्तो गिरिः स्मृतः॥१४॥

Heaps of gems are enshrined in their wombs. Silk cotton trees are grown over the same. The great Astācala is beyond that which is like the silver.

स वै सोमक इत्युक्तो देवैर्यत्रामृतं पुरा।

संभृतं च हतं चैव मातुरर्थं गरुत्मता॥१५॥

It is the same place, where Garuḍa in earlier times had, for the benefit of his mother, stolen away the nectar.

तस्यापरे चाम्बिकेयः सुमनाश्चैव स स्मृतः।

हिरण्याक्षो वराहेण तस्मिञ्छैले निषूदितः॥१६॥

आम्बिकेयात् परो रम्यः सर्वौषधिनिषेवितः।

विभ्राजस्तु समाख्यातः स्फाटिकस्तु महान् गिरिः॥१७॥

यस्माद्विभ्राजते वह्निर्विभ्राजस्तेन स स्मृतः।

सैवेह केशवेत्युक्तो यतो वायुः प्रवाति च॥१८॥

Adjacent to it stands the Mount Āmbikeya, also known as Sumanā, where the demon Hiraṇyākṣa was killed by the Lord Varāha. Near it stands the crystal mountain, Vibhrāja, which is full of herbs and gems. It is a volcano, that is why it is called Vibhrāja (fire agitator); it is also called Keśava. The wind there is very strong.

तेषां वर्षाणि वक्ष्यामि पर्वतानां द्विजोत्तमाः।

शृणुध्वं नामतस्तानि यथावदनुपूर्वशः॥ १९॥

I shall now name the mountains with the divisions, O holy twice borns! and hear it attentively.

द्विनामान्येव वर्षाणि यथैव गिरयस्तथा।

उदयस्योदयं वर्षं जनधारेति विश्रुतम्॥ २०॥

Those khaṇḍas have double names like the mountains. The mountain as well as varṣa of Udaya is known as Udaya and Jaladhāra.

नाम्ना गतभयं नाम वर्षं तत् प्रथमं स्मृतम्।

द्वितीयं जलधारस्य सुकुमारमिति स्मृतम्॥ २१॥

Udayakhaṇḍa is called the Gaṭabhavakhaṇḍa and the Jaladhāra khaṇḍa is known as the Sukumāra.

तदेव शैशिरं नाम वर्षं तत् परिकीर्तितम्।

नारदस्य च कौमारं तदेव च सुखोदयम्॥ २२॥

That is called the (Śaiśira) Sītala khaṇḍa, and Kaumāra khaṇḍa is in the Nārada mountain which is also known as Sukhodaya.

श्यामपर्वतवर्षं तदनीचकमिति स्मृतम्।

आनन्दकमिति प्रोक्तं तदेव मुनिभिः शुभम्॥ २३॥

Anīcaka is the name of the khaṇḍa on which is the Śyāma mountain which has also been called the Ānandaka by the sages.

सोमकस्य शुभं वर्षं विज्ञेयं कुसुमोत्करम्।

तदेवासितमित्युक्तं वर्षं सोमकसंज्ञितम्॥ २४॥

Kusumotakara is the khaṇḍa on which lies the Somaka mountain which is also known as Asita.

आम्बिकेयस्य मैनाकं क्षेमकं चैव तत्स्मृतम्।

तदेव ध्रुवमित्युक्तं वर्षं विभ्राजसंज्ञितम्॥ २५॥

Maināka is the khaṇḍa of the mount Āmbikeya. It is also called Kṣemaka. The khaṇḍa of the Vibhrāja mountain is called Dhruva as well as Vibhrāja.

द्वीपस्य परिणाहं च ह्रस्वदीर्घत्वमेव च।

जम्बूद्वीपेन संख्याते तस्य मध्ये वनस्पतिम्॥ २६॥

शाको नाम महावृक्षः प्रजास्तस्य महानुगाः।

एतेषु देवगन्धर्वाः सिद्धाश्च सह चारणैः॥ २७॥

विहरन्ति रमन्ते च दृश्यमानाश्च तैः सह।

तत्र पुण्या जनपदाश्चातुर्वर्ण्यसमन्विताः॥ २८॥

Of the same dimensions as Jambūdvīpa is the huge Śāka tree in the centre of the Dvīpa itself, frequented by the people. Those regions were frequented by the Devas, the Gandharvas, the Bards (cāraṇas), and the Siddhas (anchorites), who freely enjoy the beauty of the place. It contains many janapadas peopled by the four varṇas.

तेषु नद्यश्च सप्तैव प्रतिवर्षं समुद्रगाः।

द्विनाम्ना चैव ताः सर्वा गङ्गाः सप्तविधाः स्मृताः॥ २९॥

There are seven rivers in each one of these mountains which fall into the sea and each one has a duplicate name; of which the Gaṅgā is an exception, being sevenfold.

प्रथमा सुकुमारीति गङ्गा शिवजला शुभा।

मुनितप्ता च नाम्नैषा नदी सम्परिकीर्तिता॥ ३०॥

First one is the Sukumārī Gaṅgā whose waters are clear and blessed. It is also called the Munitaptā.

सुकुमारी तपःसिद्धा द्वितीया नामतः सती।

नन्दा च पावनी चैव तृतीया परिकीर्तिता॥ ३१॥

The second one is called the Sukumārī Tapsiddhā and Satī, the third one is the Nandā which is also known as Pāvanī.

शिबिका च चतुर्थी स्याद्विविधा च पुनः स्मृता।

इक्षुश्च पञ्चमी ज्ञेया तथैव च पुनः कुहूः॥ ३२॥

The fourth one is called the Śibika and Dvividhā, the fifth one is known as Ikṣu and Kuhū.

वेणुका चामृता चैव षष्ठी सम्परिकीर्तिता।

सुकृता च गभस्ती च सप्तमी परिकीर्तिता॥ ३३॥

The sixth one is known as Veṇukā and Amṛtā and the seventh one is called the Sukṛtā and Gabhastī.

एताः सप्त महाभागाः प्रतिवर्षं शिवोदकाः।

भावयन्ति जनं सर्वं शाकद्वीपनिवासिनम्॥३४॥

Of the above-mentioned seven rivers one flows in each sub-division of the Śākadvīpa, and they all purify the people of those regions with their sacred waters.

अभिगच्छन्ति ताश्चान्या नदनद्यः सरांसि च।

बहूदकपरिस्रावा यतो वर्षति वासवः॥३५॥

There are myriads of other rivers, and rivulets as well as lakes, formed by copious supply of rain water-let fall by Vāsava (Indra) into these.

तासां तु नामधेयानि परिमाणं तथैव च।

न शक्यं परिसंख्यातुं पुण्यास्ताः सरिदुत्तमाः॥३६॥

ताः पिबन्ति सदा हृष्टा नदीर्जनपदास्तु ते।

एते शान्तभयाः प्रोक्ताः प्रमोदा ये च वै शिवाः॥३७॥

आनन्दाश्च सुखाश्चैव क्षेमकाश्च नवैः सह।

वर्णाश्रमाचारयुता देशास्ते सप्त विश्रुताः॥३८॥

It is very difficult to enumerate and give proper measurements of all those rivers and rivulets. They are all sacred. The people of the janapadas who drink their waters get happiness. Śāntabhaya, Pramoda, Śiva, Ānanda, Sukha, Kṣemaka, and Nava; such are the seven janapadas situated there, where all the rules and customs (Ācāra) of Varṇa and Āśrama are observed.

आरोग्या बलिनश्चैव सर्वे मरणवर्जिताः।

अवसर्पिणी न तेष्वस्ति तथैवोत्सर्पिणी पुनः॥३९॥

न तत्रास्ति युगावस्था चतुर्युगकृता क्वचित्।

त्रेतायुगसमः कालस्तथा तत्र प्रवर्तते॥४०॥

The people are healthy, robust, and free from the clutches of death; neither are they prone to growth and decay. There the four ages do not prevail in succession. The age of Tretā is eternal there.

शाकद्वीपादिषु ज्ञेयं पञ्चस्वेतेषु सर्वशः।

देशस्य तु विचारेण कालः स्वाभाविकः स्मृतः॥४१॥

न तेषु सङ्करः कश्चिद्वर्णाश्रमकृतः क्वचित्।

धर्मस्य चाव्यभीचारादेकान्तसुखिनः प्रजाः॥४२॥

न तेषु माया लोभो वा ईर्ष्यासूया भयं कुतः।

विपर्ययो न तेष्वस्ति तद्वै स्वाभाविकं स्मृतम्॥४३॥

कालो नैव च तेष्वस्ति न दण्डो न च दाण्डिकः।

स्वधर्मेण च धर्मज्ञास्ते रक्षन्ति परस्परम्॥४४॥

Almost similar is the condition of age in the other five Dvīpas, regard being had to the superiority and otherwise of the khaṇḍas. There is no confusion in the varṇas there, and the people of that place are happy, as they seldom deviate from the path of virtue. There are no such things as fraud, greed, jealousy, fear and malicious fault finding. The country is free from vices and is truly natural. There is none to inflict punishment there, nor on whom punishment should be inflicted. The people being virtuous, get mutual protection from their own virtuous deeds.

परिमण्डलस्तु सुमहान्द्वीपो वै कुशसंज्ञकः।

नदीजलैः परिवृतः पर्वतश्चाभ्रसन्निभैः॥४५॥

सर्वधातुविचित्रैश्च मणिविद्रुमभूषितैः।

अन्यैश्च विविधाकारै रम्यैर्जनपदैस्तथा॥४६॥

The Kuśadvīpa is very great in circumference. It is full of rivers, lakes and snow clad mountains, in which are to be found various kinds of minerals, gems, trees and countries (janapadas).

वृक्षैः पुष्पफलोपेतैः सर्वतो धनधान्यवान्।

नित्यं पुष्पफलोपेतः सर्वरत्नसमावृतः॥४७॥

The flowers, fruits, various varieties of trees, grains and wealth are in plenty there. The trees are always full of flowers and fruits; gems of every kind are there.

आवृतः पशुभिः सर्वैर्ग्रामारण्यैश्च सर्वशः।

आनुपूर्व्यात्समासेन कुशद्वीपं निबोधत॥४८॥

अथ तृतीयं वक्ष्यामि कुशद्वीपं च कृत्स्नशः।

कुशद्वीपेन क्षीरोदः सर्वतः परिवारितः॥४९॥

It is also full of domestic and wild animals. Now, hear, by degrees, a brief description of the Kuśa dvīpa. I am going to give you an entire description of the third varṣa,— Kuśadvīpa. It is surrounded on all sides by the Kṣīrasamudra.

शाकद्वीपस्य विस्तारद्विगुणेन समन्वितः।

तत्रापि पर्वताः सप्त विज्ञेया रत्नयोनयः॥५०॥

It is double, in its dimensions, of Śākadvīpa and there are seven mountains containing various kinds of precious stones.

रत्नाकरास्तथा नद्यस्तेषां नामानि ते शृणु।

द्विनामानश्च ते सर्वे शाकद्वीपे यथा तथा॥५१॥

The number of rivers— the home of innumerable gems,— is also seven and the mountains have double names as in Śākadvīpa, viz.—

प्रथमः सूर्यसङ्काशः कुमुदो नाम पर्वतः।

विदुमोच्चय इत्युक्तः स एव च महीधरः॥५२॥

The first is the Mount Kumuda, shining like the Sun and is also called the Vidrumoccaya.

सर्वधातुमयैः शृङ्गैः शिलाजालसमन्वितैः।

द्वितीयः पर्वतस्तत्र उन्नतो नाम विश्रुतः॥५३॥

हेमपर्वत इत्युक्तः स एव च महीधरः।

बलाहकस्तृतीयस्तु जात्यञ्जनमयो गिरिः।

द्युतिमान्नामतः प्रोक्तः स एव च महीधरः॥५५॥

The second mountain, containing all the metals and rocky peaks, is known as the Unnata or Hema and is covered with the yellow orpiment. The third is the Balāhaka or the Dyutimān, full of black pigment or antimony.

चतुर्थः पर्वतो द्रोणो यत्रौषध्यो महागिरौ।

कुशेशय इति प्रोक्तः पुनः स पृथिवीधरः।

दिव्यपुष्पफलोपेतो दिव्यवीरुत्समन्वितः॥५८॥

The fourth is the Droṇa mountain, also known as the Puṣpavān, on the summit of which there are medicinal herbs efficacious in curing the wounds caused by the arrows (Viśalyakaraṇī) as well as the herbs that give new life (Mṛtasañjīvanī). The fifth one is the Kaṅka or the Kuśaiśaya mountain. It is also full of choice herbs, fruits, flowers and creepers.

षष्ठस्तु पर्वतस्तत्र महिषो मेघसन्निभः।

स एव तु पुनः प्रोक्तो हरिरित्यभिविश्रुतः॥५९॥

तस्मिन्सोऽग्निर्निवसति महिषो नाम योऽप्सुजः।

प्रजापतिमुपादाय प्रजाभ्यो विदधत्स्वयम्।

तेषामन्तरविष्कम्भो द्विगुणः समुदाहृतः॥६३॥

The sixth one is the Mahiṣa or the Hari. It is black like the clouds; and Mahiṣa Agni (volcano?) begotten from the water (rising from the sea?) lives there (in the form of fire). And the seventh one is the Kukudmāna also known as the Mandara. It is full of all kinds of minerals and precious stones, guarded by Indra Himself. The root 'manda' means water and since it scatters water, it is called Mandara, in company of Brahmā, for the good of the people. The internal dimensions of these mountains are double.

इत्येते पर्वताः सप्त कुशद्वीपे प्रभाषिताः।

तेषां वर्षाणि वक्ष्यामि सप्तैव तु विभागशः॥६४॥

. These are the seven mountains of Kuśadvīpa and now their sub-divisions will be enumerated.

कुमुदस्य स्मृतः श्वेत उन्नतश्चैव स स्मृतः।

उन्नतस्य तु विज्ञेयं वर्षं लोहितसंज्ञकम्॥६५॥

वेणुमण्डलकञ्चैव तथैव परिकीर्तितम्।
बलाहकस्य जीमूतः स्वैरथाकारमित्यपि॥६६॥
द्रोणस्य हरिकं नाम लवणं च पुनः स्मृतम्।
कङ्कस्यापि ककुत्नाम धृतिमच्चैव तत्स्मृतम्॥६७॥

Śvetadvīpa is the name of the region where lies the Kumuda mountain. It is also known as Unnata. The second one is the Lohitakhaṇḍa also called the Veṇumaṇḍala, where lies the Unnata mountain. Jīmūta or Svairathākāra is the khaṇḍa of the Balāhaka mountain. Harika or Lavaṇa is the khaṇḍa of the Droṇa mountain. Kakuda or Dhṛtimat is the khaṇḍa of the Kaṅka mountain.

महिषं महिषस्यापि पुनश्चापि प्रभाकरम्।
ककुद्मिनस्तु तद्वर्षं कपिलं नाम विश्रुतम्॥६८॥

Mahiṣa or Prabhākara is the khaṇḍa of the Mahiṣa mountain and Kakudmāna or Kapila is the khaṇḍa of the mountain Kakudmān.

एतान्यपि विशिष्टानि सप्त सप्त पृथक् पृथक्।
वर्षाणि पर्वताश्चैव नदीस्तेषु निबोधत॥६९॥

Thus in every dvīpa there are seven khaṇḍas with an equal number of rivers and mountains.

तत्रापि नद्यः सप्तैव प्रतिवर्षं हि ताः स्मृताः।
द्विनामवत्यस्ताः सर्वाः सर्वाः पुण्यजलाः स्मृताः॥७०॥

There are seven rivers in each khaṇḍa. Their waters are pure and sacred and each one has a duplicate name.

धूतपापा नदी नाम योनिश्चैव पुनः स्मृता।
सीता द्वितीया विज्ञेया सा चैव हि निशा स्मृता॥७१॥

The first one is Dhūtapāpā which is also known as Yoni. Sītā or Nīśā is the second.

पवित्रा तृतीया विज्ञेया वितृष्णापि च या पुनः।
चतुर्थी ह्लादिनीत्युक्ता चन्द्रभा इति च स्मृता॥७२॥

The third one is Pavitrā also called Vitrṣṇā. The fourth one is Hlādinī or Candrabhā.

विद्युच्च पंचमी प्रोक्ता शुक्ला चैव विभाव्यते।
पुण्ड्रा षष्ठी तु विज्ञेया पुनश्चैव विभावती॥७३॥

The fifth one is Vidyuta or Śuklā, the sixth one is Puṇḍrā or Vibhāvātī.

महती सप्तमी प्रोक्ता पुनश्चैषा धृतिः स्मृता।

अन्यास्ताभ्योऽपि सञ्जाताः शतशोऽथ सहस्रशः॥७४॥

The seventh one is Mahatī also called Dhṛti. There are thousands of their branches that run where Indra pours down rains.

अभिगच्छन्ति ता नद्यो यतो वर्षति वासवः।
इत्येष सन्निवेशो वः कुशद्वीपस्य वर्णितः॥७५॥

शाकद्वीपेन विस्तारः प्रोक्तस्तस्य सनातनः।

कुशद्वीपः समुद्रेण घृतमण्डोदकेन च॥७६॥

Thus I have described the Kuśadvīpa. Its measurement has been described while describing the measurement of Śākadvīpa. It is surrounded by the Ghṛtamaṇḍa sea.

सर्वतः सुमहान्द्वीपश्चन्द्रवत्परिवेष्टितः।

विस्तारान्मण्डलाच्चैव क्षीरोदाद्विगुणो मतः॥७७॥

This huge dvīpa, thus surrounded, looks like the moon and is twice as great as the Kṣīra Samudra (sea) in its magnitude.

ततः परं प्रवक्ष्यामि क्रौञ्चद्वीपं यथा तथा।

कुशद्वीपस्य विस्ताराद्विगुणस्तस्य विस्तरः॥७८॥

Now I shall speak of the Krauñcadvīpa which is double the size of Kuśadvīpa.

घृतोदकः समद्रो वै क्रौञ्चद्वीपेन संवृतः।

चक्रनेमिप्रमाणेन वृतो वृत्तेन सर्वशः॥७९॥

This Krauñcadvīpa surrounds the Ghṛtodaka ocean like the tyre of a wheel.

तस्मिन्द्वीपे नराः श्रेष्ठा देवनो गिरिरुच्यते।

देवनात्परतश्चापि गोविन्दो नाम पर्वतः॥८०॥

The people of this Dvīpa are of a superior class. Devana is the first mountain beyond which stands the Govinda.

गोविन्दात्परतश्चापि क्रौञ्चस्तु प्रथमो गिरिः।

क्रौञ्चात्परे पावनकः पावनादन्धकारकः॥८१॥

Further on, from Govinda is the beautiful Krauñca mountain, after which is the Pāvanaka and beyond it is the Andhakāraka.

अन्धकारात्परे चापि देवावृन्नाम पर्वतः।

 एते रत्नमयाः सप्त क्रौञ्चद्वीपस्य पर्वताः।
 परस्परस्य द्विगुणो विष्कम्भो वर्षपर्वतः॥८३॥

Next to Andhakāraka is the Devāvṛta mountain, after which comes the mighty Puṇḍarīka. All these seven mountains of the Krauñca Dvīpa are full of gems, each being twice the size of that preceding it.

वर्षाणि तस्य वक्ष्यामि नामतस्तु निबोधत।

The sub-divisions of that dvīpa are— Kuśāla, Manonuga, Vāmana, Uṣṇa, Pāvanaka, Andhakāraka, Munideśa and Dundubhisvana. Dundubhisvana khaṇḍa is full of fair complexioned men, and peopled by holy persons, and siddhas and cāraṇas. There is a sacred river in each khaṇḍa.

गौरी कुमुद्वती चैव सन्ध्या रात्रिर्मनोजवा।
 ख्याती च पुण्डरीका च गङ्गा सप्तविधा स्मृता॥८८॥

They are— Gaurī, Kumudvatī, Sandhyā, Rātri, Manojavā, Khyātī, Puṇḍarīkā. They are known as the seven Gaṅgā.

तासां सहस्रशश्चान्या नद्यः पार्श्वसमीपगाः।

Thousands of rivers arising out of them flow close by. All of them are very deep. Nobody, even in course of centuries, would be able to describe fully all the countries through which these rivers pass, with the rise, growth and decay of the people inhabiting them.

अत ऊर्ध्वं प्रवक्ष्यामि शाल्मलस्य निबोधत॥९१॥
 शाल्मलो द्विगुणो द्वीपः क्रौञ्चद्वीपस्य विस्तरात्।

I shall now describe to you the Śālmaladvīpa, which is double the size of Krauñca, and is surrounded by the Dadhi Ocean.

तत्र पुण्या जनपदाश्चिराच्च प्रियते जनः।
 कुत एव तु दुर्भिक्षं क्षमातेजोयुता हि ते॥९३॥

The people residing in the sacred janapadas of that region are very long-lived. There are no visitations of famine there, and the inhabitants of that place are very forbearing, merciful and illustrious.

प्रथमः सूर्यसङ्काशः सुमना नाम पर्वतः।

 प्रजापतिमुपादाय प्रसन्नो विदधत्स्वयम्।
 न तत्र मेघा वर्षन्ति शीतोष्णं च न तद्विधम्॥९८॥

The following are the mountains of that region— The Sumanā, shining like the sun, and of yellow colour. Kumbhamaya, the central one is also called Sarvasukha. It is full of herbs. The third is the great Rohita, of red hue (like that of Bhṛṅga patra) and full of gold. The Kuśāla is the varṣā of the Sumanā mountain, while Sukhodoya is that of Kumbhamaya and Rohiṇa of the Rohita mountain, the precious stones of which are under the direct watch and ward of Indra, who, with Prajāpati, gladly performs his duty there. Clouds do not rain there, there is neither summer nor winter.

वर्णाश्रमाणां वार्ता वा त्रिषु द्वीपेषु विद्यते।

न ग्रहो न च चन्द्रोऽस्तु ईर्ष्यासूया भयं तथा॥ ९९॥

There is no prevalence of the Varna or Āśrama in those regions. No stars, planets or the moon shine there, nor is there any such thing as jealousy, hatred or fear.

उद्भिदान्युदकान्यत्र गिरिप्रस्रवणानि च।

भोजनं षड्रसं तत्र तेषां स्वयमुपस्थितम्॥ १००॥

There are fountains in the mountains, other sources of water, as well as the vegetable world. The people of this region obtain the best victuals of all the six flavours, without making any efforts on their part.

अधमोत्तमं न तेष्वस्ति न लोभो न परिग्रहः।

आरोग्यबलवन्तश्च एकान्तसुखिनो नराः॥ १०१॥

The people there are all of equal rank, neither high nor low, they are not greedy; nor do they store things.

त्रिंशद्वर्षसहस्राणि मानसीं सिद्धिमास्थिताः।

सुखमायुश्च रूपं च धर्मैश्चर्यं तथैव च॥ १०२॥

They are all healthy, powerful and happy, attaining all siddhis of the mind, for a period of 30,000 years.

The next three Dvīpas enjoy the same happiness, life, beauty, virtue and prosperity. Thus I have described all the sacred Dvīpas up to Śālmala (i.e., five). The Śālmaladvīpa is encircled by the Surā Ocean, which is twice its size.

CHAPTER 123

Description of Gomedaka and Puṣkaradvīpa

सूत उवाच

गोमेदकं प्रवक्ष्यामि षष्ठं द्वीपं तपोधनाः।

सुरोदकसमुद्रस्तु गोमेदेन समावृतः॥ १॥

शाल्मलस्य तु विस्ताराद्विगुणस्तस्य विस्तरः।

तस्मिन्द्वीपे तु विज्ञेयौ पर्वतौ द्वौ समाहितौ॥ २॥

Sūta said— O Ṛṣis of Tapovana, now I am going to speak about the sixth Gomedaka-dvīpa. The Surodaka-sāgara is surrounded by Gomedaka-dvīpa. The area of its expansion is three times of Śālmali-dvīpa, in which there are two mountains with high peaks. You should know about it.

प्रथमः सुमना नाम जात्यञ्जनमयोगिरिः।

द्वितीयः कुमुदो नाम सर्वौषधिसमन्वितः॥ ३॥

Out of these two, one is known as Sumana. This mountain is black like collyrium, while the other one is known as Kumuda, having all types of auśadhis grown over it.

शातकौम्भमयः श्रीमन् विज्ञेयः सुमहाचितः।

समुद्रेक्षुरसोदेन वृतो गोमेदकश्च सः॥ ४॥

षष्ठेन तु समुद्रेण सुरोदाद्विगुणेन च।

धातकी^१ कुमुदश्चैव हव्यपुत्रौ सुविस्तृतौ॥ ५॥

It is gold like graceful and has enough of trees and greenery. The Gomedaka-dvīpa as compared to the sixth Surodasāgara, has double the area and is surrounded by Ikṣura-sodasāgara. There are two vast regions in it known as Dhātakī as well as Havyaputra.

सौमनं प्रथमं वर्षं धातकीखण्डमुच्यते।

धातकिनः स्मृतं तद्वै प्रथमं प्रथमस्य तु॥ ६॥

The first varṣa of Sumana mountain is called Dhātakī khaṇḍa. The first mountain of Dhātakī is also known as the first varṣa.

1. Wood Fordia Floribunda.

गोमेदं यत्स्मृतं वर्षं नाम्ना सर्वसुखं तु तत्।
कुमुदस्य द्वितीयस्य द्वितीयं कुमुदं ततः॥७॥

The varṣa known as Gomeda, is also known as Sarvasukha. After that the second Kumudaparvatra region is known by the name of Kumuda.

एतौ द्वौ पर्वतौ वृत्तौ शेषौ सर्वसमुच्छ्रितौ।
पूर्वेण तस्य द्वीपस्य सुमनाः पर्वतः स्थितः॥८॥
प्राक्पश्चिमायतैः पादैरासपुद्रादिति स्थितः।
पश्चार्द्धे कुमुदस्तस्य एवमेव स्थितस्तु वै॥९॥

Both the mountains are higher than the other mountains. In the eastern region of the Gomeda-dvīpa, the mountain of Susumna is lodged which is extended from east to the western ocean. Thus in the west half of this Dvīpa the mountain named Kusuda is located.

एतैः पर्वतपादैस्तु स देशो वै द्विधाकृतः।
दक्षिणार्द्धे तु द्वीपस्य धातकीखण्डमुच्यते॥१०॥

At the foot of these mountains, the country is divided into two parts. The southern half of this dvīpa is called dhātakī-khaṇḍa.

कुमुदं तूत्तरे तस्य द्वितीयं वर्षमुत्तमम्।
एतौ जनपदौ द्वौ तु गोमेदस्य तु विस्तृतौ॥११॥

To the northern half of the same there is the second excellent varṣa also known as Kumuda. Both the regions of Gomeda, are considered to be quite vast.

अतः परं प्रवक्ष्यामि सप्तमं द्वीपमुत्तमम्।
समुद्रेश्वरसं चैव गोमेदाद्विगुणं हि सः॥१२॥
आवृत्य तिष्ठति द्वीपः पुष्करः पुष्करैर्वृतः।
पुष्करेण वृतः श्रीमांश्चित्रसानुर्महागिरिः॥१३॥

Hereafter I shall speak about the seventh and the best of the Dvīpas, which having been filled with the lotus flowers is known by the name of Puṣkara. It is double in size as compared to Gomeda-dvīpa and is located surrounding Ikṣurasodaka ocean. In the Puṣkara-dvīpa there is a great mountain with astonishing peaks.

कूटैश्चित्रैर्मणिमयैः शिलाजालसमुद्भवैः।
द्वीपस्यैव तु पूर्वार्द्धे चित्रसानुः स्थिता महान्॥१४॥

It looks graceful with types of peaks with astonishing heaps of rocks. This great mountain is located in the eastern half of Citrasānu-dvīpa.

परिमण्डलसहस्राणि विस्तीर्णः सप्तविंशतिः।
ऊर्ध्वं स वै चतुर्विंशद्योजनानां महाबलः॥१५॥

This great mountain is spread in the twenty seven yojanas and is twenty four yojanas in height.

द्वीपार्द्धस्य परिक्षिप्तः पश्चिमे मानसो गिरिः।
स्थितो वेलासमीपे तु पूर्वचन्द्र इवोदितः॥१६॥

The western half is covered by the Mānasa mountain, which looks like a full moon rising near the sea coast.

योजनानां सहस्राणि सार्द्धं पञ्चाशदुच्छ्रितः।
तस्य पुत्रो महावीतः पश्चिमार्द्धस्य रक्षिता॥१७॥

Its height is 5,500 yojanas. The mount Mahāvīta is its son which guards the western portion of this region.

पूर्वार्द्धे पर्वतस्यापि द्विधा देशस्तु स स्मृतः।
स्वादूदकेनोदधिना पुष्करः परिवारितः॥१८॥

The half of the region lying east of this mountain is divided into two parts. The Puṣkaradvīpa is surrounded by the sea, the water of which is tasteful.

विस्तारान्मण्डलाच्चैव गोमेदाद्विगुणेन तु।
त्रिंशद्वर्षसहस्राणि तेषु जीवन्ति मानवाः॥१९॥

Its dimensions are double of the Gomedadadvīpa. The people of this dvīpa live up to 30,000 years.

विपर्ययो न तेष्वस्ति एतत्स्वाभाविकं स्मृतम्।
आरोग्यं सुखबाहुल्यं मानसीं सिद्धिमास्थिताः॥२०॥

There are no exceptional changes there to this natural rule and the people are healthy, happy and have attained perfection in all the qualities of the mind.

मुखमायुश्च रूपं च त्रिषु द्वीपेषु सर्वशः।

अधमोत्तमौ न तेष्वास्तां तुल्या ते वीर्यरूपतः॥ २१॥

The people of the three superior dvīpas are all equal in happiness, life, beauty and bravery. There is no air of superiority or inferiority in them.

न तत्र वध्यवधकौ नेर्ष्यासूया भयं तथा।

न लोभो न च दम्भो वा न च द्वेषः परिग्रहः॥ २२॥

Besides this, there is none to kill or be killed there, and there is a total absence of hatred, envy, fear, greed, pride, hypocrisy, enmity, etc.

सत्यानृते न तेष्वास्तां धर्माधर्मौ तथैव च।

वर्णाश्रमाणां वार्त्ता च पाशुपाल्यं वणिक् कृषिः॥ २३॥

They are free from the differentiation of truth and untruth, virtue and vice. The order of Varna and Āśrama, the practice of rearing up domestic animals, trade, husbandry are also not in existence there.

त्रयीविद्या दण्डनीतिः शूश्रूषा दण्ड एव च।

न तत्र वर्षं नद्यो वा शीतोष्णं च न विद्यते॥ २४॥

उद्भिदान्युदकानि स्युर्गिरिप्रस्रवणानि च।

तुल्योत्तरकुरूणां तु कालस्तत्र तु सर्वदा॥ २५॥

The three kinds of knowledge, criminal laws and punishments are also not known there. It does not rain there, neither there are rivers in that region. The climate is also not influenced by heat or cold. The water supply and plant life of the country depends on the hill waterfalls. The seasons are the same as in Uttara Kuru.

सर्वतः सुखकालोऽसौ जराक्लेशविवर्जितः।

सर्गस्तु धातकीखण्डे महावीते तथैव च॥ २६॥

Happiness pervades all round. The troubles of old age are also unknown there. Such is the life in the Dhātakī and Mahāvīta Khaṇḍas.

एवं द्वीपाः समुद्रैस्तु सप्त सप्तभिरावृताः।

द्वीपस्यानन्तरो यस्तु समुद्रस्तत्समस्तु वै॥ २७॥

एवं द्वीपसमुद्राणां वृद्धिर्जेया परस्परम्।

अपां चैव समुद्रेकात्समुद्र इति संज्ञितः॥ २८॥

Thus the seven dvīpas are surrounded by the seven oceans. The dimensions of a dvīpa tally with the dimensions of the sea preceding it (i.e., surrounded by it). Both the dvīpas and the oceans have thus gradually grown in magnitude, a vast store of waters being called the ocean.

ऋषद्वसन्त्यो वर्षेषु प्रजा यत्र चतुर्विधाः।

ऋषिरित्येव रमणे वर्षन्त्येतेन तेषु वै॥ २९॥

The root 'Rṣi' means to wander about in happiness; hence in these Varṣas all the four classes of people live happily.

उदयतीन्दौ पूर्वे तु समुद्रः पूर्यते सदा।

प्रक्षीयमाणे बहुले क्षीयतेऽस्तमिते च वै॥ ३०॥

आपूर्यमाणो ह्युदधिरात्मनैवाभिपूर्यते।

ततो वै क्षीयमाणे तु स्वात्मन्येव ह्यपां क्षयः॥ ३१॥

When the moon rises in the East, the sea begins to swell. The sea becomes less when the moon wanes. When the sea swells, it does so with its own waters (and not with additional water) and when it subsides, its swelling is lost in its own water (and does not actually lose any water).

उदयात्ययसां योगात्पुष्पान्त्यापो यथा स्वयम्।

तथा स तु समुद्रोऽपि वर्द्धते शशिनोदये॥ ३२॥

अन्यूनानतिरिक्तात्मा वर्द्धन्त्यापो हसन्ति च।

अपां वृद्धिः क्षयो दृष्टः समुद्राणां तु पर्वसु।

द्विरापत्वात्स्मृतो द्वीपो दधनाच्चोदधिः स्मृतः॥ ३५॥

On the rising of the moon, the sea increases as if its waters have really increased. During the bright and dark fortnights, the sea heaves at the waxing of the moon and becomes placid at the wane of it, but the store of the water remains the same. The sea rises and falls, according to the phases of the moon, and 150 angulis (three-forths of inches, or 112 and half inches) is the measure of its rise and fall, on the two parva days (i.e., full moon and new moon days respectively). The place between two seas is called a dvīpa. The sea is called Udadhi, on account of its containing water.

निगीर्णत्वाच्च गिरयो पर्वबन्धाच्च पर्वताः।

शाकद्वीपे तु वैशाकः पर्वतस्तेन चोच्यते॥३६॥

The mountains are called Giri because they swallow (i.e., hide everything Nigīrṇa); and because they fill up (space), therefore they are called Parvata. The Mount Śāka is in Śākadvīpa, and is named as such.

कुशद्वीपे कुशस्तम्बो मध्ये जनपदस्य तु।

क्रौञ्चद्वीपे गिरिः क्रौञ्चस्तस्य नाम्ना निगद्यते॥३७॥

Thus is Kuśastamba in the midst of the janapada in Kuśadvīpa. The mount Krauñca stands in Krauñcadvīpa, and is named after it.

शाल्मलिः शाल्मलद्वीपे पूज्यते स महादुमः।

गोमेदके तु गोमेदः पर्वतस्तेन चोच्यते॥३८॥

A gigantic Śālmali tree stands in Śālmalidvīpa and there is the mount Gomeda in the dvīpa of that name.

न्यग्रोधः पुष्करद्वीपे पद्मवत्तेन स स्मृतः।

पूज्यते स महादेवैर्ब्रह्मांशोऽव्यक्तसम्भवः॥३९॥

तस्मिन् स वसति ब्रह्मा साध्यैः सार्द्धं प्रजापतिः।

तत्र देवा उपासन्ते त्रयस्त्रिंशन्महर्षिभिः॥४०॥

There is a banyan tree in the shape of a lotus in Puṣkaradvīpa. The banyan tree has sprung up from the potency of Brahmā, and is adored by all the Devas; but really its origin is hidden in mystery. Prajāpati Brahmā resides in Puṣkaradvīpa in company of the Sādhyā. He is adored by the 33 Devas, along with the Brahmarṣis.

स तत्र पूज्यते देवो देवैर्महर्षिसत्तमैः।

जम्बूद्वीपात् प्रवर्तन्ते रत्नानि विविधानि च॥४१॥

द्वीपेषु तेषु सर्वेषु प्रजानां क्रमशस्तु वै।

आर्ज्जवाद्ब्रह्मचर्येण सत्येन च दमेन च॥४२॥

आरोग्यायुष्मन्माणाभ्यां द्विगुणं द्विगुणं ततः।

द्वीपेषु तेषु सर्वेषु यथोक्तं वर्षकेषु च॥४३॥

गोपायन्ते प्रजास्तत्र सर्वैः सहजपण्डितैः।

भोजनं चाप्रयत्नेन सदा स्वयमुपस्थितम्॥४४॥

Thus all the great Rṣis and the Devas worship Brahmā there. Various kinds of jewels are produced in Jambūdvīpa and circulated therefrom to other dvīpas. The people of these dvīpas, in order of their precedence, excel one another twofold in simplicity, chastity, truthfulness, self-control, health, and long life. In all the sub-divisions of those dvīpas the inhabitants are protected by their own natural learning. They all get their food without any care to obtain it.

षड्रसं तन्महावीर्यं तत्र ते भुञ्जते जनाः।

प्रकाशश्चाप्रकाशश्च लोकालोकः स उच्यते।

आलोकस्तत्र चार्वाक् च निरालोकस्ततः परम्॥४७॥

They eat the wholesome food, of the six flavours. Beyond Puṣkaradvīpa is the sea of sweet water surrounding it, behind which is the mount Lokāloka, both dark and bright, and at some part it is lighted up, while the other part beyond it is full of darkness.

लोकविस्तारमात्रं तु पृथिव्यार्द्धं तु बाह्यतः।

प्रतिच्छन्नं समन्तात्तु उदकेनावृतं महत्॥४८॥

It takes up the outer half of the populated land and is surrounded on all sides by the sea.

भूमेर्दशगुणाश्चापः समन्तात् पालयन्ति गाम्।

अद्भ्यो दशगुणश्चाग्निः सर्वतो धारयत्यपः॥४९॥

The water is ten times land and it protects the earth from all directions. The fire is ten times water which is upheld by the former everywhere.

अग्नेर्दशगुणो वायुर्धारयज्ज्योतिरास्थितः।

तिर्यक् च मण्डलो वायुर्भूतान्यावेष्ट्य धारयन्॥५०॥

The air is ten times fire which it holds. It spreads itself at an angle in the space where it encircles and holds the beings.

दशाधिकं तथाकाशं वायोर्भूतान्यधारयत्।

भूतादि धारयन् व्योम तस्माद्दशगुणस्तु वै॥५१॥

भूतोदितो दशगुणं महद्भूतान्यधारयत्।

महत्तत्त्वं ह्यनन्तेन अव्यक्तेन तु धार्यते॥५२॥

आधाराधेयभावेन विकारास्ते विकारिणाम्।

पृथ्व्यादयो विकारास्ते परिच्छिन्नाः परस्परम्॥५३॥

The Sky which is ten times the air, holds all beings; and ten times greater is Bhutādi (Ahaṅkara) which surrounds the Ākāśa, and ten times the Bhutādi is Mahākāśa which stands holding them in turn, while it is itself held by the unmanifested eternal. The mahatattva, etc., are called vikāra and vikārī (producer of change and that in which the change is produced) in turn in relation to the support each gives and takes from the other.

परस्पराधिकाश्चैव प्रविष्टाश्च परस्परम्।

एवं परस्परोत्पन्ना धार्यन्ते च परस्परम्॥५४॥

यस्मात् प्रविष्टास्तेऽन्योन्यं तस्मात्ते स्थिरतां गतः।

आसंस्ते ह्यविशेषाश्च विशेषा अन्यवेशनात्॥५५॥

The Vikāras, such as earth, etc., are circumscribed and limited, and each is greater than one preceding it which it permeates; each is produced from the other and is upheld by it. They are held together by their mutual attraction. They are really separate (molecules), but by mutual contact look welded into one homogenous whole.

पृथ्व्यादयस्तु वाय्वन्ताः परिच्छिन्नास्तु तत्र ते।

भूतेभ्यः परतस्तेभ्यो ह्यलोकः सर्वतः स्मृतः॥५६॥

Of these, the elements, earth, water, fire and air, are well defined and limited. The higher elements are only seen as lights.

तथा ह्यलोक आकाशे परिच्छिन्नानि सर्वशः।

पात्रे महति पात्राणि यथा ह्यन्तर्गतानि च॥५७॥

भवन्त्यन्योन्यहीनानि परस्परसमाश्रयात्।

तथा ह्यलोक आकाशे भेदास्त्वन्तर्गतागताः॥५८॥

कृतान्येतानि तत्त्वानि अन्योन्यस्याधिकानि च।

यावदेतानि तत्त्वानि तावदुत्पत्तिरुच्यते॥५९॥

जन्तूनामिह संस्कारो भूतेष्वन्तर्गतेषु वै।

प्रत्याख्यायेह भूतानि कार्योत्पत्तिर्न विद्यते॥६०॥

These lights, i.e., Ākāśa and others elements, too, are well defined. But, like smaller leaves which, though separate are not separately seen, being concealed in a larger vessel, these higher light-like elements, though separate and each supporting the other, are not visualised as such. They too excel each other, in the order of their precedence. The creation of the universe depends on their existence. The origin of life is in these Tattvas; hence without them there can be no life and action.

तस्मात् परिमिता भेदाः स्मृताः कार्यात्मकास्तु वै।

ते कारणात्मकश्चैव स्युर्भेदा महदादयः॥६१॥

Thus we understand that these elements, Mahat, etc., partake of twofold characters, viz., cause and effect.

इत्येवं सन्निवेशोऽयं पृथ्व्याक्रान्तस्तु भागशः।

एतावत् सन्निवेशस्तु मया सम्यक् प्रकाशितः।

एतावदेव श्रोतव्यं सन्निवेशस्य पार्थिव॥६४॥

The position of the Earth and its circumference, with seven Dvīpas and their extent, circumference and other measurements have thus been described. Such is the situation of only one part of the universal Pradhāna Tattva, O King! this much is to be heard of the position, etc., of the Earth. I shall next tell you about the movements of the Sun and the Moon.

I shall impress upon you again and again about the magnitude of the sun and the moon. Because of the magnitude the word mahat has been used in this connection. The circumference of the sun is equal to the diameter of Bharatavarṣa (?) It is 90,000 yojanas in diameter and three times as much in circumference.

The moon is twice as much bigger in circumference and diameter of the sun(?) I shall now speak out the measurements in yojanas of the terrestrial globe, comprising of the seven dvīpas, and the seven oceans as stated in the Purāṇas.

I shall now speak on the Sampratas as well as the Abhimanīs(?) Abhimaī gods of the past ages, are equal in number of Sampratas in the form and the name. Therefore I shall describe the surface of the earth and the Sāmpratas in their entire distribution. The entire magnitude of the earth is fifty crores of yojanas.

In other words, the Earth has the same measurement as the Heaven. To the east of Meru, on the Mānasottara mountain, is Vastveka-Sārā, the city of Mahendra. It is full of gold. To the south of Meru is the city of Dharmarāja, called the Samyamana, on the back of the Mānasa mountain. Vaivasvata Dharmarāja resides there. To the west of Sumeru, on the top of the Mānasa mountain, is the fair city of Varuṇa named Suṣā.

North of the Meru, on the top of the Mānasa mountain, is the Vibhāvarī city of Moon (Sīrnea). It is like the city of Mahendra. To the north of the Mānasa mountain, are the Lokapālas in the four directions, for the propagation of virtue and the protection of the universe. At the time of the Dakṣiṇāyana¹, the sun travels over the Lokapālas. Now hear about it. This sun, with the Jyotiścakra (circle of light?) travels southwards, at the speed of a swift arrow let loose from the bow. When He reaches the centre of Amarāvatī then He is seen to be rising in the Dharmarāja's Saṁyamapurī, to be setting in Vibhāvarī. That is the midnight time in Suṣāpurī.

When it is midday in Dharmarājas city of Saṁyama, it is dawn in the Suṣāpurī of Varuṇa. When there is midnight in Vibhāvarī, it is sunset in the city of Indra. When it is midday in the Suṣāpurī of Varuṇa, the sun rises in Vibhāvarī. When the sun rises in the Amarāvatī of Indra, it is midnight in the Saṁyama of Dharmarāja and sunset in the city of Varuṇa. Thus, like a fiery wheel, the sun moves with great rapidity and even visits the pleiades (the Great Bear). He thus goes round the (Mānas) on four sides.

The sun goes regularly to his two abodes, Udayā (rising) and Astamaya (setting) and his rays fall on three cities of the Devas, in the morning, at noon, and in the afternoon respectively. The rays of the rising sun grow stronger and stronger until at noon they reach their greatest intensity. After noon time He trudges along with subdued rays until He sets down. The sunrise and the sunset create east and west respectively.

The sun gives out heat equally in all directions, in the front, sideways and backward. He is said to rise at a place where He is first seen and set where He (finally) disappears. The mount Meru is northernmost place, though south of the Lokāloka mountain. He is at a vast distance from the Earth and His rays too in their passage here (are obstructed by) go to other things; consequently, He is not visible at night.

It is 3,21,00,000 yojanas. In the month of Śrāvaṇa, the sun in his northern course travels over Puṣkaradvīpa, which is beyond the Gomēdadvīpa. The extent of the northern, southern and the middle of this journey should be noted as below. Jaradgava is in the middle, Airāvata in the north and Vaiśvānara in the south. Nāgavīthī is the Uttarāvīthī (i.e. northern course begins with Nagavīthī?). Ajavīthī is the Dakṣiṇāvīthī, with Ajavīthī begins the southward course? The asterisms Pūrvāṣāḍha and Uttarāṣāḍha, as well as the Mūlā, Āśvinī, Bharanī and Kṛttikā form the Nāgavīthī. Rohiṇī, Ārdrā and Mṛgaśīra are also Nāgavīthī². In other words, the three vīthīs of which Abhijit is the East, namely, Ajavīthī, Mṛgavīthī and Vaiśvānaravīthī form the southern course. While the three vīthīs beginning with Nāgavīthī form the northern course. And when the sun passes on to the asterism Puṣya, Aśleṣā and Hastā, Svātī and Citrā are the Ajavīthī; Jyēṣṭhā, Viśākhā and Maitra are the Mṛgavīthī; Mūlā, Pūrva and Uttara Āṣāḍha are the Vaiśvānaravīthī.

This is 31,03,300 yojanas. Now hear of this distance along the course, south and north of the equator. Such distance between the ecliptics and the equators in the centre is 1,025 yojanas (i.e., between the solstices and the equator). The sun travelling north and south of the (equatorial) line has a course of 8,000 maṇḍalas during Uttarāyana; but its southern course, called also the outward course, is similarly traversed by the sun.

 अहस्तु चरते नाभेः सूर्यो वै मण्डलं क्रमात्।
 कुलालचक्रपर्यन्तो यथा चन्द्रो रविस्तथा॥६९॥

Now hear of the magnitude of these maṇḍalas. Each maṇḍala is 18,058 yojanas in extent, being obliquely inclined to the equator. In the nave (or centre) of the maṇḍala, the sun completes one rotation in a day, like the potter's wheel; such is the case with the moon also.

दक्षिणे चक्रवत्सूर्यस्तथा शीघ्रं निवर्तते।
 तस्मात्प्रकृष्टां भूमिं तु कालेनाल्पेन गच्छति॥७०॥

In His Dakṣiṇāyana march, the sun travels very fast, like a wheel, and that is why he traverses over a vast area within such a short duration.

सूर्यो द्वादशभिः शीघ्रं मुहूर्तैर्दक्षिणायने।
 त्रयोदशार्द्धमृक्षाणां मध्ये चरति मण्डलम्॥७१॥
 मुहूर्तैस्तानि ऋक्षाणि नक्तमष्टादशैश्चरन्।
 कुलालचक्रमध्यस्थो यथा मन्दं प्रसर्पति॥७२॥

In other words, the sun in his southward course rapidly goes over thirteen and a half asterisms in 12 muhūrtas (in day time), and in 18 muhūrtas at night, in travelling comparatively at a slower speed, like the lump of clay in the centre of the potter's wheel.

 त्रयोदशानां मध्ये तु ऋक्षाणां चरते रविः।
 मुहूर्तैस्तानि ऋक्षाणि रात्रौ द्वादशभिश्चरन्॥७४॥

In His Uttarāyana course, the sun moves on slowly and consequently, He is only able to cover a short distance during a long time. Then he goes over only 13 (and a half?) asterisms in 18 muhūrtas in day time, and at night He goes over the same number of asterisms in 12 muhūrtas¹.

ततो मन्दतरं ताभ्यां चक्रं तु भ्रमते पुनः।
 मृत्पिण्ड इव मध्यस्थो भ्रमतेऽसौ ध्रुवस्तथा॥७५॥

Like the mound of clay on potter's wheel, the pole star moves more slowly than either of them.

मुहूर्तैस्त्रिंशता तावदहोरात्रं ध्रुवो भ्रमन्।
 उभयोः काष्ठयोर्मध्ये भ्रमते मण्डलानि तु॥७६॥

The pole star completes one day and night of 30 muhūrtas in revolving on the orbit between the two extremes.

उत्तरक्रमणेऽर्कस्य दिवा मन्दगतिः स्मृता।
 तस्यैव तु पुनर्नक्तं शीघ्रा सूर्यस्य वै गतिः॥७७॥

When the sun is on His Uttarāyana course, His movement in the day is slower and in the night it is faster.

1. In other words, the total length of the day and night begin 30 muhūrtas, a muhūrta is equal to 5/4 of an hour. The longest day, i.e., 21st June, is said to be of 18 muhūrtas, or 14 hours, 24 minutes, when the shortest night will be of 12 muhūrtas, or 9 hours and 36 minutes. The longest night will be 14 hours, 24 minutes on 21st December, and when the day will be the shortest, i.e., of 9 hours and 36 minutes. This is true for the latitude of 35°N. Looking to the map of India, it is, somewhere in Kāśmīra.

दक्षिणप्रक्रमे वापि दिवा शीघ्रं विधीयते।

And in His Dākṣiṇāyana course, His movement in the day is faster and in the night it is slower.

एवं गतिविशेषेण विभजन् रात्र्यहनि तु।

With this different speed, the sun creates day and night (of different length) in Ajavīthī in the south and on the north the Lokāloka mountain.

The Mount Lokāloka is 10,000 yojanas high and extends sideways and outwards. The mountain is partly illumined and partly dark, and is round in shape; the inner portions of the Lokāloka mountain are illumined by the sun, the moon and the stars. This is the Āloka mountain, and the mount Nirāloka is beyond it.

The verb loka means to see; aloka is opposite of loka. The sun in his journey creates this loka (light) and aloka (darkness); hence this time is called sandhyā (joining light and darkness), i.e., twilight. Uṣā is the night and Vyūṣṭi is the day according to the wise.

One muhūrta consists of 30 kalās, and a day has 15 muhūrtas. The day increases or decreases as the twilight muhūrtas increase or decrease, owing to difference of three muhūrtas in the course of sun's journey through the line (equatorial), etc. (The day is divided into five parts, each of three muhūrtas). The first three muhūrtas is Prātaḥ (morning), the next three muhūrtas, is known as Saṃgava. Three muhūrtas after that is called the Madhyāhna (noon) and a similar number of muhūrtas after it bring about the afternoon called aparā by the sages; this is followed by evening of the last three muhūrtas. The day is of fifteen muhūrtas on the equator.

O King, these Ṛṣis, who originate progeny, begin the works of creation and uplift humanity. They move about in Dakṣiṇāpatha.

सन्ततपसा चैव मर्यादाभिः श्रुतेन च॥१००॥

They establish the order of duty in each yuga (Dharma), when it is disturbed, with their learning, piety and asceticism.

The previous Lokapālas are born in the house of their late compeers. In their absence, the latter take their place in this way; by mutual succession they continue till the destruction of the world. 88,000 of these Ṛṣis, who live the life of a householder, remain on the Dakṣiṇa (south) path of the sun till the end of the world. I have thus enumerated those Ṛṣis whose funeral ceremonies have been performed. According to the usages of the world (to stand as examples) these Ṛṣis (Siddhas) have passed through the experience of birth, feelings of like and dislike, lustful passions, sexual and other worldly enjoyment and death.

The seven Ṛṣis desiring progeny took birth in the age of Dvāpara and conquered death, as they despised the work of propagating children.

88,000 R̥sis have gone into the path of those seven R̥sis by becoming Ūrdhvareta (perpetual celebrates). They will live till the destruction of the world on the northern path of the sun. They became immortal as by their example they taught the people the sacrifice of lust, passion, likes and dislikes, abstaining from procreation, and other worldly enjoyment, by showing their worthlessness. Those who remain till the end of the universe are called immortals. They exist so long as the three worlds exist. Not so the mortals who follow the path of the Māra, such as lust, great sins like the slaying of embryonic cells and great virtues like the performance of Aśvamedha yajña (horse-sacrifice). The immortals or the Ūrdhvaretas go into unconsciousness at the time of the dissolution of the universe, and not before¹.

उर्ध्वोत्तरमृषिभ्यस्तु ध्रुवो यत्रानुसंस्थितः।

एतद्विष्णुपदं दिव्यं तृतीयं व्योम्नि भास्वरम्॥ ११२॥

Dhruva (pole-star) is north of, or above the region of the seven R̥sis. It is the illustrious foot of Viṣṇu. It is third Lightgiver of the world.

यत्र गत्वा न शोचन्ति तद्विष्णोः परमं पदम्।

धर्मे ध्रुवस्य तिष्ठन्ति ये तु लोकस्य कांक्षिणः॥ ११३॥

Those who reach that highest seat of Viṣṇu, transcend all sorrows, so, all those who desire to reach the world of Dhruva, remain in the path of virtue.

1. The three lights of the world are first, the light of the Fathers (Pitrs), second, the light of the ūrdhvaretas (solitaries) and third, the light of Viṣṇu or the Bhaktas, who perform duties for the sake of duty.

CHAPTER 125

Description of the movement of the sun and his chariot

एवं श्रुत्वा कथं दिव्यामबुवँल्लौमहर्षिणम्।

सूर्याचंद्रमसोश्चारं ग्रहाणां चैव सर्वशः॥ १॥

Thus listening to story of the movement of the sun and the moon, besides the planets, Śaunaka and other ṛsis spoke to Sūta, the son of Lomaharṣaṇa.

ऋषय ऊचुः

एतद्वेदितुमिच्छामस्ततो निगद सत्तम॥ ३॥

The R̥sis asked— “O Sūta— the best of the orators, how do the planets and the constellations move about in the solar system? Do they move about collectively or separately? Does anyone make them move, or they move of their own. We are anxious to learn about this secret. You therefore please speak out the same?”

Sūta said— O Sages, this is the subject which confuses the people, because in spite of its being visible, it still confuses the people.

I am going to explain the same. Among the fourteen stars, there is the planetary porpoise or cakra (Śiśumāra). The son of Uthānapāda, has taken the form of this sacrificial post (Medhi) in the sky and is known as Dhruva. It revolves and causes the sun, the moon and other planets revolve as well. The stars also follow it in its wheel-like movement. These luminaries move on owing to the will force of Dhruva, being tied to it by the aerial chord. Their separation and the period of union; rising and setting, disturbances, movements southwards, northwards and in the central region, besides the eclipses are directed by Dhruva.

The clouds of Jīmūta beget life. These clouds remain suspended on the air Āvahana. They change shape, (condensed) and on moving for a yojana from them, they form into rain and are called the source of rain. The clouds Puṣkarāvrata are born out of the wings (of the mountains). These wings are named Puṣkara and preserve in themselves a huge volume of water. Because of this they earn their name. The powerful Indra cut off the wings of the mountains, which could fly at will and caused disaster to the coming generations. These clouds could assume various forms, creating thundering sound, cause excess of rains at the end of the kalpa and could subside the fire. They support the air, are full of immortality and cause the end of kalpa.

तेषां श्रेष्ठश्च पर्जन्यश्चत्वारश्चैव दिग्गजाः॥१७॥

The bursting of the Brahma's egg out of which came forth the four headed Brahmā Himself, produced other clouds; they are the outer crust of egg and are called Megha (clouds). Without distinction their chief source of nourishment is smoke. The most important of them is Parjanya.

There are four elephants too, (Diggaṇā). There are two divisions of elephants (Hasti), mountains (Parvata), clouds (Megha) and serpents (Bhogī). They originally sprang from the same common stock. Their origin lies in water. The Parjanya clouds and Hasti wax during Hemanta season and pour out showers of snow born of cold, to promote the growth of grain.

The sixth air Parivaha is their chief support. The same air holds the Ākāśa-Gaṅgā, whose waters are holy, nectar like and pass in three directions. The elephants hold down (Diggajas) her sacred waters in their bulky trunks and throw them diffused by the air and the same is styled dew. The mount Hemakūṭa is in the south (of Meru?); to the north and south of the snow clad mounts (Himavata) is the Puṇḍra cloud which greatly increases the stock of rain. All the rain formed there converts itself into the snow. The wind on the Himavata draws by its own force these snow flakes and pours them on the great mountains. Beyond the Himavata there is little rain.

इभास्ये च ततः पश्चादिदं भूतविवृद्धये।
 वर्षद्वयं समाख्यातं सम्यग्वृष्टिविवृद्धये॥ २६॥

Next to it is another cloud named Ibhā that helps the growth of beings. These two clouds enhance the amount of rains.

मेघाश्चाप्यायनं चैव सर्वमेतत् प्रकीर्तितम्।
 सूर्य एव तु वृष्टीनां स्रष्टा समुपदिश्यते॥ २७॥

Thus I have described to you the clouds and how they are fed. The Sun is said to be producer of rain.

वर्षं धर्मं हिमं रात्रिं सन्ध्ये चैव दिनं तथा।
 शुभाशुभफलानीह ध्रुवात् सर्वं प्रवर्तते॥ २८॥

Rain, heat and cold; night, evening and day; prosperity and adversity, all originate from Dhruva.

 दह्यमानेषु तेष्वेह जङ्गमस्थावरेषु च।
 धूमभूतास्तु ता ह्यापो निष्क्रामन्तीह सर्वशः॥ ३०॥

The sun from his position draws water of Dhruva in molecular form, remains in the bodies of various beings, and goes out in every direction in the form of smoke when they burn the Sthāvara (immovables) and the Jaṅgamas (moveables).

तेन चाभ्राणि जायन्तो स्थानमभ्रमयं स्मृतम्।
 तेजोभिः सर्वलोकेभ्य आदत्ते रश्मिभिर्जलम्॥ ३१॥

This (smoke) forms itself into clouds. The sun is the centre of clouds. He absorbs the water by His bright rays.

 अभ्रस्थाः प्रपतन्त्यापो वायुना समुदीरिताः॥ ३३॥

His rays with the help of air draw out water from the ocean. But by means of white rays He obtains rain from the clouds in due seasons. The waters from the (vapours) of the clouds when brought into contact of the wind fall in the shape of rain.

ततो वर्षति षण्मासान्सर्वभूतविवृद्धये।
 वायुभिः स्तनितं चैव विद्युतस्त्वग्निजाः स्मृताः॥ ३४॥

Such rain falls for six months for the good of the creation. Wind roars and electricity is produced. Fire is said to be the source of lightning.

मेहनाच्च मिहेर्धातोर्मैघत्वं व्यञ्जयन्ति च।
 न भ्रश्यन्ते ततो ह्यापस्तस्मादभ्रस्य वै स्थितिः।
 स्रष्टाऽसौ वृष्टिसर्गस्य ध्रुवेणाधिष्ठितो रविः॥ ३५॥

Meghas are called so on account of their sprinkling the landscape (with water). This expression is formed from the root Miha (to sprinkle). That which does not throw down water is called Abhra. Hence Abhra is stationary. The sun established by Dhruva is the creator of rain.

ध्रुवेणाधिष्ठितो वायुर्वृष्टिं संहरते पुनः।

अतः सूर्यरथस्यापि सन्निवेशं प्रचक्षते॥ ३७॥

The air from Dhruva drives away the rain. The circle of stars comes out of the sun and the planets moves away from them; in the end, it re-enters the sun established in Dhruva. Hence the chariot of the sun is seen near.

It rests on a wheel with five spokes and three naves (or triple nave). It has eight wheels under the same circumference. They have a common axle dotted with the particles of gold. The sun moves in such a glorious chariot. It extends to a lac of yojanas. The pole (Iṣādaṇḍa) of the chariot is double in its longitude¹.

स तस्य ब्रह्मणा सृष्टो रथो ह्यर्थवशेन तु।

असङ्गः कांचनो दिव्यो युक्तः पवनगैर्हयैः॥ ४०॥

1. Both in the axle and yoke, there are two levers, one horizontal, the other, perpendicular. The horizontal arm of the axle has a wheel at one end; the other extremity is connected with the perpendicular arm. To the horizontal arm of the yoke are harnessed the horses; and its inner or right extremity is secured to the perpendicular. The upper ends of both perpendiculars are supposed to be attached to Dhruva, the polestar, by two aerial cords, which are lengthened in the sun's southern course, and shortened in his northern; and retained by which to Dhruva, as to a pivot, the wheel of the car traverses the summit of the Mānasottara mountain, on Puṣkaradvīpa, which runs, like a ring, round the several continents and oceans. The contrivance is commonly compared to an oil-mill, and was, probably, suggested by that machine, as constructed in India. As the Mānasottara mountain is but 50,000 leagues high, and Meru, 84,000 while Dhruva is 1,500,000 both levers are inclined at obtuse angles to the nave of the wheel and each other. In images of the sun, two equal and semi-circular axles connect a central wheel with the sides of the car.

That chariot of the sun has been created by Brahmā for necessity. It is made of gold, pure and unmixed drawn by most handsome horses that run with the speed of wind.

The success of the sun's chariot is due to the conjunction (with Dhruva). Thus this divine solar chariot moves about in the heaven. The pins of the yoke and axle are on its south. The pair of reins of the yoke and the wheel of this aerial chariot revolve round and round in all directions like the potter's wheel. The pins of the yoke and the axle traversing about the four quarters revolve round Dhruva by the force of the wind. The reins of that travelling chariot shorten on the Northern orbit and lengthened on the Southern. The pair of reins are fastened to the pins of the yoke and axle and are held by Dhruva, who thus attracts the sun. When the reins are drawn in by Dhruva the sun covers on either side of the line (diameter) 8,000 yojanas. When the reins are released by Dhruva the sun begins to move on most swiftly the outer orbits.

As well, the serpents Mahāpadma and Karkoṭaka; the Gandharvas, Citrasena and Pūrṇāyu; the nymphs Pūrvacitti and Urvaśī, the charioteers Takṣā and Ariṣṭanemi; and the terrible demons Vidyut and Sūrya. During the two winter months of Māgha and Phālguna, the Devas Tvaṣṭā and Viṣṇu; the Ṛṣis Yamadagni and Viśvāmitra; the two sons of the serpent Kadru, viz. Kambala and Aśvatara; the Gandharvas Dhṛtarāṣṭra and Sūryavarca; the nymphs Tilottamā and Rambhā; the charioteers Rtajita and Satyajita; the demons Brahmopeta and Yajñopeta live there. In this way the Devas etc., inhabit the solar realm for the two months in their respective turn.

The groups of the seven couples (1) Devas, (2) Ṛṣis, (3) Gandharvas, (4) Apsarās, (5) Nāgas, (6) Charioteers and (7) Rākṣasas, that reside there for two months in their turn, are called the Sthānābhimanīs¹. Of these, the twelve Devas (six couples for six seasons) lend their fiery lustre to the Sun. The Ṛṣis adore Him by reciting pleasant hymns of praise; the Gandharvas and the Apsarās show their devotion by their singing and dancing.

विद्याग्रामणिनो यक्षाः कुर्वन्त्याभीषुसंग्रहम्।

सर्पाः सर्पन्ति वै सूर्ये यातुधानानुयान्ति च॥ २७॥

The charioteers hold the reins of the horses; the serpents move to and fro; and the demons follow Him in His track.

यथा योगं यथा धर्मं तथा तत्त्वं यथा बलम्।

तथा तपत्यसौ सूर्यस्तेषामिद्धस्तु तेजसा॥ २९॥

Besides these, the Vālakhilya² Ṛṣis salute the Sun and accompany Him from His rise till He sets. The Sun shines and sheds heat and lustre with increased brilliancy with the powerful blaze of the gigantic bonfire of the potency, asceticism, Yoga, Dharma, knowledge, power and valour of these Devas.

भूतानामशुभं सर्वं व्यपोहति स्वतेजसा।

मानवानां शुभैर्हर्तिर्हियते दुरितं तु वै॥ ३०॥

The Sun drives away all the troubles of the beings by His radiance. The sins of men are reduced to ashes by His fire.

एते सहैव सूर्येण भ्रमन्ति सानुगादिवि॥ ३१॥

तपन्तश्च जपन्तश्च ह्लादयन्तश्च वै प्रजाः।

गोपायन्ति स्म भूतानि ईहन्ते ह्यनुकम्पया॥ ३२॥

He also takes away the sins of those whose conduct is good; and they roam about in the heavens along with Him. Those Devas out of mercy, protect all the beings in their every walk of life, and make them perform asceticism, mutter japas and fill their hearts with joy.

स्थानाभिमानिनां ह्येतत्स्थानं मन्वन्तरेषु वै।

अतीतानागतानां च वर्तन्ते साम्प्रतं च ये॥ ३३॥

During the several manvantaras, the seats of the Abhimanī Devas are thus changed. This order is always the same; whether in the future, or in the past, or at present.

एवं तसन्ति वै सूर्ये सप्तकास्ते चतुर्दश।

चतुर्दशेषु वर्तन्ते गणा मन्वन्तरेषु वै॥ ३४॥

Thus the seven sets of two dwell respectively in the fourteen manvantaras

1. The occupants of the place for the time.

2. The Vālakhilyas are a class of divine personages of the size of a thumb and produced from the Creator's body and said to precede the Sun's chariot (their number is said to be sixty thousand).

respectively. They all are fourteen in number and change their places thus in course of 14 manvantaras.

The Sun in His diurnal course as He moves on, sheds His strong heating rays during the summer, causes cold during the winter and rains during the monsoon. He brings about night and day and spreads His rays far and wide as He travels. Thus by His rays, He brings in peace and satisfaction to all, the Devas, Pitrs and human beings alike. The days and nights, as they revolve, cause the bright and dark fortnights. The Sun stores up nectar every month in His rays. This nectar, pure and agreeable, the Devas drink in their appropriate fortnightly seasons. The Devas, the Pitrs, the Saumyas and the Kāvyas, after having drunk this nectar in the shape of the Sun's rays, and replenished themselves, cause thereby good rain on this earth and make the plants, ordinary and medicinal, grow and satisfy the hunger of all beings.

The Devas are satisfied with ambrosia by the sacrificial oblations once offered into the Fire every fortnight and poured after the recitation of the prescribed formulae suffixed by svāhā. The Pitrs are satisfied by the libations of water offered to them, once every month (i.e., monthly oblations are offered and they get satisfied for one month). The men live day and night on these grains and herbs. The Sun is the sustainer of all beings and He nourished them by His rays.

इत्येष एकचक्रेण सूर्यस्तूर्णं प्रसर्पति।

तत्र तैरक्रमैरश्वैः सर्पतेऽसौ दिनक्षये॥ ३९॥

Thus the Sun moves on in His one-wheeled chariot swiftly drawn by His horses and at the end of a day returns to His abode.

पिबत्यथाऽपो हरिभिः सहस्रधा।

पुनः प्रमुंचत्यथ ताश्च यो हरिः

स मुह्यमानो हरिभिस्तुरंगमैः॥ ४०॥

He always has (tawny) greenish yellow horses yoked to His chariot. He drinks water through thousands of His rays and ceases to draw it when it passes the point of saturation. Then He discharges them again in the form of rain.

अहोरात्रं स्थेनासावेकचक्रेण वै भ्रमन्।

सप्तद्वीपसमुद्रांश्च सप्तभिः सप्तभिर्दुतम्॥ ४१॥

The Sun in course of one single day and night goes swiftly over the world consisting of the seven oceans and the seven islands, seated in His one-wheeled chariot and drawn by seven horses.

हरितैरव्यथैः पिङ्गैरीश्वरैर्ब्रह्मवादिभिः।

बाह्यतोऽनन्तरं चैव मण्डलं दिवसः क्रमात्॥ ४३॥

The seven horses yoked to the Sun's chariot are no other than the seven Chandas (metres); they can assume forms at their will; they go as they like; their speed is swift as wind; their colour is tawny; and being once yoked they go on incessantly; they never get tired a bit. They are the gods declaring the glory of Brahma. Ascending on such a chariot the Sun travels the earth in course of one day (24 hours).

ग्रथितैः स्ववचोभिश्च स्तूयमानो महर्षिभिः।
सेव्यते गीतनृत्यैश्च गन्धर्वाप्सरसां गणैः॥४५॥

The horses were yoked at the beginning of Kalpa and carry on the Sun till the end of the Great Dissolution (Mahā Pralaya). Thus He goes on round and round, day and night, surrounded by the Vālakhilya Munis. The great Rṣis recite praises to Him in the chosen words composed by them; the Gandharvas and Apsarās sing and dance round Him.

पतङ्गैः पतगैरश्चैर्भ्राम्यमाणो दिवस्पतिः।
वीथ्याश्रयाणि चरति नक्षत्राणि तथा शशी॥४६॥

Thus the Sun is carried on by the horses flying like birds. Similarly, the Moon moves on in the several asterisms that are divided into several vīthīs.

हासवृद्धी तथैवास्य रश्मयः सूर्यवत्स्मृताः।
त्रिचक्रोभयतोऽश्च विज्ञेयः शशिनो रथः॥४७॥

The Moon has also been described to wax and wane according to His positions with respect to the Sun. There are three wheels in the chariot of the Moon and the horses are yoked at both the ends.

अपां गर्भसमुत्पन्नो रथः साश्वः ससारथिः।
सहारैस्तैस्त्रिभिश्चक्रैर्युक्तः शुक्लैर्हयोत्तमैः॥४८॥

The Moon has been born from waters along with His chariot, horses and the charioteer. That chariot is decorated with fine garlands and yoked with excellent white horses, rests on three wheels.

सकृद्युक्ते रथे तस्मिन्वहन्तस्त्वायुगक्षयम्॥४९॥

The swift running divine horses yoked to the Moon's chariot are ten in number; they run as swift as wind and they are without any attachment; once yoked, they carry the car till the end of the Great Dissolution.

संगृहीता रथे तस्मिञ्छ्वेतश्चक्षुःश्रवाश्च वै।

The fair Cakṣuśravā is the charioteer; and the horses looking white like shells and of one colour, draw the chariot.

Aja, Tripatha, Vṛṣa, Vājī, Nara, Haya, Aṁśumān, Saptadhātu, Haṁsa and Vyomamṛga are the names of the ten horses attached to the chariot of the Moon.

Thus He goes on surrounded by the Devas and the Pitṛs. In the bright fortnight the Moon gets ahead of the Sun and whatever of Him waned during the dark fortnight becomes filled up again, digit by digit, by the Solar ray, day after day. Thus He becomes nourished by the one seed-ray of the Sun named Suṣumnā when He becomes full and circular on the full-moon night. Similarly in the dark fortnight, the Moon wanes daily from the second day till the Caturdaśī tithi (the fourteenth day after the full moon) when the Devas drink up the soft and excellent nectar of the Moon, sweet like honey and consisting of the essence of the watery juice. For half the month the nectar becomes stored up in the Moon by the Sun's ray, so that the Devas would be able to drink it; and the quantity of this nectar becomes maximum on the full-moon night when the Devas adore the Moon for another supply of the same, gathered from the Sun's radiance in course of a fortnight.

एवं दिनक्रमात् पीते देवैश्चापि निशाकरे॥६४॥

For one night the Devas, the Pitṛs and the Ṛṣis worship the Moon. From the beginning of the dark fortnight the Moon turns back, wanes and becomes dull; His digits decline owing to His nectar being drunk up day by day. 33,330 Devas drink the lunar ambrosia. The Moon thus declines during the dark fortnight and waxes until he becomes complete in the bright fortnight.

पीत्वार्द्धमासं गच्छन्ति अमावास्यां सुराश्च ते।

पितरश्चोपतिष्ठन्ति अमावास्यां निशाकरम्॥६५॥

Thus, drinking the nectar, the Devas, at the end of the fortnight, go away elsewhere on the Amāvasyā (dark) night when the Pitṛs come to Him.

ततः पञ्चदशे भागे किञ्चिच्छेषे निशाकरे।

काव्याश्चैव तु ये प्रोक्ताः पितरः सर्व एव ते।

संवत्सराश्च ये काव्याः पंचाब्दा वै द्विजाः स्मृताः॥६९॥

When the still small portion of the 15th part of the Moon is left, they drink that in the afternoon on the next day for a brief period of two kalās and go away after the completion of this dark fortnight. The Saumyās, Barhiṣadas, Agniṣvāttās and Kāvyas, are the Pitṛs. Those who preside over the year are known also as Kāvyas. So also the Dvijas performing good works can become Kāvyas. The Saumya-pitṛs are rigid ascetics.

सौम्याः सुतपसो ज्ञेयाः सौम्या बर्हिषदस्तथा।

अग्निष्वात्तास्त्रयश्चैव पितृसर्गस्थिता द्विजाः॥७०॥

Barhiṣada, Saumya and Agniṣvāttas are the well-known threefold Pitṛ creation who are recognised as twice-born (Brāhmaṇas).

पितृभिः पीयमानायां पञ्चदश्यां तु वै कलाम्।

एवं सूर्यनिमित्ते ते क्षयवृद्धी निशाकरे॥७२॥

The 15th portion of the nectar of the moon is drunk by the Pitṛs. The sixteenth part of the Moon is recognised as the junction of the two (dark and bright) fortnights, when the final waning takes place and fresh waxing begins. Thus the waxing and waning of the Moon under the influence of the Sun have been described.

CHAPTER 127

Description of the chariot of the planets and praise of Dhruva

सूत उवाच

ताराग्रहाणां वक्ष्यामि स्वर्भानोस्तु रथं पुनः।

अथ तेजोमयः शुभ्रः सोमपुत्रस्य वै रथः॥ १॥

Sūta said— O Sages, I shall now speak to you about the chariots of planets, Rāhu and stars. The chariot of Buddha (Mercury the son of Moon) is brilliant and white.

युक्तो हयैः पिशङ्गैस्तु दशभिर्वातरंहसैः।

श्वेतः पिशंगः सारङ्गो नीलः श्यामो विलोहितः॥ २॥

श्वेतश्च हरितश्चैव पृषतो वृष्णिरेव च।

दशभिस्तु महाभागैरुत्तमैर्वातसम्भवैः॥ ३॥

It is drawn by ten horses, which are quite swift like the wind. The horses are of the colours like white, reddish, brown, spotted, dark-blue, black, purple, white, greenish, dark and variegated colours. These horses are noble and excellent. They are born of the wind.

ततो भौमरथश्चापि अष्टाङ्गः काञ्चनः स्मृतः।

अष्टभिर्लोहितैरश्वैः सध्वजैरग्निसम्भवैः।

सर्पतेऽसौ कुमारो वै ऋजुवक्रानुवक्रगः॥ ४॥

The huge chariot of Mars is made of gold, having eight wheels and is driven by eight red horses born of fire. It is decorated with flags and banners.

अतश्चाङ्गिरसो विद्वान् देवाचार्यो बृहस्पतिः।

गौराश्वेन तु रौक्मेण स्यन्दनेन विसर्पति॥ ५॥

युक्तेनाष्टाभिरश्वैश्च ध्वजैरग्निसमुद्भवैः।

अब्दं वसति यो राशौ स्वदिशं तेन गच्छति॥ ६॥

युक्तेनाष्टाभिरश्वैश्च स ध्वजैरग्निसन्निभैः।

ततः शनैश्चरोऽप्यश्वैः सबलैर्वातरंहसैः।

कार्णायिसं समारुह्य स्यन्दनं यात्यसौ शनिः॥ ८॥

The young Mars moves in this chariot. His motions are direct and very swift. Bṛhaspati—the son of Angirā and the learned preceptor of the gods, moves in golden chariot with flags hoisting on the same, which is driven by eight white horses born of fire. The Jupiter remains for one year in each one of the twelve zodiac signs and moves on his chariot towards his destination. The chariot of Venus (Śukra) is brilliant like fire and is decorated with flags. He moves on in a swift moving chariot. The chariot of Saturn (Śani) is made of iron and he moves riding on his chariot which is drawn by the horses with the speed of the wind.

स्वर्भानोस्तु यथाष्टाश्वः कृष्णा वै वातरंहसः।

रथं तमोमयं तस्य वहन्ति स्म सुदंशिताः॥ ९॥

आदित्यनिलयो राहुः सोमं गच्छति पर्वसु।

ततः केतुमतस्त्वश्वा अष्टौ ते वातरंहसः।

पलालधूमवर्णाभाः क्षामदेहाः सुदारुणाः॥ ११॥

The chariot of Rāhu is of dark coloured and is drawn by eight steed of smoke colour, which move like the wind. He dwells close to the sun, travelling in the dark fortnight towards the moon. He returns to the sun after a fortnight. Ketu has a chariot of eight horses, which are quite swift having the colour of smoke. They are hideous indeed besides being fiery and have the speed of the wind.

एते वाहा ग्रहाणां वै मया प्रोक्ता रथैः सह।

सर्वे ध्रुवे निबद्धास्ते निबद्धावातरश्मिभिः॥ १२॥

एते वै भ्राम्यमाणास्ते यथायोगं वहन्ति वै।

वायव्याभिरदृश्याभिः प्रबद्धा वातरश्मिभिः॥ १३॥

In this way the chariots and the steed of the planets have been described by me. They are attached to the Pole with the ropes of the wind. The cords which are made of air are invisible and make many chariots move, with them.

परिभ्रमन्ति तद्वद्धाश्चन्द्रसूर्यग्रहादिवि।
यावत्तमनुपर्येति ध्रुवं वै ज्योतिषी गणः॥ १४॥
यथा नद्युदके नौस्तु उदकेन सहोह्यते।
तथा देवगृहाणि स्युरुह्यन्ते वातरंहसा।
तस्माद्यानि प्रगृह्यन्ते व्योम्नि देवगृहा इति॥ १५॥

All the stars are linked with Dhruva, which move on propelled by Dhruva. The sun and the moon move on in the celestial firmament prompted by the currents of the strong wind. They glide on remaining tied to Dhruva. Their movements around the pole are brought out with the ropes of wind. The stars and the luminous spheres, studded in firmament are the abodes of the gods and they float in the celestial atmosphere like the boats floating in the river.

यावन्त्यश्चैव ताराः स्युस्तावन्तोऽस्य मरीचयः।
सर्वाध्रुवनिबद्धास्ता भ्रमन्त्यो भ्रामयन्ति च॥ १६॥

The rays of the Pole star extend to the farthest limit where the stars are visible and they all move on tied to the Pole and thus cause others to move on.

तैलपीडं यथा चक्रं भ्रमते भ्रामयन्ति वै।
तथा भ्रमन्ति ज्योतीषि वातबद्धानि सर्वशः॥ १७॥
अलातचक्रवद्यान्ति वातचक्रेरितानि तु।
यस्मात्प्रवहते तानि प्रवहस्तेन स स्मृतः॥ १८॥

The stars and planets tied to the Dhruva (Pole) revolve and make others revolve as oil mill while revolving itself makes others revolve. The air that causes them to move and makes them look like a fiery circle (made by a fire-brand being waved round in the air) is known as Pravaha.

एवं ध्रुवे नियुक्तोऽसौ भ्रमते ज्योतिषां गणः।
एष तारामयः प्रोक्तः शिशुमारे ध्रुवो दिवि॥ १९॥

In this way the stars move on, attached to the Pole. These stars are situated on the body of Śiśumāra¹, who lies (sleeps as it were) on the celestial firmaments.

यदह्ना कुरुते पापं तं दृष्ट्वा निशि मुंचति।
शिशुमारशरीरस्था यावत्यस्तारकास्तुताः॥ २०॥
वर्षाणि दृष्ट्वा जीवेत तावदेवाधिकानि तु।
शिशुमाराकृतिं ज्ञात्वा प्रविभागेन सर्वशः॥ २१॥

The sins committed in the day are swept away by the sight of this Śiśumāra cakra in the night. The man who sees the stars fixed on the Śiśumāra cakra lives for as many number of years more than his proper life period as the stars he sees; and one should know therefore the form and the location of the different limbs of this Śiśumāra cakra fully.

उत्तानपादस्तस्याथ विज्ञेयः सोत्तरा हनुः।

हृदि नारायणः साध्या अश्विनौ पूर्वपादयोः।
वरुणश्चार्यमा चैव पश्चिमे तस्य सक्थिनी॥ २३॥

Thus is His form—Uttāna-pāda is the chin of Śiśumāra, Sacrifice is the lower lip, Dharma is the forehead. Nārāyaṇa and the Sādhyas are enshrined in the heart; the Aśvins form the two feet on the eastern side (the right foot). Varuṇa and Āryamā form the two legs towards the west (the left foot).

शिश्ने संवत्सरोज्ञेयो मित्रश्चापानमाश्रितः।

तन्मुखाभिमुखाः सर्वे चक्रभूता दिवि स्थिताः।
ध्रुवेणाधिष्ठिताश्चैव ध्रुवमेव प्रदक्षिणम्॥ २६॥

The Devas, Samvarṣa and Mitra, form respectively the fore and hind private parts; and Agni, Indra, Marīci, Kaśyapa and Dhruva form

1. Śiśumāra is known as the zodiac personified and is no other than the child Viṣṇu.

His tail. There is no rising nor setting of these stars. They remain fixed at one place. The Moon, the Sun, and other stars and planets are situated in the form of a circle facing this Śiśumāra cakra in the firmament. All the stars are presided over by Dhruva and circumbulate Him.

परियान्ति सुरश्रेष्ठं मेढीभूतं ध्रुवं दिवि।

ज्योतिषां चक्रमादाय आकर्षस्तमधोमुखः॥२८॥
मेरुमालोकयन्नेव प्रतियाति प्रदक्षिणम्॥२९॥

This pole star is the support and sacrificial pillar of these stars. The Dhruva is the best amongst the Agnidhras and Kaśyapas. He moves singly above the summit of Sumeru with His head downwards round the summit of Sumeru, as if looking at it, dragging at the same time along with Him the zodiac and the cluster of stars.

Movements of divine planets and the speed of the sun and the moon

ऋषय ऊचुः

यदेतद्भवता प्रोक्तं श्रुतं सर्वमशेषतः।

The Ṛṣis asked— O Sūta, we have heard completely whatever has been spoken by you, but we would like to know about the types of the abodes of the gods, because we are anxious to know about the same. Therefore you kindly speak exhaustively on the luminous spheres (or the stars).

सूत उवाच

Sūta said— “O Ṛṣis, I shall now speak out you about the planets, the movements of the sun and the moon, besides the abodes of the gods, sun and the moon. In the start of the kalpa there was neither day or night, in the universe which had been covered with a thick sheet of darkness. The Avyakta Brahmā, did not manifest any element till then. Four elements were left which were presided over by Brahmā. The self born lord then desired to create various lokas and for that purpose in view, he wandered about in the form of a firefly. Then he thought within himself and realised that the fire had merged itself in the waters and the earth at the start of the kalpa.

स संभृत्य प्रकाशार्थं त्रिधा तुल्योऽभवत् पुनः।

पाचको यस्तु लोकेऽस्मिन् पार्थिवः सोऽग्निरुच्यते॥६॥

तेजोभिश्चाप्यते कश्चित् कश्चिदेवाप्यानिन्धनः।

काष्ठेन्धनस्तु निर्मथ्यः सोऽद्भिः शाम्यति पावकः॥८॥

In order to extract fire out of them, he collected water and earth. Ultimately he could extract three kinds of fire of equal quantity viz., Pācakagni, used for cooking things and it was extracted from the earth. The second was Śucāgni, emerging from the sun and the third was Jatharāgni or the fire in the belly which digests all the things eaten by a person. It was in the form of beautiful electricity, which could not be produced out of any fuel. Some electrical fire is increased, with the fire enshrined in the body itself whereas some others kindle even without any fuel. The fire which is produced by rubbing two pieces of wood is called Nirmathya-Agni, which could be subsided with water.

अर्चिष्मान् पचनोऽग्निस्तु निष्प्रभः सौम्यलक्षणः।

प्रभासौरी तु पादेन अस्तं याति दिवाकरे।
अग्निमाविशथे रात्रौ तस्मादाग्निः प्रकाशते॥ १०॥

The celestial fire in the body is resplendent having no flames and is beautiful. This is the light in the white disc of the sun. It is devoid of heat and is not manifest. When the sun sets, a fourth of its lustre enters the fire. This is the reason that the fire looks as bright at night.

उदिते तु पुनः सूर्ये ऊष्माग्नेस्तु समाविशत्।

प्राकाश्यं च तथौष्ण्यं च सौर्याग्नेये तु तेजसी।
परस्परानुप्रवेशादाप्यायेते दिवानिशम्॥ १२॥

With the rising of the sun a fourth of the heat of the fire enters into it as a result of which the heat is imported by the sun during the day time. The mutual infusion of the heat and lustre by Fire and the sun, causes the days and nights.

उत्तरे चैव भूम्यर्द्धे तथा ह्यस्मिस्तु दक्षिणे।
उत्तिष्ठति पुनः सूर्ये रात्रिमाविशते ह्यपः॥ १३॥

When the sun rises over the northern half and the south of the universe, the night merges into the waters. Therefore the water looks like having the copper colour during the day.

तस्मात् ताम्रा भवन्त्यापो दिवारात्रिप्रवेशनात्।
अस्तं गते पुनः सूर्ये अहो वै प्रविशत्यपः॥ १४॥
तस्मान्नक्तं पुनः शुक्ला ह्यापो दृश्यन्ति भासुराः।
एतेन क्रमयोगेन भूम्यर्द्धे दक्षिणोत्तरे॥ १५॥

Again with the sunset, the day enters into the water. Because of this the water looks bright, shining during the night. Similarly in the same sequence with the rising and setting of the sun in the north pole and south pole of the earth, the day and night merge in the water respectively.

The fire in the Sun is like a red-coloured jar and it has thousand legs. When the sun shines, He draws water by the rays of this fire. It is this fire that draws in waters of the rivers, wells, oceans, tanks, lakes, etc. through His thousand rays.

These thousand rays cause heat, rains and cold; of these, four hundred rays look like nādis (tubular veins and arteries) and are of variegated forms; these cause rain. Candanā, Medhyā, Ketanā, Cetanā, Amṛtā and Jīvanā are all rain-producing rays. Three hundred rays produce cold; and they are drunk (absorbed) by the moon, stars and planets. These are the middle rays. The other rays are all white and gladden the hearts of beings. They cause heat. They are three hundred in number and known by the names Kukubh, Go, Viśvasṛt, Śukla and others. They sustain and protect the Devas, Pitṛs and human beings.

मनुष्यान्ौषधीभिश्च स्वधया च पितृनपि।
अमृतेन सुरान्सर्वान्सन्ततं परितर्पयन्॥ २३॥

The sun always satisfies men by producing herbs, the Pitṛs through the libations of water svadhā and the Devas through the sacrificial offerings svāhā.

हेमन्ते शिशिरे चैव हिमोत्सर्गस्त्रिभिः पुनः।

During spring and hot weather the sun imparts heat by his three hundred rays; during the rainy season and autumn causes rain by his four hundred rays; during the dewy and winter season imparts cold by his three hundred rays.

He imparts strength in the herbs and plants, bestows nectar to svadhā, and imbues immortality in the nectars of the Devas. Thus He benefits the three worlds by His this three-fold action. His thousand rays thus perform different functions in the different seasons, causing good to half the Lokas.

It is by the Śuṣumnā ray of the Sun that the Moon waxes again, day by day. The stars are born from the eastern ray of the Sun, named Harikeśa.

The Viśvakarmā ray of the sun is in the south; He is the sustainer of the planet Mercury.

The Viśvavasu ray of the Sun is in the west; and He is the originator of the planet Venus.

संवर्द्धनस्तु यो रश्मिः स योनिर्लोहितस्य च।

षष्ठस्तु ह्यश्वभूरश्मिर्योनिः स हि बृहस्पतेः॥ ३१॥

The Samvardhan ray is the originator of Maṅgala (Mars); the Aśvabhū ray, the sixth one, is the producer of Jupiter.

शनैश्चरं पुनश्चापि रश्मिराध्यायते सुराट्।

न क्षीयते यतस्तानि तस्मान्नक्षत्रता स्मृता॥ ३२॥

The Surāṭa ray nourishes Saturn. Because these never fade, therefore they are called Nakṣatras (stars).

क्षेत्राण्येतानि वै सूर्यमापतन्ति गन्धस्तिभिः।

क्षेत्राणि तेषामादत्ते सूर्यो नक्षत्रता ततः॥ ३३॥

These are the fields, the regions of the sun; their rays fall incessantly unto Him; and the Sun accepts them also as His; hence they are named Nakṣatras.

अस्माल्लोकादमुं लोकंतीर्णानां सुकृतात्मनाम्।

तारणात्तारका ह्येताः शुक्लत्वाच्चैव शुक्लिकाः॥ ३४॥

Those persons who perform good and meritorious works in this world, go to these planets and stars (the Nakṣatras) after they leave their mortal coils and these are saved; hence these Nakṣatras are called Tārakās. And as they are white in colour, they are named Śuklikās.

The Sun is called Āditya on account of His having the lustre of the fire and asceticism of the holy kings of this earth as well as those of Heaven. The root 'Srava' means "to pour out, to ooze" and the Sun is called "Savitā" because he sheds, pours out tejas, fire.

बह्वर्थश्चन्द्र इत्येष प्रधानो धातुरुच्यते।

शुक्लत्वे ह्यमृतत्वे च शीतत्वे ह्लादनेऽपि च॥ ३७॥

The root 'candra' has various meanings; it connotes whiteness, nectar, cold and pleasure. The word Candramā (the moon) has come out of this root.

सूर्याचन्द्रमसोर्दिव्ये मण्डले भास्वरे खगे।

जलतेजोमये शुक्ले वृत्तकुम्भनिभे शुभे॥ ३८॥

The shining maṇḍalas of the sun and the moon in the divine firmament are luminous, white, full of water and fire. They look handsome like white pitchers.

शोक्रं शुक्रेविशत्स्थानं षोडशारं प्रभास्वरम्।

बृहस्पतिर्बृहत्त्वं च लोहितं चापि लोहितः॥ ४१॥

All those Ṛṣis who attained Devahood by their karmas in the several Manvantaras have become the above luminous spheres. Their abodes in the firmament are termed "Devagrhas". The Sun has got his abode as the Sun; so the Moon has got his "Saumya" abode; the planet Venus has got his Śaukra abode. This Śaukra abode is shining and has sixteen spokes (16 petalled lotus). Jupiter has attained his "Brhat" (big) abode. Mars has got his red abode.

नक्षत्राणि च सर्वाणि नक्षत्राण्याविशन्ति च।

ज्योतीषि सुकृतामेते ज्ञेया देवगृहास्तु वै॥ ४३॥

Saturn enters into the "Saturn" maṇḍala; the Budha into the Budha and the Rāhu (ascending node) into the solar abodes. All the stars enter into their maṇḍalas respectively; so these luminous spheres in the firmament are known as Devagrhas of those persons who performed highly meritorious works in this world.

स्थानान्येतानि तिष्ठन्ति यावदाभूतसंलवम्।

मन्वन्तरेषु सर्वेषु देवस्थानानि तानि वै॥ ४४॥

The Devagrhas, mentioned before, exist in every Manvantara till the time of dissolution.

वर्तन्ते वर्तमानैश्च सुरैः सार्द्धं तु स्थानिनः।

सूर्यो देवो विवस्वांश्च अष्टमस्त्वदितेः सुतः॥ ४६॥

The Devas occupy these Devagrhas again and again by their "Abhimāna" (presiding) capacities; the past Devas occupied their places along with others with their past presiding capacities; the present ones with their present presiding capacities; the future ones will reign with their future presiding capacities. (But all of them preserve their respective characteristic features of their different abodes). Vivasvān the Sun, is the eighth son of Aditi.

The luminous Moon is known as Vasu; He is qualified with Dharma. Śukra or Bhārgava is the priest of the demons.

बृहस्पतिर्बृहत्तेजा देवाचार्योऽङ्गिरःसुतः।

बुधो मनोहरश्चैव शशिपुत्रस्तु स स्मृतः॥ ४८॥

Brhaspati, of great fiery asceticism, is the priest of the Devas and is the son of Angirā; the handsome Budha is the son of the Moon.

शनैश्चरो विरूपश्च संज्ञापुत्रो विवस्वतः।

अग्निर्विकेश्यां जज्ञे तु युवासौ लोहिताधिपः॥ ४९॥

The ugly Saturn was born of the womb of Sajñyā by the Sun. Maṅgala was born of the womb of Vikeśi by Fire.

स्वर्भानुः सिंहिकापुत्रो भूतसंसाधनोऽसुरः॥ ५०॥

All these stars are born from the womb (of the firmament and are the progeny of Dakṣa.

Rāhu, the destroyer of beings, is the demon born of Simhikā.

चन्द्रार्कग्रहनक्षत्रेष्वभिमानि प्रकीर्तितः।

These are the Abhimanī Devas (the Masters; the presiding Deities) in the spheres of the moon, the sun, the stars and the planets. Thus the above abodes of the Devas are described.

शुक्लमग्निसमं दिव्यं सहस्रांशोर्विवस्वतः।

सहस्रांशुत्विषः स्थानमम्मयं तेजसं तथा॥५२॥

The abode of the thousand-rayed Sun is divine, fiery and of white colour. The abode of the Moon is thousand-rayed, bright, energetic and full of waters.

Budha (Mercury) lives with the Sun. The abode of Śukra (Venus) is sixteen-rayed and watery.

लोहितो नवरश्मिस्तु स्थानमापं तु तस्य वै।

बृहद्द्वादशरश्मीकं हरिद्राभं तु वेधसः॥५४॥

The abode of Maṅgala (Mars) consists of nine rays and is red in appearance; water is also there. Brhaspati (Jupiter) has 12 rays and the colour is turmeric yellow; His abode is big.

अष्टरश्मिश्नेस्तु कृष्णं वृद्धमयस्मयम्।

स्वर्भानोस्त्वायसं स्थानं भूतसन्तापनालयम्॥५५॥

The abode of Saturn is eight-rayed, black and is made of iron. Rāhu's abode is also made of iron and He causes pain to all beings.

सुकृतामाश्रयास्तारा रश्मयस्तु हिरण्मयाः।

तारणात्तारकाः ह्येताः शुक्लत्वाच्चैव तारकाः॥५६॥

All the asterisms are the refuge of the virtuous. Their rays are silvery and as they are the redeemers of all the beings, they are called Tārakās; also called Śuklikās on account of their white colour.

The size of Rāhu is the same with the stars; He travels below them. His place is made up of the shadow of the early by Brahmā; it is full of Tamas (darkness). Rāhu enters into the Sun in the bright fortnight; in the dark fortnight it emerges from the Sun and enters into the Moon. It is named Svar-bhānu, because it urges forward by its own rays.

The diameter and the circumference of Venus are one-sixteenth (1/16) of those of the Moon in yojanas. Śukra is the 16th part of the Moon. The diameters and circumferences are measured all in yojanas.

1. According to Sūrya Siddhānta, the diameter of the Sun is 6500 yojanas and the diameter of the Moon is 480 yojanas.

The diameter and the circumference of Jupiter are one-fourth less than those of Venus; Mars and Ketu are one-fourth less than those of Jupiter. Rāhu and Mercury's dimensions are one-fourth less than those of Mars and Ketu (the descending node).

The diameter and circumference of each of the stars are the same as those of Mercury. Some stars also have dimensions of five hundred, four hundred, three hundred, two hundred, one hundred yojanas; there are some also having dimensions of one-half yojanas. No stars exist less than these. Now I will describe those mefetic and benefic planets that are situated above them.

Saturn, Jupiter and Mars are slow-going planets (superior planets). Below them the Moon, Sun, Mercury and Venus are the quick-moving planets (inferior planets). There are as many crores of Tārakās as there Rkṣas (asterisms).

The stars travel above the Moon; above Moon, travels Mercury; above Mercury, travels Venus; above Venus, travels Mars; above Mars, travels Jupiter; above Jupiter, travels Saturn. The Saptarṣis (the great Bear) exist above Saturn; and above the great Bear exists the Pole (Dhruva). The three worlds are tied on to this Dhruva.

The stars in the firmament are two lakh (2,00,000) yojanas apart from each other. The planets above them are also placed similarly apart. The Sun, Moon and the planets run towards the stars and get merged in them. They remain in their Ucca and Nīca houses (aphelion and perihelion); and while entering into or coming out of them, they look on the beings. So these are situated with regard to each other. The learned should know exactly their various conjunctions. Thus have been described all about this earth, Dvīpas, oceans, mountains, years, rivers and the inhabitants thereof.

The several locations of the luminous spheres of the firmament are brought on by the influence of the Sun. In its central part, there exists the wind termed Āvarta. This pervades, in the form of a circle all the Nakṣatra maṇḍalas. This has been so ordained by the Almighty God for the use of His several beings.

CHAPTER 129

The building of Tripura

ऋषय ऊचुः

कथं जगाम भगवान्पुरारित्वं महेश्वरः।
ददाह च कथं देवस्तन्नो विस्तरतो वद॥१॥
पृच्छामस्त्वां वयं सर्वे बहुमानात्पुनः पुनः।
त्रिपुरं तद्यथा दुर्गं मयमायाविनिर्मितम्।

देवेनैकेषुणा दग्धं तथा नो वद मानदा॥२॥

The Ṛṣis said— “O Sūta, extending grace to all, why did lord Maheśvara, become inimical to Tripura, and how did he destroy the same? You kindly speak out the same to us elaborately. We are requesting you with all the respect as to how did Śiva destroy the forts of Tripura which were built by Maya-dānava. You kindly relate the relevant story in detail.

सूत उवाच।

शृणुध्वं त्रिपुरं देवो यथादारितवान् भवः।
मयो नाम महामायो मायानां जनकोऽसुरः॥३॥
निर्जितः स तु संग्रामे तताप परमं तपः।
तपस्यन्तं तु तं विप्रा दैत्यावन्यावनुग्रहात्॥४॥

Sūta said— “O Ṛṣis, I am going to speak out the way, lord Śiva had torn out Tripura. You please listen. Maya was a great asura who was well-versed in various types of illusions. He had been defeated by the gods in the battlefield, after which he was engaged in performing severe tapas. O Brāhmaṇas, finding him so engaged in tapas two other demons also started performing the tapas in sympathy with him for the same purpose.

तस्यैव कृत्यमुद्दिश्य तेपतुः परमं तपः।
विद्युन्माली च बलवांस्तारकाख्यश्च वीर्यवान्॥५॥
मयतेजः समाक्रान्तौ तेपतुर्मयपार्श्वगौ।
लोका इव यथा मूर्त्तास्त्रयस्त्रय इवाग्नयः॥६॥

Both of them were known as Tāraka and Vidyunmālī who were quite valorous. Both of them getting attracted with the lustre of Maya, started performing seated at his back. At that point of time because of their having been excited with the tapas, they appeared like the three fire flames in worldly forms.

लोकत्रयं तापयन्तस्ते तेपुर्दानवास्तपः।
हेमन्ते जलशय्यासु ग्रीष्मे पंचतपे तथा॥७॥
वर्षासु च तथाकाशे क्षपयन्तस्तनूः प्रियाः।
सेवानाः फलमूलानि पुष्पाणि च जलानि च॥८॥

All the three demons, causing pain to the world were engaged in the tapas. They in the winter season slept in the water and in the summer season faced the five types of fires, while in the rainy season they used to keep on standing in the open under the sky. In this way they dried up their bodies which are loveable by all. They lived on the fruits, roots, flowers, and water. Sometimes they went even without food.

अन्यदाचरिताहाराः पङ्केनाचितवल्कलाः।

मग्नाः शैवालपङ्केषु विमला विमलेषु च॥ ९॥

Their berk garments were covered with dust and inspite their having the spotless bodies, they remained dirty in the mud of reeds.

निर्मासाश्च ततो जाताः कृशा धमनिसन्तताः।

तेषां तपःप्रभावेन प्रभावविधुतं यथा॥ १०॥

तेषामग्रे जगद्बन्धुः प्रादुर्भूतः पितामहः।

ततः साहसकर्तारः प्राहुस्ते सहसागतम्॥ १२॥

Because of this the flesh on their bodies had been worn out. They had become so weak that the veins of their bodies had come out. Because of their tapas the entire universe was terrified. Thus finding the entire world in flames with the fire of their tapas, Brahmā— the great sire, appeared before him. Then the Daityas finding Brahmā before them suddenly spoke to him.

स्वकं पितामहं दैत्यास्तं वै तुष्टुवुरेव च।

अथ तान्दानवान्ब्रह्मा तपसा तपनप्रभान्॥ १३॥

व्रियतामीप्सितं यच्च साभिलाषं तदुच्यताम्।

इत्येवमुच्यमानं तु प्रतिपन्नं पितामहम्॥ १५॥

They started offering prayer to him. At that point of time, the eyes and faces of Brahmā started blossoming and he spoke to the Dānavas also who were shining like the sun, because of their tapas and said— “O Sons, I am extremely pleased with your tapas and have arrived here to grant you the boon. Therefore you ask for the boon you desire.” At these words of Brahmā, Maya the architect of the demons felt delighted.

Hearing these words of Brahmā, Maya, capable to build anything, was rejoiced and said— “In days gone by, in the great Tārakāmaya war that ensued between the Devas and the Daityas, the former were victorious and mercilessly killed the latter with their weapons. The Devas always oppress us on account of former enmity. We then fled away with terror. In our hour of trial and misfortune we could not rely on any one for help and protection. Finding no source of solace, we have now resorted to this practice of penances and now with the help of our asceticism and through Your Grace, we wish to erect a most solid and impregnable fort which would defy the Devas.

The name of this would be Tripura. Now, O Lord! grant me this boon that when the fort is completed it will be quite safe from the attacks of those residing on land and in water as well as from the curses of the sages and Munis and from attacks of the Devas." Hearing those words of Maya, capable to build another universe by his Māyā, Lord Brahmā said smilingly— "O Maya, leader of the demons! It is impossible to become immortal, where everything is not everlasting; knowing this, you can build your fort with mud." Maya again addressed Brahmā with folded hands— "If this fort be not quite impregnable, then let it be that it would be destroyed by one arrow only, shot once by Śiva, in the course of warfare." Brahmā said, "Be it so" and then went away.

वरदानाद्विरेजुस्ते तपसा च महाबलाः।

The Lord disappeared from the spot as vanishes the wealth obtained in dreams. Having obtained the boon, those powerful Daityas, then healthy and shining like Sun, began to look more brilliant with their power of asceticism.

दुर्गं व्यवसितः कर्तुमिति चाचिन्तयत्तदा।

कथं नाम भवेद्दुर्गं तन्मया त्रिपुरं कृतम्॥ २८॥

The highly intelligent and powerful Maya then began to prepare plans for building the Tripura fort.

देवैस्तथा विधातव्यं मया मतिविचारणम्।

विस्तारो योजनशतमेकैकस्य पुरस्य तु॥ ३०॥

He said to himself— "I, alone, should live in that Tripura fort. It ought to be built in such a way as no one amongst the Devas might be able to destroy it with a single arrow." He thought also "I should make each of the three fortresses, 100 yojanas in length and breadth.

The building would be commenced and completed under the Yoga of the asterism Puṣyā, when the above three cities would rise and meet the celestial firmament and whoever would get hold of and attack the above cities under this Puṣyāyoga¹ would be able to destroy them by means of only one arrow shot by him. The lowest fort, that on earth, is to be made of iron; the one in the celestial firmament is to be made of silver; and the topmost one is to be built of gold. These three combined would be known as the 'Tripura' fort. The length and breadth of this is to be one hundred yojanas each; and it will be impregnable to all.

Then the adoration should be made offering fragrance etc. followed by dance and music. (Due to financial problems) in case it is not possible to arrange for dance and music, one should arrange for the narration of the story of Kāmadeva and Viṣṇu.

कामनाम्नो हरेरर्च्या स्नापयेद्गन्धवारिणा।
शुक्लपुष्पाक्षततिलैरर्चयेन्मधुसूदनम्॥ १५॥

While adoring Viṣṇu as Kāmadeva, he should be bathed with the fragrant water. White flowers, unbroken rice, sesame seeds, should be offered to lord Madhusūdana appropriately.

At that point of time, Kāmadeva has to be conceived in the feet of Viṣṇu, as Saubhāgyadātā (the bestower of the fortunes) in the thighs, Smara in amples, Manmatha in the waist, Svachchodara in the belly, Anaṅga in the chest, Padmamukha in the mouth, Pañcaśara in the arms, and Sarvātmā in the forehead. Salutation should be offered to all of them. In this way all the limbs of the lord Keśava should be adored. Thereafter that pitcher should be given away in charity to a Brāhmaṇa.

ब्राह्मणाभोजयेद्भक्त्या स्वयं च लवणादृते।
भुक्त्वा तु दक्षिणां दद्यादिमं मन्त्रमुदीरयेत्॥ १९॥

Thereafter the Brāhmaṇas should be fed with devotion. Thereafter he should consume food which is free of salt. Then he should utter the mantra, saying, "The lord who staying in the hearts of all the living beings, is known by the name of bliss, the same lord Janārdana in the form of Kāma, be pleased with my anuṣṭhāna.

The Madana-Dvādaśī-vrata should be similarly performed every month. On the day of Dvādaśī, he should consume a single fruit and should lie down over the floor. He should then adore the imperishable lord Viṣṇu on the day of Trayodaśī.

On the arrival of the thirteenth month, he should offer, collecting all the materials and should give away in charity the gold image of Kāmadeva together with a milching white cow to a Brāhmaṇa.

वासोभिर्द्विजदाम्पत्यं पूज्यं शक्त्या विभूषणैः।
शय्यागन्धादिकं दद्यात्प्रीयतामित्युदीरयेत्॥ २४॥

At that point of time he should also give away in charity the costumes and ornaments to a Brāhmaṇa couple, according to his means, together with the bed and fragrance.

Thereafter, the religious performer of the vrata should perform the homa, with the pāyasam made of the milk of the white cow and the white sesame seeds, to please Kāmadeva. One should feed the Brāhmaṇa, leaving the miserliness. They should further be pleased offering the sugarcane and flower garlands according to one's means.

One who performs the Madana-Dvādaśī vrata in this manner, he getting relieved of all the sins, achieves the position parallel to lord Viṣṇu. He achieves the best of the sons and other fortunes in the world. The lord who has been described as Smara, Ānandātmā, Viṣṇu and Maheśvara, he should be adored by a person desirous of comforts in the world.

Having been attracted with the vrata of Diti, Maharṣi Kaśyapa reached before her and with utmost pleasure, and turned her as a beautiful young female, urging her to ask for a boon.

Feeling desirous of seeking a boon from the sage, Diti said, “O sage, I seek such a type of son as a boon from you who should be able to kill Indra, besides being immensely valorous, having enormous self confidence and be the destroyer of all the gods.” On hearing this Maharṣi Kaśyapa spoke to her— “O Auspicious one, I shall bestow on you an enormously valorous son, who could be able to kill even Indra.

But you should in consultation with the sage Āpastamba perform a Putreṣṭi-yajña. O Auspicious one, at the end of the Yajña, I shall make you conceive with my semen and bestow a son who would be able to kill Indra.” Thereafter the sage Āpastambha, arranged for the extremely exhaustive Putreṣṭi-yajña. He made the final offering saying, “Let there be a son who should be inimical to Indra, who should be born to you. (With this yajña, the gods should have been panicky) but they felt pleased with this on the ground that the Daityas as well as the Dānavas would be deprived of the effect of this yajña.

At the conclusion of the yajña, Kaśyapa made Diti to conceive and then said to her, “O Beautiful one, you have to perform a tapas for a hundred years for the protection of the pregnancy. O Excellent one, the pregnant woman should not take food in the evening time. She should not be seated at the root of the tree, nor should she go near it. She should not sit on a broom stick or a pestle.¹ She should not enter in deep waters and should also avoid entering in a lonely house. She should avoid,

1. The Ulūkhalā or mortar is a large wooden bowl on a solid stand of timber, both cut out of one piece; the pestle is also of wood; and they are used chiefly for bruising or threshing unwinnowed corn and separating the chaff from the grain. As important agents in household economy, they are regarded as sacred, and even hymned in the Vedas.

It will be decorated with many palatial buildings, various instruments, various weapons, Śataghnis, cakras, spears, upalas, kampanas and various other arms. Hundreds of towers and turrets would be built to make the cities look like the great Mandara and Meru. Who can destroy, save the three-eyed Bhagavān (Śiva), these three cities, touching the Heavens, and so well-guarded by myself, Tāraka and Vidyunmālī?

Building of Tripura by Maya-dānava

Sūta said— “O Ṛṣis, thus giving the matter a deep thought, Maya— the great architect, with the influence of the divine methods beside the thoughts of his own mind, got ready to build a castle named Tripura, which could move at will. He thought, “whether on the road a boundary wall should be built or a gopura. At some places the whether canopy should be built or the main gate of the fort?

There should be a vast kings way, and there should be wide roads with foot paths and the lanes. There should be a platform here, and this place is fit enough for the inner apartments. The temple of Śiva should be lodged here, the tanks with banyan trees, step wells and the lakes should be built here.

Thus Maya was fully competent in the the making of the Cities and created Tripura with ith his mental thinking alone. This is what has been ean heard by us.

The city built by black iron by Maya was was owned by Tārakāsura. Then he controlling the the city kept on living in the same.

The third city built by Maya was made c (gold. The valorous Maya occupied the sann rr and became its lord. As the castle of Tāraka wa vi located at a distance of a hundred yojanas fro o: that of Vidyunmālī, similarly the cities 1 Vidyunmālī and Maya were located at : distance of a hundred yojanas from each oth < The city of Maya Dānava looked like the Me e mountain.

As the three eyed lord Śiva had crated Puṣpaka in the earlier times, similarly Maya-dānava, with the combination of the Puṣya constellation, arranging for the time built Tripura.

While building the city, whenever he went from one Pura to the other by a particular route, thousands of buildings in gold, silver and iron, started building by means of the garland of jewels presented by Varuṇa to Maya.

Thus with the use of the gems in the construction work, the palaces of the enemies of gods looked quite graceful. They had hundreds of palaces with multi-storey rooms.

All the people moved quite freely there. Their beauty and attraction surpassed the beauty of all the lokas. They had enough of gardens, step-wells, wells and the lakes with lotus flowers.

It abounded with the groves of Aśoka trees with cuckoos and nightingales singing in them. There were many painters' studios, quadrangular spaces enclosed by buildings, rows of seventeen or eighteen-storeyed houses, with various flags, banners and garlands, all built by Maya.

The palatial buildings resounded with the sounds of hundreds of small tinkling bells; they were filled with the perfumes of various sweet-scented flowers. The houses were neatly plastered and looked beautiful with various flowers and offerings to the Deity. The white houses of the fort Tripura were all covered with smoke arising from sacrificial offerings; jars full of water were arranged there in rows thus making them look like rows of swans. The rows of pendant garlands, pearls and jewels on the several buildings made them defy the splendour of the Moon.

The houses decorated with flowers, Mallikā and Jāti, etc., and scented with nice perfumes and dhūpas made them look like good persons, endowed with five senses, and looking on all with equal sight. Round the three fortresses were built three enclosure walls that looked like mountainous structures. These walls were built respectively of gold, silver and iron and ornamented with gems, jewels and collyrium. Hundreds of Gopuras (entrance gates) existed there in every fortress, decked with flags and banners and looking like mountain tops. The inner compartments for women resounded with the sounds of tinkling bells on their anklets; and these were more beautiful than the Heavens.

In these compartments, there were many resting-places, Vihāras (places of enjoyments), tanks, banyan trees, quadrangular-marts, pools, lakes, gardens and forests. All sorts of excellent divine objects of enjoyment were there; and they were decorated with various gems and jewels. The outlets of the three fortresses were rendered beautiful with various flowers and they were surrounded by hundreds of deep ditches and moats. These moats were equipped with various weapons to defeat enemies' designs.

When the sons of Diti, of unrivalled valour and the great enemies of Indra heard that the Dānava Maya, of wonderful valour and deeds, had built such a fortress, they came in hundreds and thousands and took refuge there.

That Tripura fort, then became quite full of the Asuras, the tormentors of people and the destroyers of their enemies; and it looked gigantic like elephants and mountains as if the sky had been overcast with dark clouds about to shower rains.

CHAPTER 131

Comfortable living of the Daityas in Tripura, witnessing of the dream by Maya and torture of the people by the Daityas

सूत उवाच

Sūta said— “O Ṛṣis, in this way, Maya— the architect of the demons built the castle named Tripura. But ultimately, the gods who were bound with the enmity of the demons, the said castle became inaccessible for the gods.

At that point of time all the Daityas who were terrific like Yama, at the command of Maya, entered the (newly built) houses with their sons and wives.

As a number of lions overpower the forest, several crocodiles overpower the ocean, besides the anger and harshness, combined overpower the body, similarly the castle was inhabited by the powerful Daityas— the enemies of the gods. Thus the city of Tripura was filled with innumerable Daityas.

At that point of time, the Dānavas come out of Sutāla and Pātāla, besides those of the Daityas who spent time or lived over the mountains, appeared there as the displaced persons, having the cloud like complexion.

Because of their taking refuge in Tripura, whatever was desired by each one of the asuras, it was fulfilled with the illusion of Maya.

The Dānavas with well-built bodies, having been plastered with sandal paste, who were decorated with shining ornaments and bright costumes, and who appeared like the intoxicated elephants, in the evenings of the moonlights, could be found over the banks of the lakes, in the mango groves, in hermitages, enjoying all the pleasure with their wives.

Thus the great Daityas enjoyed all the comforts living in the city built by Maya-Dānava. All of them had engaged themselves in dharma, artha and kāma.

व्रजति स्म सुखं कालः स्वर्गस्थानां यथा तथा॥११॥

The time of the demons living in the city built by Maya, passed so comfortably like those of the gods in the heaven.

सुश्रूषन्ते पितृन्पुत्राः पत्न्यश्चापि पतींस्तथा।
विमुक्तकलहश्चापि प्रीतयः प्रचुराभवन्॥१२॥

The sons served the fathers while the wives served their husbands. They never quarrelled amongst themselves. They loved one another.

नाधर्मस्त्रिपुरस्थानां बाधते वीर्यवानपि।
अर्चयन्तो दितेः पुत्रास्त्रिसुरायतने हरम्॥१३॥
पुण्याहशब्दानुच्चेरुराशीर्वादांश्च वेदगान्।

हासश्च वरनारीणां चित्तव्याकुलकारकः।
त्रिपुरे दानवेन्द्राणां रमतां श्रूयते सदा॥१५॥

The irreligious act never obstructed the performance of the people of that place. The Daityas with their wives and sons, adored Śiva in the Śiva temple and recited the Vedic mantras besides the welfare songs. They loudly chanted the Vedic hymns and played on Vīṇā and flute in union with the tinkling of the anklets. They always enjoyed the company of their consorts and their hearts were always delighted with the pleasing peals of laughter of the ladies.

तेषामर्चयतां देवान् ब्राह्मणांश्च नमस्यताम्।

अथालक्ष्मीरसूया च तृड्बुभुक्षे तथैव च।
कलिश्च कलहश्चैव त्रिपुरं विविशुः सह॥१७॥
सञ्च्याकालं प्रविष्टास्ते त्रिपुरं च भयावहाः।

सर्व एत विशन्तस्तु मयेन त्रिपुरान्तरम्।
स्वप्ने भयावहा दृष्टा आविशन्तस्तु दानवान्॥१९॥

In this way they passed their days in the worship of the Devas and Brāhmaṇas and in the enjoyment of Artha, Dharma and Kāma. Thus a very long time passed away. Sometime after befriended by evening, poverty, jealousy, greed, disunion and the kali simultaneously entered the fortress of Tripura and settled down in the bodies of the Dānavas like so many diseases. Maya saw all these very dreadful things in a dream.

उदिते च सहस्रांशौ शुभभासाकरे रवौ।
मयः सभामाविवेश भास्कराभ्यामिवाम्बुदः॥२०॥
मेरुकूटनिभे रम्ये आसने स्वर्णमण्डिते।

पार्श्वयोस्तारकाख्यश्च विद्युन्माली च दानवः।
उपविष्टौ मयस्यान्ते हस्तिनः कलभाविव॥२२॥

In the morning when the sun arose with all his glory, Maya came to his audience hall and in company of the two other Dānavas looked beautiful like the cloud between two suns and took his seat on the beautiful throne, bedecked with gold and looking like the peak of the Mount Meru. Tāraka and Vidyunmālī took their seats on each of his sides as the two young elephants appear by the two sides of a big elephant.

ततः सुरारयः सर्वेऽशेषकोपा रणाजिरे।

तेष्वासीनेषु सर्वेषु सुखासनगतेषु च।
मयो मायाविजलक इत्युवाच स दानवान्॥ २४॥

When the three Asuras took their respective seats, it seemed that the clouds rested on the top of the summit of the golden mountain. Then, one by one, all the Asuras, with their strong armours and military dress, very violent, came there to Mayā's assembly. And when everyone sat down on his seat, Maya the maker of Māyā addressed them as follows.

खेचराः खेचरारावा भो भो दाक्षायणीसुताः।
निशामयध्वं स्वप्नोऽयं मया दृष्टो भयावहः॥ २५॥

“Hear, O sons of Dākṣāyaṇī! wanderers in the air! you, that roar in the celestial regions! the dreadful dream that I felt last night.

चतस्रः प्रमदस्तत्र त्रयो मर्त्या भयावहाः।
कोपानलादीप्तमुखाः प्रविष्टास्त्रिपुरार्दिनः॥ २६॥

I saw in my dream four women, three of them very terrible and belonging to this earth, raging like fire, enter the Tripura fortress.

प्रविश्य रुषितास्ते च पुराण्यतुलविक्रमाः।

नगरं त्रिपुरं चेदं तमसा समवस्थितम्।
सगृहं सह युष्माभिः सागराभ्यसि मज्जितम्॥ २८॥

On entering this city, they began to torment the people thereof. Their valour is indomitable; they entered with rage into the city and divided themselves into many forms and entered into the bodies of the demons. This whole city, it seemed, was covered over with darkness. You all, with your houses and everything were drowned in the ocean.

उलूकं रुचिरा नारी नग्नाऽऽरूढा खरं तथा।
पुरुषः सिन्दुतिलकश्चतुरङ्घ्रिस्त्रिलोचनः॥ २९॥

I saw one owl and a fan naked woman on a donkey; I saw also a man with a mark of red powder on his forehead; he was four-footed and three-eyed.

येन सा प्रमदा नुन्ना अहं चैव विबोधितः।

कामं चेष्ट्यां च कोपं च असूयां संविहाय च।
सत्ये दमे च धर्मे च मुनिवादे च तिष्ठतः॥ ३३॥

The woman, seen before, was chased by this man. I awoke then. O sons of Diti! Thus this dreadful woman appeared. Thus the dream was dreamt by me. I do not know whether this dream portends future disasters to the Asuras? Whatever this may be, if I be fit to be your Emperor and if you consider my words beneficial to you, then, I advise you not to be jealous of each other. Avoid lust, anger, jealousy, envy and hold fast to truth, self-restraint, Dharma and behave yourselves like Munis.

शान्तयश्च प्रयुज्यन्तां पूज्यतां च महेश्वरः।

कलहं वर्जयन्तश्च अर्जयन्तस्तथार्जवम्।
स्वप्नोदयं प्रतीक्षध्वं कालोदयमथापि च॥ ३६॥

Spread peace everywhere and worship Śiva. Who knows, that by observing these, all the forebodings of evils would be averted! From the dream, it appears that the three-eyed Rudra, the Deva of the Devas, is angry with us; for, O Asuras, I see clearly what will befall this Tripura castle. So you all should avoid quarrels, acquire sincerity and see how this dream fares with us.

श्रुत्वा दाक्षायणीपुत्रा इत्येवं मयभाषितम्।

Hearing these words of Maya, they looked agitated with anger and hatred which predicted their downfall. Overcome by misfortune, they looked on one another with eyes reddened with anger, though they were thoroughly convinced of their impending ruin and destruction. Those demons, thus overcome by destiny, abandoned the path of truth and their course of virtue and started on the path of vice.

द्विषन्ति ब्राह्मणान् पुण्यान् न चार्चन्ति हि देवताः।
गुरुं चैव न मन्यन्ते ह्यन्योन्यं चापि चुक्रुधुः॥४०॥

First, they began to hate the holy Brāhmaṇas; they gave up their daily course of worship; they ceased to pay their respects to their preceptors and began to be angry with one another.

कलहेषु च सज्जन्ते स्वधर्मेषु हसन्ति च।

उच्चैर्गुरून्प्रभाषन्ते नाभिभाषन्ति पूजिताः।
अकस्मात्साश्रुनयना जायन्ते च समुत्सुकाः॥४२॥

They became addicted to habits of quarrelling with one another; they mocked their religion; they abused one another; and every one of them played the master. They began to insult their elders, and despise the objects of their everyday adoration. They ceased to perform good deeds and were vexed at mere trifles and their eyes overflowed with tears.

दधिसक्तून्ययश्चैव कपित्थानि च रात्रिषु।
भक्षयन्ति च शेरन्त उच्छिष्टाः संवृतास्तथा॥४३॥

सङ्कुचन्ति भयाच्चैव मार्ज्जराणां यथाखुकः।
भार्यां गत्वा न शुद्ध्यन्ति रहोवृत्तिषु निस्त्रपाः॥४५॥

They ate at night curds, barley porridge, milk and wood-apple; slept with their unclean bodies; they left off washing their feet and hands after answering calls of nature; they retired to bed without cleaning themselves. They began to fear cats like mice and never cleaned their persons after enjoying themselves in company of their consorts and never observed the rules of decency in dallying with their women folk.

पुरा सुशीला भूत्वा च दुःशीलत्वमुपागताः।
देवांस्तपोधनांश्चैव बाधन्ते त्रिपुरालयाः॥४६॥

Thus, they became a corrupt lot, though they had led virtuous lives before; and they now began to trouble the Devas, sages and hermits.

मयेन वार्यमाणापि ते विनाशमुपस्थिताः।
विप्रियाण्येव विप्राणां कुर्वाणाः कलहैषिणः॥४७॥

जगद्भूवामरराजदुष्टैरभिदुतं सस्यमिवालिङ्गन्दैः॥५०॥

Though prohibited by Maya, they began to commit acts incurring the displeasure of the Brāhmaṇas and thus went on in their path of destruction. In their anger, they devastated, Vaibhrāja, Nandanavana, Citrarathavana, Aśokavana, Varāśokavana, which gave fruits and flowers in all the seasons, and they destroyed groves of hermits though they were masters of these places. They destroyed the abodes of the Devas, hermits and devotees. The whole universe looked devastated like a field infested with locusts.

CHAPTER 132

Atrocities of the Daityas of Tripura, taking refuge of the gods with Brahmā and moving of the gods with Brahmā to Śiva and their prayer

Sūta said— “O Ṛṣis, the virtues of the Dānavas had already declined and they were fully infested with wickedness. The evil-minded Daityas then started destroying the lokas as well as the hermitages of the sages.

They uttered the lion's roars in the sky, which frightened all the living beings. In this way when all the three worlds was non-plussed because of fear, and the darkness was spread everywhere, then the frightened Ādityas, Vasus, Sādhyas, Pitṛ-gaṇas and Marudgaṇas— all combined went to take refuge with Brahmā.

ते तं स्वर्णोत्पलासीनं ब्रह्माणं समुपागताः।
नेमुरुचुश्च सहिताः पञ्चास्यं चतुराननम्॥ ४॥

The five faced Brahmā was seated over the golden lotus throne. Reaching close to Brahmā the gods offered their salutation to him and narrated the atrocities of the demons to him.

वरगुप्तास्तवैवेह दानवास्त्रिपुरालयाः।

मेघागमे यथा हंसा मृगाः सिंहभयादिव।
दानवानां भयात् तद्वद्वभ्राम प्रपितामह॥ ६॥

They said— “O Sinless, Grandsire, the Dānavas of Tripura, enjoying safety because of your boons, are humiliating us like the slaves. Therefore, you stop them O Grandsire, as with the arrival of the clouds the swans flee and with roaring of the lion, the terrified deer flee, similarly because of the terror of the Dānavas, we people are playing the game of hide and seek, here and there.

पुत्राणां नामधेयानि कलत्राणां तथैव च।
दानवैर्भ्राम्यमाणानां विस्मृतानि ततोऽनघ॥ ७॥

O Sinless Brahmā, having been driven out by the Dānavas, we have forgotten even the names of our sons and wives.

यदि न त्रायसे लोकं दानवैर्विदुतं दुतम्।
घर्षणानेन निर्देवं निर्मनुष्याश्रमं जगत्॥ ९॥

The Dānavas have been blinded with greed and confusion, are destroying the abodes of the gods and the Ṛṣis, who are wandering here and there. In case you do not immediately protect the lokas being destroyed by the Dānavas, then the entire universe, besides the gods and the humans, will get destroyed.”

इत्येवं त्रिदशैरुक्तः पद्मयोनिः पितामहः।

When the gods so prayed to Brahmā, born of a lotus, then the all powerful Brahmā having the face as bright as the moon, spoke to Indra and other gods, “O Gods possessing the best of wisdom, the end of the boon which had been granted by me to Maya, is nearing and I had informed them earlier about the same. Tripura, their abode is going to be destroyed with the shooting of a single arrow. There is no need of shooting many arrows over it.

याचामः सहिता देवं त्रिपुरं स हनिष्यति॥ १५॥

But O gods, I do not find anyone among you who could destroy Tripura with the demons, with the shooting of a single arrow. None else except lord Śiva, can destroy Tripura with the shooting of a single arrow. In case you and other gods collectively go to Śiva—the destroyer of the yajña of Dakṣa, and pray him for the destruction of Tripura, he would surely do so.

कृतः पुराणां विष्कम्भो योजनानां शतं शतम्।
यथा चैकप्रहारेण हन्येत वै भवेन तु॥ १६॥
पुण्ययोगेन युक्तानि तानि चैकक्षणेन तु।

Because, each of the three castles of Tripura are 100 yojanas in diameter and all three of them were constructed during the conjunction of the asterism Puṣyā with the Moon, you should, therefore, devise that plan which may lead Śiva to destroy them in one arrow.

ततो देवैश्च सम्प्रोक्तो यास्याम इति दुःखितैः॥ १७॥

स्तुवन्तो वरदं शुम्भुं गोपतिं पार्वतीपतिम्॥ २१॥

Then the Devas all proclaimed at once with sorrowful minds— “We will all go to Him.” Brahmā also accompanied them to get their object fulfilled and they all went to the abode of Śiva. They beheld that supreme and glorious Śiva, the lord of the past, present and future in company of His noble consort, Pārvatī, and the high-souled Nandikeśvara. In other words, the Devas were bedazzled with the sublime glory of the mighty Śiva. He was of a fiery colour, unborn, of three eyes resembling the three pits of fires, with the splendour of one thousand suns, decked with five-coloured ornaments, having the crescent Moon on His forehead, and his face looking sweet like the Moon. The Devas considered themselves blessed by seeing the Lord, the Unborn One, the Nīllohita (of blue and red colour) ready to grant boons, the Lord of Pārvatī, the Lord of gods, the Deva Svayambhu whom they now began to adore with their devotional hymns.

They then said— “O Master of all! O Bhava! O Śarva! O Rudra! The Giver of all boons, O Lord of all creatures! O Eternal One! O You terrible. O You Eternal one, the Giver of one's desired objects! we bow down to You again and again.”

Building of a surprising chariot of Śiva for the killing of Tripurāsura

सूत उवाच

ब्रह्माद्यैः स्तूयमानस्तु देवैर्देवो महेश्वरः।

प्रजापतिमुवाचेदं देवानां क्व भयं महत्॥ १॥

Sūta said— “Having been so prayed by Brahmā and other gods, Maheśvara the god of gods, said to Brahmā, the Prajāpati, How could the great gods like you have to face such a danger?

भो देवाः स्वागतं वोऽस्तु ब्रूत यद्वो मनोगतम्।

O Gods, you are welcome. You better speak out the desire in your mind, which will surely be granted by me. Because there is nothing which cannot be given to you.

O Best of gods, I always bestow welfare on you. Not only that, whatever the best and severe tapas is performed by me it is meant for your welfare alone.

विद्विष्टा वो मम द्विष्टाः कष्टाः कष्टपराक्रमाः।

तेषामभावः सम्पाद्यो युष्माकं भव एव च॥ ४॥

The people who are jealous of you they happen to be my avowed enemies. Therefore the one who frightens you, irrespective of his possessing the enormous strength, I have to put an end to him making you graceful.”

At the words so lovingly spoken by Mahādeva, all the gods with Brahmā, then spoke to lord Śiva, “O Lord, the terrific asura, performed the terrific tapas, because of which he is troubling us. Hence, we have arrived here to take refuge with you.

मयो नाम दितेः पुत्रस्त्रिनेत्र कलहप्रियः।

O three-eyed Śiva, you are well aware of the fact that Maya— the son of Diti is quite quarrelsome. It is he who has built a Tripura castle with yellow gate. Taking refuge in the castle of Tripura, the Dānava has become fearless because of the boon. O Mahādeva, he is troubling us the most like orphans.

O Maheśvara, he has snatched away the elephants Kumuda, Añjana, Vāmana and Airāvata from Indra. The prominent steed which were yoked in the chariot of Indra have been usurped by him. These steed are now being yoked in the chariot of the demon.

Whatever the chariots, elephants, damsels, besides the riches were possessed by us, have all been usurped by the Daityas. Presently we are doubtful about our own lives.”

When the gods like Indra and others, thus spoke, Śiva— with three eyes, bestower of boons, using the bull as vehicle, the lord of lords, then spoke to the gods— “I shall burn out Tripura. But you do as I want you to do. Incase you so desire that Tripura should be burnt by me, then, you make for me a chariot, with all the means and well decorated.

Accordingly, Brahmā and others in obedience to His orders equipped at once an excellent chariot. They fixed the earth as its basis, the two attendants of Śiva as the two poles of the chariot (to which the yoke is fixed), the Mount Meru, the seat in the chariot; the Mandara, the axle; the Sun and the Moon as the two silvery and golden wheels, the dark and the lunar fortnights as the two fellies of the wheels, all the Devas for the machinery of the chariot, the serpents Kambala and Aśvatara as the tying rope of the chariot, Śukra, Brhaspati, Budha, Maṅgala and Saturn as the conveyors of the chariot and the firmament as the fender (with which a chariot is provided as a defence against collision). The eyes of serpents became the golden piping instruments (made of bamboos) of the chariot; the cheerful Devas bedecked the chariot with gems, pearls and sapphires.

The Nāgas (women) of the Dhṛtarāṣṭra family became the prostitutes in the chariot; and the descendants of Vāsuki, the various haughty serpents became the arrows of the bows and lodged themselves in the quivers.

Surasā, Sarmā, Kadrū, Vinatā, Śuci, Trṣā, Bubhukṣā, Sarvogrā, Mr̥tyu, Sarvaśama, Brahmavadhyā, Govadhyā, Bālavadhyā, Prajābhayā, etc., went to the chariot of Śiva in the form of darts and javelins.

The four Yugas took the place of the yoke, the four Hotras and four Varnas became the golden ear-rings, capable to do great works. That yoke illustrious like the ages rested on the fore of the chariot and was tied to it by means of the serpent Dhṛtarāṣṭra that served the purpose of a rope.

The four Vedas, viz., Ṛk, Sāma, Yajuh, Atharva became the four horses of the chariot. The various forms of charities were the ornaments of those horses and the serpents Padma, Mahāpadma, Takṣaka, Karkotaka and Dhanañjaya were utilized in tying the hair of the horses.

The sacred mantras originating from Om and the various sacrifices, viz., the remedying of evils, the tying of beasts, etc., became the jewels, pearls and corals, of the chariot. The most holy Om was the whip and Vaṣaṭa formed its tip-knot. Sinīvālī, Kuhū, Amāvāsyā, Rākā and Anumatī were employed as the reins of the horses; there were also the black, yellow, white, red, brown banners of the chariot.

Lord Rudra became the great Kāla (time) and this Kāla is the year; and His consort Umā, the Kālarātri became the deathless bowstring.

The arrow with which Śiva consumed the castle Triprua was forged with the potency of the three Devas— (1) Mahā Viṣṇu (2) Soma and (3) Agni. Agni was the mouth of the arrow, and the Moon the dispeller of darkness, located Himself in the main portion of the shaft and Viṣṇu presented Himself in the form of its violence and strength. The snake Vāsuki discharged his terrible venom into that arrow to make it more mortal.

The Devas, having thus prepared the chariot, went to Śiva and said— “O Conqueror of the demons and the enemies! we have got this chariot ready for you which will help to drive away the troubles of Indra and other Devas and thus preserve them.”

The Lord Śiva then said— Well done! and then began to examine that huge divine chariot looking like Mount Sumeru and was highly pleased with it. He praised the skill of the Devas and said to them— “O Devas! You should soon provide this chariot with a skilful driver as well.”

The Devas were very much confused to hear those words of the Lord and looked as if they had been pierced by arrows. They began to think deeply on this point. They said to themselves— “Who can be the worthy charioteer of Mahādeva who save Viṣṇu? So let us go and take His refuge.”

धुरि युक्ता इवोक्षाणो घटन्त इव पर्वतैः।

Thinking thus, they looked like buffaloes with yokes on their necks and obstructed by mountains on their way and they heaved a deep sigh saying— “Alas! how can we accomplish this?”

Brahmā seeing the Devas overpowered with anxiety and ready to go and stand on the pole of the chariot said— “I shall be the charioteer,” and with these words He took the reins of the horses, when all the Devas, assembled there, expressed their unbounded delight in, a loud chorus of exclamation. Brahmā started the chariot and Lord Śiva jumped into it saying— “Yes, He is the worthy charioteer of Mine.” When Śiva seated Himself in the chariot, the horses through His weight knelt down to the ground until their faces were covered with dust. At that time, Lord Śiva, finding those horses— the manifestations of the Vedas— falling down to the ground, lifted them up, as a dutiful son uplifts his distressed manes.

ततः सिंहरवो भूयो बभूव रथभैरवः।

Again a loud exclamation arose and all the Devas shouted frequently, “Victory, victory to Hara,” which seemed like the roaring sound of the billows of the ocean.

Then Brahmā, the giver of boons, made the steeds go faster by smacking the whip of Om. The horses with their heads lifted up into the air and their mouths open, galloped away, hissing like ferocious serpents as if they would devour the Heavens. The horses goaded by Brahmā and directed by Śiva, flew like the wind blowing at the time of the destruction of the world.

Pramathas, the attendants of Śiva, like volcanic mountains, ablaze like fire and robust like the snow-clad peaks of the mountain, followed the chariot of the lord. They all looked like formidable sharks in the deep.

Bhṛgu, Bharadvāja, Vasiṣṭha, Gautama, Pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu, Marīci, Atri, Aṅgirā, Parāśara, Agastya etc., pleased the Unborn and Indomitable Lord Śiva with their nicely composed devotional hymns. At that time the chariot of the unconquerable Lord began to march towards the castle Tripura, as the mountain with wings flies in the Heavens.

Like the ferocious ocean at the time of the destruction of the universe, full of crocodiles, Timis and Timingalas, the extremely brilliant chariot of the Lord glided onwards full of radiance, rumbling deep, like the sound of thunder-clouds and lightnings.

Attack on Tripura by Śiva and other gods, Arrival of Nārada in Tripura, Preparation for the war by the asuras

Sūta said— “O Ṛṣis, thus boarding the chariot which was adorable by the universe, Lord Mahādeva, proceeded on to attack Tripura. The Pramathas at that point of time declared in lion’s roar— “This is correct, This is correct.”

ईश्वरस्वघोषेण नर्दमाने महावृषे।

Nandī— the great Bull, started thundering resembling the sound of Śiva. Groups of the Brāhmaṇas started shouting the slogans of victory, while the horses started neighing.

कान्त्या चन्द्रोपमस्तूर्णं त्रिपुरं पुरमागतः॥३॥

At the same time Nārada the divine Ṛṣi, having the lustre of moon, reached in the city of Tripura, jumping from the battlefield.

औत्पातिकं तु दैत्यानां त्रिपुरे वर्तते ध्रुवम्।

नारदश्चात्र भगवान् प्रादुर्भूतस्तपोधनः॥४॥

Disturbances were being created in Tripura the city of the Daityas. Nārada suddenly appeared there.

 तमर्घ्येण च पाद्येन मधुपर्केण चेश्वरः।
 नारदं पूजयामासुर्ब्रह्माणमिव वासवः॥६॥

Finding the arrival of Nārada having the lustre of the white clouds, all the demons got up in order to welcome him. Thereafter the fortunate Dānavas offered pādyā, arghya and madhuparka to Nārada adoring him at the same time, as Brahmā is adored by Indra.

तेषां स पूजां पूजार्हः प्रतिगृह्य तपोधनः।
 नारदः सुखमासिनः काञ्चने परमासने॥७॥

Then the adorable Nārada accepted their adoration and he was made to sit over a comfortable seat.

मयस्तु सुखमासीने नारदे नारदोद्भवे।
 यथार्हं दानवैः सार्द्धमासीनो दानवाधिपः॥८॥

Thus after Nārada— the son of Brahmā, took his seat. Maya— the king of Dānavas with other Dānavas, took his seat.

आसीनं नारदं प्रेक्ष्य मयस्त्वथ महासुरः।
 अब्रवीद्वचनं तुष्टो हृष्टरोमाननेक्षणः॥९॥

Thus finding that Nārada has been comfortably seated, Maya, the great Dānava, felt immensely pleased. His hair stood at ends with delight. His eyes and face blossomed with delight. Then he talked with Nārada.

औत्पातिकं पुरेऽस्माकं यथा नान्यत्र कुत्रचित्।

 दृश्यन्ते भयदाः स्वप्ना भज्यन्ते च ध्वजाः परम्।

Then Maya said to Nārada— “O Nārada, you are well aware of the happenings in the past, present and future. Therefore you tell me, the type of disturbance which is being created in our city, could possibly never happen in other places. The frightening dreams are being witnessed here. The flags suddenly break and fall. The flags are falling on the ground without the touch of the air.

अट्टालकाश्च नृत्यन्ते सपताकाः सगोपुराः।

The canopies with flags and the gates look like dancing. The sound of “kill him, kill him” are often heard in the city.

नाहं बिभेमि देवानां सेन्द्राणामपि नारद।
 मुक्त्वैकं वरदं स्थाणुं भक्ताभयकं हरम्॥१३॥

In spite of that, I am not at all afraid even of Indra and other gods except lord Śiva, who is the lord and the bestower of the boon.

O Sinless lord, you are not at all unaware about the cause of these disturbances, because you are well aware of the present, past and the future. O Best of the sages, these disturbances have become, the cause of frightening for us, about which I have spoken to you. O Nārada, I take refuge in you. You kindly speak out the cause of the same.” Thus Maya Dānava spoke to Nārada, the indestructible one.

Hearing such words of Maya, Nārada said—
“Hear the cause of such ill-bodings. The word ‘Dharma’ is derived from a root meaning to “hold up” and “to express the glories of the Creator;” therefore, Dharma is the practice of virtue and the propriety of being magnanimous. The good and the great have described ‘Dharma’ to be the cause of attaining one’s desired object and happiness, and, therefore, they have advised Dharma to be practised. Adharma, which is contradictory to ‘Dharma’, is said to be the cause of all misfortunes and, therefore, ought to be avoided. The knowers of the Vedas have said that those coming to the path of virtue from the life of vice and again launching on the track of evil, perish. Therefore, you, inspite of being firm on your Dharma, are helping the Devas, who are your evil wishers; and you will be despised on account of these haughty Dānavas that form your following. They will be of no help to you, and the misfortunes passing before you in course of your dreams are all indications of your coming evils. In other words, they indicate your annihilation along with your paraphernalia.

The Lord Śiva is advancing towards your town on his great chariot embodying all the Lokas, and He will destroy you all. If you wish well, you should throw yourself, along with your followers and the members of your family, on His mercy, Who is eternal and of great strength. Thus you, with your sons and relatives, will go to His abode.”

इत्येवमावेद्य भयं दानवोपस्थितं महत्।

In this way, the sage Nārada, after warning them of their coming misfortunes, returned to Mahādeva, the Deva of the Devas.

After the departure of the sage, Maya, the leader of the Dānavas, advised his followers not to fear and said, “O Brave Dānavas! we are born heroes; sons and grandsons are born to us; we have now done what ought to be done by us. Now quit all fears in this hour of crisis and fight with the Devas.

जित्वा वयं भविष्याम सर्वेऽमरसभासदः।

We will all attain heaven after conquering the Devas and will enjoy all the realms after killing Indra and other Devas.

O Dānavas! go up to your respective spots in all the three fortresses; for the places should not be left vacant. This will soon be attacked by the Devas. You will know the advance of the indomitable Devas in the aerial regions and I am confident of your being able to keep them at bay with your arrows.”

Maya, after thus haranguing his followers, entered suddenly into his castle, full of the women folk, with a very heavy mind. After purifying himself, he performed the worship of the Lord Śiva, the Digambara, who is white like silver, and praised Him with well-chosen words and placed himself under the refuge of the Deva of the Devas, who is the enemy of passion, and the killer of Andhaka and the destroyer of Dakṣa's sacrifice.

Lord Śiva daily enjoys sports with his courtiers. The Lokapālas live here like the Meru mountain. At the same place where lord Maheśvara, having the eyes yellow like the honey, who is adorned with the crescent as an ornament, spoke to Indra as well as his gaṇas, “O Indra, the Tripura of your enemies is visible here. It is decorated with planes, the flags and banners. It is quite strong. It is known about the same, that it cause sufferings like the fire. सहद्भिर्मामकैर्भृत्यैर्व्यापादय महासुरान्॥१०॥

Therefore, you accompanied with all the assistants, your warriors and my ganās, move forward and kill these Daityas.

अहं च रथवर्येण निश्चलाचलवत्स्थितः।
पुरः पुरस्य रथार्थी स्थास्यामि विजयाय वः॥११॥

I shall establish myself like an immovable mountain, over the chariot for the sake of your victory. I shall wait for any shortcoming of Maya standing before Tripura.

यदा तु पुष्ययोगेन एकत्वं स्थास्यते परम्।
तदेतन्निर्दहिष्यामि शरेणैकेन वासव॥१२॥

When all the three cities of the Daityas shall be in one line in the Puṣya constellation, then I shall burn them with the shooting of a single arrow."

इत्युक्तो वै भगवता रुद्रेणेह सुरेश्वरः।
ययौ तत्त्रिपुरं जेतुं तेन सैन्येन संवृतः॥१३॥

At these words spoken by lord Rudra, Indra, the god of gods accompanied with the vast army, marched forward for the defeat of Tripura.

प्रक्रान्तरथभीमैस्तैः सदेवैः पार्षदां गणैः।
कृतसिंहरवोपेतैरुद्गच्छद्भिरिवाम्बुदैः॥१४॥

At that time of departure, terrific sound was created from the chariots of the gods and the ganās of Śiva. All of them were creating thundering sound like the thundering of the clouds.

तेन नादेन त्रिपुराद्दानवा युद्धलालसाः।
उत्पत्य दुदुवुश्चैलुः सायुधाः खे गणेश्वरान्॥१५॥

Hearing that sound, all the Dānavas, holding the weapons, with the desire of waging the war, came out of Tripura and jumping in the sky pounced upon the ganās of Śiva.

Hearing which the demons, eager to fight, emerging from their strongholds, dashed against the Devas in the air. Most of them became infuriated and began to thunder and roar and by their noise drowned the martial music of the Devas, as the Moon is enveloped by the clouds.

As the ocean swells under the influence of the Moon, the aspect of Tripura became awfully grim by the influx of the Asuras. Some of them were playing the music-of-war on the terraces of the palaces, on the tops of enclosure walls and on the gates. Some, wearing garlands of gold, roared like thunder-clouds and began to play the music-of-war. Some began to run about, waving their cloth in excitement, and some, remaining in their houses, began to enquire into the reason of that commotion. Others replied they did not know the cause of it, their sense of right understanding being muddled; in time, the whole thing would be revealed.

Others said, "Śiva, seated like a lion in His chariot on the summit of Meru, has made His appearance to torment Tripura, as a disease cropping up in the body torments the system. Be whatever it may, why should we fear; what is the bitch, you come out with your arms, what do you wish to enquire from us? Our prestige in this war must be kept up." The Dānavas of Tripura thus hurriedly conversed among themselves; and, soon after, their compeers residing in the Tārakāsura fortress emerged out of their stronghold, like infuriated serpents from their holes, under the generalship of the valiant Tārakāsura.

Those advancing Daityas were kept at bay by Pramathas, the followers of Śiva, as a herd of wild elephants is obstructed by multitudes of lions. At which the haughty Daityas in their excitement began to blaze like fire. And the archers of both the armies discharged their deadly arrows upon one other. The Dānavas, who took pride on their own beautiful faces, began to laugh at the faces of the attendants of Śiva. Some of whom looked like cats, some like deer, some were distorted and others looked terrible.

बाहुभिः परिघाकारैः कृष्यतां धनुषां शराः।

 इत्येवं परुषाण्युक्त्वा दानवाः पार्षदर्षभान्॥३२॥

The arrows discharged by the valiant arms penetrated into the warriors like the fishes getting into water and the birds in midst of the foliage. "Where will you fly and hide, wait; make room for us, we shall kill you; you will soon see us again!" with such harsh words, the Dānavas addressed the attendants of Śiva.

बिभिदुः सायकैस्तीक्ष्णैः सूर्यपादा इवाम्बुदान्।

They pierced the attendants of Śiva with their barbed arrows, as the sun disperses the masses of clouds with His rays; and the valiant Pramathas, with their lion eyes, also in their turn, paid the Dānavas back in their own coins by piling on them huge rocks and trees, etc. The inmates of Tripura became dispersed and it appeared, then, that the sky was overspread with clouds or with pack of geese.

The Daityas drawing their bows shot multitudes of arrows. It looked ominous as clouds marked with rainbow indicate stormy days. The leaders of the attendants pierced by the arrows lost good deal of blood and looked like secretions discharged from mountains. The Daityas in their turn, were crushed to death by the trees, rocks, thunderbolt, trident, battle-axe and other weapons thrown by the Devas, as the glass is powered by the weight of stone.

The Tripura swelled with the influx of the Asuras, as the ocean does at the sight of the Moon. The Daityas cried out “Victory to Tārakāsura!” and the leaders of the Deva hosts cried out “Victory to Indra! Victory to Śiva!” The brave warriors of both the armies mortally wounded with the arrows were breathing like the clouds full of rain. The battlefield looked fearful with the heap of chopped hands, heads, yellowish white banners, umbrellas and with flesh and blood.

व्योम्नि चोत्पत्य सहसा तालमात्रं वरायुधैः।
दृढाहताः पतन्पूर्वं दानवाः प्रमथास्तथा॥४२॥

The aerial fight then went on; the soldiers of the Lord Śiva and the Daityas clapped their hands, jumped in the air and took out their choice weapons and when the combatants fell down like the Tāla fruit falling to the ground.

At the sight of this, the Siddhas, Cāraṇa and celestial nymphs became gladdened and danced in the heavens with glee and cried “Bravo, Bravo.” The celestial drums sounded without being beat. That hour it looked as beautiful as does when the dogs bark at the thunder of clouds.

The remaining Daityas retreated into the fortresses, like the rivers falling into the sea and the serpents retiring into their holes. The powerful Devas, then clad with their arms fell on the Tārakākṣa fortress as the mountains fall on their wings.

योधयन्ति त्रिभागेन त्रिपुरे तु गणेश्वराः।
विद्युन्माली मयश्चैव मग्नौ च द्रुमवद्रणे॥४७॥

The army of Śiva divided into three divisions, marched on Tripura and started warfare at three places when Maya and Vidyunmālī also appeared on the scene.

विद्युन्माली स दैत्येन्द्रो गिरीन्द्रसदृशद्युतिः।
आदाय परिघं घोरं ताडयामास नन्दिनम्॥४८॥
स नंदी दानवेद्रेण परिघेण दृढाहतः।
भ्रमते मधुना व्यक्तः पुरा नारायणो यथा॥४९॥

Vidyunmālī looking like an elephant inflicted a severe blow on Nandī (the bull of the Lord Śiva) with his huge Parigha weapon, which made him reel about like the demon Madhu by the blow of Nārāyaṇa.

नन्दीश्वरो गते तत्र गणपाः ख्यातविक्रमाः।
दुद्रुवुर्जातसंरम्भा विद्युन्मालिनमासुरम्॥५०॥

After Nandikeśvara's retreat, the valiant attendants of Śiva made a vigorous dash on Vidyunmālī.

घण्टाकर्णः शङ्कुकर्णो महाकालश्च पार्षदाः।
ततश्च सायकैः सर्वान्गणपान्गणपाकृतीन्॥५१॥

They were Gaṇapatis, Ghaṇṭākarna, Śaṅkukarna and Mahākāla and others. They were all pierced with the arrows of Vidyunmālī, who, after harassing Gaṇapati, and others, began to roar like thunder clouds most hoarsely. Hearing the thundering growls of Vidyunmālī, Nandikaisvara, shining like Sun, again, confronted him. He hurled the powerful fiery bolt, named Vajrāstra at the Dānava, given to him by the Lord Śiva, which hit him in the chest, by the force of which that stalwart giant fell to the ground like a mountain blasted by the thunderbolt of Indra.

दैत्येश्वरं विनिहतं नंदिना कुलनन्दिना।
 चुक्रुशुर्दानवाः प्रेक्ष्य दुद्रुवुश्च गणाधिपाः॥५७॥

Seeing, Vidyunmālī rendered senseless by Nandikeśvara, the Dānavas raised a hue and cry which made the other leaders fly. The Gaṇapatis, then, pursued the Dānavas.

दुःखामर्षितरोषास्ते विद्युन्मालिनि पातिते।
 दुमशैलमहावृष्टिं पयोदाः ससृजुर्यथा॥५८॥

When the general Vidyunmālī was thus rendered senseless, the demons seething with wrath showered on the army of Śiva, rocks and trees as the clouds send forth rain.

ते पीड्यमाना गुरुभिर्गिरिभिश्च गणेश्वराः।
 कर्तव्यं न विदुः किञ्चिद्वन्द्यमाधार्मिका इव॥५९॥

This utterly confused the Gaṇapatis and rendered them helpless for the time being, as the irreligious cannot understand the essence of the Brāhmaṇas and the Devas.

ततोऽसुरवरः श्रीमांस्तारकाख्यः प्रतापवान्।
 स तरूणां गिरीणां वै तुल्यरूपधरो बभौ॥६०॥

Then the general Tārakāsura, most valiant and powerful, came to the scene, looking like a high mountain and huge tree.

भिन्नोत्तमाङ्गं गणपा भिन्नपादाङ्किताननाः।
 विरेजुभुर्जगा मन्त्रैर्वार्यमाणा यथा तथा॥६१॥

The soldiers of Śiva, with their heads, arms and legs separated from their bodies, looked like snakes brought under the influence of spells.

मयेन मायावीर्येण वध्यमाना गणेश्वराः।

 मयेन मायानिहतास्तारकाख्येण चेषुभिः॥६४॥

The Gaṇapathis were seriously checked by the powerful Maya, the knower of Māyā. Some of them began to reel about by the delusion of Maya as the singing birds hover about in their cage. Tārakāsura began to consume the army of Śiva as fire consumes dry wood. The soldiers in the Śiva's army became distressed, like the trees blown by a blast of wind, by the violence of arrows showered on them by Maya and Tārakāsura.

भूयः सम्पतते चाग्निर्ग्रहान् ग्राहान् भुजङ्गमान्।

 शरभानष्टपादांश्च आपः पवनमेव च।
 मयो मायाबलेनैव पातयत्येव शत्रुषु॥६७॥

Maya afterwards produced fire by his power of Māyā and let that loose on the army of Śiva and also cast crocodiles, snakes, lions, tigers, mountains, trees, deer, locusts with burnt wings, the eighteen-footed Śarabha, water and air.

ते तारकाख्येण मयेन मायया

संमुह्यमाना विवशा गणेश्वराः।

The soldiers of Śiva, inspite of their keenness to fight with the Dānavas could not adequately do so owing to their being influenced by Maya's delusion, just as the objects of senses become useless to the R̥sis who practise self-restraint.

They were exceedingly bewildered by the force of water, fire, elephants, serpents, lions, tigers, bears and the demons; as a drowning man in the ocean gets confused. The Dānavas raised a tumult of victory on finding their foes over-powered by them. Then, the following attendants of Śiva advanced to the van to protect the Devas.

यमो गदास्त्रो वरुणश्च भास्कर-

स्तथा कुमारोऽमरकोटिसंयुतः।

Dharmarāja armed with His club, Varuṇa, Sūrya, Svāmikārtika surrounded by his Koṭi Devas, Indra seated on Airāvata and armed with his thunderbolt came and joined the battle.

Then the Sun, Moon, Saturn, Yama and the highly brilliant Śiva, became excited and entered into the army of the Dānavas. Like made elephants making their way into thick forests by uprooting trees, and like the brilliant Sun shedding His radiance in midst of the clouds charged with rains, like the lion making havoc on cows in a solitary place, the Devas began to pursue the Dānavas and harass them.

Then the Dānavas became much distressed by the blows inflicted by the attendants of Śiva and they fled in great disorder. The Devas threw the Asuras away to a great distance like the Sun dispelling the darkness.

As the rising Sun drives away the nocturnal darkness, as the Moon also takes away the darkness, similarly, the effect of the weapons of the Daityas was melted down by the grace of the Mighty Śiva, and the power of the divine weapons made manifest, when the Dikpālas, the Lokapālas and the attendants of Śiva raised a chorus of victory. Many of the Dānavas were lying deprived of their head, arms and legs. Their bodies were pierced through and through by arrows.

The Dānavas wounded by the Devas suffered the agonies of an elephant entangled in a swamp. At the same time, Indra used His thunderbolt, Svāmikārtika His Śakti, Dharmarāja His terrific club, Varuṇa His formidable noose and Kubera His deathlike trident Sukeśa, the attendant of Kubera by his sheer strength, and the Devas, like Gaṇapatis, by their wonderful fiery valour, like the fully blazing fire offered in Pūrṇāhuti, began to crush the Daityas. It seemed, then, that the thunderbolt of Indra had fallen amongst the Dānavas and were tearing them to pieces. Then Maya overpowering Svāmikārtika, the guardian of the Devas spoke to Tārakāsura.

Hearing the above words of Maya, the red-eyed Tārakāsura instantly retired from his position in the sky to his stronghold in company with his army. Seeing this the Devas, the sons of Aditi, became very glad.

CHAPTER 136

Anxiety of Maya, construction of a surprising stepwell, terrific war between Nandikeśvara and Tārakāsura

सूत उवाच

मयः प्रहार कृत्वा तु मायावी दानवर्षभः।

विवेश तूर्णं त्रिपुरमब्धं नीलमिवाम्बरम्॥१॥

Sūta said— “O Sage the illusory Maya— the best of the Dānavas, attacking Kārtikeya, atonce entered Tripura, as the clouds enter the blue sky.

स दीर्घमुष्णं निःश्वस्य दानवान्वीक्ष्य मध्यगान्।

दध्यौ लोकक्षये प्राप्ते कालं काल इवापरः॥२॥

Reaching there he started breathing heavily. Then he looking at the Dānavas who had arrived in Tripura, after fleeing from the battlefield, he looked like the second Yama appearing at the time of the second dissolution and thought.

इन्द्रोऽपि बिभ्यते यस्य स्थितो युद्धेप्सुरग्रतः।

स चापि निधनं प्राप्तो विद्युन्माली महायशः॥३॥

“Alas! Even Indra was frightened when Vidyunmālī appeared in the battle ground, but he was met with his death.

दुर्गं वै त्रिपुरस्यास्य न समं विद्यते पुरम्।

तस्याप्येषोऽनयः प्राप्तो न दुर्गं कारणं क्वचित्॥४॥

There is no city or the castle in the three worlds, which could be compared with Tripura. But inspite of that, the misfortune has befallen on it. Therefore the castle is not the cause for the protection of life.

कालस्यैव वशे सर्वं दुर्गं दुर्गतरं च यत्।

काले क्रुद्धे कथं कालात्त्राणं नोऽद्य भविष्यति॥५॥

Therefore, I feel that not only the castle, but even the things better than the castle, are governed by the time. Therefore when the time is not favourable, then how could we be saved by the time?

लोकेषु त्रिषु यत्किञ्चिद्वलं वै सर्वजन्तुषु।

कालस्य तद्वशं सर्वमिति पैतामहो विधिः॥६॥

The strength possessed in all the living beings as well as the three worlds, is all governed by the time. This is the rule of Brahmā.

अस्मिन्कः प्रभवेद्योगो ह्यसन्धार्योऽमितात्मनि।

लङ्घने कः समर्थः स्यादृते देवं महेश्वरम्॥७॥

What type of efforts could be successful against the time which is quite powerful and beyond subjugation? Could there be anyone who could overpower the time, except lord Śiva?

बिभेमि नेन्द्राद्धि यमाद्वरुणान्न च वित्तिपात्।

स्वामी चैषां तु देवानां दुर्जयः समहेश्वरः॥८॥

I am not afraid of Indra, Yama and Varuṇa. I am also not afraid of Kubera. But it is difficult to overpower Maheśvara, the lord of all the gods.

ऐश्वर्यस्य फलं यत्तत्प्रभुत्वस्य च यत्फलम्।

तदद्य दर्शयिष्यामि यावद्वीराः समन्ततः॥९॥

Still, when the Dānava warriors are spread in all the four directions, one gets the reward for the achieving of the fortunes besides being their lord. I shall display the same.

वापीममृततोयेन पूर्णां स्रक्ष्ये वरौपवीः।

जीविष्यन्ति तदा दैत्याः सञ्जीवनवरौषधैः॥१०॥

I shall build a type of stepwell, filled with the nectar in place of water. Besides I shall invent some best of auśadhis. With use of the best of the medicine all the dead Daityas shall regain their lives.”

इति सञ्चित्य बलवान्मयो मायाविनां वरः।

Thus thinking the valorous Maya— best among those well-versed in illusion, created a beautiful stepwell in the same way as Brahmā had created apsarās like Rambhā and others.

द्वियोजनायतां दीर्घा पूर्णयोजनविस्तृताम्।

The said stepwell was two yojanas in length and a yojana in width. Like the story with different events, it had steps for descending and ascending.

इन्दोः किरणकल्पेन मृष्टेनामृतगन्धिना।

It was bright like the moon rays, sweet like the nectar and was filled with the fragrant water and appeared like a creeper with all the best of virtues.

चन्द्रभास्करवर्णाभैर्भौमैरावरणैर्वृताम्॥१४॥

The blue and white lotuses of various types were blossoming in the same. They were shining bright like the sun and the moon. There were many flower and the rows of swans.

It had a host of sweet singing birds of golden colours and seemed as if filled with beings eagerly wishing for their desired objects.

Maya produced such a wonderful well as Lord Śiva brought down the river Gaṅgā. Afterwards he washed the corpse of the general Vidyunmālī in this tank.

स वाप्यां मज्जितो दैत्यो देवशत्रुर्महाबलः।

उत्तस्थाविन्ध्यनैरिद्धः सद्यो हुत इवानलः॥१७॥

That greatly powerful enemy of the Devas was instantly recalled to life like a flame getting ablaze when clarified butter is poured over it.

The demon Tārakāsura came and saluted Maya with folded hands; and Vidyunmālī, getting up, said— “Where is Śiva? Where is Nandī surrounded by his jackal followers, the Pramathas? Where are the followers of Śiva? We shall fight and crush our enemies; we will attain victory.

अन्वास्यैव च रुद्रस्य भवामः प्रभविष्णवः।

तैर्वा विनिहता युद्धे भविष्यामो यमाशनाः॥२०॥

Either we shall become the sovereign of the universe by fighting face to face with them; or, we will go to the realm of Dharmarāja (Death) after being killed by His followers.”

Hearing those heroic words, Maya delightfully embraced Vidyunmālī and said, “O Vidyunmālī! without you, I do not want kingdom, nor life even; what of other petty things? O hero! this pool of nectar made by me is life-giving to all the demons. To my great good luck, I consider it a matter of utmost gratification to find you return from the city of Yama. All my treasures plundered in my hour of misfortune will now be recouped and we shall enjoy them.”

The chief Daityas then saw that well again and again, so well-designed by Maya and rejoicingly said— “O demon folks! now fight with the enemies without the least fear for this well will restore the dead to life.”

Afterwards the demons sounded their terrific war-drums repeatedly like the roaring billows of the ocean. Hearing which all their compeers came out of Tripura instantly to resume fight.

They all were decorated with bracelets of iron, silver or gold studded with precious stones, the ear-rings, garlands and fearful coronets; and armed with weapons glittering like flashes, they became greatly excited. Thus arrayed, they came out powerful like acrobats, thundering like cloud and sounding like elephants with their tusks raised; and fearless like lions.

हृदा इव च गम्भीराः सूर्या इव प्रतापिताः।
दुमा इव च दैत्येन्द्रास्त्रासयन्तो बलं महत्॥३२॥

The demons steady like the deep reservoirs and powerful like the scorching Sun and stalwart like the huge trees, began to terrify and inflict pain on the Devas.

प्रमथा अपि सोत्साहा गरुडोत्पातपातिनः।
युतुत्सवोऽभिधावन्ति दानवान् दानवारयः॥३३॥

The followers of Śiva, on the other hand, also jumped like the Garuḍa and appeared before their foes to fight.

नन्दीश्वरेण प्रमथास्तारकाख्येण दानवाः।

Repeated battles were fought between Nandikeśvara followed by the attendants of Śiva and Tārakāsura accompanied by the demons.

They hit one another with swords shining like Moon, the tridents glittering like flashes of fire and with the barbed arrows. The falling arrows and the flashes of the swords looked like falling meteors.

शक्तिभिर्भिन्नहृदया निर्दया इव पातिताः।

The soldiers of both the armies falling on the ground under the blows of weapons, groaned with their last moans, which sounded like the cries of beings condemned to hell. The heads bedecked with coronets and the ears with ear-rings, falling on the ground looked like the mountain peaks rolling down on earth.

The demons struck with the battle axes, swords, spears and hit with clubs, etc., fell on the ground like elephants. The soldiers of Śiva rejoiced and roared. The Siddhas also joined in the Gandharva fight.

बलवान् भासि प्रमथ दर्पितो भासि दानवा।
इति चोच्चारयन् वाचं वारणाः रणधूर्गताः॥४१॥

“O Pramathas! you are most valiant. O Demons! you are most haughty.” Thus the Cāraṇas uttered on the battlefield.

परिघैराहताः केचिद्दानवैः शङ्करानुगाः।
वमन्ते रुधिरं वक्त्रैः स्वर्णधातुमिवाचलाः॥४२॥

The soldiers of Śiva crushed by the clubs of the demons vomited blood and looked like mountains ejecting gold.

प्रमथैरपि नाराचैरसुराः सुरशत्रवः।
द्रुमैश्च गिरिशृङ्गैश्च गाढमेवाहवे हताः॥४३॥

Whereas, other followers of Śiva killed and wounded the demons with their arrows, trees and rocks.

सूदितानथ तान्दैत्यानन्ये दानवपुङ्गवाः।
उत्क्षिप्य चिक्षिपूर्वाप्यां मयदानवचोदिताः॥४४॥

The demons deputed by Maya took away those Daityas that were killed and threw them in the life-giving well constructed by their lord.

The dead demons restored to life rose like the devas from the heavens with bright bodies adorned with beautiful ornaments on their handsome and radiant forms. Thus, innumerable dead demons were recalled to life and instantly repaired thundering to the great battlefield.

दानवाः प्रमथानेतान्सर्पत किमासथ।

Those demons shouted out, “O comrades! fight the enemy fearlessly. Do not tarry, the well will recall you all to life if you lie dead.”

एवं श्रुत्वा शङ्कुकर्णो वचोऽग्रग्रहसन्निभः।
द्रुतमेवैत्य देवेशमिदं वचनमब्रवीत्॥४८॥

Śaṅkukaraṇa, Śiva's attendant of formidable shape, hearing those energetic words of the demons hurried to the Lord and said—

सूदिताः सूदिता देव प्रमथैरसुरा ह्यमी।
उत्तिष्ठन्ति पुनर्भीमाः सस्या इव जलोक्षिताः॥४९॥
अस्मिन् किल पुरे वापी पूर्णामृतरसाम्भसा।
निहता निहता यत्र क्षिप्ता जीवन्ति दानवाः॥५०॥

“O Lord! The demons are being killed again and again by the Pramathas but they are revived again like the parched crops after being watered. There is, undoubtedly, a well of ambrosia in this fort where the dead demons are being thrown and regain their lives.”

इति विज्ञापयद्देवं शङ्कुकर्णो महेश्वरम्।

After Śaṅkukaraṇa had narrated this to the Lord, there was a great commotion in the army of the demons. The demon Tārakāsura with terrific eyes, ran towards the chariot of Śiva with his mouth wide open like an irritated lion with his gaping mouth.

त्रिपुरे तु महान्योरो भेरीशङ्खरवो बभौ।
दानवा निःसृता दृष्ट्वा देवदेवरथे सुरम्॥५३॥

The great drum was sounded and the conch shell was blown in Tripura; the demons emerged from Tripura and beheld the Devas in the chariot of Lord Śiva.

ताभ्यां देववरिष्ठाभ्यामन्वितः स रथोत्तमः।

At that time the earth quaked under the pressure of the armies, and the chariot of Śiva went down and got stuck in the earth. At this, Śiva and Brahmā became much distressed. The chariot containing those two Devas began to go down and down without finding any support, like a learned man without finding an adequate place of his liking.

धातुक्षये देह इव ग्रीष्मे चाल्पमिवोदकम्।
शैथिल्यं याति स रथः स्नेहो विप्रकृतो यथा॥५६॥

It became supportless and looked dull, like the body devoid of potency, the small quantity of water during the hot weather, and love shown by a twice-born Brahmin.

स्थादुत्पत्यात्मभूर्वे सीदन्तं तु रथोत्तरम्।

Then Brahmā descending from the chariot made an attempt to raise it and became successful by His great power; and Lord Janārdana, dressed in yellow garb, assumed the form of the bull and placed the yoke on his neck and lifted up the chariot by his horns, as an illustrious scion elevates his family.

तारकाख्योऽपि दैत्येन्द्रो गिरीन्द्र इव पक्षवान्।

The demon Tārakāsura also jumped out like a winged mountain and dealt a heavy blow to Brahmā.

Brahmā putting aside his whip on the yoke began to gasp, seeing which the demons sent forth a shrilling yell and thundered like clouds to please Tārakāsura.

Lord Viṣṇu, the holder of the disc and revered by Śiva, trampled over the demons and entered the Tripura, in the form of a bull and destroying the lotus beds, drank up all the nectar of the well to the bottom and emptied it as the Sun drives away the darkness. After drinking this, lord Viṣṇu bellowed and came again before Śiva.

The Asuras, then began to be killed by the deadly attendants of Śiva and rivers flowed tinged red with blood of the slain Daityas and all the demons took to their heels like the ignorant fool, getting illumined by the teachings of the learned.

Afterwards, Tārakāsura, Vidyunmālī and Maya being overpowered by the showers of the arrows of the Pramathas went inside the Tripura.

When the principal attendants of Śiva, viz., Mahendra, Nandiśvara and Svāmikārtika, etc., laughed a hearty laugh and cried out “we shall conquer along with the Moon and the Dikpālas.”

Anxiety of Maya with the drying of the stepwell, Maya and other Dānavas enter the nether world

सूत उवाच

Sūta said— When the Pramathas of Śiva, so wounded the Dānavas of Tripura, who were inimical to gods, getting frightened, returned to Tripura. The Pramathas also destroyed the entry gates (gopuras) of Tripura.

शीर्णदंष्ट्रा यथा नागा भग्नशृङ्गा यथा वृषाः।
यथा विपक्षाः शकुना नद्यः क्षीणोदका यथा॥२॥

The Daityas with the attack of the Pramathas became almost lifeless as a serpent without fangs, the bull with broken horns, birds without wings and the rivers without the water.

Their faces had been deprived and they spoke with disturbed minds— “What should now be done?” Then Maya— the emperor of the Daityas, with lotus like face, spoke to the Daityas with disturbed minds— O Daityas, there is no doubt that you earlier fought a terrific war, with the gods and Pramathas and pleased them. But subsequently you have been tortured by the army of the gods. Getting terrified from the gods, you have fled from the battle and arrived here.

अप्रियं क्रियते व्यक्तं देवैर्नास्त्यत्र संशयः।
यत्र नाम महाभागाः प्रविशन्ति गिरेर्वनम्॥७॥

Undoubtedly the gods are outwardly doing harm to us and because of the same the fortunate Daityas have fled and are now taking refuge in the forest, mountains, hiding themselves there.

अहो हि कालस्य बलमहो कालो हि दुर्जयः।
यत्रेदृशस्य दुर्गस्य उपरोधोऽयमागतः॥८॥

It is surprising, great is the force of the time. The time cannot be overpowered in any way. In case an obstruction has been created over a fort like Tripura, it is due to the change of time.

मये विवदमाने तु नर्दमान इवाम्बुदे।
बभूवुर्निष्प्रभा दैत्या ग्रहा इन्दूदये यथा॥९॥

When Maya so spoke with his thundering sound with disgust, the Daityas became lustreless, as the other planets become lustreless with the rise of the moon.

वापीपालास्ततोऽभ्येत्य नभःकाल इवाम्बुदाः।
मयमाहुर्यमप्रख्यं साञ्जलिप्रग्रहाः स्थिताः॥१०॥

At that point of time the guards of the stepwell, who looked terrific like Yama, came close to Maya and stood before him, with folded hands.

They said— “O Leader of the Daityas, you had built the secret stepwell and filled it with the water of nectar, having enough of the blue lotuses in it. It was filled with various types of lotuses and the fish. It has been dried up by a god in the form of a bull. Presently the step-well looks like a fainted damsel."

वापीपालवचः श्रुत्वा मयोऽसौ दानवप्रभुः।

कष्टमित्यसकृत्प्रोच्य दितिजानिदमब्रवीत्॥१३॥

Listening to the words of the guards of the step-well, Maya the king of the Dānavas spoke— It is painful, repeatedly.

मया मायाबलकृता वापी पीता त्वियं यदि।

विनष्टाः स्म न सन्देहस्त्रिपुरं दानवा गतम्॥१४॥

Then he said— In case the stepwell created by me through illusion, has been drunk by someone, then take it for granted that our destruction is imminent.

निहतान्निहतान्दैत्यानाजीवयति दैवतैः।

पीता वा यदि वा वापी पीता वै पीतवाससा॥१५॥

Alas! the stepwell which made the Daityas to regain lives after their repeated deaths, has been drunk, then it would have been drunk by none else than Viṣṇu— who is clad in pītāmbara.

Who other than the unconquerable Hari can drink up the nectar well, built by my extraordinary powers? Whatever secrets exist with the Daityas, are not left unknown to Hari. The boon that I asked for and obtained, no far sighted man could ever ask like that. But all this is now of no avail. Hari knows all my counsels and my mind.

This is a beautiful level country; no trees, or mountains exist here; all obstacles are removed. But the Pramathas and the Devas have come to this place and are harassing me. O Demons! If you approve of my plans, I should go over the sea where we shall be able to bear the violent attacks of the force of Śiva and His army like that of the wind; I think that their progressive strength will be quite checked by the ocean and they will feel cut off from their ambitions. The track of their chariot will be blocked. There we shall fight and kill our enemies. And in case we are compelled to retire from fear, we need not be anxious, for, this ocean shining and expanding like the firmament will be our source of protection.

Maya, after addressing those words immediately repaired to the ocean with his fort Tripura; which was fixed there with its gateways, etc. When the fort Tripura was thus removed, Śiva said to Brahmā— "O Father of the Universe! the demons being afraid of me have moved on to the vast ocean; therefore, take my chariot there where they have shifted with Tripura."

Then, the Devas roared with mirth and carried the chariot and all the arms and ammunitions to the western ocean. In other words, the Devas along with the attendants of Śiva followed their lord to the ocean where the demons had shifted. And when they reached there, they saw the fort Tripura with nice banners streaming and with drums beating and with conch shells being blown, they gave out sounds of victory and roared like thunder clouds.

Later on, the demons also made a response from their fort by beating their tabors and uniting their chorus of thunder with the roars of the swelling ocean. Then, Lord Śiva, the protector of the Devas readily thought out what ought to be done and found out how to destroy the demons, and seeing them hovering about in Tripura, He spoke to Indra.

Sūta said— O Rṣis, having been encouraged by Śiva, Devarāja Indra, all the Lokapālas and Gaṇapālas, marched forward for the killing of asuras from all the sides. They jumped into the sky. Reaching in the sky they appeared like the flying mountains.

Thereafter, they with the blowing of the conches and the beating of the drums, marched forward in the same way as the ailments destroy the body. In the meantime the Dānavas of Tripura, observed the forward movement of the gods. Then the valorous Dānavas cried— “Śiva has arrived”. Thus shouting, all of them felt disturbed like the oceans at the time of dissolution.

Then the Dānavas in their terrific form, listening to the sound of the blowing of trumpets, playing several musical instruments started thundering aloud again and again.

The lion's roars were being uttered in both the armies. Their bodies were falling after getting shattered. Then with the thundering of the attackers, a terrific war started. It appeared at that point of time that many of the suns were falling. The fires got in flames. The poisonous serpents were creating hissing sound. The birds were hovering over the sky, while the mountains were shaking, the clouds were thundering, the lions were yawning, the terrific storms were blowing, the rising waves were creating disturbance in the ocean.

Thus the immensely valorous Pramathas and the valorous Dānavas, were strongly fighting, as the Vajra remains immovable in spite of attack by the mountains.

As the clouds of the time of dissolution thunder with the pushing of the wind, similarly terrific sound was being produced with stretching of the cords of the bows.

The warriors of either side were saying to one another— “Don't be afraid, where shall you run for escape. You have almost been killed presently. Attack atonce, I am standing here and display your prowess. Capture him, cut him, tear him out, eat up, kill him, tear him out." Such words were being spoken. Then becoming disgusted they proceeded on to the abode of Yama.

Some of the warriors had been cut off with the swords, some of them were dismembered with the axes, some of them were pounded with the mudgaras, some of them were struck with slaps, some of them were wounded with the paṭṭisās while others were torn out with the tridents. The Dānavas having the lustre of reed flowers, were falling like the forests over the mountains and in the ocean filled with fish.

When the dying strong-bodied demons fell into the ocean there was a terrible noise like the thundering of clouds. Hearing which and attracted by the gush of blood the crocodiles and other huge monsters pervading the deep agitated deeply the ocean.

And they fought among themselves for the flesh and the blood of the fallen heroes on which they lavishly feasted with satisfaction. Huge whales devoured the bodies of the demons with their chariots, horses, weapons, ornaments, etc., after driving away the smaller monsters who had also collected there to have their share. The sea monsters fought among themselves for the sole monopoly of the flesh and the blood as toughly as the Devas and the demons did between themselves. So there was fighting going on in the sea as there was between the Devas and the Asuras above. They ran about scouring the ocean to pick the dead heroes, as did the fighting foes on the battle-field above; and the monsters bit each other with the same excitement as did the warriors in course of the battle.

The ocean turned red by the stream of blood flowing from the bodies of the dead and the wounded heroes of both the armies, the Devas and the Dānavas above, and the aquatic animals below. The ocean also swelled up, due to the blood falling in it from above.

Indra, the lord of the Devas, and a very terrible one, with innumerable army resembling like high mountains and big masses of clouds, besieged eastern gate and remained there.

The bright Skanda, the son of Hara, and resembling like the rising Sun and the Jāmbu river, besieged the northern entrance gate which looked like the setting Sun on the Asta peak with his big army.

The attendants of Śiva held under their subjection the various other golden entrance gates and the high turrets of Tripura, the Kailāśa of the Daityas, shining like the Moon, as the hailstone showering clouds hide the stars and the firmament above.

The Pramathas dismantled the abodes of the demons resembling like the rows of mountains and decorated with sacrificial altars, and threw them into the ocean, thundering ferociously like the dark thundering clouds. The attendants of Śiva also began to drown into the sea, the houses of the demons decorated with the trees and the foliage abounding with the chirping birds which made the women of the demons cry out- "O Son! O Brother! O Lord!" "O Father!" "O Dear! O Beloved" and they began to curse the Pramathas.

As soon as they made their appearance, the aspect of the war became more furious in which axes, rocks, tridents, spears and thunderbolts were freely used and the bodies of the warriors were crushed to pieces and fell down dead on the battlefield.

The Devas and the Dānavas began to crush each other and pursued and attacked each other; it seemed then, that tumultuous roars were heard liking the thundering noise of the ocean at the time of universal dissolution.

The Devas and Asuras bled profusely and roared loudly with their reddened eyes. Thus fighting went on and loud uproars were heard.

The thoroughfares of Tripura that were covered with golden and marble pavement became now in an instant covered with the stream of blood; and in the twinkling of the eye, those demons became still more hideous with their heads, arms and limbs separated from them; then, the infuriated Tārakāsura came out uprooting the trees and was instantly checked at the entrance by the all-powerful Lord Śiva.

That valiant and wonderfully powerful demon came out of the town after killing those that were on the rampart wall and began to roar most furiously.

Then the three-eyed Śiva with bow in hand, Bhagavān Ananta Deva and Brahmā came out to meet Tārakāsura. They were infuriated as a sea gets infuriated by the force of wind.

Śeṣa, Girīśa and Brahmā began to pierce the limbs of the enemies from the air and thundered loudly. Śiva, then with His eyes fixed on Tripura rested His one foot on the Ṛgveda personified as a horse and the other one on His Nandī; He drew His bow with arrows. By the weight of the feet of Śiva, both the horse and the bull became oppressed and respectively the breasts and the teeth of the horse and the Nandī bull fell to the ground. It is since then that the teeth and the breasts of the bull and the horse are not seen and fixed in a way as to make them invisible.

The awful red-eyed Tārakāsura made a dash towards Śiva but Nandī held him at bay. As a perfumer whets his sandalwood, so Nandī sharpened his battle axe and hit the demon Tāraka with it. Thus struck by battle axe, the powerful Tārakāsura, with sword unsheathed, dashed against Nandī like a Śarabha of a mountain (an eighteen foot animal stronger than a lion). Then Nandī attacked him and severed him from his body as one tears away one's sacred thread, and roared aloud. When Tārakāsura was thus killed, the Devas blew the heavy conch shells and shouted out loud thundering noise.

Hearing this tumultuous uproar of the Pramathas, and the sounding of the drums, Maya asked Vidyunmālī who was close by— “O Vidyunmālī! what is this sound that we hear, uttered by so many mouths, like the roar of the ocean? What is the cause of this sudden uproar? The Devas are fighting and the Asuras are fleeing. What is the cause of this?”

Vidyunmālī who resembled Sun, hearing such words of Maya was oppressed in his heart and said, “O great hero! He who was powerful like Yama, Varuṇa, Mahendra and Rudra, who used to shine like a mountain in every battle, he who crushed his enemies, he who was the gem of your name and fame, that Tārakāsura, the crusher of the enemy, after fighting valiantly with the Pramathas and the Devas, has been killed by them at last. Hearing that Tārakāsura, terrible like fire and the Sun with widely extended eyes, has been killed, the Pramathas have become very glad, their mind and heart filled with joy and are now roaring like thundering clouds.”

Sūta said— O Sages, thus with the killing of Tārakāsura in the battlefield, Maya somehow drove out the Pramathas from Tripura and then assuring the frightened Dānavas, he said— “O asuras, I am going to speak out the duty of the valorous Dānavas at the moment. All of you should listen to me attentively. O Dānavas with moon like faces, the time when the moon would be in the Puṣya constellation, all the three cities will merge for a moment.

The time for the merging of the three Puras, in the Puṣya-constellation of the moon has already been prescribed by me. Therefore, at that point of time you should all apply the methods spelt out by the sage Nārada, because during that period, whichever god would come to know of the merging of the three cities, he would destroy it with a single arrow.

योधां प्राणो बलं यच्च या च वो वैरिताऽसुराः।

Therefore, O asuras, you should apply all the strength and force possessed by you keeping in view the entire enmity and jealousy, you preserve against the gods and sages yourself for the protection of Tripura.

Listening to the speech of Maya-Dānava, the dwellers of Tripura, resembling Yama, uttering the lion's roar repeatedly, spoke to Maya.

प्रयत्नेन वयं सर्वे कुर्मस्तव प्रभाषितम्।

The demons thus delightfully talking together went to their abodes and spent the night with delight enjoying the conjugal pleasures.

They said "The moon has made His appearance in the firmament dispelling all darkness as if a great jewel is travelling in the sky. The moon illumining the landscape with His splendour looks like the goose in a beautiful big reservoir adorned with lotuses, or the lion sitting on a rock of lapis-lazuli, or the garland of glittering jewels adorning the breast of Lord Viṣṇu." Thus risen in the blue firmament, the Moon, born of the eyes of Atri, began to shed powerfully the nectar of beautiful moonlight and bestow nourishment and beauty to all the worlds.

But the lamps within the Maṭhas began to burn more vigorously. The palatial buildings of the Dānavas were full of jewels and valuables and therefore, did not shine so well under the moonlight as the stars dwindle away in the firmament.

In the first part of the night when the Moon began to laugh, as it were, very loudly i.e., shine on that town in full splendour, the demons started their amorous pastimes with their ladies.

At that moment the five arrows of Cupid, thrown before on Lord Śiva, now themselves became afraid when they saw the amorous dalliances of the Dānavas. Both the sexes perspiring and getting tired.

Some women threw the arrow of Cupid by their enchanting notes and sang highly captivating songs from some sequestered nooks.

The sweet aroma of mango flowers pervaded all over Tripura when the tinkling of the anklets and the jingling of the girdle of bells worn by the women, put to blush the sweet notes of the nightingale.

The women folk reposing at beautiful places looked highly charming under the influence of the moon. They, with their sweet and gentle voice, repeatedly said to their lords “Do you not see my cheeks, come and throw yourself on my beautiful and high-waist adorned with the girdle of small bells.”

She should give away charity on the third day of the moon. She should perform vratas on the festival days as also the Nakta-vrata. A pregnant woman, who specially follows these principles, the son who is born of the same pregnancy, he is quite humble, having a long life. One who does not observe these rules, for her the possibility of abortion is always there.

Let you meet with welfare. I am leaving now.” Diti accepted the command of her husband, then Maharṣi Kaśyapa disappeared in the full view of all those present there. Diti on the other hand following the rules prescribed by the sage Kaśyapa, kept on spending her time.

अथ भीतस्तथेन्द्रोऽपि दितेः पार्श्वमुपागमत्।

On learning about this arrangement, Indra felt panicky, and at once deserting the heaven he reached before Diti and started living there in order to serve her. He always remained watchful about any shortcoming in the performance of Diti. Outwardly he was quite humble, peaceful with a delightful face.

अजानन्किल तत्कार्यमात्मनः शुभमाचरन्।
ततो वर्षशतान्ते सा न्यूने तु दिवसैस्त्रिभिः॥५२॥

But inwardly without caring for the activities of Diti, he was concerned with his own selfish ends. In this way when only three days were left in the completion of a hundred years, then Diti thought that she had been successful in her mission.

1. Herbal medicines.

अकृत्वा पादयोः शौचं प्रसुप्ता मुक्तमूर्द्धजा॥५३॥

At the same time surprisingly, feeling lethargic overpowered with the sleep, without washing her feet, with loose hair, lowering her head, she went to sleep during the day time.

ततस्तदन्तरं लब्ध्वा प्रविष्टस्तु शचीपतिः॥५४॥

एवमेकोनपञ्चाशद्भूत्वा ते रुरुदुर्भृशम्॥५७॥

Then finding fault with Diti, Devendra (Indra), the husband of Śacī, entered the womb of Diti, and tore the womb to seven pieces, with Vajra. With those pieces, seven infants having the lustre of the sun were born. They started crying. But Indra stopped them from crying. But when they did not stop crying, Indra then further cut off each one of those pieces into seven pieces each. At that point of time too Indra was in the womb of Diti. Thus those pieces getting multiplied into forty nine, started crying aloud.

धर्मस्य कस्य माहात्म्यात्पुनः सञ्जीवितास्त्वमी।
विदित्वा ध्यानयोगेन मदनद्वादशीफलम्॥५९॥

Indra stopped them from crying again and again, but they could not be pacified. Indra then thought for the reason of the same. What was the cause because of which these continue to cry after having been cut with Vajra and become alive? Then by means of dhyānayoga, Indra came to realise that it was all due to the glory of Madana-Dvādaśī-vrata.

ततः प्रसाद्य देवेशः क्षमस्वेति दितिं पुनः।
अर्थशास्त्रं समास्थाय मयैतदुष्कृतं कृतम्॥६३॥

Surely it has happened due to the influence of the adoration of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, because inspite of the womb having been hurt by Vajra the infants could escape death. Surprisingly enough they were multiplied into several (from one to forty nine). Therefore they shall be known by the names of Maruts and shall enjoy their share in the yajñas. Thus speaking, Indra came out of the womb of Diti. Indra then pleasing Diti begged forgiveness from her. Saying, “O Goddess, I have indulged into this misdeed because the arthaśāstra ordains that a person with wisdom should always try to put an end to his enemies. These infants from today would be known as Maruts and would rank among the gods and would be entitled to their share in the sacrificial offerings as the other gods do.

यज्ञभागभुजो जाता मरुतस्ते ततो द्विजाः।
न जग्मुरैक्यमसुरैरतस्ते सुखवल्लभाः॥६५॥

Thus Indra made Maruts, the gods and made Diti with her sons to mount the plane, he took them to the heaven. By this way the Maruta-gaṇas became entitled to receive their share in the yajñas. They did not join the asuras as a result of which they became favourites of the gods.

Some of the women laughing and burning with passion infused by the chiming of bells on the girdle of their waists began to tinkle their anklets in course of their amorous gambols and give suitable replies. The speech of the charming women wearing unfading beautiful garlands was as attractive as the notes of the geese in a reservoir. Their surpassing beauty, the sweet jingling of their girdle bells, and their attractiveness were the sources of their relief from the tortures of Cupid.

War between Gods and Dānavas, killing of Vidyunmālī by Nandīśvara

सूत उवाच

उदिते तु सहस्रांशौ मेरौ भासाकरे रवौ।

नदद्देवबलं कृत्स्नं युगान्त इव सागराः॥ १॥

Sūta said— “O Ṛṣis, with the rise of the sun with a thousand rays, the entire army of the gods started shouting loudly like the thundering of the ocean at the time of dissolution.”

सहस्रनयनो देवस्ततः शक्रः पुरन्दरः।

Then lord Śiva, the thousand eyed Indra, accompanied with Varuṇa and Kubera, marched towards Tripura. A number of Pramathas, in various forms, destroyers of the enemies, uttering lion's roar and sounding the war band, they marched on.

ततो वादितवादित्रैश्चातपत्रैर्महादुमैः।

बभूव तद्वलं दिव्यं वनं प्रचलितं यथा॥ ४॥

With the sound produced from the musical instruments, the army of gods with umbrellas and trees appeared like a moving forest.

तदापतन्तं सम्प्रेक्ष्य रौद्रं रुद्रबलं महत्।

संक्षोभो दानवेन्द्राणां समुद्रप्रतिमो बभौ॥ ५॥

Finding the vast and terrific army of the gods marching for the waging of the war, the crowd of Dānavas, was disturbed like the ocean.

ते चासीन् पट्टिशान् शक्तीः शूलदण्डपरश्वधान्।

शरासनानि वज्राणि गुरुणि मुसलानि च॥ ६॥

प्रगृह्य कोपरक्ताक्षाः सपक्षा इव पर्वताः।

निजघ्नुः पर्वतघ्नाय घना इव तपात्यये॥ ७॥

Then the eyes of the Dānavas resembling the flying mountains, became red. They holding paṭṭiśa, sword, Śakti, Śūla, daṇḍa, battle-axe, bow, Vajra and the big clubs, started attacking Indra collectively, as the clouds rain after the end of the summer season.

सविद्युन्मालिनस्ते वै समया दितिनन्दनाः।

Thus Maya with the Daityas— the enemies of the gods accompanied with Vidyunmālī, delightfully engaged themselves in war with Dāneśvara.

मर्त्तव्यकृतबुद्धीनां जये चानिश्चितात्मनाम्।

अबलानां चमूर्ह्यासीदबलावयवा इव॥ ९॥

There was no hope for survival in their minds, therefore they got ready for death. The Dānava army was devoid of strength like the limbs of the women.

विगर्जन्त इवाम्भोदा अम्भोद सदृशत्विषः।

प्रयुद्धा युद्धकुशलाः परस्परकृतागसः॥ १०॥

The Dānavas having the complexion of clouds, well-versed in the warfare, were fighting attacking one another, while thundering like the cloud.

धूमायन्तो ज्वलद्भिश्च आयुधैश्चन्द्रवर्चसैः।

कोपाद्वा युद्धलुब्धाश्च कुट्टयन्ते परस्परम्॥ ११॥

The warriors greedy for waging a war, using the weapons which were brilliant like the fire or the fire flames were attacking in anger over one another.

अन्ये विदारिताश्चक्रैः पतन्ति ह्युदधेर्जले॥ १२॥

Some of them having been wounded with Vajra, others getting injured with the arrows, while other having been dismembered with cakra were falling in the oceanic water.

छिन्नस्रग्दामहाराश्च प्रमृष्टाम्बरभूषणाः।

तिमिनक्रगणे चैव पतन्ति प्रमथाः सुराः॥ १३॥

The gods, the cords of whose garlands had been broken, whose costumes and ornaments had been destroyed, together with the Śivagaṇas were falling in the oceanic waters infested with crocodiles and fishes.

The Dānavas having complexion of smoke besides the lustre of the sun, shot the clubs, mūsālas, tomaras, vajra, śūla, pattīśa, mountain peaks, stone slabs and other weapons in large numbers which were falling in the ocean. With the weapons forcefully used by the gods and the asuras, the constellations were frightened. The great destruction was going on.

क्षुद्राणां गजयोर्युद्धे यथा भवति संक्षयः।
देवासुरगणैस्तद्वत्तिमिनक्रक्षयोऽभवत्॥१७॥

At that hour, there was a tremendous noise made by the blows of the clubs, the battle axes, the bolts, the tridents, the javelins, bright as sun and emitting smoke, the big rocks hurled by the angry demons as missiles and the falling of the weapons and the dead soldiers into the ocean. The violent and powerful weapons projected by the Devas and Dānavas looked beautiful like stars in the firmament, and began to make havoc on both the parties. The alligators and the fishes were crushed to death by the great war between the demons and the Devas as small beings suffer owing to the conflict between two elephants.

Vidyunmālī dashed towards, Nandikeśvara like a flash of lightning from the clouds. The eloquent Asura, shining like lightning and roaring like the ocean said to Nandikeśvara whose face looked pleasant like Moon.

युद्धाकांक्षी तु बलवान्विद्युन्माल्यहमागतः।
यदि त्विदानीं मे जीवन्मुच्यसे नन्दिकेश्वर।
न विद्युन्मालिहननं वचोभिर्युधि दानव॥२०॥

“O Nandikeśvara! Vidyunmālī anxious to fight has now appeared before you. You will never be able to get back with your life. Vidyunmālī cannot be killed merely by a mere array of words in a battlefield.”

The eloquent Nandikeśvara dealt a blow to him and said— “O Demon! This is not the place for displaying virtue, can you escape me on account of your sins? When you can be destroyed by me like a lower animal, should I not kill you, O destroyer of sacrifices! I shall kill you. One may swim across the deep ocean and bring down the Sun from the zenith to the nadir, but none can raise his eyes to see me fully (i.e., one is so terrified by my name).”

Hearing those words of Nandikeśvara, the Daitya shot a powerful arrow at Nandikeśvara which sucked the blood of his breast as the Sun by His rays evaporates, water of rivers.

Nandikeśvara surcharged with wrath uprooted a gigantic tree and hurled it as his formidable adversary; which went on in the air, showering flowers on its way; but Vidyunmālī cut it into pieces by many arrows; the tree then fell on the ground like a big bird.

वृक्षमालोक्य तं छिन्नं दानवेन वरेषुभिः।

Nandikeśvara became still more enraged to see his huge missile thus cut by the powerful arrows of Vidyunmālī. He then got enraged, shouted out gravely and raising both his hands that looked like the Sun and the Moon dashed against that fierce and cruel demon as an elephant falls upon a buffalo.

तमापतन्तं वेगेन वेगवान्प्रसभं बलात्।
 विद्युन्माली शरशतैः पूरयामास नन्दिनम्॥ ३१॥

On seeing Nandī come towards him with great force, the powerful Vidyunmālī hurled quickly on him hundreds of arrows and covered him with them.

शरकण्टकिताङ्गो वै शैलादिः सोऽभवत् पुनः।

 विलम्बिताश्वो विशिरो भ्रमितश्च रणे रथः।
 पपात मुनिशापेन सादित्योऽर्करथो यथा॥ ३३॥

Nandikeśvara thus pierced with the arrows, valorously approached the chariot of Vidyunmālī, and began to push it back with great force, which in course of its revolutions tumbled to the ground and the heads of the horses lowered down into the ground, as if the Sun's chariot had fallen down with its occupant by the curse of some sage.

अन्तराग्निर्गतश्चैव मायया स दितेः सुतः।
 आजघान तदा शक्त्या शैलादिं समवस्थितम्॥ ३४॥

The demon then came out of his chariot by virtue of his Māyā and hit Nandikeśvara with a javelin.

तामेव तु विनिष्क्रम्य शक्तिं शोणितभूषिताम्।

 तथा भिन्नतनुत्राणो विभिन्नहृदयस्त्वपि।
 विद्युन्माल्यपतद्भूमौ वज्राहत इवाचलः॥ ३६॥

Thus struck, Nandī took that javelin out of his breast and struck it besmeared with blood, with great force against his opponent. Vidyunmālī, hit by it in the armoured chest, fell down to the ground like a mountain rolling down by the blow of the thunderbolt.

विद्युन्मालिनि निहते सिद्धचारणकिन्नराः।

On the death of Vidyunmālī, the Siddhas and the Kinnaras adored Śiva and cried out "Victory! Victory!"

नन्दिना सादिते दैत्ये विद्युन्मालौ हते मयः।
 ददाह प्रमथानीकं वनमग्निरिवोद्धतः॥ ३८॥

On Vidyunmālī being killed by Nandikeśvara, Maya consumed the army of Śiva by his strategem as the fire consumes the forest.

They fell into the ocean with their limbs dismembered by the trident, their heads pounded with the clubs and perforated with the showers of arrows. Afterwards, Indra, Dharmarāja, Kubera, Nandikeśvara and Svāmikārtika attacked Maya, the great warrior, with various kinds of weapons. Maya roared like the clouds and quickly shot arrows after arrows and pierced Airāvata— Indra's elephant and also Kubera and Yama.

At that time, the Dānavas, though strong and vigorous, suffered greatly from the weapons of the Devas and at last fled to take shelter in the fort Tripura, as Śiva once had to retire on being shot by the arrows of Viṣṇu.

The sky turned red like the burnt gold and of the colour of the red cochineal with the radiance of the arrow mixed with the rays of the Sun.

Lord Śiva, after discharging that invincible arrow from His bow, cried out in agony “What a pain! Fie to me!” and began to weep. Nandikeśvara, seeing the Lord repenting like that asked Him the reason of it.

Śiva, overburdened with grief, said— “Alas! my devotee, Maya, will today perish.” Hearing this, Nandikeśvara darted like a gust of wind and entered the Tripura fort before the destructive arrow reached it.

And seeing Maya the lord of demons, he said— “O Maya! the time of Tripura's destruction has come; so you should now quit it with your quarters.” Hearing those words of Nandikeśvara, that earnest devotee of Śiva went out together with his abode.

The arrow burnt the three cities as fire burns heaps of straw. The fire within that arrow divided into three parts, viz., Hutāśa, Soma and Nārāyaṇa and began to burn. The Tripura fort looked then like a good family brought to ruin by a wicked son.

Afterwards, the houses of Tripura looking like the peaks of Sumeru, Mandarācala and Kailāsa, the beautiful places with gateways and perforated works and balconies, the pleasure rendezvous full of lovely ponds, the abodes of the demons decorated with banners, buntings and wreaths of gold were eaten up by the thousand-tongued fire.

The women folk in the amorous embraces of their lords in their residences and pleasure groves, were also reduced to ashes. No women could go away elsewhere. They were also consumed by fire in the company of their lords. Some of them cried out with folded hands and with tears in their eyes— “O Agni! I am the wife of another; O You, the holy witness of all the things in the three worlds! You ought not to touch me. O Deva! my husband and myself are asleep; I have not done anything vicious and sinful; therefore, go away by another path leaving my home with my beloved.”

Some of the women folk threw themselves into the waters of the ocean after forsaking their husbands. Many of the women shivered under the destructive influence of fire and exclaimed with bewildering excitement— “O father! O husband! O mother! O maternal uncle! etc.” As the heat emanating from the houses withers the lotuses springing in the ponds thereof, so consumed the fire at Tripura the lotus-like faces of those women along with their bodies. As the snow during winter eats up the lotus flowers, so did the fire burn the lotus eyes and faces of the beauties in Tripura. There was a great uproar when the women flew with their jingling ornaments and cried out in great consternation, on account of the fire produced from the destructive arrow of Śiva.

Afterwards, Indra hearing of the escape of Maya and his great palace saved under the sea, by the grace of the Lord Śiva pronounced the following curse on his house— “The abode of Maya along with him will not be safe. It will always be subject to perils and it will not be fit to be resorted to like fire.”

There also the Aryamā Devas reside; so Maya could not go there. Maya then prayed to Śiva for a quarter where he could reside; and the Lord Śiva created another quarter for Maya. Seeing this, Indra became pacified and praised Śiva and went to his realm peacefully. And the Lord Śiva was worshipped by all the Devas. The Devas and the attendants of Śiva all then caught hold of each other's hands and began to dance with joy. Afterwards when the fort Tripura, burnt by Śiva's arrow, fell down into the ocean, the Devas alighting from their chariots saluted Brahmā and the Lord Śiva, took up the bow of Śiva and went to Heavens with all their attendants.

CHAPTER 141

Purūravā's union with the sun and moon

ऋषय ऊचुः

कथं गच्छत्यामावास्यां मासि मासि दिवं नृपः।

ऐलः पुरुरवाः सूत तर्पयेत् कथं पितॄन्।

एतदिच्छामहे श्रोतुं प्रभावं तस्य धीमतः॥१॥

The Ṛṣis asked— “O Sūta, how did the king Purūravā— the son of Ilā, goes to the heaven on the moonless day and how did he please his Pitrs? We would like to know about the grace of the influential king.”

सूत उवाच

एतदेव तु पप्रच्छ मनुः स मधुसूदनम्।

सूर्यपुत्राय चोवाच यथा तन्मे निबोधत॥२॥

Sūta said— “O Rṣis, in earlier times, lord Manu has put the same question to lord Madhusūdana and I am going to repeat the reply he had given to Manu.” You please listen to me attentively.

मत्स्य उवाच

तस्य चाहं प्रवक्ष्यामि प्रभावं विस्तरेण तु।

ऐलस्य दिवि संयोगं सोमेन सह धीमता॥३॥

Lord Matsya said— “O King, I am exhaustively speaking about the influence of Purūravā— the son of Ilā and his union with the moon in the heaven, his achieving of the nectar from moon and the tale of the Pitr-gaṇas.”

सोमाच्चैवामृतप्राप्तिः पितॄणां तर्पणं तथा।

सौम्या बर्हिषदः काव्या अग्निष्वात्तास्तथैव च॥४॥

यदा चन्द्रश्च सूर्यश्च नक्षत्राणां समागतौ।

अमावास्यां निवसत एकस्मिन्नथ मण्डले॥५॥

तदा स गच्छति द्रष्टुं दिवाकरनिशाकरौ।

अमावास्याममावास्यां मातामहपितामहौ॥६॥

The Pitrs like Saumya, Bahr̥ṣada, Kāvya and Agniṣvata are satisfied with the nectar produced from the moon. When the sun and the moon are in conjunction with one asterism, the Amāvasyā or when it is moonless day/night, the king Purūravā goes to see his grandfather and grandmother, the sun and the moon in the heaven (on every Amāvasyā day).

अभिवाद्य तु तौ तत्र कालापेक्षः स तिष्ठति।

प्रचस्कन्द ततः सोममर्चयित्वा परिश्रमात्॥७॥

Then offering his salutation to both the sun and the moon, he takes rest for sometime and then proceeds on to his journey after worshipping the moon in proper time.

ऐलः पुरुरवा विद्वान्मासि श्राद्धचिकीर्षया।

ततः स दिवि सोमं वै ह्युपतस्थे पितॄनपि॥८॥

द्विलवं कुहूमात्रं च तावुभौ तु निधाय सः।

सिनीवालीप्रमाणाल्पकुहूमात्रव्रतोदये॥९॥

In a particular month for the purpose of performing the śrāddha, Purūravā— the son of Ilā, once went near the moon and the Pitrs in the heaven and he established both in kuhū during the Amāvasyā. This is because in the Pitr-vrata when the evidence of Sinīvalī is short, the Amāvasyā is considered to be quite adequate.

कुहूमात्रं पितृदेशं ज्ञात्वा कुहूमुपासते।

तमुपास्य ततः सोमं कलापेक्षी प्रतीक्षते॥१०॥

Therefore, finding the arrival of kuhū time, he adores kuhū for the sake of the Pitrs. After that adoration, he waiting for the Kalā, also waits for the moon.

स्वधामृतं तु सोमाद्वै वसंस्तेषां च तृप्तये।

दशभिः पञ्चभिश्चैव स्वधामृतपरिस्रवैः।

कृष्णपक्षभुजां प्रीतिर्दुह्यते परमांशुभिः॥११॥

While living there, for the pleasing of the Pitrs, he achieves the nectar from the moon. The nectar emerges from the fifteen eyes of the moon. The Pitrs who enjoy the śrāddha like those rays very much, while other Pitrs are envious of the same.

सद्योऽभिक्षरता तेन सौम्येन मधुना च सः।

स्वधामृतेन सौम्येन तर्पयामास वै पितॄन्।

सौम्या बर्हिषदः काव्या अग्निष्वात्तास्तथैव च॥१३॥

Purūravā then offers the nectar which so emerges from the moon to the Pitrs at the time of śrāddha, appropriately. Thus he offers the best of nectar to his Pitrs like Saumya, Kāvya, Agniṣvata and other Pitrs, pleasing them at the same time.

ऋतुरग्निः स्मृतो विप्रैर्ऋतुं संवत्सरं विदुः।

जज्ञिरे ऋतवस्तस्मादृतुभ्यो ह्यार्त्तवाभवन्॥१४॥

The Maharṣis call Rtu as Agni and Rtu is also called Samvatsara. The Rtu emerges from Samvatsara, while the Pitṛs emerging from Rtus are called Ārtavas.

पितरोर्त्तवोऽर्द्धमासा विज्ञेया ऋतुसूनवः।

सौम्या बर्हिषदः काव्या अग्निष्वात्ता इति त्रिधा।

The Ārtavas and Ardhamāsa Pitṛs are considered to be the sons of Rtus, while the grandsire is also like Rtu and the five Amāvasyā are also the sons of Samvatsara. Prapitāmaha and the five gods are considered to be the sons of Brahmā. Saumya, Bahirṣada and Agniṣvāttā pitṛs have been thus defined.

गृहस्था ये तु यज्वानो हविर्यज्ञार्त्तवाश्च ये।
स्मृता बर्हिषदस्ते वै पुराणे निश्चयं गताः॥ १६॥

Those that are Ārtavas lead householder's life and perform sacrifices and accept the sacrificial offerings and are known as Bahirṣada.

गृहमेधिनश्च यज्वानो अग्निष्वात्तार्त्तवाः स्मृताः।
अष्टकापतयः काव्याः पञ्चाब्दास्तु निबोधत॥ १७॥

Agniṣvāttā pitṛs also lead householder's life and perform sacrifices. They are also known as Ārtavas. The Kāvyā pitṛs are known as the husband of Aṣṭakās.

तेषु संवत्सरो ह्यग्निः सूर्यस्तु परिवत्सरः।

रुद्रस्तु वत्सरस्तेषां पञ्चाब्दा ये युगात्मकाः।

Now hear about the 5 years. Agni is the Samvatsara, the Sun is the *Parivatsara*¹, the Moon is *Idvatsara*², the Wind is the *Anuvatsara*³, the Rudra is the *Vatsara*⁴. These

1. A full year.

2. The rainy season.

3. 4th year in a 5 years' cycle; the 5th of 5 cycles of 12 years, in Bṛhaspati cycle.

are the cycle of 5 years. The Moon presiding over them, in due time, sheds ambrosia.

एते स्मृता देवकृत्याः सोमपाश्चोष्मपाश्च ये।

Wherever, Purūravā stays and for whatever period, Soma satisfies for that period by his rays, Somapās, Uṣṇapās and all the other Devas. The Moon sheds ambrosia every month and the Pitṛs get satisfied by drinking it. Thus is described about the nectar and honey.

ततः पीतसुधं सोमं सूर्योऽसावेकरश्मिना।
आप्यायते सुषुम्नेन सोमं तु सोमपायिनम्॥ २२॥

The Sun acts daily (in the bright fortnight) as a feeder through His Suṣumṇā ray when the store of lunar ambrosia is all drunk out by the Devas and the Pitṛs.

निःशेषा वै कलाः पूर्वा युगपद्व्यापयन्पुरा।

कलाः क्षीयन्ति कृष्णास्ताः शुक्ला ह्याप्याययन्ति च।
एवं स सूर्यवीर्येण चन्द्रस्याप्यायिता तनुः॥ २४॥

The Moon waxes in his phases day by day by thus being fed through Suṣumṇā ray in the bright fortnight. The Moon wanes in the dark fortnight and waxes in the bright fortnight. The moon is nourished thus by the Sun.

पौर्णमास्यां स दृश्येत शुक्लः सम्पूर्णमण्डलः।
एवमाप्यायितः सोमः शुक्लपक्षेऽप्यहः क्रमात्।
दैवेः पीतसुधं सोमं पुरा पश्चात्पिबेद्रविः॥ २५॥

The Moon looks full and white on the full moon night (Pūrṇamāsī). In this way, the Sun by means of His single ray increases the Moon and makes it full of nectar. The Devas first drink the nectar of the Moon; then the Sun drinks.

4. A year, the month of Mārgaśīrṣa.

पीतं पञ्चदशाहं तु रश्मिनैकेन भास्करः।

आध्याययत्सुषुम्नेन भागंभागमहःक्रमात्॥ २६॥

The Sun drinks every day one dight and does so for fifteen days; He, again in the bright fortnight, fills it up by His Suṣumṇā ray.

सुषुम्नाध्यायमानस्य शुक्ला वर्द्धन्ति वै कलाः।

तस्माद्धसन्ति वै कृष्णाः शुक्ला ह्याध्याययन्ति च॥ २७॥

इत्येष पितृमान्सोमः स्मृतस्तद्वत्सुधात्मकः।

कान्तः पंचदशैः सार्द्धं सुधामृतपरिस्रवैः॥ २९॥

The phases of the Moon that wax in course of the bright fortnight fed by Suṣumṇā, wane during the dark fortnight. In this way the Moon continues to wax and wane, consequently, the full-moon is called the receptacle of nectar. He is luminous with the fifteen nectar-giving phases. He is, therefore, called Pitṛmān.

अतः परं प्रवक्ष्यामि पर्वणां सन्धयश्च याः।

यथा ग्रथन्ति पर्वणि आवृत्तादिक्षुवेणुवत्॥ ३०॥

Now the periodical junctions, Parva Sandhis will be described. These are like the knots of a bamboo or a sugarcane joined to one another in a circle.

तथाब्दमासाः पक्षाश्च शुक्लाः कृष्णास्तु वै स्मृताः।

पौर्णमास्यास्तु यो भेदो ग्रथयः सन्धयस्तथा॥ ३१॥

लवौद्वावेव राकायाः कालो ज्ञेयोऽपराह्निकः॥ ३३॥

The year, the months, the dark and the bright fortnights and the full-moon night are the knots and junctions and the Tithis, the second, third, and so on, form the parvas of the fortnight. The Agnyādhān or the maintenance of the sacred Fire ought to be done in this Parva Sandhi. The periodical junction of the Anumati or Rākā with Pratipadā lasts for only two lavas (in the afternoon).

प्रकृतिः कृष्णपक्षस्य कालेऽतीतेऽपराह्निक।

सायाह्ने प्रतिपद्येष स कालः पौर्णमासिकः॥ ३४॥

The Pratipadā of the dark fortnight occurs in the afternoon and if it occurs in the evening it is called the period of Pūrṇamāsī.

व्यतीपाते स्थिते सूर्ये लेखादूर्ध्वं युगान्तरम्।

युगान्तरोदिते चैव चन्द्रे लेखोपरि स्थिते॥ ३५॥

When the Sun is on Vyatīpāta, the Moon is above the line of equator and is situated in the Yugāntara position.

तत्कालं सूर्यमुद्दिश्य दृष्ट्वा संख्यातुमर्हसि।

स चैव सत्क्रियाकालः षष्ठः कालोऽभिधीयते॥ ३७॥

The Pūrṇamāsa and Vyatīpāta then see each other. The Sun, Moon and the Pratīpāda tithis remain, then, in this state. Endless merits result if salutation be done to the Sun at this time. This period is known as the sixth Satkriyā-kāla. (It is known as the 6th period.)

पूर्णेन्दुः पूर्णपक्षे तु रात्रिसन्धिषु पूर्णिमा।

यस्मात्तामनुमन्यन्ते पितरो दैवतैः सह।

तस्मादनुमतिर्नाम पूर्णत्वात्पूर्णिमा स्मृता॥ ४०॥

On the completion of the phases, Pūrṇimā occurs during the periodical junction of the Moon in the night when the Moon is full; hence, that night is called the full-moon night when the Moon is greatly pleased. When, by the mutual opposition of the Sun and the Moon, the Pūrṇimā takes place in the afternoon, then, the evening is said to be the Pūrṇimā when the Moon shines with all His phases completed by the Sun. The Devas and the Pitṛs adore Him (the Moon); therefore, He is called Anumati and on account of the full-moon, it is called Pūrṇimā.

अत्यर्थं राजते यस्मात्पौर्णमास्यां निशाकरः।

रञ्जनाच्चैव चन्द्रस्य राकेति कवयो विदुः॥४१॥

The Moon is highly luminous on the night of Pūrṇimā and therefore, He is called Rākā.

उद्दिश्य ताममावास्यां यदा दर्शं समागतौ।

अन्योन्यं चन्द्रसूर्यौ तु दर्शनाद्दर्शं उच्यते॥४३॥

The Sun and the Moon live together on the same asterism on the 15th tithi (lunar day), therefore, it is known as Amāvāsyā during the dark fortnight. The Sun and the Moon during Amāvāsyā face each other, therefore, it is also known as Darśa.

द्वौ द्वौ लवावमावास्यां स कालः पर्वसन्धिषु।

द्व्यक्षरः कुहूमात्रश्च पर्वकालस्तु स स्मृतः॥४४॥

After the Amāvāsyā day the junction with the Pratīpāda (first day) lasts for two lavas and this period is known as Kuhū for two letters in the word Kuhu correspond with the two lavas (the duration of Kuhū).

When the Moon is visible on any Amāvāsyā, He unites with the Sun in the afternoon and on the following morning in the Pratīpādā of the bright fortnight, He rises along with the Sun. A difference of a period of two lavas is seen at the noon time between the Sun and the Moon.

तस्माद्दिवा त्वमावास्यां गृह्यते यो दिवाकरः॥४८॥

When the Sun and Moon separate, that period is termed Anvāhuti and is known as the time of Vaṣaṭkriyā when the performance of Vaṣaṭ has been ordained. This period in the Amāvāsyā is known as R̥tumukha or the face of the season when Śrāddha should be performed. When the crescent Moon unites with the Sun during the day, that is the time for the above-mentioned Parva.

कुहेति कोकिलेनोक्तं यस्मात्कालात्समाप्यते।

अनुमतिश्च राका च सिनीवाली कुहूस्तथा।

एतासां द्विलवः कालः कुहूमात्रा कुहूः स्मृता॥५१॥

The time when the voice of the cuckoo “Coo” ceases, is called “Kuhū”. When the waning Moon of the Amāvāsyā enters into the Sun, that period is known as Sinīvālī. The periods Anumati, Rākā, Sinīvālī and Kuhū last for only two lavas. Kuhū lasts as long as “Kuhū” is uttered.

इत्येषपर्वसन्धीनां कालो वै द्विलवः स्मृतः।

चन्द्रसूर्यव्यतीपाते समे वै पूर्णिमे उभे।

प्रतिपत्प्रतिपन्नस्तु पर्वकालो द्विमात्रकः॥५३॥

The union of all the Parvas lasts for two lavas and both the unions, before and after, are equal. The sacrifices and Vaṣaṭ rites should be performed as prescribed during those periods. The Vyatīpāta yoga of the Sun and the Moon (i.e., their conjunction) and the Pūrṇimā (their opposition) are productive of the same fruits. The union in the Pratīpāta tithi lasts for a period of two lavas.

कालः कुहूसिनीवाल्योः समुद्धो द्विलवः स्मृतः।
अर्कनिर्मण्डले सोमे पर्वकालः कलाः स्मृताः॥५४॥

Kuhū and Sinīvālī last for two lavas. When the Moon separates from the Sun, one Kalā is known as the Parva period.

यस्मादापूर्यते सोमः पंचदश्यां तु पूर्णिमा।
दशभिः पंचभिश्चैव कलाभिर्दिवसक्रमात्॥५४॥

Every day the Moon waxes by one digit when on the fifteenth day He becomes full. Hence, that day is termed Pūrṇimā.

तस्मात्पंचदशे सोमे कला वै नास्ति षोडशी।
तस्मात्सोमस्य विप्रोक्तः पंचदश्यां मया क्षयः॥५६॥

Then the fifteen digits of the Moon are visible. For this reason, it was stated that after the fifteenth tithi, the Moon wanes; there is no sixteenth digit of the Moon.

इत्येते पितरो देवाः सोमपाः सोमवर्द्धनाः।
आर्त्तवा ऋतवोऽथाब्दा देवास्ताम्भावयन्ति हि॥५७॥

These Devas and Pitṛs are the drinkers of Soma (Moon) and the nourishers of Soma (Moon). Ārtavas, Ṛtus and Abda Pitṛs are the nourishers.

अतः परं प्रवक्ष्यामि पितृञ्छ्राद्धभुजस्तु ये।

न मृतानां गतिः शक्या ज्ञातुं वा पुनरागतिः।
तपसा हि प्रसिद्धेन किं पुनर्मासचक्षुषा॥५९॥

Now I shall narrate about the Pitṛs who eat the libations offered to them during the Śrāddha ceremony; how the libations reach them; what are their ways and future existences? and how great are their powers? Where the departed souls go and where they do not go cannot be ascertained even by rigid tapasyā (austerities). What to speak about those things being seen by these mortal eyes?

The Laukika Pitṛs, by their severe penances in this world have been able to go above and join the Deva Pitṛs, other Pitṛs get satisfied when the people in this life, perform their Āśramadharmā and are wise and perform with faith their Śrāddha ceremonies.

ब्रह्मचर्येण तपसा यज्ञेन प्रजया भुवि।
श्राद्धेन विद्यया चैव चान्नदानेन सप्तधा॥६२॥

Celibacy, asceticism, sacrifice, begetting progeny, performing ceremonies with good faith, learning and the giving away of food are the seven kinds of Āśramadharma.

कर्मस्वेतेषु ये सक्ता वर्त्तन्त्यादेहपातनात्।
देवैस्ते पितृभिः सार्द्धमूष्मपैः सोमपैस्तथा।
स्वर्गता दिवि मोदन्ते पितृमन्त उपासते॥६३॥

Those who practise these things for the whole of their lives, go to heaven, where they live in the company of Uṣmapā, Somapā, Pitṛs and the Devas, and they enjoy bliss there.

प्रजावतां प्रसिद्धैषा उक्ता श्राद्धकृतां च वै।

मासश्राद्धं हि भुञ्जानास्तेऽप्येते सोमलौकिकाः।
एते मनुष्याः पितरो मासश्राद्धभुजस्तु वै॥६५॥

This is current amongst men that he who has got a son and who performs Śrāddha with honey, tila and water, reap the above results. The Pitṛs of the family get satisfied. These human Pitṛs reside in the region of the Moon and eat the flesh offered in Śrāddha.

तेभ्योऽपरे तु ये त्वन्ये सङ्कीर्णाः कर्मयोनिषु।

But, those, who on account of their narrow minds have fallen in their orders in course of their life of action, and have not uttered Svāhā and Svadhā, go to the realm of Dharmarāja in various forms and repent for their past deeds. These beings, with their long and thin bodies, having beards and void of garments, prowl about hither and thither oppressed by hunger and thirst.

सरित्सरस्तडागानि पुष्करिण्यश्च सर्वशः।

परान्नान्यभिकांक्षन्तः काल्यमाना इतस्ततः॥६९॥

Being thirsty, they go about in search of rivers, lakes, tanks, wells, canals, etc., and being hungry, they go to various places in search of food.

But they fail to get their desired objects. They are driven away from every place and the messengers of Yama throw them in various tormenting places, such as, Śālamalī, Vaitaraṇī, Kumbhipāka, Ardhavāluka and Asipatravana. Thus they suffer all sorts of pain as a result of their karmas.

अप्राप्ता यातनास्थानं प्रभ्रष्टा ये च पंचधा।

The oblations of three balls of rice offered in the name of the friends that are suffering in hells reach them and are taken by them which give them relief and satisfaction. The kinsmen and sons, while offering oblations should offer them on the Kuśa grass strewn on the earth; they are to recite their names and gotras and have their sacred thread on their right shoulders.

पश्चाद्ये स्थावरान्ते वै भूतानीके स्वकर्मभिः॥७३॥

तस्मिंस्तस्मिंस्तदाहारे श्राद्धं दत्तं तु प्रीणयेत्।

काले न्यायागतं पात्रे विधिना प्रतिपादितम्।

Oblations should be offered, for those who are not suffering in the hell, but who are born as animals and birds, etc., (five lower animals and trees, etc.). The Śrāddha oblations reach the Pitṛs corresponding to those births, as their foods and give them satisfaction, wherever and whatever they may be. The gift of grain and food, earned honestly, given to a deserving person at a good hour is attained by the manes in the form of their food wherever and whatever they may happen to be.

प्राप्नुवन्त्यन्नमादत्तं यत्र यत्रावतिष्ठति॥७५॥

यथा गोषु प्रनष्टासु वत्सो विन्दति मातरम्।

तथा श्राद्धेषु दृष्टान्तो मन्त्रः प्रापयते तु तम्॥७६॥

As a calf recognises her mother cow in a herd, in the same way, the charity given after reciting the proper mantras in the prescribed way unmistakably reaches the manes. It is the power of the mantra that carries the oblations to the manes.

एवं ह्यविकलं श्राद्धं श्रद्धादत्तं मनुर्ब्रवीत्।

गतागतज्ञः प्रेतानां प्राप्तिं श्राद्धस्य चैव हि।

कृष्णपक्षस्त्वहस्तेषां शुक्लः स्वप्नाय शर्वरी॥७८॥

The giving of food with good faith is equivalent to the performance of Śrāddha. So Manu says— The Śrāddha thus performed with devotion reaches the manes in every domain; this is what Manu has said and Sanatakumāra corroborates it after realizing the passages of the departed souls with His supernatural vision. The dark fortnight forms the day of the Pitṛs and the bright one their night.

इत्येते पितरो देवा देवाश्च पितरश्च वै।

In this way, the Pitṛ Devas and the Deva Pitṛs are mutually their begetters. These and the human Pitṛs live in the firmament and drink Soma.

The fathers, grandfathers, great-grandfathers are the human Pitṛs. Thus, I have described to you their greatness and about the Śrāddha. I have now described to you how the king Ailā conjoins with the Sun and the Moon; how he attains his Pitṛs and performs Śrāddha with devotion; the Pitṛ tarpaṇas, how the oblations offered in Śrāddha reach the manes.

I have thus explained to you about the Parvas and the hells that form the part of the creation. Everything has, thus, been summarily described. It is very difficult to enumerate them adequately. The person desirous of this well-being should devote himself to all these things with good faith.

I have thus briefly stated this chapter of creation of Svāyambhuva Deva, now tell me, O Ṛṣis! what more do you wish to hear?

CHAPTER 142

Description of the Yugas

ऋषय ऊचुः

चतुर्युगानि यानि स्युः पूर्वे स्वायम्भुवेऽन्तरे।
एषां निसर्गं संख्यां च श्रोतुमिच्छाम विस्तरात्॥१॥

Ṛṣis said— “O Sūta, in earlier times, in the Svāyambhuva Manvantra, four yugas have been mentioned. We would like to know about their creation and number, quite elaborately.”

सूत उवाच

पृथिवीद्युप्रसङ्गेन मया तु प्रागुदाहृतम्।
एतच्चतुर्युगं त्वेवं तद्वक्ष्यामि निबोधत।

Sūta said— “O Sages, I have already described about these four yugas in the context of the earth and the sky. Still incase you are still eager to learn about them then I shall explain the whole of them exhaustively.”

लौकिकेन प्रमाणेन निष्पाद्याब्दं तु मानुषम्।
तेनापीह प्रसंख्याय वक्ष्यामि तु चतुर्युगम्॥३॥

Based on the worldly evidence of the humans and calculating on the same basis I am going to explain the duration of the four yugas.

अहोरात्रे विभजते सूर्यो मानुषलौकिके।
रात्रिः स्वप्नाय भूतानां चेष्टायै कर्मणामहः॥५॥

I shall first state about the measurements. Human years are determined by the ordinary experience of men. This is the unit. The extent of the four yugas will be expressed on the same unit. Fifteen twinklings of an eye, form one kāṣṭha, thirty kāṣṭhas make one kāla. A muhūrta is made of thirty kālas and a day and night consists of thirty muhūrtas. The sun is the dividing factor of the day and night. The night is for sleep and the day is for work.

 अहस्तु यदुदक्चैव रात्रिर्या दक्षिणायनम्।
 एते रात्र्यहनी दिव्ये प्रसंख्याते तयोः पुनः॥१०॥

One month of the human is equivalent to a day and night of the Pitrs. Its division is like this— The dark fortnight is the day of the Pitrs and the bright one is the night for them. Thirty human months make one month of the Pitrs. The year of the Pitrs consists of three hundred and sixty human months. One hundred human years are equivalent to 3 1/3 years of the Pitrs. One human year is equivalent to one day and night of the gods and its division is like this— uttarāyana (six months, when the sun moves towards the north) forms their day and Dakṣiṇāyana (six months— when the sun moves towards the south) becomes their night.

त्रिंशद्यानि तु वर्षाणि दिव्यो मासस्तु स स्मृतः।

 षष्टिश्चैव सहस्राणि संख्यातानि तु संख्यया।
 दिव्यं वर्षसहस्रं तु प्राहुः संख्याविदो जना॥१५॥

Thirty years of men is one month for the gods. A century of men is three months and a few days of the gods. 360 human years make one year of the Devas. 3,030 years makes one year of the Sapta-r̥sis. 9,000 human years, make one year of Dhruva. It is called Dhruva saṁvatsara. 36,000 human years make one thousand divine years.

इत्येतदृषिभिर्गीतं दिव्यया संख्यया द्विजाः।

 पूर्वं कृतयुगं नाम ततस्त्रेताभिधीयते।
 द्वापरं च कलिश्चैव युगानि परिकल्पयेत्॥१८॥

The duration of the ages have been laid down on the Divine units. The Bhāratavarṣa notices four yugas or ages, viz., Kṛtayuga, Tretā, Dvāpara and Kaliyuga. Of these Kṛta or Satyayuga is the first, Tretā is the second after which come Dvāpara and Kaliyuga.

चत्वार्याहुः सहस्राणि वर्षाणां तत्कृतं युगम्।

 त्रेता त्रीणि सहस्राणि युगसंख्याविदो विदुः।
 तस्यापि त्रिंशती सन्ध्या सन्ध्यांशः सन्ध्याया समः॥२१॥

Satyayuga consists of 4,000 Divine years. Its Sandhyā¹ consists of 400 Divine years and the Sandhyāṁśa² of the same number of years. Tretā consists of 3,000 Divine years. This is what has been said about it by those well-up in calculations. Its Sandhyā is made up of 300

1. Union, morning, evening, twilight, the period preceding a yuga.

2. Twilight, the period at the end of each yuga.

Divine years and the Sandhyāṁśa is also of similar duration.

द्वे सहस्रे द्वापरं तु सख्यांशौ तु चतुःशतम्।
सहस्रमेकं वर्षाणां कलिरेव प्रकीर्तितः। t एषा द्वादशसाहस्री युगसंख्या तु संज्ञिता।

f कृतं त्रेता द्वापरं च कलिश्चेति चतुष्टयम्॥ २३॥

Dvāpara consists of 2,000 Divine years and its Sandhyā and Sandhyāṁśa of 200 years each. Kaliyuga is of 1,000 Divine years and its morning and twilight are each of 100 years. Satyayuga, Tretā, Dvāpara and Kaliyuga taken collectively last for a period of 12,000 years of the Devas.

तत्र संवत्सराः सृष्टा मानुषास्तान्निबोधत।

द्वात्रिंशच्च तथान्यानि सहस्राणि तु संख्यया।
एतत्कलियुगं प्रोक्तं मानुषेण प्रमाणतः॥ २७॥

Now I shall tell you their age in the years of men. The age of Satyayuga in the years of men is 1,728,000 years; of Tretā 1,296,000 years; of Dvāpara 864,000 years and of Kaliyuga 432,000 years.

एषा चतुर्युगावस्था मानुषेण प्रकीर्तिता।

एषा चतुर्युगाख्या तु साधिका त्वेकसप्ततिः।
कृतत्रेतादियुक्ता सा मनोरन्तरमुच्यते॥ २९॥

The period of the four yugas along with the duration of their Sandhyās and Sandhyāṁśas have thus been described in the year of men. The four ages passing for seventyone times make one Manvantara.

मन्वन्तरस्य संख्या तु मानुषेण निबोधत।
एकत्रिंशत् तथा कोट्यः संख्याताः संख्यया द्विजैः॥ ३०॥
तथा शतसहस्राणि दश चान्यानि भागशः।
सहस्राणि तु द्वात्रिंशच्छतान्यष्टाधिकानि च॥ ३१॥

I shall now explain to you the period of a Manvantara in the years of men. One Manu takes the place of another in 311,032,980 1/2(?) years (it should be 306,720,000 years).

अशीतिश्चैव वर्षाणि मासाश्चैवाधिकास्तु षट्।

कल्पप्रमाणो द्विगुणो यथा भवति संख्यया।
चतुर्युगाख्या व्याख्याता कृतं त्रेतायुगं च वै॥ ३७॥

Now I shall give you the duration of a Manvantara in the Divine years. It is 140,000(?) years in course of which the four ages come and go 71 times when one Manu takes the place of another. At the completion of the kalpa which is 14 times one Manvantara, the great dissolution of the world takes place which lasts for a period twice as much as one Kalpa. The age of the four yugas has been thus described.

त्रेतासृष्टिं प्रवक्ष्यामि द्वापरं कलिमेव च।
युगपत्समवेतौ द्वौ द्विधा वक्तुं न शक्यते॥ ३८॥
क्रमागतं मयाप्येतत्तुभ्यं नोक्तं युगद्वयम्।
ऋषिवंशप्रसङ्गेन व्याकुलत्वात्तथाक्रमात्॥ ३९॥

नोक्तं त्रेतायुगे शेषं तद्वक्ष्यामि निबोधत।

Now I shall tell you the creation of Tretā, Dvāpara, Kaliyuga. I told you before about Satyayuga and part of Tretāyuga. I did not tell you anything about the remaining portion of Tretāyuga, Dvāpara and Kaliyuga, on account of my having been engaged in the narration of the generations of the Ṛṣis. I, therefore, tell you, now, about the Tretāyuga that was left unsaid.

अथ त्रेतायुगस्यादौ मनुः सप्तर्षयश्च ये।

श्रौतं स्मार्तं ब्रुवन्धर्मं ब्रह्मणा तु प्रचोदिताः॥४०॥

दाराग्निहोत्रसम्बन्धमृग्यजुः सामसंहिताः।

वर्णाश्रमाचारयुतं मनुः स्वायम्भुवोऽब्रवीत्॥४२॥

सत्येन ब्रह्मचर्येण श्रुतेन तपसा तथा।

There was Manu in the beginning of the Tretā age and the then Ṛṣis dictated Śrauta and Smārta dharma by the light thrown on them by Brahmā. They wrote on marriage, Agnihotra and other Śrauta dharmas according to the Ṛk, Yajuh and Sāma Vedas. They also gave out the injunctions of the Smṛtis, truthfulness, Brahmacharya (celibacy), Varṇāśrama and other Ācāra dharmas.

तेषां सुतप्ततपसामार्षेणानुक्रमेण ह॥४३॥

आदिकल्पे तु देवानां प्रादुर्भूतास्तु ते स्वयम्॥४५॥

प्रमाणेष्वथ सिद्धानामन्येषां च प्रवर्तते।

In the beginning of the Tretāyuga, the Seven Ṛṣis and Manu by their hard tapas got the knowledge of the motions and places of the planets and stars. Also all the mantras were seen by them and perceived in their hearts, by thinking about them once only. In the beginning of the first Kalpa, those mantras (or laws of the Universe) arose of themselves in the minds of the Devas, in testimony whereof, those who are Siddhas (perfect) and others also can have the knowledge of the Mantras.

मन्त्रयोगो व्यतीतेषु कल्पेष्वथ सहस्रशः।

ते मन्त्रा वै पुनस्तेषां प्रतिमायामुपस्थिताः॥४६॥

In the past Kalpa there were one hundred thousand mantra yogas; by the power of the sages, even those who follow them, can realise them; and those mantras now lie hidden in the Pratimās or images of the Devas.

ऋचो यजूंषि सामानि मन्त्राश्चाथर्वणास्तु ये।

सप्तर्षिभिश्च ये प्रोक्ताः स्मार्तं तु मनुरब्रवीत्॥४७॥

The Saptarṣis enunciated the Ṛg, Yajuh, Sāma and Atharvaṇa mantras very accurately and the sage Manu similarly dealt with his Smṛti.

त्रेतादौ संहता वेदाः केवलं धर्मसेतवः।

संरोधादायुषश्चैव व्यस्यन्ते द्वापरे च ते।

In the Tretāyuga, the four Vedas, the bridge of dharma, were all embodied in one. In the Dvāparayuga, owing to the short life and intellect of men, the Vedas were divided into four separate treatises.

ऋषयस्तपसा वेदानहोरात्रमधीयत॥४८॥

अनादिनिधना दिव्याः पूर्वं प्रोक्ताः स्वयम्भुवा।

स्वधर्मसंवृताः सांगा यथाधर्मं युगे युगे।

विक्रियन्ते स्वधर्मं तु वेदवादाद्यथायुगम्॥४९॥

In days of yore, the Ṛṣis, by virtue of their tapas, could study the entire Vedas in one day and night. The Vedas taught the duties of the people in each yuga. In ancient days, Svāyambhu Brahmā gave out the divine immortal Vedas with various Āngas and containing the Svadharma pertaining to every yuga. Under the influence of Time, by and by, the dharmas deviated from the Vedas and became perverted.

आरम्भयज्ञः क्षत्रस्य हविर्यज्ञा विशः स्मृताः।

परिचारयज्ञाः शूद्राश्च जपयज्ञाश्च ब्राह्मणाः॥५०॥

ततः समुदिताः वर्णास्त्रेतायां धर्मशालिनः।

क्रियावन्तः प्रजावन्तः समृद्धाः सुखिनश्च वै॥५१॥

The duty of Kṣatriyas is to perform sacrifices, that of the Vaiśyas is to perform haviryājña, the Śūdras to perform the sacrifice of service and the Brāhmaṇas to perform the sacrifice of Japam (repeating the mantra) and understanding their meanings. The people and the Varṇas in the Tretā age thus performed their duties and prospered with children and wealth and were happy.

ब्राह्मणैश्च विधीयन्ते क्षत्रियाः क्षत्रियैर्विशः।

वैश्याञ्छूद्रानुवर्तन्ते शूद्रान् परमनुग्रहात्॥५२॥

The Brāhmaṇas by their kind behaviour should enlighten the Kṣatriyas and the latter should educate the Vaiśyas and they should, in their turn, lovingly mould up the Śūdras in their duties.

शुभाः प्रकृतयस्तेषां धर्मा वर्णाश्रमाश्रयाः।

सङ्कल्पितेन मनसा वाचा वा हस्तकर्मणा।

त्रेतायुगे ह्यविकले कर्मरम्भः प्रसिद्ध्यति॥५३॥

Their hearts were directed to Varṇāśrama Dharma. Their dharma was not fruitless and, therefore, all their actions were attended with success, merely by their Saṅkalpas or intentions.

आयू रूपं बलं मेधा आरोग्यं धर्मशीलता।

सर्वसाधारणं हेतदासीत् त्रेतायुगे तु वै॥५४॥

वर्णाश्रमव्यवस्थानमेषां ब्रह्मा तथाऽकरोत्।

संहिताश्च तथा मन्त्रा आरोग्यं धर्मशीलता॥५५॥

The people in their ordinary course were long-lived, healthy, handsome, sturdy, religious and modest. Brahmā laid down the orders of varṇa and āśrama etc., with great accuracy. The sons of Brahmā framed the Saṁhitās (or books) on medicine (how their health should be kept up), and practices of dharma and other mantras.

संहिताश्च तथा मन्त्रा ऋषिभिर्ब्रह्मणः सुतैः।

यज्ञः प्रवर्तितश्चैव तदा ह्येव तु दैवतैः॥५६॥

यामैः शुक्लैर्जयैश्चैव सर्वसाधनसम्भृतैः।

विश्वसृङ्भिस्तथा सार्द्धं देवेन्द्रेण महौजसा।

स्वायम्भुवेऽन्तरे देवैस्ते यज्ञाः प्राक् प्रवर्तिताः॥५७॥

The Devas set on foot the performance of sacrifices from the very day when the Ṛṣis, the sons of Brahmā enunciated the Saṁhitā, Mantras, etc. At the end of Svāyambhuva Manu, Indra was the first to propagate the performance of sacrifices with various offerings in co-operation with the Devas, Yāma, Śukla, Jaya and Viśvasṛka.

सत्यं जपस्तपो दानं पूर्वधर्मो य उच्यते।

यदा धर्मस्य हसते शाखा धर्मस्य वर्द्धते॥५८॥

जायन्ते च तदा शूरा आयुष्मन्तो महाबलाः।

न्यस्तदण्डा महायोगा यज्वानो ब्रह्मवादिनः॥५९॥

पद्मपत्रायताक्षाश्च पृथुवक्त्राः सुसहताः।

सिंहरिक्ता महारात्वा मत्तमातङ्गगामिनः॥६०॥

Truthfulness, Japam,¹ asceticism and charity are the extant dharmas. When they decline, adharma becomes dominant. When to drive it away and make dharma revive, most valiant and long-lived heroes take their births. They award just punishments, are great yogis, performers of sacrifices, Brahmavādīs, have their eyes like lotues, broad forehead and big faces, well-formed limbs, lion-like chests, strutting like elephants and highly powerful and virtuous.

महाधनुर्द्धराश्चैव त्रेतायां चक्रवर्तिनः।

चक्रं स्थो मणिर्भार्या निधिरश्चो गजस्तथा।

प्रोक्तानि सप्त रत्नानि पूर्वं स्वायम्भुवेऽन्तरे॥६३॥

Thus in the Tretāyuga, the cakravartī kings were great archers and endowed with all auspicious sings. Their regal splendour and prowess extends far and wide like the branches of the banyan tree. By Nyagrodha is meant arms; Vyāsa means the extent of the arms outstretched. That is their growth and height measured as above. Cakra (discus), chariots, Queen, jewels, horses, elephants and gold formed their treasure and were counted as Ratnas (jewels). These gems were first attained at the end of Svāyambhuva Manu.

Emperors in the world in all the Manvantaras (past, present and future) are born with the parts of Viṣṇu inherent in them. They are extraordinary endowed with power, dharma, comfort and riches. Emperors had a vast store of Artha, Dharma, Kāma, Fame and Victory without any of these going against another. Thus the kings endowed with power, defeated even the Ṛṣis in their eight Siddhis, such as, Aṇimā, Laghimā etc., in their knowledge of the Śāstras and in their asceticism.

They were endowed with divine marks and signs and they defeated the demons and human beings by their extraordinary strength. They seemed to be very fortunate. They were born with handsome forms bearing all the lucky signs according to palmistry, viz., fine lines on the forehead and fine tongue, sombre radiance of the teeth, long ears, hands touching the knees, shoulders like that of a bull and a lion, with their feet marked with quoits and fish and the hands with conches, and Padma.

They lived up to 85,000 years and did not know the troubles of the old age, and had accesses to the heaven, oceans, lower regions and mountains. Sacrifices, asceticism, charity and truthfulness were the four-limbed dharmas of the Tretā age and were, unscrupulously, observed by them.

तदा प्रवर्त्तते धर्मो वर्णाश्रमविभागशः।
मर्यादास्थापनार्थं च दण्डनीतिः प्रवर्त्तते॥७४॥

Though in that age dharma reigned according to Varṇāśrama, yet there was also a criminal procedure code to justify and maintain the order of Varṇāśrama.

हृष्टपुष्टा जनाः सर्वे अरोगाः पूर्णमानसाः।

All the people were healthy, wealthy, happy and contented. In this Tretāyuga one Veda was divided into four.

पुत्रपौत्रसमाकीर्णा म्रियन्ते च क्रमेण ताः।

The people lived up to 3,000 years and they were all blessed with sons and grandsons and then they departed. Now, hear of its characteristics.

त्रेतायुगस्वभावेन सन्ध्यापादेन वर्तते।

सन्ध्यापादः स्वभावाच्च योऽशः पादेन तिष्ठति॥७७॥

The characteristic of the Tretāyuga in Sandhyā is one foot; and in the Sandhyāṁśa one-fourth of that of Sandhyā.

CHAPTER 143

Description of yajña and its method

ऋषय ऊचुः

कथं त्रेतायुगमुखे यज्ञस्यासीत्प्रवर्तनम्।

अन्तर्हितायां सन्ध्यायां सार्द्धं कृतयुगेन हि।

कालाख्यायां प्रवृत्तायां प्राप्ते त्रेतायुगे तदा॥२॥

The Ṛṣis asked— “O Sūta, during tenure of Svāyambhuva Manu, in Tretāyuga, what type of trend was there for the performing of the yajña? When at the end of Kṛtayuga, both Sandhyā and Sandhyāṁśa, both appeared, then according to the movement of times, the combination with Tretāyuga was achieved.

ओषधीषु च जातासु प्रवृत्ते वृष्टिसर्जने।

प्रतिष्ठितायां वार्त्तायां ग्रामेषु च पुरेषु च॥३॥

At the time of the rainfall at that time the auśadhis were sprung up and varta-vṛtti was established in the towns and villages.

वर्णाश्रमप्रतिष्ठानं कृत्वा मन्त्रैश्च तैः पुनः।

संहितास्तु सुसंहृत्य कथं यज्ञः प्रवर्तितः।

एतच्छ्रुत्वाब्रवीत्सूतः श्रूयतां तत्प्रचोदितम्॥४॥

Thereafter establishing Varṇāśrama-dharma, with the use of the traditional mantras the samhitas were collected, then how the tradition of the yajñas was established.” Hearing this Sūta said— “I am going to reply to your question, which you please listen.”

Sūta said— “O Ṛṣis, Indra— the consumer, using the mantras the present as well as the future worlds, equipped with all the means, started a yajña. With the start of the Asvamedha sacrifice by him, the great sages participated in it. In the yajñas, the priests were processing forward the same.

सम्प्रतीतेषु देवेषु सामगेषु च सुस्वरम्।

परिक्रान्तेषु लघुषु अध्वर्युपुरुषेषु च॥८॥

In the act of divine sacrifice at first, Rtvija started to pour several types of sacrificial items in the fire. The priests singing the Sāmagāna, were reciting with confidence (the Vedic mantras) in a loud voice. The priests were reciting the mantras with a low voice.

आलब्धेषु च मध्ये तु तथा पशुगणेषु वै।

आहूतेषु च देवेषु यज्ञभुक्षु ततस्तदा॥९॥

The herd of animals was being brought in the middle of the yajña-maṇḍapa. The gods who were to participate in the yajña had been invoked.

य इन्द्रियात्मका देवा यज्ञभागभुजस्तु ते।

तान्यजन्ति तदा देवाः कल्पादिषु भवन्ति ये॥१०॥

The Indriyātmaka gods and the consumers of the portions of the yajña besides the Ajanadevas who emerge at the start of the kalpa were engaged in performing of the sacrifice.

अध्वर्युप्रेषकाले तु व्युत्थिता ऋषयस्तथा।

 नायं धर्मो ह्यधर्मोऽयं न हिंसा धर्म उच्यते।
 आगमेन भवान् धर्मं प्रकरोतु यदीच्छति॥ १३॥

In the meantime the R̥sis well-versed in the yajurveda and the performers of the homa started making efforts for the animal sacrifice. Then they groups of R̥sis finding the helpless poor animals got up and they questioned Indra—the consumer of the world— “O Devarāja, what is the system of this yajña. You for the purpose of achieving Dharma, are resorting to the killing of animals and this is extremely beyond dharma. O best of the gods, there appears to be a new method for the killing of the animals in your yajña. It appears that by means of the killing of the animals, you are bent upon the destruction of dharma. Thus is not dharma. This is totally adharma. The killing of the animals cannot be taken to be dharma. Therefore incase you are interested in following dharma, then do so as per the provision of the Vedas.

विधिदृष्टेन यज्ञेन धर्मेणाव्यसनेन तु।
 यज्ञबीजैः सुरश्रेष्ठ त्रिवर्गपरिमोषितैः॥ १४॥

O Best of the gods, the yajña when performed according to the provision of the Vedas, which is devoid of evil, bestows the dharma, artha and kāma.

एष यज्ञो महानिन्द्र स्वयम्भुविहितः पुरा।
 एवं विश्वभुगिन्द्रस्तु ऋषिभिस्तत्त्वदर्शिभिः।
 उक्तो न प्रतिजग्राह मानमोहसमन्वितः॥ १५॥

O Indra, such type of yajña has been hailed by Brahmā in earlier times.” When the R̥sis, well-versed in the tattvas so spoke, Indra refused to follow their words because he had been overpowered by pride and illusion.

तेषां विवादः सुमहान् जज्ञे इन्द्रमहर्षिणाम्।

At that time, a great discussion ensued between the sages and Indra as to whether the sacrifices should be performed by offering the libations of the movable or the immovable things, i.e., animals or vegetables, roots and fruits. Those all powerful sages were much pained by the discussion and asked the king Vasu who lived in the sky to give his opinion on this point.

ऋषय ऊचुः

महाप्राज्ञ त्वया दृष्टः कथं यज्ञविधिर्नृप।
 औत्तानपादे प्रब्रूहि संशयं नस्तुद प्रभो॥ १८॥

The R̥sis said— O King! O great wise one! How has the method of performance of sacrifice (yajñavidhi) been witnessed by you? O son of Uttānapāda! O Lord! Remove our doubts, O learned one!

सूत उवाच

श्रुत्वा वाक्यं वसुस्तेषामविचार्य बलाबलम्।
 वेदशास्त्रमनुस्मृत्य यज्ञतत्त्वमुवाच ह॥ १९॥

Sūta said— O King Vasu, without taking into consideration the relative significance and the strength of the two parties began to explain the truth of the sacrifice, in accordance with the injunctions of the Vedas.

यथोपनीतैर्यष्टव्यमिति होवाच पार्थिवः।

 यदि प्रमाणं स्वान्येव मन्त्रवाक्यानि वो द्विजाः।
 तथा प्रवर्त्ततां यज्ञो ह्यन्यथा माऽनृतं वचः॥ २३॥

He said— The Śāstras say that the sacrifices should be performed according to the prescribed rites and with the offerings of good animals or roots, fruits, etc. It is my experience, that the slaughter of animals is the nature of sacrifices. Rather the sacrificial mantras all advocate killing of animals. And what those great Ṛṣis have laid down as the result of their long tapasyā and experience of the bright bodies in the Heaven, ought to be taken as Prāmāṇas or proofs, and I give out my opinion on those authorities. If you take those mantras as proofs, then, accordingly, perform the sacrifices; else what is the use of vain argumentation.

एवं कृतोत्तरास्ते तु युज्यात्मानं ततो धिया।

On hearing the reply of Vasu the sages foreseeing his future destiny cursed him to fall down. King Vasu, of higher regions, by the curse, went to Rasātala—the lower region. That virtuous king inspite of his being very wise, in removing the doubtful points of Śāstras, went to the lower region for the fault of his plain speaking; it is not, therefore, wise for one individual though he is very learned, to pass a decided opinion on any subject having many phases; for, the analysis of dharma is extremely delicate and is very hard to be thoroughly known and more difficult to express it.

देवानृषीनुपादाय स्वायम्भुवमृते मनुम्॥ २८॥

ब्रह्मचर्यं तपः शौचमनुक्रोशं क्षमा धृतिः।
सनातनस्य धर्मस्य मूलमेव दुरासदम्॥ ३२॥

No one except the Devas, Ṛṣis and Manu, should, therefore, assert regarding any dharma with certainty. What the Ṛṣis said of yore, about non-killing animals in sacrifices, that is then the best course. Ṛṣis never perform any act of himsā in course of a sacrifice and many millions of them attained heaven by virtue of their penances. Taking all things into consideration, the great sages do not praise any act of himsā. The ascetic sages have gone to heaven by offering in sacrifices, roots, fruits, leaves, water and vessels that they collected by unchavritti (gathering in handfuls). The absence of greed, attachment, the practices of celibacy, compassion on beings, doing good to others, tranquillity of mind, Brahmacharya, cleanliness, abhorrence from anger, forgiving others, firmness are said to be the firm roots of the eternal dharma.

द्रव्यमन्त्रात्मको यज्ञस्तपश्च समतात्मकम्।
यज्ञैश्च देवानाप्नोति वैराजं तपसा पुनः॥ ३३॥

Sacrifice consists of mantras and materials; and tapasyā consists in viewing all with equality. Sacrifices lead one to the Devas; asceticism leads one to Virāṭ Puruṣa (the cosmic soul).

ब्रह्मणः कर्मसंन्यासाद्वैराग्यात्प्रकृतेर्लयम्।
ज्ञानात्प्राप्नोति कैवल्यं पञ्चैता गतयः स्मृताः॥ ३४॥

Renouncing the fruits of karma (works) leads one to Brahmapada (the state of Brahma). Having Vairāgyam (dispassion) enables one to be dissolved in Prakṛti (the Universal Divine Mother). And the knowledge, i.e., realisation of the glory of Brahma leads to Kaivalyam¹. These

एवं विवादः सुमहान्यज्ञस्यासीत्प्रवर्त्तने।

ऋषीणां देवतानां च पूर्वे स्वायम्भुवेऽन्तरे॥ ३५॥

In days gone by there had been serious differences between the Devas and the Ṛṣis at the time of Svāyambhuva Manu, on the subject of sacrificial rituals.

ततस्ते ऋषयो दृष्ट्वा हतं धर्मं बलेन तु।

वसोर्वाक्यमनादृत्य जग्मुस्ते वै यथागतम्॥ ३६॥

Afterwards, when the Ṛṣis saw that virtue was being forcibly set aside, they paid no heed to the words of the Vasus and returned to their hermitages.

गतेषु ऋषिसंघेषु देवा यज्ञमवाप्नुयुः।

श्रूयन्ते हि तपःसिद्धा ब्रह्मक्षत्रादयो नृपाः॥ ३७॥

When the Ṛṣis went away, the Devas completed the sacrifice. I have also heard that many Brāhmaṇas and Kṣatriya kings became perfect by their tapasyā and went to the Heavens.

प्रियव्रतोत्तानपादौ ध्रुवो मेधातिथिर्वसुः।

सुधामा विरजाश्चैव शंखपाद्राजसस्तथा॥ ३८॥

प्राचीनबर्हिः पर्जन्यो हविर्द्धानादयो नृपाः।

The king Priyavrata, Uttānapāda, Dhruva, Medhātithi, Vasu, Sudhāmā, Virajā, Śaṅkhapāda, Rājasa, Prācīnabarhi, Parjanya, Havirdhāna and others. The famous Rājarsis of high renown went to heaven by virtue of their asceticism.

राजर्षयो महात्मानो येषां कीर्तिः प्रतिष्ठिता।

तस्माद्विशिष्यते यज्ञात्तपः सर्वैस्तु कारणैः॥ ४०॥

The glory of the Rājarsis is still renowned in the world; consequently, asceticism is superior to sacrifices.

ब्रह्मणा तपसा सृष्टं जगद्विश्वमिदं पुरा। detachment of the soul from matter or further transmigrations

तस्मान्नाप्नोति तद्यज्ञात्तपो मूलमिदं स्मृतम्॥ ४१॥

In days of yore, Brahma created the Universe by the power of His asceticism. But no such powers can be attained by sacrifice. So tapasyā is the underlying root in this Universe.

यज्ञप्रवर्त्तनं होवमासीत्स्वायम्भुवेऽन्तरे।

तदाप्रभृति यज्ञोऽयं युगैः सार्द्धं प्रवर्त्तितः॥ ४२॥

In this way; the sacrifices were performed at the time of Svāyambhuva Manu and since then, they are in vogue during all the ages.

CHAPTER 144

The temperament of Dvāpara and Kaliyuga, the story of the king Pramati, start of Kṛtayuga

सूत उवाच

अत ऊर्ध्वं प्रवक्ष्यामि द्वापरस्य विधिं पुनः।

द्वापरादौ प्रजानां तु सिद्धिस्त्रेतायुगे तु या।

परिवृत्ते युगे तस्मिंस्ततः सा वै प्रणश्यति॥ २॥

Sūta said—“Hereafter I shall speak about the temperament of Dvāpara yuga.” At the decline of Tretāyuga, there is the start of Dvāpara. Towards the start of Dvāparayuga, the people can achieve success according to Tretāyuga initially, but when the influence of Dvāpara completely overpowers the earth then that type of success disappears.

ततः प्रवर्त्तिते तासां प्रजानां द्वापरे पुनः।

प्रध्वंसश्चैव वर्णानां कर्मणां तु विपर्ययः।

यात्रा वधः परो दण्डो मानो दर्पोऽक्षमा बलम्॥ ४॥

The people at that point of time get inclined towards the greed, impatient, engaging themselves in trade, war, discard principles, destruction of varṇas, embracing of misdeeds, tendency of begging, killing, drinking, punishing others, cheating, intolerance and one finds an increase in the Rajoguṇa and Tamoguṇa.

तथा रजस्तमो भूयः प्रवृत्ते द्वापरे पुनः।

 परस्परं विभिन्नास्ते दृष्टीनां विभ्रमेण तु।
 अतो दृष्टिविभिन्नैस्तैः कृतमत्याकुलं त्विदम्॥९॥

The sins which were unknown in Kṛtayuga crop up in Tretā. They become stronger in Dvāpara and the people get troubled. Dharma shakes in Dvāpara and disappears in Kaliyuga. The Varṇa-dharmas and āśrama-dharmas get weakened and doubts are raised in the interpretation of the śrutis and the smṛtis. With the confusion in the interpretation of Śrutis and Smṛtis the real intent of the dharma becomes obscure which divides the opinion of the people. The difference of opinion divides the men. The people get divided on account of their diversity of views and there prevails the chaotic condition.

एको वेदश्चतुष्पादः संहृत्य तु पुनः पुनः।
 संक्षेपादायुषश्चैव व्यस्यते द्वापरेऽपि॥१०॥
 वेदश्चैकश्चतुर्धा तु व्यस्यते द्वापरादिषु।

 सामान्याद्वैकृताच्चैव दृष्टिभिर्नैः क्वचित्क्वचित्।
 ब्राह्मणं कल्पसूत्राणि भाष्यविद्यास्तथैव च॥१३॥

Earlier in the Tretāyuga a single Veda existed with four parts, because of the decline in age, Rk, Yajuh, Sāma and Atharvan came into being. Then in Dvāpara, the sons of the Ṛṣis with different interpretation, again divided the Vedas (in Śākhās and Prasākhās). These Ṛṣis then, on the basis of the Mantra-Brāhmaṇa, Svara and chronology, composed them separately again. Then again the Brāhmaṇas with different ideologies changed the commentaries, the kalpasūtras and sometimes in the reverse manner.

अन्ये तु प्रस्थितास्तान्वै केचित्तान्प्रत्यवस्थिताः।

द्वापरेषु प्रवर्तन्ते भिन्नार्थैस्तैः स्वदर्शनैः॥१४॥

Some people supported them while others opposed them. Thereafter in each one of Dvāpara, the Ṛṣis with different ideologies, according to their own interpretation created differences in the commentaries of the Vedas.

एकमाध्वर्यवं पूर्वमासीद्द्वैधं तु तत्पुनः।

सामान्यविपरीतार्थैः कृतं शास्त्राकुलं त्विदम्॥१५॥

In earlier times, there was only one Yajurveda. The Ṛṣis divided it according to their own ideologies as Kṛṣṇa and Śukla-yajurveda, which created difference in the Veda.

आध्वर्यवं च प्रस्थानैर्बहुधा व्याकुलीकृतम्।

तथैवाथर्वणां साम्नां विकल्पैः स्वस्य संक्षयैः॥१६॥

व्याकुलो द्वापरेऽपि क्रियते भिन्नदर्शनैः।

वाङ्मनःकर्मभिर्दुःखैर्निर्वेदो जायते ततः।

निर्वेदाज्जायते तेषां दुःखमोक्षविचारणा॥१९॥

Therefore, the Adhvaryu's works are performed in different ways. The Sāma and Atharva Vedas also were tuned and twisted owing to the want of knowledge of the Munis and their want of confidence. Thus the state of things in the Dvāpara age was in a chaotic condition. And in the Kali age, the Vedas became extinct. Owing to the want of the proper knowledge of the Vedas, the various diseases and disorders and deaths, thereof, became visible. The people could not thwart them off by their minds, words and deeds; then, they became disgusted and disappointed.

दोषाणां दर्शनाच्चैव ज्ञानोत्पत्तिस्तु जायते॥ २०॥

मनसा कर्मणा वाचा कृच्छ्राद्वार्ता प्रसिद्ध्यति॥ २४॥

When they became disappointed, they sought means to get rid of their distress. As a consequence, they began to find faults with worldly things. Out of this fault finding, true knowledge arose.

Of the wise Munis in the Svāyambhuva Manvanatara, some turned out in the Dvāparayuga as the opponents of the Vedas.

Then Āyurveda (medicine), astronomy and the other limbs of the Vedas, political economy, logic, metaphysics, the ceremonies of the Kalpa Sūtras, the glosses, the Smṛtis, and various other Śāstras became filed with doubts. No effort was crowned with success, unless the whole body, mind and deed were set to work.

In the Dvāpara age, people were generally in trouble and there was an increase in greed, ambition to trade and to possess worldly things, tendency to fight and inability to realize principles, the obscurity of the Vedas and the Śāstras, the destruction of the order of Varṇāśrama and the increase of lust and anger; the people, at this time, lived up to a period of 2,000 years. When some time of Dvāpara was passed, then the Sandhyā set in, in which period the dregs of the people are left. Then the Sandhyāṁśa set in. After this comes Kaliyuga. At the end of Dvāpara and by the beginning of Kaliyuga, Kali became very strong.

हिंसा स्तेयानृतं माया दम्भश्चैव तपस्विनाम्।

एते स्वभावाः पुष्यस्य साधयन्ति च ताः प्रजाः॥ ३०॥

During Kaliyuga, people indulge in himsā, theft, falsehood, deceit, vanity, etc., and delusion, hypocrisy, vanity overshadow the people.

एष धर्मः स्मृतः कृत्स्नो धर्मश्च परिहीयते।

मनसा कर्मणा वाचा वार्ताः सिद्ध्यन्ति वा न वा॥ ३१॥

And dharma becomes very weak in Kaliyuga and people commit sin in mind, speech and actions. And works done with whole heart and body sometimes become successful and sometimes not.

कलिः प्रमारको रोगः सततं चापि क्षुब्धयम्।

अनावृष्टिभयं चैव देशानां च विपर्ययः॥ ३२॥

Quarrels, plague, fatal diseases, famines, drought and calamities appear. Testimonies and proofs have no certainty.

स्थावीर्ये मध्यकौमारे म्रियन्ते च कलौ प्रजाः।

अल्पतेजोबलाः पापा महाकोपा ह्यधार्मिकाः॥ ३४॥

There is no criterion left when the Kaliyuga settles down. Some die in the womb, some in childhood and some in youth and some in old age. People become by and by, poorer in vigour and lustre. They are wicked, full of anger, sinful, false and avaricious.

अनृतव्रतलुब्धाश्च पुष्ये चैव प्रजाः स्थिताः।

दुरिष्टैर्दुःखीतैश्च दुराचारैर्दुरागमैः॥ ३५॥

Bad ambitions, bad education, bad dealings, bad earnings excite fear. The whole batch becomes greedy and untruthful.

पुष्ये भवन्ति जन्तूनां लोभो मोहश्च सर्वशः।

संक्षोभो जायतेऽत्यर्थं कलिमासाद्य वै युगम्॥ ३७॥

The Brāhmaṇas become demoralised. They have base ambitions. Their knowledge and learning are mostly defective. Their character is exceedingly low and by such ignoble conduct they prove very disastrous to the people. The people become saturated with jealousy, anger, vindictiveness, cowardice, greed, attachment. Lust increases during this age.

नाधीयन्ते तथा वेदा न यजन्ते द्विजातयः।

उत्सीदन्ति तथा चैव वैश्यैः सार्द्धं तु क्षत्रियाः॥ ३८॥

The Brāhmaṇas do not read the Vedas nor do they perform sacrifices and the Kṣatriyas deteriorate with the Vaiśyas and become well nigh extinct.

Śūdras sleep with the Brāhmaṇas, sit with the Brāhmaṇas, eat and perform sacrifices with them and hold relations of mantrahood with them.

Many Śūdras will become kings and many heretics will be seen. There will arise various sects, Sannyāsis wearing red coloured cloths, Kāpālis and various others holding themselves followers of some Deva or other and there find fault with religions. Many with them profess to be Brāhmajñānis, because, thereby, they will easily earn their livelihood. Some hypocrites will mark their bodies with Vedic symbols also.

एवंविधाश्च ये केचिद्भवन्तीह कलौ युगे।

In the Kaliyuga any body will study the Vedas; Śūdras will be experienced in the Vedas. So there will be many false religionists.

The Śūdra kings will perform Aśvamedha sacrifices and the people serve their ends even by killing women, children and cows.

They will cheat each other, kill each other to serve their ends. The country will become desolate by repeated calamities, short lives and various kinds of diseases.

Every one will be miserable and addicted to adharma. Owing to the dominance of vice and Tamoguna, people will freely commit the sin of abortion on account of which there will be a decline in the longivities and strength of the people. The people will live up to one hundred years at most.

भूत्वा च न भवन्तीह वेदाः कलियुगेऽखिलाः।

उत्सीदन्ते तथा यज्ञाः केवलं धर्महेतवः॥ ४७॥

Inspite of all the Vedas being in existence, it would become as if there were no Vedas and the practice of performing sacrifices would be stopped.

This is about Kaliyuga, now hear about its Sandhyā and Sandhyāṁśa. In every age every three stages become void of siddhi, and during the Sandhyā period only one part of the usages of the age exist, which becomes thus one part; in Sandhyāṁśa, one pāda of that of Sandhyā exists. In this way, in the final Sandhyāṁśa of the Kaliyuga, one governor amongst the irreligious subjects arises.

King Pramati of the Bhṛgu family and Cāndramasa gotra was born at the end of Svāyambhuva Manu in the Sandhyāṁśa period, to inflict proper punishment on the sinners.

That king travelled all over the earth for thirty years and collected arms and ammunitions, elephants, horses and chariots and marched with a vast army consisting of horses and elephants and accompanied by 100,000 Brāhmaṇa soldiers armed with various kinds of weapons, against the Mlecchas and destroyed them.

After killing all the Śūdra kings he annihilated all the hypocrites. After destroying all the sinners, and subduing the people living the North, central regions, the mountaineers, the inhabitants in the East and West, the residents on the Vindhya, the Deccanis, the Dravidians, the Singhalese, the inhabitants of the Mleccha countries (Gandhāra), the Pāradas, the Pahlavas, the Yavanas, the Śakas, the Tuṣāras, the Śvetas, the Pulindas, the Barbaras, the Khasas, the Lampakas, the Andhrakas, the Daradas, the Hālikas, he exterminated the Śūdras.

King Pramati was born of Viṣṇu's part in Manu's family and was famous as Cāndramasa. He roamed about earth for twenty years and killed all the wicked men in his 32nd year. After annihilating the greater portion of the world with violence when only a few survivors, the propagators of the future race, remained, the king with all his army attained final bliss in Samādhi between the sacred rivers Gaṅgā and the Yamunā.

When, thus, in the Sandhyāṁśa period, all acts of violence ended all the wicked potentates were slain, only a few survived here and there who, overwhelmed with greed, began to plunder one another and caused great consternation to the people without a king. They all left their homes and household goods and fled hither and thither to protect themselves. When the duties enjoined by the Śrutis and the Smṛtis came to an end, the people gave themselves up to lust and anger and became devoid of greatness, pleasure, love and shame.

आश्रयन्ति स्म प्रत्यन्तान्हित्वा जनपदान्स्वकान्॥७१॥

After the disappearance of dharma the remainder of the people were plunged into deeper misfortunes. Men and women became short statured and began to lose their lives at the early age of 25. They were all overpowered with distress. They quitted their wives and sons and even quitted their towns and went to mountains to find a shelter there.

They built their houses near rivers, oceans, mountains and various other places. There was no rain and the people had to cover themselves with rags and deerskin. They left off karma, deprived of their possessions and void of Varṇāśrama and thus became very greatly oppressed; at last very few people remained.

जन्तवश्च क्षुधाविष्टा दुःखान्निर्वेदमागमन्।
संश्रयन्ति च देशांस्तांश्चक्रवत्परिवर्तनाः॥७४॥

Animals oppressed by hunger wandered far and wide and at last took their abodes close to the above men.

ततः प्रजास्तु ताः सर्वा मांसाहारा भवन्ति हि।
मृगान्वराहान्वृषभान् ये चान्ये वनचारिणः॥७५॥

The people also, being very hungry, became flesh eaters. They all began to eat flesh of deer, boar, bull, every thing whether allowed or not.

तेऽपि मत्स्यान् हरन्तीह आहारार्थं च सर्वशः।
अभक्ष्याहारदोषेण एकवर्णगताः प्रजाः॥७७॥

They lived on all sorts of things without pausing to enquire under the influence of hunger whether it was worthy of being eaten or not. Those who lived close by rivers or oceans maintained their lives by taking fish. Thus by eating flesh and forbidden food, all the people became of one caste Varṇa.

मत्स्याश्चैव हताः सर्वैः क्षुधाविष्टैश्च सर्वशः॥८०॥

As there existed only one Varna in Satyayuga, similarly, all the people became of one caste at the end of Kaliyuga. In this way, the Divine century, i.e., 36,000 years of men passed away in course of which the hungry people devastated all the birds, fish, etc.

तासाल्पावशिष्टानामाहाराद्वृद्धिरिष्यते॥८४॥

After eating up all the birds and fish, etc., that were left during the period of Sandhyāṁśa, people began to eat roots and fruits (Kandamūla, etc.). They did not build their houses but covered themselves with barks of trees. They had no treasures and they slept on ground. They all perished in that plight and only a handful of them who survived, struggled on for a century. They got sufficient food and got nourished.

यथा स्वर्गे शरीराणि नरके चैव देहिनाम्॥८७॥

The period of Kali's Sandhyāṁśa lasts like that for a Divine century. After this period, the men and women that were left began to produce many children. With the advent of these children, enters again the Satyayuga. All the previous people, the remnants of the Kali pass away. As the people reap the fruits of their actions in heaven and hell, similarly, the persons in Satyayuga enjoy happiness or suffer pain. Thus Kaliyuga disappears and Satyayuga steps in.

The remaining people in Kaliyuga gradually begin to discriminate and they get dispassion (vairāgya). Then, they realise their knowledge of self and they become religious. So Satyayuga comes in to fulfil that which is to be done in future. The people thus become happy and enjoy things with their equality of sight which they did not enjoy in the past Kali nor which they would enjoy in the future Tretā. Thus I bow down to Svāyambhuva and I have narrated to you in detail all the characteristics of the several yugas in due order.

When the Satyayuga comes in, its people are procreated by those who remained at the end of Kaliyuga. The good and perfect persons that remained unnoticed amongst the Brāhmaṇas, Kṣatriyas, Vaiśyas and Śūdras, they and the Saptarṣis now give instructions of dharma to the new people. In that way, the doctrines of the Rṣis based on Śrutis and Smṛtis are propagated. They promulgated Varṇāśrama Dharma and other rituals on the lines of Śrutis and Smṛtis. The Saptarṣis hold the dharma of the Śrutis and Smṛtis.

सुखमायुर्बलं रूपं धर्मार्थौकाम एव च॥ १००॥
युगेष्वेतानि हीयन्ते त्रयः पादाः क्रमेण तु।

For promulgating dharma, the Satparṣis are ever ready in every Satyayuga. These Rṣis are now existing for the period of one Manvantara. As the roots of plants and trees vigorously germinate after being consumed by fire, similarly, there is a growth in the generation of people at the commencement of the Satya age. In this way, generations of the ages go on forever. The ideas appear and disappear. Comforts, life, power, beauty, dharma, Artha and Kāma lose one fourth their quantity in every Yuga.

इत्येष प्रतिसन्धिर्वः कीर्तितस्तु मया द्विजाः॥ १०१॥

तदेव च तदन्यासु पुनस्तद्वै यथाक्रमम्।
सर्गसर्गे यथा भेदा ह्युत्पद्यन्ते तथैव च॥ १०४॥

O Dvijas! I have thus related to you about the Pratisandhis¹ which pertain to the four yugas only. One Manvantara is seventy-one times these four yugas. The four yugas make one cycle, and each yuga in every cycle is of one and the same nature.

चतुर्दशसु तावन्तो ज्ञेया मन्वन्तरेष्विह।

यथाकल्पं युगैः सार्द्धं भवन्ते तुल्यलक्षणः।
इत्येतल्लक्षणं प्रोक्तं युगानां वै यथाक्रमम्॥ १०६॥

So the fourteen Manvantaras revolve. In all the yugas, the Asuras, evil-spirits, demons, Yakṣas, the Piśācas and the Rākṣasas and various others are born. All these persons are endowed with characteristics in accordance with what they had in previous yugas.

मन्वन्तराणां परिवर्त्तनानि
चिरप्रवृत्तानि युगस्वभावात्।
क्षणं न सन्तिष्ठति जीवलोकः

As the characteristics of yugas change, so the characteristics of the several Manvantaras change. These worlds of the jīvas are always liable to change; they do not remain constant even for a moment.

एते युगस्वभावा वः परिक्रान्ता यथाक्रमम्।
मन्वन्तराणि यान्यस्मिन्कल्पे वक्ष्यामि तानि च॥ १०८॥

Thus I have described to you the characteristics and changes of the yugas. I will tell you about Manvantaras at the time when I deal with Kalpas.

Sūta said— O Rṣis, each one of the kalpa, has fourteen Manvantaras and those out of them, which have already passed or those which have yet to come, in each one of the yugas of those Manvantaras, what is the condition of the people there and their creation, besides the length of their age, are being narrated by me exhaustively to you in the chronological order.

Some of the living being out of them live upto the end of the yuga, while others have lives shorter than them. These two types of situations are usually witnessed. Similar is the situation during all the fourteen Manvantaras.

मनुष्याणां पशूनां च पक्षिणां स्थावरैः सह।
तेषामायुरुपक्रान्तं युगधर्मेषु सर्वशः॥ ४॥

According to the dharma of the yuga, the age of the humans, animals, birds and immoveables is always on the decline.

तथैवायुः परिक्रान्तं युगधर्मेषु सर्वशः।

In the age of Kali, according to the dharma of the yuga, the instability in the age of the living beings is witnessed and accordingly their maximum age has been prescribed to be a hundred years. In the Kṛtayuga, the gods, asuras, humans, Yakṣas, Gandharvas and Rākṣasas, have the same structures of the body including the height and are born as such.

Out of them those who are born in the Devayonis, the height of their bodies is prescribed as ninety-six fingers and they are nine angulas in width. This is the natural size of their age. The size of other gods and asuras is of seven angulas each.

Those who are born in the portion of the evening in the age of Kali, are of eighty four angulas. The one who has the height of a hundred and eight angulas from the head to foot and the arms extend upto the knees, is respected even by the gods. In each one of the yugas, the decline or the expansion of the bodies of cows, elephants, buffaloes and other immoveable beings should be treated accordingly.

The height of the animal upto its hump is seventy six angulas. The height of the elephant's body is a hundred and eight anṅulas. The maximum height of the trees is a thousand and ninety two anṅulas. As is the structure of the body of a human being, the same structure is found in the gods as per the family tradition. The body of the gods is conceived with much of intelligence.

तथा नातिशयश्चैव मानुषः काय उच्यते।

इत्येवं हि परिक्रान्ताः भावा ये दिव्यमानुषाः॥ १६॥

The human forms are not so endowed with Buddhi or intellect. The Divine and the human bhāvas are, thus, both similar and dissimilar.

Birds, animals, things, movable and immovable (ideas) are all built in the same way. Cows, goats, horses, elephants, birds, deer, these are all for work and are fit in every way for sacrificial purposes. The animals are for the use of the Devas. All things, movable, and immovable, are created as regards their form and measure, after the several Devas; they become all the more gratified when they get all these beautiful things.

ब्रह्मक्षत्रविशो युक्ताः श्रौतस्मार्त्तेन कर्मणा॥ २१॥

Now something will be said about good men and Sādhus. The Brāhmaṇas and the Vedas are considered as the Paśu mūrtis or animal forms of the Devas. Brahma resides within their hearts; hence, these are Sat or good. The Brāhmaṇas, the Kṣatriyas and the Vaiśyas, all of them direct their actions in accordance with the Śrutis and the Smṛtis and are busy in ordinary or in special functions.

वर्णाश्रमेषु युक्तस्य सुखोदकस्य स्वर्गतौ।

श्रौतस्मार्त्तो हि यो धर्मो ज्ञानधर्मः स उच्यते॥ २२॥

The dharma of the people devoted to Varṇāśrama in accordance with the Śrutis and Smṛtis and leading to Heaven is named Jñāna dharma.

The Brahmachārī given to good conduct and Ācāra and to do good to the preceptor (guru) performs divine functions; hence, the householder is known as “Sādhu”. Those ascetics who reside in the forest and are in the third order of religious life are known also as Sādhus.

धर्मो धर्मगतिः प्रोक्तः शब्दो ह्येष क्रियात्मकः।

कुशलाकुशलौ चैव धर्माधर्मौ ब्रवीत्प्रभुः॥ २५॥

One, who restrains his passions and practises Yoga, is known as Yati. By dharma is meant practical work and feeling. The Lord Bhagavān has denominated the good and bad actions both as Dharma.

अथ देवाश्च पीतर ऋषयश्चैव मानुषाः।

But the Devas, Ṛṣis, and men, freely support their views and say— “This is not dharma.”

Dharma is derived from a root which means to hold up and also connotes greatness. The Ācāryas advise on that dharma which leads to one's Iṣṭa (desired object). They do not advise adharma which leads one to evils. Those, who are hoary, free from avarice, self-restrained, not haughty, endowed with Divine knowledge, having a clear conscience and humility and following the path of virtue every day, are known as Ācāryas.

तस्मात्स्मार्त्तः स्मृतो धर्मो वर्णाश्रमविभागशः।

Such Brāhmaṇas versed in the doctrines of dharma, Śrauta and Smārta, have enunciated the path of virtue. Śruti enjoins that a man should marry, perform Agnihotra and other sacrifices in company of his consort, and the Smṛti says that a man should practise Yajña and observe the rules of varṇāśrama. After hearing from the learned, Ācāryas have said that the three Vedas, viz. Ṛk, Yajuḥ and Sāma are the part and parcel of Brahma. What the Saptarṣis heard from the Ṛṣis of the preceding Kalpa, that they narrated in the next Kalpa. Therefore, it is called Śruti. Manu remembered Ṛk, Yajuḥ, Sāma, the Aṅgas of the Vedas, Śrutis, practised in the preceding Kalpa and then said those things. Hence, the Śāstras of Manu is called Smṛti Śāstra. Smārta dharma is that which enunciates Manu's dharma of the Smṛtis; laying down varṇa and āśrama on the retrospective bodies of the past Manvantara for the guidance of the coming one.

एवं वै द्विविधो धर्मः शिष्टाचारः स उच्यते॥ ३३॥

शिषेर्धातोश्च निष्ठान्ताच्छिष्टशब्दं प्रचक्षते।

In this way, the two kinds of dharmas are called the Śiṣṭācāra. The expression Śiṣṭa is made of the root śviṣ and suffix kta.

मन्वन्तरेषु ये शिष्टा इह तिष्ठन्ति धार्मिकाः॥ ३४॥

मनुः सप्तर्षयश्चैव लोकसन्तानकारिणः।

Those who remained in the preceding Manvantara, Manu, the propagator of the race and the Saptarṣis are called the Śiṣṭas. The pious men during the Manvantaras and the Saptarṣis along with Manu are said to be the promoters of the universe.

These persons, i.e., Śiṣṭas establish dharma, which changes in Yuga after Yuga, by giving out the Vedas, message, livelihood, the criminal procedure code and Varṇāśramācārya. At the end of a Manvantara, the Śiṣṭa puruṣas establish the Vedika dharma by means of Varṇāśrama and authority. Thus coming down from Śiṣṭas to Śiṣṭas. This is the eternal Śiṣṭācāra.

दानं सत्यं तपो लोको विद्येज्या पूजनं दमः।

अष्टौ तानि चरित्राणि शिष्टाचारस्य लक्षणम्॥ ३८॥

These are the eight characteristics of the Śiṣṭas, viz., (1) Charity, (2) truthfulness, (3) asceticism, (4) learning, (5) sacrifice, (6) worship, (7) Dama or self-restraint, (8) want of greed.

In all the Manvantaras these Śiṣṭa Manus and Saptarṣis practise the above-mentioned eight characteristics of dharma; hence, they are called Śiṣṭācāra. Śrauta is derived from hearing; and Smārta from remembering.

इज्यावेदात्मकः श्रौतः स्मार्त्तो वर्णाश्रमात्मकः॥४०॥

प्रत्यङ्गानि प्रवक्ष्यामि धर्मस्येह तु लक्षणम्॥४१॥

Śrauta dharma is that which contains the Vedic mantras and the sacrificial rituals. The one dealing with the Varṇāśramas is the Smārta dharma. Now I shall tell you the different parts of the dharma and their definitions.

दृष्टानुभूतमर्थं च यः पृष्ठो न विगूहते।

One who explains the dharma just as he knows and feels about it on being questioned is said to possess the fundamental attribute of truthfulness.

The Brahmachārya, Tapam, silence and fast, these very hard practices are called tapasyā or penances.

Yajña is the bringing together of wealth, animals, sacrificial offering, Rk, Sāma and Yajuh Vedas, and the sacrificial presents.

आत्मवत्सर्वभूतेषु यो हिताय शुभाय च।

Dealing with others as if with one's own self, always for the well being of all with gladness of heart is termed dayā or kindness and is the best of all acts.

One who does not feel upset and show wrath by mind, speech or demeanour, even on being provoked by others is really the ideal forgiver. This state is called Titikṣā or forgiveness. The servant who, does not misappropriate his charge left to his care by his master, sets an example of the absence of greed.

One whose passions are not brought into play either for his own sake or for the sake of others shows signs of dama or self-restraint.

One who does not get perturbed by five objects of senses and eight kinds of amorousness is known as the great subduer of self.

One who gives away in charity to the deserving what is prized by him after storing it in a righteous way sets the example of an ideal charity. The best dharma is the one which is prescribed by the Śruti and Smṛti and approved of Śiṣṭa (pious) persons.

Indifference to the good and evil and the non-attachment to object is virakta or dispassionateness. The renouncement of kṛta and akṛta karmas or acts done or not done is Sannyāsa; abandonment of ideas of cleverness or non-cleverness is termed Nyāsa.

When he knows all the Tattvas from Avyakta (unmanifested) down to particulars, the animate and inanimate objects, he is called Jāñnī or wise.

प्रत्यङ्गानि तु धर्मस्य चेत्येतल्लक्षणं स्मृतम्।

These are the characteristics of dharma which were first enunciated by the learned Ṛṣis during the Svāyambhuva Manvantara.

अत्र वो वर्णयिष्यामि विधिं मन्वन्तरस्य तु।

Now something will be said about the Manvantara, Cāturhotra and the ways of the four varṇsās.

प्रतिमन्वन्तरं चैव श्रुतिरन्या विधीयते।

ऋचो यजूंषि सामानि यथावत्प्रतिदैवतम्॥५८॥

During each Manvantara, fresh Śrutis occur, but the Ṛk, Yajuh and Sāma Vedas, rules, Devatas, Stotras (hymns), Homas, etc., remain the same as in the preceding Manvantara.

Vidhistotra and Agnihotra remain as before. Dravyastotra, Guṇastotra, Karmastotra and Kulastotra¹ originate from the Vedas during every Manvantara.

एवं मंत्रगुणानां तु समुत्पत्तिश्चतुर्विधा॥६१॥

अथर्वऋग्यजुःसाम्नां वेदेष्विह पृथक् पृथक्।

From these the Brahmastotra, i.e., the four Vedas, Ṛk, Yajuh, Sāma and Atharvāna, spring the fourfold mantras (formulae) as described in the four ways.

ऋषीणां तप्यतां तेषां तपः परमदुश्चरम्॥६२॥

मंत्राः प्रादुर्भवन्त्यादौ पूर्वमन्वन्तरस्य हि।

असन्तोषाद्भयाद्दुःखान्मोहाच्छोकाच्च पञ्चधा॥६३॥

The mantras of the preceding Manvantaras flashed in the hearts of the Ṛṣis who performed very severe tapasyās. Being roused by the feelings of fear, trouble, moha (delusion), grief, discontent, when the Ṛṣis began to practise tapasyā with great effort and enthusiasm, the mantras came of themselves to them for their deliverance.

I shall describe to you the characteristics of the Ṛṣis. The Ṛṣis, past and future, are of five kinds. Now, hear about the Ṛṣis and the Ārṣas. When the Universal Dissolution takes lace, when Prakṛti's three qualities (guṇas) are in a state of equilibrium, the division of the Vedas does not exist. All are in an undefined state of darkness (Tama). At that time the springing up of the animate objects unconsciously and of the embodied souls consciously, are both termed

1. Vidhistotra = Code of rituals. Dravyastotra = Code of materials. Guṇastotra = Code of politics. Karmastotra = Code of business. Kulastotra = Code of domestic usages. Brahmastotra = Code relating to the knowledge of Brahma, The Śrutis. Caturhotra = A sacrifice conducted by four priests.

Ārṣa. This is like fish and water; both exist like the container and the thing contained. The universe made up of qualities springs up, presided by consciousness. It flows on as cause and effect.

कालेन प्रापणीयेन भेदश्च कारणात्मकाः॥६९॥

सांसिद्धिकास्तदा वृत्ताः क्रमेण महदादयः।

It is kāla (time) that brings about the differentiation of the Prime Cause, the Mahat Senses and objects of senses are denominated as arthas.

महतोऽसावहङ्कारस्तस्माद्भूतेन्द्रियाणि च॥७०॥

भूतभेदश्च भूतेभ्यो जज्ञिरे तु परस्परम्।

यथोल्मुकात्तु विटपा एककालाद्भवन्ति हि।

तथा प्रवृत्ताः क्षेत्रज्ञाः कालेनैकेन कारणात्॥७२॥

From mahat evolves ahaṁkāra (egoism); from ahaṁkāra evolve the five subtle elements, the Tanmātrās; from the Tanmātrās come the five gross elements. These five gross elements, make up these varied forms by their permutations and combinations. Just as many trees are seen all at once by a torch, so by kāla, all these souls are all at once manifested.

यथान्धकारे खद्योतः सहसा सम्प्रदृश्यते।

तथा निवृत्तो ह्यव्यक्तः खद्योत इव स ज्वलनम्॥७३॥

स महात्मा शरीरस्थस्तत्रैवेह प्रवर्तते।

महतस्तमसः पारे वैलक्षण्याद्विभाव्यते॥७४॥

When these Kṣettrajña jīvas (souls) involve into the unmanifested state, they appear like fire flies in darkness. That high-souled Kṣettrajña is shining in this world, assuming bodies and again it exists on the other side of the intense darkness.

तत्रैव संस्थितो विद्वांस्तपसान्त इति श्रुतम्।

बुद्धिर्विवर्द्धतस्तस्य प्रादुर्भूता चतुर्विधा॥७५॥

ज्ञानं वैराग्यमैश्वर्यं धर्मश्चेति चतुष्टयम्।

That state on the other side of darkness is the goal of tapasyā. When at the time of creation, he begins to grow, His fourfold powers Jñāna (knowledge), Variāgya (renunciation), Superhuman powers, and Dharma are manifested. These powers are natural for Him; they are not newly invented.

यस्माद्धर्मात्प्रसूते हि तस्माद्वै धार्मिकस्तु सः॥७८॥

His body is all consciousness. Because, He resides in the heart of every Jīva, He is called Puruṣa; and because, He knows all the Kṣettras (fields), He is called Kṣettrajña. Because, He creates this world through dharma, i.e., His nature, He is called dhārmika.

निवृत्तिसमकाले तु पुराणं तदचेतनम्।

क्षेत्रज्ञेन परिज्ञातं भाग्योऽयं विषयो मम॥८०॥

The unmanifested conscious Kṣettrajña does not become manifest by means of Buddhi. He, without any object in view, enters within the Kṣettras (Prakṛti) and seeing this old unconscious Kṣettra, thinks “all this is to be enjoyed by Me” and becomes thus endowed with consciousness.

The Ṛṣi denotes Himsā and movement. He who has acquired Brahmajñāna, truthfulness, learning, tapasyā and the knowledge of the Śāstras is a Ṛṣi. When this Ṛṣi goes back and dissolves in the Highest Unmanifested by Buddhi yoga, he is called Paramarṣi, the great Ṛṣi.

The R̥ṣi denotes movement and signifies the ultimate place of rest of all the creatures. It signifies, also, that the R̥ṣis has come (is born) of his own will. The mind-born sons of Brahmā were born of Īśvara Himself. They look the path of Nivṛtti (renunciation of action) and took refuge of the mahat (i.e., dissolved themselves in the Universal Cause).

The word R̥ṣi means supreme excellence. The sons of Īśvara, both born from His mind and those begotten by Him, took refuge of that great mahat; hence, they were called Pramārṣis. And as the mahat tattva comes after, it is also termed R̥ṣi and those who are born of it are also termed R̥ṣis. The sons of R̥ṣis are also called R̥ṣis. They are born from sexual union.

They also took refuge of the Mahat; hence, they are called R̥ṣikas. The sons of R̥ṣikas are called R̥ṣiputrakas. Those, who hearing from others realise mahat tattva, are known as Śrautṛṣis¹. The R̥ṣis are of five kinds—

Avyaktātma², Mahātma³, Ahankāra-ātma⁴, Bhūtātma⁵ and Indriyātma⁶. These different names are due to the differences in the natures of their knowledge.

Bhṛgu, Marīci, Atri, Aṅgirā, Pulaha, Kratu, Manu, Dakṣa, Vasiṣṭha, Pulastya are the ten mind-born sons of Brahmā, powerful like Īśvara. They are styled Parama-R̥ṣis on account of their being R̥ṣis ever since their coming into existence and their recognising the mahat as the Supreme Excellence (Param). They are the sons of Īśvara.

Now hear about their sons who are also R̥ṣis. They are— Śukrārcārya, Br̥haspati, Kaśyapa, Cyavana, Utathya, Vāmadeva, Agastya, Viśvāmitra, Kardama, Bālakhilya, Viśravā, Śaktivardhana who are R̥ṣis by virtue of asceticism. Now hear of their sons begotten from women.

The Ṛṣis of the Kāśyapa family are— Kāśyapa, Sahavatsāra, Naidhruva, Nitya, Asita and Devala. These six are Brahmavādi Munis. Attri, Ardhasvana, Śāvāśya, Gaviṣṭhira, Kaṇaka and Pūrvatithi, are the six Mantrakṛta Ṛṣis. Vasiṣṭha, Śakti, Parāśara, Indra, Pratima, Bharadavasū, Mitrāvaruṇa and Kundina, these seven belong to the Vasiṣṭha clan and are Maharṣis. Viśvāmitra, the son of Gādhi, Devarāta, Bala, Madhuchhandā, Aghamarṣaṇa, Aṣṭaka, Lohita, Bhṛtakīla, Ambudhi, Devaśravā, Devarāta, Purāna, Dhanañjaya, Śiśira, Mahātejā and Śālarinkāyana, these thirteen belong to the Kauśika clan. Agastya, Dr̥dhadyumna, Indrabāhu are the three Ṛṣis of the Agastya clan devoted to Brahmā. They are very illustrious.

O Sage, we don't feel pleased with the listening of this nectar like story from your mouth, resembling the ocean of milk, by both our ears. Therefore, O Sūta, possessing the enormous wisdom, you speak on the subject as desired by us.

Sūta said— “O Ṛṣis, in the ancient times, Manu— the royal priest, put a question to lord Viṣṇu, in the form of Matsya as to how was Svāmī Kārttikeya born in the forest of reed?” Listening to the question from the mouth of the extremely illustrious Ṛṣi, the resplendent lord Matsya spoke delightfully.

Lord Matsya said— O King, long time back a Daitya named Vajrāṅga was born, who had a son named Tāraka. The valorous Tāraka, drove out the gods from their abodes, in the cities. The frightened gods went to Brahmā. Finding the gods having been frightened, Brahmā said—

सन्त्यजध्वं भयं देवाः शङ्करस्यात्मजः शिशुः।
 तुहिनाचलदौहित्रस्तं हनिष्यति दानवम्॥७॥

O Gods don't be afraid. Shortly a son of Śiva and the grandson of Himālaya would be born, who will kill the Dānava.

CHAPTER 9

Description of Manvantaras and seven Ṛsis

सूत उवाच

एवं श्रुत्वा मनुः प्राह पुनरेव जनार्दनम्।
 पूर्वेषां चरितं ब्रूहि मनूनां मधुसूदन॥ १॥

Sūta said, "O Sages, in this way, listening to the description of creation of the earth, lord Manu questioned lord Janārdana, "O Lord, you kindly spell out the stories of the Manus, who had been born earlier."

मत्स्य उवाच

Lord Matsya said, "O Rājendra, now I shall describe all the Manvantaras, the stories of all the Manus, the rule of each one of them and the details of the contemporary earth, in brief. You listen to the same with an attentive and peaceful mind. O Son of Mārtaṇḍa, in the ancient times, there had been the god known as Svāyambhuva-Manvantara.

सप्तैव ऋषयः पूर्वे ये मरीच्यादयः स्मृताः।

Marīci (Atri) and the like were the Saptarṣis. This Svāyambhuva Manu¹ had ten sons known

1. The name Manu is specially applied to fourteen successive mythical progenitors and sovereigns of the earth described in the Code of Manu and in the later mythology as creating and supporting this world of moving and stationery beings through successive Antaras or long periods of time. Svāyambhuva, who sprang from Svayambhu, the self-born or Brahmā, who according to one account divided himself into persons, male and female,

While lodged in the mouth of Agni, the said semen satisfied the gods. Since it could not be digested by the fire, it came out of the belly of fire, by tearing it out.

Then it fell into the Gaṅgā. While flowing in the Gaṅgā, it reached the forest of reeds. Then Guha having the lustre of the sun was born from the same.

स सप्तदिवसो बालो निजघ्ने तारकासुरम्।

एवं श्रुत्वा ततो वाक्यं समूचुर्ऋषिसत्तमाः॥ ११॥

The same child of seven days had killed Tārakāsura. Listening to this astonishing talk, the best of the sages again spoke to Sūta— the best of the sages.

The Ṛṣis said— O Sūta— extending grace to all, this story is full of surprises, besides being pleasant and the remover of the sins. We would like to listen to the same. Therefore, you kindly narrate the same elaborately in a realistic manner. In which race, Vajrāṅga, having a powerful son named Tāraka, was born?

Sūta said— Dakṣa Prajāpati was the mind-born son of Brahmā. He afterwards begot sixty daughters from his wife Vairiṇī, out of whom he gave ten to Dharma, thirteen to Kaśyapa, twenty-seven to the Moon, four to Āriṣṭanemi, two to the sons of Bāhuka, two to the sage Aṅgirā and two to the learned Kṛśāśva.

Aditi, Diti, Danu, Viśvā, Ariṣṭā, Surasā, Surabhi, Vinatā, Tāmrā, Krodhavasā, Irā, Kadrū and Muni; these thirteen were born of the consorts of Kaśyapa who were the mothers of the three worlds and the cows. Through them all beings, moveable and immoveable, various Jīvas and embodied beings were born. The Devas, Indra, Upendra, etc., were born of Aditi.

Diti gave birth to the demons Hiranyakaśyapa etc. Danu begot the Dānavas, Surabhi the cows, Vinatā produced Garuḍa and other birds e.g., peacocks, etc. Kadru brought forth serpents like Śeṣa, etc., besides these other lower animals were given birth to by them. The demon Hiranyakaśyapa ruled the Universe after conquering the three worlds along with Indra, the Lord of the Devas.

Viṣṇu, then, in time, killed the demon Hiranyakaśyapa and the remaining Dānavas were destroyed by Indra. When all the sons of Diti were destroyed, she felt grieved and sought from her Lord Kaśyapa the boon of begetting a most powerful son who would annihilate Indra in battle, which Kaśyapa granted on condition of her following certain prescribed rules with a pure mind for a thousand years; hearing which Diti regulated her life accordingly. Indra began to serve Diti vigilantly on her observing such severe austerities.

दशवत्सरशेषस्य सहस्रस्य तदा दितिः।
 उवाच शक्रं सुप्रीता वरदा तपसि स्थिता॥ २९॥

When only ten years remained to complete the period of thousand years of her austerities, Diti became pleased and said to Indra—

Diti said— “O Son! I have well nigh completed the term of my vow; you will have a brother in conjunction with whom you may enjoy the riches of the universe undisturbed and reign over the three worlds.” Saying this, Diti went to sleep and her long tresses of hair fell on her legs. As ill-luck would have it, Diti went over to sleep and Indra taking advantage of that loop-hole, entered into her embryo.

Lord of gods, Indra, divided the womb into seven parts by his bolt. Afterwards out of rage he divided each part into seven. Diti awoke and said angrily— “O Indra! do not destroy my progeny.”

तच्छ्रुत्वा निर्गतः शक्रः स्थित्वा प्राञ्जलिरग्रतः।

Hearing that, Diti said— “Be it so” and afterwards went to her Lord and said— “O Prajāpati! Grant me a powerful son who may have access to Heaven, may conquer Indra and be invulnerable to the Devas’ weapons.”

Diti said cheerfully— "O Son! Indra has killed several of my sons, you should go and take revenge and kill Indra." That valiant demon on hearing those words said— "very well" and soon proceeded to Heaven. Going there that invulnerable demon tied Indra by his infallible noose weapon (Pāśāstra) and brought him before his mother as a lion carries away a small deer.

Hearing such words the demon Vajrāṅga humbly said— I have nothing to do with Indra. I have only followed the injunctions of my mother. O Deva! you are the Lord of the Devas and the Asuras and you are my grandfather.

I shall, therefore, abide by your commands. I hereby release this Indra. O, Deva! let my mind be eager to practise austerities which be gracious enough to let me pursue unmolested. O Lord! let there be happiness unto me through your grace." After making this speech he became silent.

Brahmā said— "O Son! following our advice you have practised rigid austerities and your heart is purified and you have reaped the fruits of your truth." Saying so, Brahmā created a damsel with beautiful eyes and gave her to him for his wife. She was named Vārāṅgī by Brahmā and afterwards the latter returned to His abode. Vajrāṅga went with his wife to practise penances.

That valiant Daitya practised penances for a thousand years with his hands uplifted. For another thousand years, he practised penances with his head cast downwards; for another thousand years, he warmed himself with the fire burning all round him and observing complete fast. For another 1000 years, he practise penances sitting in water and at the same time his wife seating herself on the bank of that lake also practised austerities by observing the vow of silence. She did not take any food and became deeply merged in tapasyā. In the course of her austerities Indra appeared in the form of a very big monkey and terrified her.

He began to make a noise by beating pitchers and broke down cucumber gourds and jars, etc., and afterwards began to terrify her in the form of a sheep and caused disturbances in the hermitage. Later on, he coiled round her legs in the form of a serpent and dragged her away to a great distance and made her go about at several places all over the world.

The powerful lady was strong with her tapasyā, so Indra could not kill her. Indra next assumed the form of a jackal (or a frog) and began to pollute her Āśrama. Indra, then, assumed the form of a cloud and drenched the monastery with rain and when Indra did not cease to cause her annoyance, the consort of the Daitya Vajrāṅga thinking it to be the mischief of the mountain she made up her mind to curse him (the mountain) when the latter appeared before her, in human form, and said fearfully.

नाहं वराङ्गने दुष्टः सेव्योऽहं सर्वदेहिनाम्।

“O Vārāṅgī! I am not wicked. I am worthy of being adored by everybody. It is Indra who out of wrath is trying to terrify you and bring you under various delusions.”

Brahmā said— “O son of Diti! get up from the water; I shall grant you everything.” Hearing those words, that Daitya ascetic got up from the water and with folded hands said to Brahmā, the Father of the Universe.

वज्राङ्ग उवाच

“It will be so”, having said thus Brahmā then returned to His abode. Afterwards Vajrāṅga also finished his course of austerities.

Hearing the words of his wife the heart of Vajrāṅga, the terrific Daitya, was upset in anger. Though Vajrāṅga was himself strong enough to take revenge from Indra, but still the powerful Daitya decided to perform tapas again. Learning about the decision of the demon to perform the tapas again, Brahmā reached the place where Vajrāṅga– the son of Diti was lodged and spoke to him in sweet voice.

Brahmā said– “O Son! Why do you wish to practice again rigid austerities? Why do you not take your food? Tell me clearly. The benefits derived from a thousand years' fast have already accrued to you by forsaking the victuals that are at your disposal. The renunciation of achieved objects is great than the abandonment of things unachieved.”

Hearing the words of Brahmā, Daityarāja Vajrāṅga– the ascetic, thinking over the words of Brahmā in his mind, then spoke.

Vajrāṅga said– “O Lord, after concluding my tapas at your command, I found Varāṅgī, my chief queen seated under a tree crying miserably.”

O Lord of Speech! when I so asked afraid Varāṅgī, the beautiful one, spoke with shaking voice, the reason for the same.

Varāṅgī said– I am frightened by Indra like an orphaned woman, frightened her variously, humiliated her, dragged her and caused sufferings to her variously. Finding no respite to her sufferings, she was about to end her life. Therefore she desired to have a son who could rescue her from the ocean of grief.

एवमुक्तस्तु संक्षुब्धस्तस्याः पुत्रार्थमुद्यतः।

The lotus-born and four faced Brahmā hearing those words of demon-king spoke out cheerfully.

ब्रह्मोवाच

Brahmā said— “O Son! consider the fruit of your intended austerities as accomplished. You need not undertake to practise any more rigid penances. You will be blessed with a most valiant son named Tārakāsura.”

The hair on the head of the Deva women will always remain untied. The lord of Daityas hearing the benediction of Brahmā cheerfully returned to his consort after saluting Him. They then both joyfully returned to their hermitage.

Afterwards Varāṅgī bore the child through the grace of her lord and held the babe for a thousand years in her womb. She then brought forth the valiant child; at the time of his birth the whole world with all the oceans and mountains trembled with fear and a strong wind began to blow. Worthy sages recited their iṣṭa (favourite) mantras, snakes and the deer, and other ferocious animals began to hiss and howl. The Sun and the Moon lost their lustre and all the quarters were enveloped in smoky shadows. On the birth of that valiant Asura all other Asuras and their wives repaired there with great glee. Asura women began to dance and sing with joy and there were great rejoicing and festivities in their houses.

Indra and other Devas were sorrow-stricken, and passed their time with a grievous heart and Varāṅgī felt rejoiced to see her new-born babe. At that moment she did not consider it a difficult feat to conquer Indra. Tārakāsura proved himself to be most valiant from the moment of his birth. Afterwards, the Asuras Kujambha and Mahiṣāsura who were so powerful as could uplift the world, annointed Tārakāsura and acknowledged him as their suzerain. O Sages! Tārakāsura after being thus annointed addressed the valiant demons.

Performing of tapas by Tārakāsura,

the Daityas

Tāraka said— “O Valorous Asuras, you listen to my words attentively.” All of you should think, initially about your welfare. O Dānavas, the gods are in the habit of destroying our race. Therefore to oppose them is the dharma of our race. Our enmity with them is eternal.

All of us depending on the strength of our arms, we shall march on for the subjugation of the gods. There is no doubt about it. O sons of Diti, I do not think it proper to start a row with the gods without equipping myself with the strength of the tapas. Therefore, I shall perform the tapas initially and then we shall defeat the gods and enjoy all the comforts of the three worlds, because only a strong person can avail of the inaccessible strength.

An unstable person with wisdom cannot protect the unstable fortunes. Hearing the words of Tārakāsura, all the Dānavas and Daityas present there, felt surprised. Then all of them observed, “This is all-right”, “This is allright”. Thereafter Tārakāsura reached the cave of the Pāriyātra mountain.

The mountain had enough of flowers blossoming in all the seasons. There were various types of herbal medicines, falling of the various types of juices of the metals, having a large number of houses like the buildings, surrounded by thick forest trees on all the sides, decorated with kalpavṛkṣas of various types, and colours, with different species of birds.

नानाप्रस्रवणोपेतं नानाविधजलाशयम्।

प्राप्य तत्कन्दरं दैत्यश्चचार विपुलं तपः॥ १०॥

Several springs were flowing in the mountain and it had various types of lakes. Reaching the dark cave of the mountain, Tāraka, started performing severe tapas.

Initially he remained without food, with the sequence of a hundred years at a time, then he lived on the five fires, then consuming the dry leaves, then consuming the water alone, he performed tapas. Then he performed homa, by offering the pieces of flesh cut off from the body, as a result of which his body was deprived of the flesh.

तस्मिन्निर्मासतां याते तपोराशित्वमागते।

जज्वलुः सर्वभूतानि तेजसा तस्य सर्वतः॥ १३॥

Thus, with the removal of the flesh from his body, he appeared like the mass of tapas. With the lustre issuing from his body, all the living beings around him, started suffering.

उद्विग्नाश्च सुराः सर्वे तपसा तस्य भीषिताः।

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे ब्रह्मा परमं तोषमागतः॥ १४॥

All the gods felt frightened and disturbed with tapas. At that point of time Brahmā felt extremely pleased with his tapas.

Then he started from the heaven in order to shower boon on Tārakāsura and reached the Pāriyātra mountain. Then he, the lord of the gods, reaching the cave, where Tārakāsura was performing tapas spoke in sweet voice.

ब्रह्मोवाच

Brahmā said— “O Son! now your penances are over, nothing further is left for you to accomplish. Ask for a boon what you desires.”

इत्युक्तस्तारको दैत्यः प्रणम्यात्मभुवं विभुम्।
उवाच प्राञ्जलिर्भूत्वा प्रणतः पृथु विक्रमः॥ १७॥

Hearing those words of the Lord Brahmā, Tārakāsura saluted the Great Lord, and with his hands, joined together, said as follows.

तारक उवाच

Tāraka said— “O Lord! you know what is in the mind of everyone. Every one wishes to conquer his enemy in revenge. Natural enmity exists between the Devas and ourselves. For the former have driven away the latter from everywhere and well nigh annihilated them; I, therefore, long to be able to be the sole deliverer of the Asuras through your grace. That I should not die at anybody’s hands and by any kind of arms is the desire that is uppermost in my mind.

I do not want any other thing. O, Lord of Devas! Grant this boon to me.”

Hearing those words of Tārakāsura, Brahmā said— “O Great Daitya! No living thing can escape death, so you might seek your death from someone whom you do not fear.”

Then that Asura thought a while and becoming haughty said— “Let me die then from the hands of a babe of seven days old.” Granting him the boon, Brahmā went to heaven and the demon returned to his abode.

When Tāraka returned after completing his penance, the other Daityas came and surrounded him. It seemed as if the Devas had surrounded Indra. When Tārakāsura began to rule; the seasons, by his terror, seemed to be endowed with their qualities and became incarnate before him; the Lokapālas acknowledged his sovereignty, and became his servants; lustre, beauty, intelligence, wealth and authority all began to serve openly the Dānava lord and fixed their abode in him. The nymphs incessantly began to wave chowries over the head of the sovereign, seated on his throne with scent rubbed on his body, head decorated with a lofty crown and arms adorned with armlets.

Tāraka said— “What is the use of this empire without reaching heaven. I have no peace without waging war with the Devas. Even now do the Devas enjoy the sacrificial offerings in heaven and Viṣṇu is not leaving Lakṣmī. He is sitting fearlessly! The lotus-eyed consorts of the Devas are enjoying the company of Their Deva lords in the celestial pleasure nooks! Even now they are enjoying by drinking wine and playing in play-rooms. Even now the lotuses are seen in their hands. He who, being born a man, does not show his strength in this world, is useless. It is better for such a man not to be born at all.

Consequently, I shall presently wage war and fight with the Devas to acquire the treasures of the three worlds. Make a chariot of eight wheels ready for me, and O, unconquerable Daityas! let the powerful Daityas join my army to give me support. Prepare my banner of golden cloth and make my umbrella with hangings of pearls.”

Hearing those words of Tārakāsura, the Dānava named, Grasana who was commander of the Daitya king carried out the orders of his lord. He mobilised instantly all the forces of the Daityas by beating his drum. Afterwards wherever Tārakāsura made his appearance seated in his magnificent chariot of eight wheels, drawn by a thousand horses, draped in white and extending in 4 yojanas, there were various kinds of songs and ceremonies; and it was provided with various amusement courts. The chariot of the Daitya king was as majestic as the vimāna of Indra. It was followed by an army of 10 crores of chief Daitya warriors who were very valiant.

The army was under the command of the following ten chief Daityas viz., Jambha, Kujambha, Mahiṣa, Kuñjara, Megha, Kālanemi, Mathana, Jambhaka, Nimi and Śumbha. Besides them there were other valiant Daityas to work as their lieutenants. Thus the huge army moved on. Besides these, hundreds of other ferocious and violent chiefs of the Dānavas, looking like mountains marched with the forces. The ferocious demons were armed with various kinds of weapons; and they were very skilful in using them.

The golden banner of Tārakāsura was highly awe inspiring; that of Grasana bore the symbol of alligator and fish, that of Jambha was made of iron faced Piśāca; the symbols of an ass with a moving tail was on the banner of Kujambha, and then was a lofty iron crow in the banner of Śumbha. Similarly there were various kinds of symbols on the banners of other Daityas. A hundred swift running tigers adorned with golden garlands, were yoked to the chariot of Grasana; Jambha also occupied a similar invincible chariot carried by a hundred lions. Many asses were yoked to the chariot of Kujambha; camels to that of Mahiṣāsura and horses in the chariot of Kuñjara (Gajāśura).

The chariot of Megha was drawn by many terrible rhinoceros, that of Kālanemi by innumerable elephants and that of Nimi, by many mountain-like mad elephants. The Daityas ascended their respective chariots. The elephants were emitting juices from their temples, four-teethed, one hundred hands in measurement, well-trained, and terrible like clouds; the horses were brightly decorated with golden ornaments. The demon Mathana seated himself on the south side with a noose in his hands in a chariot decorated with a white flyflap and beautifully perforated work and floral garlands and his body decked in the sweet-scented sandal paste. Jambhaka took his seat on a camel decorated with bells and garlands. Śumbha seated himself on a big sheep coloured white and black. Besides them many other valiant warriors marched, seated on their respective conveyances. Those great Asuras were all furious, daring and of wonderful deeds.

In front of that awfully arrayed army wearing earrings, various kinds of upper garments, highly perfumed garlands, followed by bards, exquisitely invigorating music began to play. The army excited by heroic words and pride inspiring songs of the bards relating the deeds of their ancestors, assumed a most formidable aspect. The Daityas were foremost and all were “Mahārathas” (great warriors). That army of the demons agitated with chariots, ferocious horses and elephants and banners, got ready to fight the Devas and looked terrible.

Afterwards, the celestial messenger of the Devas, seeing the army of the Daityas went to give this information to Indra. On reaching the divine court of Indra, he delivered his message to the assembly.

Hearing those words of Indra the wise Brhaspati, the master of speech, replied— “O Lord of the Devas! those who want to conquer the enemy having four fold armies as chariots, horses, elephants and infantry should resort to either of the four policies beginning with Sāma (peace overtures). This is the eternal procedure. Peace, dissension, gift and war are the four policies in the Nītiśāstra (war politics). These four means are to be applied after due consideration of the time, place and the strength of the enemy. Friendship and peace cannot be made with the Daityas. For they are well-established. You cannot sow dissension amongst them, for they are one intact body. You cannot give them gifts for they are endowed with wealth. So the last resource, i.e., war is inevitable. If you, therefore, agree, to crush them would be the best thing, because, one who makes overtures for peace with the wicked, works in vain. When magnanimous men out of their liberal understanding and kind disposition makes overtures for peace, the wicked think that they do it out of fear. The good do not misunderstand and come round when persuaded to make peace but the case of the wicked is otherwise. The wicked always take it for granted that proposals of peace originate from fear; it is, therefore, best to fight with them and subdue them; then you can apply other means. Persuasion for peace is best in connection with the good; the wicked can never turn out good. The good may persuade themselves to change their natures on certain occasions but the wicked never do so. This is my advice, but you should also consider over the matter.” Indra after a long pause, thus addressed the Devas.

Indra spoke— “O Dwellers in heaven! hear my words with great attention. You are the partakers of the sacrificial offerings and of Sāttvika natures, you are peaceful, contented and good. Always installed in your greatness, you carry on the work of this universe. The Dānavas are causing you unnecessary pain. They can not be approached with the three policies of Sāma, Dāna and Bheda. They deserve being subdued in war. We should now lay down our plans. Arrange my army. Due reverence should be shown to the presiding Deities of arms and they should be worshipped. Get ready all the vehicles of war and conveyances. March on quickly after making Dharmarāja the commander of the army.”

Hearing that, the principal Devas began preparations for war. They then made ready an invincible chariot drawn by 10,000 horses, decorated with golden bells and endowed with extraordinary powers. The chariot of Indra was brought out by the charioteer Mātali in which he took his seat. Dharmarāja advanced forward on his buffalo. His followers, of very violent temper, surrounded him. The eyes of Yama began to burn as if flames were rising towards the sky at the end of a Kalpa. Agni sat on a goat armed with His Śakti weapon. Vāyu came with all His force and armed with a goad. Varuṇa came riding on a serpent and the god Kubera presiding over the demons came armed with a sword and seated in a chariot drawn by men. Kubera came armed with a sharp sword and a terrible club, roaring like a lion.

their red hairs streaming in the air, clad in iron and with banner bearing the symbol of vulture. The ferocious Nāgas with their head dresses hissing like the clouds, appeared seated in chariots, wearing armour, holding torches and armed with bolts, clubs, swords, etc. The terrible Yakṣas came wearing black dress, armed with formidable bows and arrows, decorated with gold and jewels and having the symbol of a copper owl on their banner. The Rākṣasas came wearing tiger skins and ornaments of bones with their banner streaming with the wings of vulture. They had Muśalas in their hands and they remained unseen by any. The Kumāras came armed with clubs, clad in white and bearing a white banner having the symbol of a bird (or arrow?). They were all riding on infuriated elephants and had keen swords with them. A silver crane bedecked with hangings of pearls was put on the banner of Varuṇa, and the banner of Kubera was decorated with a jewelled tree ornamented with precious stones, rubies, etc., and seemed to reach the heavens. The huge banner of Yama was decorated with the symbol of a wolf made of wood and iron.

The army of the Devas consisting of serpents, Yakṣas, Gandharvas, Niśācaras swelled to 33 koṭis and looked invincible. The thousand-eyed Indra clad in fine raiments and wearing beautiful ornaments with his arms adorned with armlets and attended by thousands of bards looked grand in heaven when he took his seat on his elephant Airāvata, white like the Himālaya, adorned with a golden garland and marked with red vermilion and saffron on the temples and surrounded by a swarm of black bees.

Both the gods and the demons were uttering the lion's roar, besides blowing the conches and the trumpets. The elephants were trumpeting, the horses were neighing, the wheels of the chariot were creating rumbling sound and the cords stretched by the warriors were issuing cracking sound. With the combination of all the sounds, tumultuous sound was produced.

Having been filled with the enormous rage, leaving all hopes of survival, with the desire of being victorious over one another, the armies of warriors of both the sides, started waging the terrific war facing each other. The difference between the high and the low had disappeared. The foot soldiers were moving with the charioteers, the horse riders moved with the charioteers, the elephants with the foot soldiers, sometimes one charioteer was marching with the other charioteer and one elephant marched with the other, or an elephant with a number of horses, and a lonely warrior started struggling with a number of intoxicated elephants. The clubs, battle axes, tridents, quoits, pointed goads, swords, knives, spears and other weapons, were freely used. All the weapons were showered in the sky and darkness began to cover all the directions.

In course of time it grew so dark that none could recognise one another. The enraged warriors shot their arms without seeing and only weapons were visible on both the sides. The several banners, umbrellas, heads with ear-rings, elephants, horses, infantry men, fell on both sides. It appeared as if the lotuses were falling from the sky, serving as they liked.

Sūta said— O Ṛṣis, thereafter finding Grasana— the demon commander, present in the battlefield, Yamarāja was overpowered with rage. Then he started showering the rain of arrows resembling the fire, over Grasana. The immensely strong Grasana, getting wounded with the innumerable arrows, he strung his bow and shot five hundred arrows at Yama, injuring him at the same time. With the injuries caused by the five hundred arrows of Grasana, Yamarāja could measure his strength and he again caused pain to Grasana, with the shooting of his arrows.

Finding Grasana having fallen on the ground becoming unconscious, the immensely valorous Jambha, shot a bhindipāla at the heart of Yama. Getting wounded with that attack, Yama started vomiting blood.

Finding Yama, having been so injured, Kubera— the lord of wealth, holding a club in his hand, attacked Jambha, with ten lakh of Yakṣas, in rage.

Observing the attack of Kubera, having been surrounded with Dānava army, the intelligent Jambha, spoke sweet words like a lover.

In the meantime Grasana regained consciousness and he attacked Yama with his club studded with gems and gold and was meant for the destruction of the enemies.

Finding the unprecedented club rushing towards him, Yama, the rider of buffalo, in order fructify the attack of the club, released his daṇḍa which could destroy the universe being quite terrific and issued the fire flames.

Yama's rod and the Demon's club struck each other in the air and a tumultuous sound, like that of the thunder, arose. The two weapons looked like two mountains in their encounter with each other. By their collision, the beings in all directions were rendered senseless. The universe trembled with the fear of being annihilated. Their friction produced a blaze and the sky looked terrible at that moment, as if meteors were going to fall. Sometime after, the missile of Dharmarāja breaking the club of the demon hit him on the head. Just as the ills of the wicked deprive them of self, similarly the demon was struck with the blow of that club. He fell down blinded by its force and was rolling in dust. After this there was a great uproar in both the armies.

On coming back to his senses after a moment, Grasana finding himself so badly hit, his ornaments and cloth being scattered, determined to take revenge and thought— “My master's victory or defeat rests on a worthy man like myself. All these demon forces are under me. If I be defeated, all my army shall become extinct and my foe shall become independent. An unworthy man may act as recklessly as he desires; but a trustworthy man ought not to be reckless when time comes; he ought to do his duty.” With these thoughts that valiant demon fixed his determinations and dashed against his enemy with full force. Grimly resolved and armed with a ponderous club, gnashing his teeth with anger, and seated in a chariot, Grasana appeared instantly in the battlefield brandishing his club and began to fight with Dharmarāja.

He hurled that fearful club at the head of Dharmarāja with great force, seeing which the latter evaded its blow. It, however, crushed several of his brave followers, seeing which Dharmarāja got greatly vexed and took up his formidable weapons to protect his followers. The demon Grasana, seeing the numerous followers of Yama, thought that the army was raised by the Māyā of Dharmarāja and began to shower arrows. He got enraged like the ocean getting ferocious at the time of the annihilation of the world and pierced some with the trident and some with his arrows. He powdered some with his club and destroyed others with his formidable spear. Many were crushed by the blow of his arms. Whereas some of Yama's followers attacked with huge pieces of rocks and trees and very long tridents. Other followers of Dharmarāja began to bite the body of Grasana and inflict blows on his back.

Then the infuriated demon, thus made to retreat by his adversaries, pushed several of them and crushed them by his weight. He inflicted blows with his fists on many and after a time, got quite exhausted with fighting the army of Dharmarāja. Seeing the repulse of his army and the exhaustion of that demon, Dharmarāja armed with a mace appeared on the scene riding on his buffalo.

Seeing Yama coming, the demon Grasana struck his two legs. Yama, taking this lightly, hit the tigers yoked to the demon's chariot. The tigers thus belaboured by the mace could not advance with the chariot. The demon's chariot was then in a state of suspense like the mind of a doubtful person. Grasana thus anxiously left his vehicle and took his stand on the ground; and started wrestling with Dharmarāja. The latter also casting away his arms faced the foe. As the idea of prestige agitates a peaceful man, so the haughty Grasana holding the lower garment of Dharmarāja whirled him round most violently. The latter also holding the neck of the demon by his arms lifted him up in the air and whirled him violently. They both began to fight with blows. The demon was huge and bulky; Dharmarāja, therefore, got tired. He, placing his arms on the shoulder of the demon, began to take rest. The demon, finding Dharmarāja done up, threw him down, gave him blows after blows, and kicked him several times when blood ran out of his mouth.

Afterwards, the demon taking Dharmarāja for dead, left him and raised a cry of victory.

He then returned and stood like a mountain before his army. The infuriated demon Jambha shot fierce arrows at Kubera, and checked his advance in all directions and annihilated much of his army. Kubera, also getting vexed, shot a volley of thousand fiery arrows on the chest of the demon and pierced the charioteer with one hundred arrows. He pierced his hands with 75 arrows, cut his bow by ten sharp arrows and pierced his lion with a single arrow and another straight ten arrows, steeped in oil and marked with leaves, penetrated the demon all over his body.

The demon was terrified somehow at this wonderful deed of Kubera, mustered up his presence of mind and took fearfully sharp arrows to subdue his foe; and drawing his bow angrily to his ears he discharged his arrows on the chest of Kubera, and killed His charioteer with a sharp arrow and cut Kubera's bow-string by another steeped in oil. Afterwards, he pierced the chest of Kubera by another ten violently sharp arrows.

Kubera was rendered senseless for a while, and then he picked up courage and drew his big bow, and let out thousands of arrows which pervaded every direction and descended on the soldiers of the demons. The sun was eclipsed by those myriads of flying arrows. The demon Jambha also discharged his shower of arrows cutting down those shot by Kubera. In a very short time, he rendered the valour of Kubera void, at which the latter was enraged and thinned the army of the demon by pouring out another volley of his fearful arrows. The demon then took up his ponderous club mounted with gold and powdered many of the followers of Kubera with its blows.

The attendants of Kubera being horrified, shouted out furiously and rallied round the chariot of their leader. Seeing his men in such an awful consternation, he took up his mighty trident and killed quickly thousands of demons.

The demon, seeing the annihilation of his army, boiled with rage, and took up his huge battle axe. That keen-edged battle-axe divided the chariot of Kubera into pieces, as a rat nibbles at a piece of glossy cloth and cuts it into many parts.

Then Kubera, alighting on the ground, took up his enemy-destroying dreadful club which no one could wield and which was made of heavy iron and mounted with gold and was being worshipped with uncooked rice and sandal for a long time and scented with perfumes of flowers. He hit the forehead of the demon with it. The demon Jambha, seeing the dreadful club luminous like lightning by approaching towards him, discharged, with his hands decorated with bracelets, quoit, spear, Prāsa, Bhusuṇḍī, Paṭṭisā and various other missiles, in order to save himself from its blow. In spite of the club being resisted by the missiles of the demon, it struck him in the chest as a great flash of light comes out of the cavern of a mountain. By the force of that blow, the demon fell close to the yoke of the chariot and a stream of blood flowed out of his mouth, ears, etc.

The demon Kujambha, considering his comrade killed, sent forth an echoing shrill and became enraged with Kubera's taunting remarks. By his Māyā, he spread in an instant, a network of arrows in all the directions and shot many sharp Ardhacandra (semi-lunar) arrows and cut to pieces all the arrows of Kubera.

On the other hand, Kubera showered a volley of arrows on the demon which the latter cut down in return. On the arrows being thus rendered useless, Kubera took up his javelin (Śakti) bedecked with golden bells and holding it in his hand, decked with pearled bracelets, hurled it with great violence at Kujambha. That Śakti of Kubera rent the chest of his adversary and after fulfilling its mission, the javelin entered within the ground. After a muhūrta (moment) the demon came back to his senses and pierced the chest of Kubera with his sharpened spear (Paṭṭisāstra), as a wicked man's words pierce through the heart, Kubera, like an old ox, fell down senseless on his chariot.

Seeing the fall of Kubera Nirṛti, the lord of the Rākṣasas, followed by his army with great violence, rushed towards Kujambha with sword in hand. The latter directed his army to encounter that of his foe. The lord of the Rākṣasas, illumined by the lustre of his ornaments, saw the army of Kujambha, armed with various kinds of weapons, became enraged, and contracting his eyebrows, jumped from his chariot and severed violently with his unsheathed bright sword, the heads of many warriors of Kujambha, as if, he was cutting lotuses. He then advanced forward biting his lips with rage, and cut down many heroes. At that time, the demon Kujambha seeing his army reduced to small numbers, left Kubera and dashed towards Nirṛti, the Rākṣasa lord.

Afterwards, the demon Jambha also got some relief and he captured thousands of his foes in his noose and took away their lives; the Dānavas at that time, took many gems, Vimānas and conveyances of the enemy. Kubera came to his senses and seeing the atrocities of the demons, heaved a deep sigh and his eyes turned red with anger, and he took the Garuḍāstra and let it out of his bow and threw it on the forces of the Dānavas. A huge mass of smoke issued from that arrow which was followed by billions of fiery sparks. Afterwards that arrow pervaded all over the sky with its lustre and gradually became an unconquerable missile. All the space was covered with darkness. Then the lustre of the weapons ascended high up in the atmosphere and became revealed. The Celestial Beings began to admire its potency.

The demons, seeing those haughty Yakṣas of Kubera, angrily rushed at them and killed those that were guarding the crown of their Master, with terribly heavy Bhuṣuṇḍī weapons. After killing them, they took hold of the crown and placing it in chariot, were greatly delighted with their victory over Kubera. They captured various gems, pearls, jewels and other riches.

On the other hand, Nirṛti was engaged with Kujambha and by his infallible Tāmasī Māyā created darkness all over and bewildered Kujambha. He blinded Kujambha by the darkness pervading everywhere. The whole Dānava force could not see anything. The demons could not advance even a step on account of the prevailing darkness, when he began to destroy the army of the demons by showering many kinds of weapons on them. The charioteers of the demons began to die of extreme cold. In that way, the demons were killed and Kujambha was rendered senseless.

Then the demon Mahiṣāsura looking like the ferocious banks of clouds that gather to pour out volumes of water at the time of the dissolution of the world, shot the Sāvitrī arrow shining like flashes of lightning. The radiance of the all-powerful excellent Sāvitrī arrows dispelled darkness from the battlefield. That fiery missile drove away the darkness as the autumn season makes the sky clear and render the lotuses on the tanks bright with the rising rays of the sun. When the darkness was driven away the demons began to see and then fought with the Devas in a most wonderful manner. They angrily let out their bhujaṅgāstra and poisoned arrows from their ponderous bows.

The demon Kujambha took his exceedingly terrible bow and dashed straight towards the army of the Rākṣasas. The lord of the Rākṣasas seeing Kujambha making an advance, pierced him with the arrows poisoned with the venom of snake and no place of rescue was left for him. The enemy could not make out what Nirṛti was doing, he was placing and shooting his arrows so quickly. That Rākṣasas cut down the arrows of his adversary and also his banner. Afterwards he killed the charioteer and knocked him down with his spear (Bhalla), seeing which Kujambha got fearfully vexed and his eyes grew red with anger. He jumped from his chariot and took hold of his keen sword and shield mounted with ten iron pieces looking like rising moons. He then made way towards the lord of the Rākṣasas.

Then Nirṛti hit Kujambha on his approach with the blow of his club which made him faint and swagger round. He remained still and motionless. In spite of that, he did not lose his presence of mind and stood up like a mountain and in a couple of hours, on being fully composed, he jumped on the chariot and caught hold of the left arm of the Rākṣasa and putting it under his feet he pulled his long hair.

When the demon was about to sever Nirṛti's head with the sword, Varuṇa instantly appeared on the spot and tied down both the demon's hands with his noose and so all the power of the demon was rendered void. Afterwards, Varuṇa, forsaking all compassion, began to beat him with his club on account of which that demon began to vomit blood.

At that time, the demon assumed the form of clouds charged with electricity. Seeing Kujambha in that plight, Mahiṣāśura opened his huge mouth containing pointed rows of teeth with the intention of devouring both Kubera and Nirṛti, the lord of the Rākṣasas. Both of them, realizing the intention of Mahiṣāśura, jumped down from the chariot and took to their heels and went to their respective quarters. They were awfully horrified and flew into different directions. The Rākṣasa lord instantly went to take shelter with Indra. The infuriated Mahiṣāśura ran after Varuṇa and the Moon, seeing him to be a prey of death, darted his somāstra, the store of chill. He also let His vāyavyāstra for a second time.

Then, all the demons were baffled by the chill of the himāstra, and vāyavyāstra of the Moon. They could not walk on nor could hold their weapons in hand. The demons were frozen with cold and began to feel unbearable pain all over their body under the influence of the arrows of the Moon. Mahiṣāśura also could not do anything. His body also began to shiver through cold. He sat down holding his chest (or chariot?) with his hands and with his head cast downwards. All the demons could not do anything. Thus overpowered by the Moon, the Daityas could not take any revenge. They all abandoned the ambition of war and stood up to save their lives when the furious Kālanemi addressed them as follows.

He said “O brave warriors! you are skilled in warfare, expert in enjoying pleasures! Every one of you can singly uplift the world in the palm of your hand. You can devour the world if you like. The whole heaven cannot encounter 1/16th of any one of you. You, with your renowned prowess, are standing here in the great field of battle to attain victory. Why are you then taking to your heels? Why are you sitting thus, defeated by the Devas? This is extremely unworthy to you! Tārakāśura is your king and he can alone annihilate the universe. He is now sitting quiet. He will kill everyone of us if we turn our back on the battlefield.” At that time, the demons were shivering with cold and they could not hear; they could not speak. They were simply making noise by grinding their teeth. They could not hear Kālanemi's words. Seeing which Kālanemi thought what he would do and magnified his body by his Māyā. He extended himself in all the directions and through his spell created thousands of suns. All the directions pervaded with heat and the universe began to suffer from it. That heat drove away the effect of the Moon and the freezing wind also ceased.

The sun, the eyes of the world, on realizing the increase of the power of the demons by illusion of Kālanemi, angrily commanded his charioteer Aruṇa.

दिवाकर उवाच

विमर्द्दस्तत्र विषमो भविता शूरसंक्षयः॥ १५२॥

The Sun said— O Aruṇa, take this chariot to that spot where is the chariot of Kālanemi. “Now there will be a tough fight and many heroes will be killed. Behold! The Moon has been conquered here, the refuge of all army.”

Hearing those words the charioteer Aruṇa instantly drove swiftly the chariot yoked with horses wearing white cāmaras. The Sun took up his huge bow and shot two divine arrows having the lustre and properties of serpents. The first was the sañcāra-astra thrown amongst the enemy's forces and second Indraajāla-astra having the properties of magic. By the influence of the sañcāra-astra the faces of the demons and the Devas were changed into those of the Devas and Dānavas. In other words, the faces of the demons looked like those of the Devas and the faces of the Devas looked like those of the demons.

Under such circumstances, the demons taking their comrades to be the Devas began to slaughter one another. Kālanemi began to annihilate them like the angry Dharmarāja at the time of pralaya. He killed them with swords, arrows, clubs, battle-axes; severing the heads of some, the arms of others and crushed the chariots and the charioteers by the force of his chariot. He killed several with his fist. Thus Kālanemi killed his own armies. The demons on thus being fatally attacked by Kālanemi, and being horrified of the Devas began to yell and assume their proper forms. The angry Kālanemi could not recognise them when the demon Nemi said to him— “I am Nemi; recognise me. You have killed ten lacs of valiant demons through ignorance, whom the Devas even could not have killed. You should, therefore, discharge your Brahmāstra, without delay that defeats all the other weapons.”

Hearing his words Kālanemi let out the Brahmāstra arrow which pervaded every nook and corner of the universe. The whole of the army of the Devas was petrified with horror and the effect of the sañcāra-astra of the Sun also ceased and at the same time, the Sun became dull. At that hour, the Sun through his power of magic astra assumed billions of forms. His strong rays penetrated the three regions. The army of the demons was scorched. All the blood and marrow of the soldiers were dried up. Thus, they were much tormented. Afterwards there was a shower of fire which blinded the demons.

The huge elephants were ablaze and fell down charred. The horses horribly oppressed by the heat, began to faint and the warriors sitting in chariots also began to perspire and breathe hard. They all began to run about with thirst and felt inclined to sit under the shade of a tree or in a cavern of the mountain. The trees began to burn with conflagration of fire and the demons persecuted with the long tongues of fire could not reach the water that was in front of them close by. On thus failing to get water they died gaping. Everywhere the dead carcasses of the demons were visible and innumerable elephants and horses yoked to chariots also began to fall.

A stream of blood ran out of their mouths and thousands of demons were found lying dead. When those demons began to be destroyed like that, Kālanemi, with his eyes turned red with rage, created masses of clouds like those at the time of the dissolution of the world and raised a most thrilling yell. There flowed hundreds of rivers. The sky was thus overcast and dispelled the glory of the Sun; a downpour of cold showers fell on the armies of the demons. This gave comfort to the demons, just as sprouts come out of the ground on getting rainwater.

Kālanemi, at the same time, poured out a shower of missiles on the Devas just as clouds shower rain. The Devas, oppressed with the shower of fearful missiles, could not cope with the demons and looked like the cows oppressed with cold. They left their arms and embraced one another and threw themselves behind their horses, chariots, etc. They all hide themselves and most of them contracted their bodies and covered their faces with their hands. Others took to their heels.

Afterwards, the Devas wandered hither and thither in utter dismay. In course of such a fearful conflict, a large number of the Devas were lost. Most of them were seen scattered on the ground with their limbs, arms, thighs severed and their heads smashed and legs broken. The train of banners was broken, the chariots were smashed and turned upside down and the horses and elephants with their severed bodies fell to the ground. The blood of the fallen victims of war spread all over the ground which presented an awful appearance. In that way, the valiant Kālanemi showed his strength in the field of battle. In the twinkling of an eye 1,00,000 Gandharvas, 5 lacs of yakṣas, 60,000 Rākṣasas, 3 lacs most powerful and swift Kinnaras and 7 lacs of Piśācas were killed by the brave Kālanemi.

Besides these, that valiant demon also killed innumerable kotis of Deva warriors. In that way, when the Devas were greatly defeated and almost annihilated, the two Aśvinīkumāras, wearing a wonderful white armour, came out boiling with indignation; and each of them began to send forth a volley of 60 arrows at a time on that demon shining like fire. When the Aśvinīkumāras began to hit the demon with their arrows and pierced his chest, he was in great pain and took up the eight-edged keen quoit and with it pierced the yoke of the Aśvinīkumāras' chariot and picking up his bow, he shot poisoned arrows on the forehead of the physicians and let out innumerable arrows in the air. The sky became overcast. Then Aśvinīkumāras also cut down the arrows of the demon by their own which amazed the latter. He got fearfully vexed and took his formidable club of iron and brandishing it with great force hurled it at the chariot of Aśvinīkumāras, seeing which they vacated the chariot and the ponderous club powdered the chariots and crushed the earth. Seeing such heroic feat of the demons' weapon, the Aśvinīkumāras let out their terrible vajrākhyā-astra on the demon and over it bolts were showered.

The shower of those bolts unnerved the demon. His chariot, banner, bow, quoits, golden armour were blown to atoms. In that way, he was subdued in presence of the army and at that instant, the demon discharged his Nārāyaṇāstra which lulled the Vajrāstra. Then the demon wanted to kill the Aśvinīkumāras at which the latter fled to take shelter with Indra.

The fearful demon then pursued and came close to the chariot of Indra followed by his army; seeing which, everyone was horrified and thought that Indra was about to be defeated. Mountains and meteors began to fall from the sky. Clouds began to thunder in all the quarters; the oceans also swelled. Then Lord Viṣṇu, seeing the universe in such an agony, left off his yogic slumber and awoke and sat on his couch of Śeṣa Nāga. The Goddess Lakṣmī began to shampoo his legs by her hands. He looked like blue autumnal sky and like blue lotus. He had a beautiful armlet and on his forehead, he wore Kaustubha gem and his arms adorned with armlets shining like the sun. The Lord awoke and seeing the atrocities of the demon summoned Garuḍa and shining with the lustre of weapons took his seat. Instantly, Garuḍa appeared before him. Viṣṇu then rode on Garuḍa and came to the Devas. He saw that the violent and powerful Demons, looking like fresh rain clouds, had attacked Indra; and the Deva forces looked like persons surrounded by their unfortunate descendants.

Afterwards, the demons saw the lustrous halo of the Lord in the sky as if the glory of the rising Sun was making itself visible on the Udayācala Mountain. All the demons were anxious to know what was that light. They all beheld the cloud-hued Lord seated on the Garuḍa shining like the destructive fire prevailing at the time of the dissolution of the universe. Seeing Him, all the demons felt highly gratified and they said “He is the Lord Viṣṇu and the all in all of the Devas. By defeating him we will conquer the Devas. He is the annihilator of the demons. All the Devas, under His protection, partake of their share of sacrificial offerings.”

Saying so all the demons took their stand round Him and began to shower various kinds of weapons on Him.

Ten valiant demons like Kālanemi, etc., known as Mahārathas, began to fight. Kālanemi shot 60 arrows; Nimi shot 100 arrows; Mathana, 80 arrows; Jambhaka, 70 arrows; Śambhu ten arrows and the rest of the demons a single arrow each, on Viṣṇu and with ten arrows they pierced Garuḍa. Viṣṇu, the destroyer of the Dānavas, thinking of the impetuosity of the demons, pierced every one of them with six arrows. He drew again His bow and pierced Kālanemi with three arrows.

Then Kālanemi, with eyes red with anger, put arrows on his bow and drawing the string up to his ears let them off on His chest. Those golden arrows on the chest of the Lord looked beautiful like the rays of Kaustubha gem. Viṣṇu, somewhat mortified with them, snatched His terrific club and after brandishing it, whirled and hurled it at the demon.

as Āgnidhra, Agnibāhu, Saha, Savana, Jyotiṣmān, Dyutimān, Havya, Medhā, Medhātithi¹ and Vasu, who were responsible for the expansion of their race.

All of them, while creating the Pratisarga achieved the supreme position. Thus the Svāyambhuva Manvantara has been described. Now I describe the Svārociṣa Manu.² Svārociṣa Manu had four sons known as Nabha, Nabhasya, Prasṛti and Bhānu, who had earned the glory like the gods.

In this Manvantara, there were the seven ṛṣis known by the names of Datta, Niścayavana, Stamba, Prāṇa, Kaśyapa, Aurva and Bṛhaspati.

whence was produced Virāṭ and from him the first Manu, According to others Svāyambhuva converted himself into the first man called Svāyambhuva Manu and the first woman called Śata-Rūpā. The first Manu is the author of the Manu Samhitā. He is sometimes called Prajāpati, Hiraṇyagarbha and Pracetas.

1. Medhātithi is the author of many hymns in the R̥gveda and we have therefore Brāhmaṇas and religious teachers descended from Kṣatriyas.
2. Manu, according to the legend of his birth in the Mārkaṇḍeya Purāṇa, was the son of Svārociṣa, so named from the splendour of his appearance when born and who was the son of the nymph Varūthinī by the Gandharva Kali. The text, in another place, makes him a son of Priyavrata. The Vāyu gives the names of the individuals of these two classes, consisting each of twelve. It furnishes also the nomenclature of all the classes of divinities and of the sons of the Manus in each Manvantara.

The gods of this Svārociṣa Manvantara came to be known as Tuṣitā. The Maharṣis of the age are known as Vasiṣṭha, Hastīndra, Sukṛta, Mūrtti, Apa, Jyoti, Aya and Smaya. They were seven in number. Thus the second Manvantara has been described.

Thereafter I am going to describe the Manvantara known as Auttami which bestowed welfare. Manu named Auttami ruled during this time. He had ten sons named Īṣa, Ūrja, Tarja, Śuci, Śukra, Madhu, Mādhava, Nabhasya, Nabhasa and Saha. Of these, tenth son Saha was the youngest and the race was carried on by him. The gods known as Bhāvanas, were born in this Manvantara. The names of the contemporary Saptarṣis were Kaukuruṇḍī, Dālhbhya, Śamkha, Pravahāṇa, Śiva, Sita and Sasmita. All of them were illustrious and the promoters of yoga.

The fourth Manvantara is known by the name of Tāmasa, in which there were seven sages known as Kavi, Pṛthu, Agni, Akapi, Kapi, Jalpa and Dhīmān. The contemporary divine gods were known by the name of Sādhyas.

Tamas Manu had ten sons known by the names of Akalmaṣ, Dhanvī, Tapomūla, Tapodhana, Taporati, Tapasyā, Tapodyuti, Parantapa, Tapobhogī and Tapoyogi. All of them possessed the noble conduct and expanded the race.

Now you listen to the details of the fifth Manvantara known as Raivata.¹ The Saptarṣis of this Manvantara were known by the names of Devabāhu, Subāhu, Parjanya, Somapa, Muni, Hiranyaroma and Saptāśca. The gods of the contemporary times were known as Abhūtaraja and all the six Prakṛtis (people) were devoted to noble ways.

अरुणस्तत्त्वदर्शी च वित्तवान् हव्यपः कपिः।

युक्तो निरुत्सुकः सत्त्वो निर्मोहोऽथ प्रकाशकः॥ २१॥

Raivataka Manu had ten sons known by the names of Havyapa, Kapi, Yukta, Nirutsuka, Sattva, Nirmoha and Prakāśaka. All of them were quite valorous and devoted to Dharma.

धर्मवीर्यबलोपेता दशैते रैवतात्मजाः।

विवस्वानतिनामा च षष्ठे सप्तर्षयोऽपरे।

चाक्षुषस्यान्तरे देवा लेखा नाम परिश्रुताः॥ २३॥

Thereafter, there was the sixth Cākṣusa Manvantara, in which the names of the seven sages had been Bhṛgu, Sudhāmā, Virajā, Sahiṣṇu, Nāda, Vivasvān and Atināma. The gods of the contemporary period were known as Lekhā.

1. Raivata, as well as his three predecessors, is regarded usually as a descendant of Priyavrata. The Mārkaṇḍeya has a long legend of his birth, as the son of king Durgama by the nymph Revatī, sprung from the constellation Revatī, whom Ritavāk, a Muni, caused to fall from heaven.

ऋभवोऽथ ऋभाद्यश्च वारिमूला दिवौकसः।

जमदग्निश्च सप्तैते साम्प्रतं ये महर्षयः।

कृत्वा धर्मव्यवस्थानं प्रयान्ति परमं पदम्॥ २८॥

Thus in that Manvantara there were the five types of the gods known as Rbhava, Rbhādyā, Vārimūla and Divaukasa. Earlier, I had described the first Svāyambhuva Manu, who had ten sons, similarly Cākṣusa Manu too had ten sons like Ruru and others. Thus I have introduced you to the Cākṣusa Manvantara. Now I shall describe Cākṣusa Manvantara to you, which is presently known as Vaivasvata. In this particular Manvantara, there are seven ṛṣis known as Atri, Vasiṣṭha, Kaśyapa, Gautama, Yogi, Bharadvāja, Pratāpi, Viśvāmitra and Jamadagni. All the seven ṛṣis defining the dharma ultimately achieved the highest position.

साध्या विश्वे च रुद्राश्च मरुतो वसवोऽश्विनौ।

आदित्याश्च सुरास्तद्वत्सप्त देवगणाः स्मृताः॥ २९॥

In the Vaivasvata Manvantara, there are the seven gods viz. Sādhyā, Viśvedeva, Rudra, Marut, Vasu, Aśvinīkumāra and Āditya. These are the seven gods.

इक्ष्वाकुप्रमुखाश्चास्य दशपुत्राः स्मृता भुवि।

कृत्वा धर्मव्यवस्थानं प्रयान्ति परमं पदम्।

सावर्ण्यस्य प्रवक्ष्यामि मनोर्भावि तथान्तरम्॥ ३१॥

Vaivasvata Manu too had ten sons including Ikṣvāku and others, who are well known on earth. In this way there are always seven ṛṣis in each one of the seven Manvantaras, who after protecting the dharma, achieve the highest position. O Royal sage, I am now describing Sāvarṇi Manvantara.

अश्वत्थामा शरद्वंश कौशिको गालवस्तथा।
शतानन्दः काश्यपश्च रामश्च ऋषयः स्मृताः॥ ३२॥
धृतिर्वरियान्यवसः सुवर्णो वृष्टिरेव च।

ततस्तु मेरुसावर्णिर्ब्रह्मसूनुर्मनुः स्मृताः।
ऋतश्च ऋतधामा च विष्वक्सेनो मनुस्तथा॥ ३६॥

In this particular Manvantara, Aśvatthāmā, Śaradvān, Kauśika, Gālava, Śatānanda, Kaśyapa and Rāma (Paraśurāma) are the seven Ṛṣis. Sāvarṇi Manu shall have ten sons viz. Dhṛti, Variyān, Yavas, Suvarṇa, Vṛṣti, Carīṣṇu, Iḍya, Sumati, Vasu and valorous Śukra. These will be his ten sons. Similar description has been provided for Raucya and other future Manvantaras. At that point of time, Raucya the son of Ruci, would be known as Manu. Similarly, Bhautya, the son of Bhūti shall be known as Manu. Thereafter, Meru-sāvarṇi, the son of Brahmā shall be known as Manu. Besides them Ṛta, Ṛtadhāmā and Viśvakṣena will also be known as Manus.

अतीतानागताश्चैते मनवः परिकीर्तिताः।
षडूनं युगसाहस्रमेभिर्व्याप्तं नराधिप॥ ३७॥
स्वे स्वेऽन्तरे सर्वमिदमुत्पाद्य सचराचरम्।
कल्पक्षये विनिर्वृत्ते मुच्यन्ते ब्रह्मणा सह॥ ३८॥

The Manus rule over the earth for 994 yugas (in other words the duration of each one of the fourteen Manus, extends upto seventy one divine yugas). Thus all of them during their period of rule, create the mobile and immobile world, are freed with Brahmā at the end of the kalpa.

एते युगसहस्रान्ते विनश्यन्ति पुनः पुनः।
ब्रह्माद्या विष्णुसायुज्यं याता यास्यन्ति वै द्विजाः॥ ३९॥

O Brāhmaṇas, thus all the Manus, are reborn after a thousand yugas one after the other and get destroyed as well. Brahmā and other gods on the other hand achieve the Sāyujya devotion of Viṣṇu. This process shall be repeated even in future.

CHAPTER 10

The story of the king Prthu and the milking of the cow

ऋषय ऊचुः

बहुभिर्धरणी भुक्ता भूपालैः श्रूयते पुरा।
पार्थिवाः पृथिवीयोगात्पृथिवी कस्य योगतः॥ १॥
किमर्थं च कृता संज्ञा भूमेः किं पारिभाषिकी।

The Ṛṣis asked, “O Sūta, it is learnt that several of the ruler have ruled the country and have been called as Pārthivas or Pṛthvīpatis, because of their association with the earth. But how did the name of the earth came to be known as Pṛthvī? Why was the earth also known as gau or cow? You kindly reveal its secret.

सूत उवाच

Sūta said, “O Ṛṣis, in the Svāyambhuva dynasty in ancient times, there had been a Prajāpati known by the name of Aṅga; who married Sunithā, the daughter of Mṛtyu. The face of Sunithā was quite ugly, but she gave birth to a powerful son named Vena who became a splendid king in due course of time. But he always engaged himself in evil ways.

लोकेऽप्यधर्मकृज्जातः परभार्यापहारकः।

धर्माचारस्य सिद्धयर्थं जगतोऽथ महर्षिभिः॥५॥

He always indulged in abducting and seducing others wives. In this way he kept on spreading adharma in the universe. Then the ṛṣis humbly prayed Vena to embrace the noble ways.

अनुनीतोऽपि न ददावनुज्ञां स यदा ततः।

शापेन मारयित्वैनमराजकभयार्दिताः॥६॥

But because of his evil mind, he failed to agree to their request, then the sages killed him pronouncing a curse on him.

ममन्युर्ब्राह्मणास्तस्य बलादेहमकल्मषाः।

तत्कायान्मथ्यमानास्तु निपेतुर्लेच्छजातयः॥७॥

The kingdom was thus deprived of a ruler. The sages then churned the body of Vena, getting apprehensive of disturbance. First of all the forces of Mlecchas emerged out of his body.

The barbarian race black as the soot, emerged out of the body of Vena due to the evil qualities of his mother. For the good qualities of his noble and auspicious father, a most brilliant figure appeared from the right hand wearing the armour studded with precious gems and holding the bow, arrow and a club in both the hands. This figure emerged out of the body of Vena, when it was quite carefully churned. He therefore came to be known as Pṛthu.

ततो गोरूपमास्थाय भूः पलायितुमुद्यताः॥१२॥

Though the Brāhmaṇas had crowned him as the king over the kingdom of his father, but, still, he pleased lord Viṣṇu performing the severe tapas. Then he, with the boon of lord Viṣṇu, conquering all the mobiles and immobiles of the world, himself became the lord of the entire universe. When the king found that the earth was deprived of the Vedic rites, he was filled with righteous indignation and endeavoured to destroy it with his infallible arrow. The earth then shook with fear. Assuming the form of a cow, she took to flight.

पृथुरप्यवदद्वाक्यमीप्सितं देहि सुव्रते।

She was followed by Pṛthu, the great archer. Finding that she was being followed by Pṛthu, the earth felt exhausted and standing there at a particular place, she spoke, “What should I do to please you, O Lord?” At this Pṛthu said, “O Noble one, you at once bestow the best of the king to the mobile and immobile world.”

तथैव साब्रवीद्धूमिर्दुदोह स नराधिपः।

स्वके पाणौ पृथुर्वत्सं कृत्वा स्वायम्भुवं मनुम्॥१५॥

On hearing this, the earth said, “All right, it will be done accordingly. With the consent of the earth as cow, Pṛthu made Svāyambhuva Manu as a calf and milked the cow in his own hand cup. The milked material became the spotless cereals, which made the people to remain alive.

इन्द्रो वत्सः समभवत्क्षीरमूर्जस्करं बलम्।

देवानां काञ्चनं पात्रं पितृणां राजतं तथा॥ १८॥

Thereafter the process of milking the cow was started. The Ṛṣis also milked the same cow. At that point of time moon was turned as a calf, Brhaspati became the milkman, Vedas became the vases and the milked material was the tapas. The gods also milked the cow, when Mitra became the milkman and Indra became the calf, while the prowess was the essence as milk. At the time of the milking of the cow, golden was the vase of the gods.

असुरैरपि दुग्धेयमायसे शक्रपीडिनीम्॥ २०॥

Then Antaka also milked the cow, when Yama became the calf, Svadhā was the juice, the manes had the vase of silver. In the milking of the cow by the nāgas, Dhṛtarāṣṭra became the milkman, Takṣaka, the lord of serpents became the calf, gourd was the vase, while pāyasam or poison was the milked material.

पात्रे मायामभूद्वत्सः प्राह्लादिस्तु विरोचनः।

दोग्धा द्विमूर्द्धा तत्रासीन्माया येन प्रवर्तिता॥ २१॥

The demons also milked the cow. They milked Māyā used for the torture of Indra in the vase of iron. In that case Virocana, the son of Prahlāda became the calf. Dvimūrdhā had been the milkman, and pressed out Māyā in an iron pot.

यक्षैश्च वसुधा दुग्धा पुरान्तर्द्धानमीप्सुभिः।

Yakṣas also milked the cow with the desire of becoming invisible. For this purpose, they made Kubera the calf and milked the cow in the vase of clay.

प्रेतरक्षोगणैर्दुग्धा धारारुधिरमुल्बणम्।

रौप्यनाभोऽभवद्दोग्धा सुमाली वत्स एव तु॥ २३॥

The goblins as well as the pretas milked the cow yielding a terrific flow of blood. For this purpose, Raupyanābha, a goblin, functioned as a milkman, the goblin Sumālī became the calf.

वत्सोऽभूद्धिमवांस्तत्र पात्रे शैलमयं पुनः॥ २६॥

The apsaras as well as the Gandharvas, making Caitraratha as the calf milked the fragrance of the earth in a lotus leaf from the earth. During this exercise, a Gandharva Vararuci, the excellent dancer became the milkman. The mountains milked the precious gems as well as the divine auśadhis from the cow. Sumeru, the great mountain was used as the milkman, while Himavān acted as a calf. The vase was like the mountain.

वृक्षैश्च वसुधा दुग्धा क्षीरं छिन्नप्ररोहणम्।

The trees milked the power of regermination even after being lopped off, in a leaf of Pālāśa (Butea frondosa). For this purpose Śāla (Shorearobusta) was made the milkman and the fig tree officiated as a calf. In the same manner, everyone who milked the earth, received the desired fruit.

During the rule of the king Pṛthu, the people had long life, were quite well off and wealthy. No one was poor at that time. There were no ailments and no one indulged in the evil ways.

During the rule of the king Pṛthu, there were no misfortunes or dangers and the people were free from sufferings and enjoyed a comfortable life.

धनुष्कोट्या च शैलेन्द्रानुत्सार्य स महाबलः।

भुवस्तलं समं चक्रे लोकानां हितकाम्यया॥ ३१॥

The valorous Pṛthu, getting inspired with the welfare of the people, raised the huge mountains with the bow and made the surface even.

धर्मैकवासना लोकाः पृथौ राज्यं प्रशासति।

कथितानि च पात्राणि यत्क्षीरं च मया तव॥ ३३॥

During the rule of Pṛthu, there were no cities, towns or the forts, nor did the people carry the weapons for self protection. The ailments were totally absent; the science of political economy was unknown and had been neglected having no importance. All the people performed their duties and the prescribed rites. There was no trace of greed in them and they were all devoted to dharma. O Ṛṣis, thus, I have narrated the story of the milking of the cow by Pṛthu and the milking vases, in which the milk was poured.

येषां यत्र रुचिस्तत्तद्देयं तेभ्यो विजानता।

यज्ञश्राद्धेषु सर्वेषु मया तुभ्यं निवेदितम्॥ ३४॥

Whatever things are desired by the people, they should make offering of the same in the yajñas as well as in the *Śrāddhas*¹ of the manes.

1. The Nirṇaya Sindhu, in a passage referred to by Colebrooke (As. Res. VII.) specifies the following Śrāddhas : 1. The Nitya or perpetual; daily offerings to ancestors in general; 2. The Naimittika or occasional; as the Ekoddiṣṭa or obsequial offerings on account of a kinsman recently deceased; 3. The Kāmya, voluntary; performed for the accomplishment of a special design (अभिप्रेतसिद्धये); 4. The Vṛddhi; performed on occasions of rejoicing or prosperity; 5. The Sapindana; offerings to all individual and to general ancestors; 6. The Pārvaṇa

दुहितृत्वं गता यस्मात्पृथोर्धर्मवती मही।

तदानुरागयोगाच्च पृथिवी विश्रुता बुधैः॥ ३५॥

Thus the story of the milking of the earth has been narrated by me, by which the earth had become the daughter of Pṛthu. Therefore, because of the immense love of Pṛthu, the earth came to be known as Pṛthivī, by the learned people.

Genesis of the solar and lunar dynasties and the story of Ilā

आदित्यवंशमखिलं वद सूत यथाक्रमम्।

सोमवंशं च तत्त्वज्ञ यथावद्वक्तुमर्हसि॥ १॥

The Ṛṣis asked, “O Sūta, well-versed in tattvas, now you kindly describe in detail the solar and the lunar dynasties.”

सूत उवाच

Śrāddha; offerings to the manes on certain lunar days called Parvas or day of full moon and new moon and the eighth and fourteenth days of the lunar fortnight; 7. The Goṣṭhi; for the advantage of a number of learned persons or of an assembly of Brāhmaṇas, invited for the purpose; 8. The Śuddhi; one performed to purify a person from some defilement; an expiatory Śrāddha; 9. The Karmāṅga; one forming part of the initiatory ceremonies or Saṅskāras, observed at conception, birth, tonsure; 10. The Daiva; to which the gods are invited; 11. The Yātrā Śrāddha; held by a person going a journey; and 12. The Puṣṭi Śrāddha; one performed to promote health and wealth. Of these, the four which are considered the most solemn are the rite performed for a parent or near relative, lately deceased; that which is performed for kindred collectively: that observed on certain lunar days; and that celebrated on occasions of rejoicing : अत्र पार्वणैकोद्विष्टवृद्धिसपिण्डौकरणात्मकं चतुर्विधेनेव मुख्यं। Nirṇaya Sindhu, p. 271.

Sūta said, “O Ṛṣis, in the ancient times, Maharṣi Kaśyapa produced from his wife Aditi, Vivasvān Sūrya, who had three wives viz. Rājñī, Sanjñā and Prabhā. Out of them Rājñī, the daughter of Raivata, produced a son named Raivata, while Prabhā gave birth to a son named Prabhāta. Sanjñā was the daughter of Viśvakarmā. She gave birth to Vaivasvata Manu and Yama as the two sons besides a daughter named Yamunā.

त्वाष्ट्री स्वरूपरूपेण नाम्ना छायेति भामिनी॥ ५॥

Yama and Yamunā were the twins. After sometime when the beautiful Tvaṣṭrī (Sanjñā) could not bear the heat of the sun, then she out of her own body created an exceedingly beautiful lady who came to be known as Chāyā.¹

पुरतः संस्थितां दृष्ट्वा संज्ञा तां प्रत्यभाषत।

छाये त्वं भज भर्तारमस्मदीयं वरानने॥ ६॥

Finding Chāyā standing before her, Sanjñā said, “O Beautiful one, O Chāyā, you should serve my husband, extending motherly affection to my children. You bring them up with loving care.

अपत्यानि मदीयानि मातृस्नेहेन पालय।

तथेत्युक्त्वा तु सा देवमगमत्क्रापि सुव्रता॥ ७॥

Chāyā said, “All right, I shall do so.” Saying this, she went to Vivasvān, in order to serve him.

कामयामास देवोऽपि संज्ञेयमिति चादरात्।

जनयामास तस्यां तु पुत्रं च मनुरूपिणम्॥ ८॥

Vivasvān on the other hand, taking Chāyā as Sanjñā, kept on behaving well with Chāyā. In due course of time he produced from the womb of Chāyā, a son who was powerful like Manu.

सवर्णत्वाच्च सावर्णिर्मनोर्वैवस्वतस्य च।

ततः शनिं च तपतीं विष्टिं चैव क्रमेण तु॥ ९॥

Because of his possessing the figure and complexion of gold, he came to be known as Sāvarni. The sun taking Chāyā to be Sanjñā, produced from the womb of Chāyā, a son named Śani and two daughters known as Tapatī and Viṣṭi.

Chāyā loved her son Manu much more than the other children. This step motherly treatment was tolerated by Manu the son of Sanjñā, but once Yama was enraged because of this and threatened Chāyā to kick her with his left foot. At this Chāyā pronounced a curse on Yama, “Your foot shall be eaten up by the worms. The blood and puss shall always ooze out of it.”

1. That is, her shadow or image. It also means 'shade'. The Bhāgavata, however, makes both Sanjñā and Chāyā daughters of Viśvakarman.

On hearing the curse, the enraged Yama, went to his father and spoke, “O Lord, the enraged mother has pronounced a curse on me for no reason at all. O Lord, because of my childish habit, I had raised my right foot once. At this, she, inspite of dissuading by the elder brother Manu, pronounced a curse on me. Since she has attacked me by means of a curse, therefore she does not appear to be our mother.” On hearing this the sun god again said to Yama, “O Intelligent one, what should I do? One has to suffer sometime due to some one’s own foolishness. Or otherwise one has to reap the reward of his own karmas. This rule is applicable over Śiva himself, then what to speak of others.

कृकवाकुर्मया दत्तो यः कृमीन्भक्षयिष्यति।
क्लृदं च रुधिरं चैव वत्सायमपनेष्यति॥ १७॥

Therefore, O Son, I am giving you a cock or a peacock, which shall consume all the worms of your foot besides the blood and the puss emerging out of it.”

एवमुक्तस्तपस्तेपे यमस्तीव्रं महायशाः।
गोकर्णतीर्थे वैराग्यात्फलपत्रा निलाशनः॥ १८॥
आराधय महादेवं यावद्वर्षायुतायुतम्।
वरं प्रादान्महादेवः सन्तुष्टः शूलभृत्तदा॥ १९॥

At these words of the father, the immensely glorious Yama developed detachment in his mind. Then he went to the holy place of Gokarna living on fruits, leaves and the air, engaged himself in severe tapas. In this way, he adored lord Mahādeva for twenty thousand years. In due course of time, the trident bearer Śiva, getting pleased with his tapas appeared before him.

वव्रे स लोकपालत्वं पितृलोके नृपालयम्।
धर्माधर्मात्मकस्यापि जगतस्तु परीक्षणम्॥ २०॥
एवं स लोकपालत्वमगमच्छूलपाणिनः।
पितृणां चाधिपत्यं च धर्माधर्मस्य चानघ॥ २१॥

Then Yama, in the form of a boon, achieved the position of a Lokapāla, besides the lordship of the manes, and the powers of judgement for the performing of dharma and adharma by the people. Śiva, the lord of the universe, bestowed all the boons on him.

विवस्वानथ तज्ज्ञात्वा संज्ञायाः कर्मचेष्टितम्।
त्वष्टुः समीपमगमदाचक्षे च रोषवान्॥ २२॥

On the other hand, Vivasvān came to know about the reality about Sanjñā and then went to Viśvakarmā and angrily narrated to him the entire course of events.

तमुवाच ततस्त्वष्टा सान्त्वपूर्वं द्विजोत्तमाः।

यस्मादविज्ञाततया मत्सकाशमिहागता।
तस्मान्मदीयं भवनं प्रवेष्टुं न त्वमर्हसि॥ २५॥

O Brāhmaṇas, then Tvaṣṭā reassuring Vivasvān, said to him, “O Lord, you are the remover of darkness and unable to bear the heat of your lustre, Sanjñā came to me in the form of a mare, but I did not allow her to enter my place, saying, “Since you have arrived stealthily, without the knowledge of your husband, therefore, you cannot enter my place.

एवमुक्ता जगामाथ मरुदेशमनिन्दिता।
वडवारूपमास्थाय भूतले सम्प्रतिष्ठिता॥ २६॥

Thus getting disappointed from your as well my place, she is still wandering on earth in the form of a mare.

तस्मात्प्रसादं कुरु मे यद्यनुग्रहभागहम्।

रूपं तव करिष्यामि लोकानन्दकरं प्रभो।
तथेत्युक्तः स रविणा भ्रमौ कृत्वा दिवाकरम्॥ २८॥

Therefore, O Divākara, in case, I am quite dear to you, then you should be pleased with me and then grant my request. O Lord, I shall sharpen your unbearable lustre with the use of the yantra, reducing it at the same time. By this way you would become pleasant for the people." When the sun accepted the request, Tvaṣṭā, with the use of his yantra, reduced his lustre to some extent.

पृथक् चकार तत्तज्जेश्वरं विष्णोरकल्पयत्।

त्रिशूलं चापि रुद्रस्य वज्रमिन्द्रस्य चाधिकम्॥ २९॥

With the lustre which was removed from the body of the sun, Tvaṣṭā, made Sudarśana Cakra for Viṣṇu, a trident for Śiva and the Vajra for Indra for the subjugation of the Daityas and Dānavas.

दैत्यदानवसंहर्तुः सहस्रकिरणात्मकम्।

रूपं चाप्रतिमं चक्रे त्वष्टा पद्भ्यामृते महत्॥ ३०॥

In this way, Tvaṣṭā, leaving the feet, made the thousand rayed form of the sun more beautiful.

न शशाकाथ तदद्रष्टुं पादरूपं रवेः पुनः।

अर्चास्वपि ततः पादौ न कश्चित्कारयेत्क्रचित्॥ ३१॥

यः करोति स पापिष्ठां गतिमाप्नोति निन्दिताम्।

कुष्ठरोगमवाप्नोति लोकेऽस्मिन्दुःखसंयुतः॥ ३२॥

At that point of time, he was unable to look at the lustre of the sun. Therefore the said lustre of the feet remained unchanged. Because of this the images of the sun are made without his feet and in case one does so, he, after his death, has to achieve an extremely sinful position. He suffering various ailments on earth ultimately attracts leprosy.

तस्माच्च धर्मकामार्थी चित्रेष्वायतनेषु च।

न क्वचित्कारयेत्पादौ देवदेवस्य धीमतः॥ ३३॥

Therefore the people well-versed while making the images of the sun, the feet should not be cast.

On Tvaṣṭā's disclosing the whereabouts of Sanjñā, the sun god reached the earth, he produced Aśvanikumāras from Sanjñā. This is absolutely true. Because they were born from the nostrils of Sanjñā, they were known as Nāsatya and Dasra. After sometime, Sanjñā finding the sun in the form of a horse, was extremely satisfied. She boarded the plane delightfully and proceeded on to the heaven.

सावर्णोऽपि मनुर्मेरावद्याप्यास्ते तपोधनः।

शनिस्तपोबलादाप ग्रहसाम्यं ततः पुनः॥ ३८॥

Out of the issues born of Chāyā, Sāvarṇi Manu is still present over the mountain Sumeru. Śani on the other hand, because of his tapas, was included in the list of planets.

यमुना तपती चैव पुनर्नद्यौ बभूवतुः।

विष्टिर्घोरात्मिका तद्वत्कालत्वेन व्यवस्थिता॥ ३९॥

After a lot of time, both the daughters named Tapatī and Yamunā, were turned as rivers. The third daughter known as Viṣṭi or Bhadra, attained blue colour and was located in time (hell).

मनोर्वैवस्वतस्यासन्दश पुत्रा महाबलाः।

इलस्तु प्रथमस्तेषां पुत्रेष्ट्यां समजायत॥ ४०॥

Vaivāsvata Manu produced ten powerful sons. Ila was the eldest of all. They were born as a result of the Putreṣṭi yajña.

इक्ष्वाकुः कुशनाभश्च अरिष्टो धृष्ट एव च।

नरिष्यन्तः करूषश्च शर्यातिश्च महाबलाः।

पृषधश्चाथ नाभागः सर्वे ते दिव्यमानुषाः॥ ४१॥

The rest of the nine sons were known by the names of Ikṣvāku, Kuśanābha, Ariṣṭa, Dhṛṣṭa, Nariṣyanta, Kurūṣa, Śaryāti, Prṣadhra and Nābhāga. All of them were quite valorous and divine.

अभिषिच्य मनुः पुत्रमिलं ज्येष्ठं स धार्मिकः।

जगाम तपसे भूयः स महेन्द्रवनालयम्॥४२॥

Attaining the old age, the noble Manu, crowned his eldest son over the throne and he himself retired for performing tapas in the forest over Mahendra mountain.

अथ दिग्जयसिद्धयर्थमिलः प्रायान्महीमिमाम्।

जगामोपवनं शम्भोरश्वाकृष्टः प्रतापवान्।

कल्पदुमलताकीर्णं नाम्ना शरवणं महत्॥४४॥

The new king Ila,¹ with the desire of conquering the universe, started wandering on earth. He was wandering on all the islands, defeating the rulers. In the meantime the horse of the illustrious Ila, entered the orchard of Śiva, which was filled with Kalpavṛkṣas as well as the creepers. It was known by the name of Śaravaṇa.

रमते यत्र देवेशः शम्भुः सोमार्द्धशेखरः।

पुत्राम सत्त्वं यत्किञ्चिदागमिष्यति ते वने।

स्त्रीत्वमेष्यति तत्सर्वं दशयोजनमण्डले॥४६॥

Lord Śiva with the crescent adorning his head, was engaged in love sports with Pārvatī. Before starting the sports with Umā, in that forest, Śiva had made it a condition that whosoever male entered in the ten yojana wide forest, he would be turned into a female.

अज्ञातसमयो राजा इलः शरवणे पुरा।

पुरुषत्वं हतं सर्वं स्त्रीरूपे विस्मितो नृपः।

इलेति साऽभवन्नारी पीनोन्नतधनस्तनी॥४८॥

The king Ila was unaware of the above situation, and soon after his entry into the forest, he was turned into a female. Even the horse was turned as a mare. In a moment the manhood disappeared from the body of Ila. With the disappearing of the manhood from the body of Ila, he was surprised. The female then came to be known as Ilā, possessing immense beauty having the breasts developed like a woman.

उन्नतश्रोणिजघना पद्मपत्रायतेक्षणा।

मूलोन्नतायतभुजा नीलकुंचितमूर्द्धजा।

तनुलोमा सुदशना मृदुगम्भीरभाषिणी॥५०॥

She looked amazed to find herself turned as woman. Her thighs became stouter and the face started beaming like a moon which made her more attractive in that female form. She had curly hair, the hair on the body was soft and the teeth were quite pleasant. Her speech was quite sweet and deep.

श्यामगौरेण वर्णेन हंसवारणगामिनी।

कार्मुकभ्रूयुगोपेता तनुताम्रनखाङ्कुरा॥५१॥

She had the mixed complexion of her body between fair and dark. She could walk like and swan like an elephant. Both her eyebrows resembled the bow. Her nails resembled the colour of copper.

Thus the beautiful damsel, while wandering in the forest, started thinking, who is my father or the mother or a brother in this lonely forest. Who is my husband, to whom my care has been entrusted or who is my husband? For how long shall I have to remain on this earth?" When she was thus thinking at the same time, Budha the son of the moon spotted her and he became anxious to get her.

1. According to the Matsya, no change of sex took place in the first instance. The eldest son of Manu was Iḍa or Ila (इडः or इलः), whom his father appointed sovereign of the seven Dvīpas.

विशिष्टाकारवान्दण्डी सकमण्डलुपुस्तकः।

Budha then took to a special form of a Daṇḍī or an ascetic holding a staff. He carried a kamaṇḍalu as well as the book. In the pole of a bamboo, he had tied a number of articles.

द्विजरूपः शिखी ब्रह्म निगदन्कर्णकुण्डलः।

He was in the form of a Brahmācārī,¹ having a long and a thick tuft. Using the sacrificial stick, flowers, kuśa, and water, he was reciting the Vedas with his pupils.

He projected himself as a researcher, searching for something in the forest. In this way he seated himself in the cluster of trees outside the forest, he started attracting the attention of Ilā.

When Ilā approached Budha, he getting confused, complained to her, “O Beautiful one, why have you entered my abode, leaving aside the task of serving others?” On hearing this, Ilā said, “I have forgotten myself, yourself, my husband and my race, I have forgotten all, therefore, O Sinless one, you therefore introduce me about your race as well as that of mine.”

At these enquiries of Ilā, Budha said to the beautiful damsel. “O Beautiful one, you are known as Ilā, while I am known as Budha and am well-versed in many lores. I have been born in an illustrious race.” At these words spoken by Budha, Ilā believed in him and she entered his abode having the pillars of gems, which were built with the divine Māyā. Reaching the abode, she felt herself as quite fortunate.

She uttered, “What a beautiful conduct is there? What an astonishing beauty is there! Look at the enormous riches. How high is the race? How beautiful am I and my husband?” Thereafter Ilā, enjoyed all the pleasures in the luxurious house of Budha, and spent time with him comfortably, as if dwelling in the abode of Indra.

CHAPTER 12

The story of Ilā and description of Ikṣvāku dynasty

सूत उवाच

 वसिष्ठश्चाब्रवीत्सर्वं दृष्ट्वा तद्व्यानचक्षुषा॥ ५॥

Sūta said, “O Rṣis, when the king did not return to his kingdom for long, his brother Manu and son Ikṣvāku became apprehensive, while searching for the king Ilā, all of them reached the outskirts of the Śaravaṇa forest. All of them found a beautiful mare on the path. Her body made of gems was issuing lustre. Then recognising the saddle, all the relatives felt surprised and started talking among themselves, “This is the horse Candraprabhā, which belongs to our king Ilā. How is it that it has been turned in the form of a mare?” Then all of them returned and enquired from their family priest Vasiṣṭha, “O Great sage, you are the best among those having been well-versed in the yogic practices. How could this astonishing event happen? You better speak out the secret about the same?” Then the sage Vasiṣṭha, learnt about the event with the use of his yogic power and spoke to Ikṣvāku and others.

समयः शम्भुदयिताकृतः शरवणे पुरा।
 यः पुमान् प्रविशेदत्र स नारीत्वमवाप्स्यति॥ ६॥

He said, “O Princes, in earlier times, Umā, the spouse of Śiva, had made a condition for this forest, that whomsoever male would enter it, he would be turned as a woman.

अयमश्वोऽपि नारीत्वमगाद्राज्ञा सहैव तु।

 तथैव यत्नः कर्तव्यश्चाराध्यैव पिनाकिनम्।
 ततस्ते मानवा जग्मुर्यत्र देवो महेश्वरः॥ ८॥

Because of the same, the horse together with the king Ilā have been turned to female forms.

Therefore all of you should adore Śiva, in order to relieve the womanhood of Ilā like Kubera. At the command of the sage Vasiṣṭha, all the sons of Manu reached in the abode of Śiva.

तुष्टुर्विविधैः स्तोत्रैः पार्वतीपरमेश्वरौ।

 तथेत्युक्तास्ततस्ते तु जग्मुर्वैवस्वतात्मजाः।
 इक्ष्वाकोश्चाश्वमेधेन चेलः किम्पुरुषोऽभवत्॥ ११॥

Reaching there, all of them adored Pārvatī and Maheśvara, reciting various stotras. Getting pleased with their prayers, both Śiva and Pārvatī said, “O Princes, though no one has the strength to surpass this rule made by me, but, for the removal of the same, I am going to speak out a method to you. In case the reward of the Aśvamedha Yajña is dedicated to us fully, then the king would become a kinnara.” On hearing this the sons of Vaivasvata Manu, returned saying, “All right” to their abode. Reaching there, they arrange for an Aśvamedha yajña. The reward of the same was dedicated to both Śiva and Pārvatī as a result of which Ilā was transformed as a Kimpuruṣa.

मासमेकं पुमान् वीरः स्त्री च मासमभूत्युनः।
 बुधस्य भवने तिष्ठन्निलो गर्भधरोऽभवत्॥ १२॥

Thereafter, he remained a man for a month and in the next month he was turned into a woman. He remained as a woman in the palace of Budha, and in such circumstances Ilā had been conceived.

अजीजनत्पुत्रमेकमनेकगुणसंयुतम्।
 बुधश्चोत्पाद्य तं पुत्रं स्वर्लोकिमगमत्ततः॥ १३॥

An extremely virtuous son was born of that conception. After that Budha returned from earth to the heaven.

इलस्य नाम्ना तद्वर्षमिलावृतमभूत्तदा।
 सोमार्कवंशयोरादाविलोऽभून्मनुनन्दनः॥ १४॥

Since that time Varṣa was named as Ilāvṛta after the name of Ilā. Thus at the start of the solar and the lunar races, Ilā the son of Manu was the first king.

एवं पुरुरवाः पुंसोरभवद्वंशवर्द्धनः।

इक्ष्वाकुरर्कवंशस्य तथैवोक्तस्तपोधनाः॥ १५॥

O Ṛṣis, performing the great tapas, as Purūravā who was born of Ilā in his male form, expanded the lunar dynasty, similarly, the king Ikṣvāku, was responsible for the spreading of the solar dynasty.

इलःकिम्पुरुषत्वे च सद्युम्न इति चोच्यते।

While functioning as Kimpuruṣa, Ilā was known as Sudyumna. This Sudyumna got three invincible sons known by the name of Utkala, Gaya and the valorous Haritāśva.¹

Out of the four sons, Ilā bestowed the kingship of Utkala to Utkala, Gayapradeśa to Gaya and eastern region of Kurupradeśa to Haritāśva. Then he established Purūravā, his eldest son as the king of Pratisthānapura, he himself retired to Ilāvartavarṣa for consuming the roots and fruits there. The eldest son of Manu, known as Ikṣvāku, became the lord of Madhyadeśa.

Out of the other sons of Manu, a valorous son was born to Nāriṣyanta. Nābhāga had the son named Ambarīṣa, while Dhṛṣṭa had three sons named Dhṛtaketu, Citranātha and Raṇadhrṣṭa.

Prṣadhra, due of the killing of a cow, was turned as a Śūdra because of the curse of the preceptor. O Best of the sages, now I am going

1. The Matsya calls the name of third Haritāśva; the Vāyu- Vinatāśva; the Mārkaṇḍeya- Vinaya; and the Bhāgavata- Vimala. All but the last agree in stating that Uktala (Orissa) and Gayā in Bihar are named after the two first. The Matsya calls the third the sovereign of the east, along with the Kauravas; the Vāyu makes him king of the west. The Bhāgavata calls them all three rulers of the south.

2. According to the Vāyu, the brothers of Raivata founded a celebrated race called Śaryāta, from Śaryāti. The Brahma Purāṇa says they took refuge in secret places (gahana); for which the Hari Varṣa substitutes (parvatagana) mountains. The Vāyu has neither and says merely that they were renowned in all regions : विख्याता दिक्षु सर्वसु। to describe about the Ikṣvāku dynasty, you please listen to me carefully.

Kālanemi, regaining consciousness, took up his sharp trident, the sharp Śakti ringing with golden bells and hurled it on Viṣṇu. It chopped off the left arm of the lord and on that wounded arm the blood stains looked beautiful like the armlet studded with rubies. Afterwards Viṣṇu became very angry and took up His heavy bow and put seventeen deadly arrows to its strings and hit the demon's chest with nine arrows, killed the charioteer with four, cut the banner with one arrow, his bow with two and pierced his left arm with one arrow. The demon felt great agony on being thus wounded. Blood gushed out of his chest and took the appearance of the rising sun.

He began to shiver like the Kimśuka tree blown by the wind. Viṣṇu seeing him shivering like that took up His club; and threw it with great violence at the chariot of Kālanemi which struck his forehead and smashed his coronet to pieces. A large volume of blood gushed out of his body which looked like vermilion coming out of the mountain and he fell down senseless in his broken chariot. He was only heaving his last breath.
